Finalists named in Miss Hawaiian Tropic contest on Star of Charlevoix

An sunny evening cruise on the Star of Charlevoix was the perfect setting Thursday night, June 30 for the First Miss Hawaiian Tropic Northern Michigan Finals.

Hosted by radio station KHQ of Charlevoix and Crown Drug, the competition involved ten young women from seven Northern Michigan cities vying to be chosen as one of five finalists.

The five finalists selected Thursday night were then to participate in the Miss Michigan Hawaiian Tropic Contest to be held at the Roostertail in Detroit on July 3.

At Detroit, the Northern Michigan contingent was to face ten women from Detroit and five from the Grand Rapids area for the Miss Hawaiian Tropic state crown.

Thursday night's competition included modeling sportswear and swimsuits. The contestants were also interviewed by the panel of judges and had to field a randomly selected question posed by master of ceremonies Jim Owen.

KHQ's Jim Owen, emcee at the Miss Hawaiian Tropic contest on the Star of Charlevoix Thursday night, interviews participant Kim Hall.

Here are some tips on how to get a 'healthy' tan, not a burn

Getting a deep, dark, bronze tan may unfortunately be confused with getting a "healthy tan." The rays given off by the sun have tremendous power. Too much of this good thing can be harmful. Bert Notestiue, Health Educator of District Health Department No. 3 offers some of the following information to help prevent needless suffering for anyone trying to get a tan this summer in Northern Michigan.

The sun radiates many types (wavelengths) of light. One group or band of this radiation is the ultraviolet wavelengths. These rays are generally responsible for tanning and also for burning the skin.

Sunburn will most often result from a primary exposure of ultraviolet wavelengths. The time between exposure and development of symptoms (pain, swelling, redness of skin, fever, or headache) is usually 4 to 12 hours. Certain fair skinned people that have had difficulty tanning in the past, may never be able to develop a safe tan regardless of method of tanning they use.

Developing the safest possible tan with the least tissue damage and leathery thickening of skin usually requires the use of a sunscreen. The general purpose of a sunscreen is to eliminate as many harmful ultraviolet rays as possible.

The Food and Drug Administration Panel on Sunscreen Drug Products for over-the-counter use has suggested a method for consumers to determine the effectiveness of sunscreen preparations in terms of a Sun Protective Factor (SPF). In basic terms a product rated with a higher number S.P.F. (10-15) would give more protection than a product with a lower S.P.F. (2-4). The SPF number gives a rough estimate of the length of time that a person would expect to be protected by a given product. If an individual could stay in the sun's rays unprotected for 10 minutes, a S.P.F. of 2 on a product would indicate that the time could be doubled (20 minutes); a S.P.F. of 4 would indicate that the time could be 4 times as long (40 min.). The times listed are only for general examples and can vary considerable, due to moisture on the skin, skin types, and weather conditions.

Tips for spending safe time in the sun:

1. Begin exposure times to the sun with 10-15 minute periods. Increase times gradually 10-15 minutes-day (if you become a sunburn victim you will have to start your suntan process all over again. You should also wait for exposure to the sun until all burn damage has had time to heal.)

2. Use sunscreens with a high sun protection factor (S.P.F.) of 8 to 15.

3. Avoid mid-day exposure. The sun's rays are closest to the earth and have less atmosphere to filter them. (Sun tanning potential is lower, but so is burn potential. 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. is the most dangerous time.)

4.Do not use oils or home made products that are not designed to give protection from ultraviolet rays.

5. Cloudy days or immersion in water will not prevent burning. (Water will also dilute most products, and reduce their effectiveness.)

6. When your safe time in the sun has been used up, cover-up with some type of clothing.

According to the American Red Cross, first aid for sunburn is basically the same as for first and small degree burns. To relieve pain apply cold water application to the affected area or submerge the burned area in cold water. A dry dressing may be applied if desired. If later medical treatment appears likely do not apply ointment to the sunburn. Any person with extensive sunburn (10 percent or more of the body surface in a child and 15 percent or more in an adult) should be seen by a physician. Likewise, very deep burns with many large blisters should have medical treatment. If blisters break, apply a dry, sterile dressing.

For more information about a safe time in the sun, contact a pharmacist or physician.

Group formed to confront Medusa about cement dust

by DAVE KNIGHT

Financial support is building for a newly formed non-profit organization created to pursue local concerns about cement dust allegedly emanating from the Medusa Cement Company south of Charlevoix.

Watch, Inc., which stands for Water and Air Team Charlevoix, Incorporated, received a pledge of $11,340 from the LaCroft Condominium Association at its annual meeting Saturday, July 9.

With only ten members absent, the LaCroft association voted unanimously to make a special assessment to its 63 members to cover the donation.

According to Howard F. Neilson, LaCroft resident and founder of Watch, Inc., requests for similar financial support will be made over the next week to at least 14 other local condominium and summer resort associations.

Neilson said Monday that he is optimistic about the ability of Watch, Inc. to raise a sizeable amount of money through public pledges and donations to carry out its purposes.

Those purposes will be explained in detail at a public meeting scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, July 19, at the Charlevoix High School cafeteria. The meeting will also feature an update on recent negotiations with Medusa corporate officials, according to Neilson, and an opportunity for interested citizens to join Watch, Inc.

Incorporation papers are in the process of being filed for Watch, Inc. and an application for tax exempt status has been made with the Internal Revenue Service.

"The main objectives of Watch, Inc. will be to restore and protect the air quality of the Charlevoix area which in recent years has deteriorated significantly as a result of Medusa cement dust emissions," said Neilson.

Incorporators listed for the organization include Neilson, Kenneth Heininger, 115 Hampton, and Monte Korn of Boulder Park. Neilson said that he has over 25 members committed at present and plans to create a board of seven directors, five of whom are year 'round Charlevoix residents.

Production at the Medusa was halted following an explosion at the plant Friday, July 1. According to plant officials, the flash calcinator was being re-ignited at 3:30 p.m. Friday after an equipment repair shutdown when the explosion occurred at the 150-foot level of the 325-foot tower which houses the unit.

Though no injuries were reported, an interior vessel was damaged and two exterior panels of the tower were blown off.

Buses will roll for evacuation, say emergency planners

by DAVE KNIGHT

Trained bus drivers or no trained bus drivers, any evacuation prompted by an accident at the Big Rock Point nuclear plant will be carried out as planned, according to officials at a press briefing on emergency preparedness held Thursday.

The briefing at the Petoskey Holiday Inn was held jointly by Consumers Power Company, owners of the Big Rock plant, the Michigan State Police and the Emergency Services offices of Charlevoix and Emmet Counties. A full scale run-through of the Big Rock nuclear emergency plan is scheduled for July 25 and 26.

F. Earl Muma, director of Emergency Services for Charlevoix County, said that the question of who shall pay for the special training of bus drivers and other personnel involved in evacuation plans has yet to be resolved. According to Muma, there is a need for more individuals adequately trained to respond to a nuclear incident in Charlevoix County; particularly drivers of the school buses that would be used to transport people out of the area in the event of a general evacuation.

Muma's counterpart in Emmet County, John Theisen said, however, that the buses under his juristiction will roll regardless of the availability of locally trained drivers.

"I'll be like a general on the line," said Theisen, "If I tell the bus drivers to drive, they'll drive."

He conceded that neither the bus drivers nor other emergency support personnel can be forced to take special training but said that lack of local training will not hinder an evacuation.

Michigan State Police emergency preparedness officer James Tyler said that in the event that there are not enough local bus drivers to take part in an evacuation, the state will send in National Guard personnel to drive the buses.

Letters have been filed from three school districts whose buses would be used in an evacuation, Boyne City, East Jordan and Ellsworth, indicating that the districts will not pay for the special training for their bus drivers.

David Hoffman, Big Rock plant superintendent, maintained that Consumers Power Company has been cooperative with state and county emergency planners in paying for training and added that adjustments in the emergency plan are still being made.

Another unresolved funding matter, according to Muma, involves portable radios he says he needs for an evacuation but for which he has no money. Muma has made a request to the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners for $40,000 to pay for additional staffing and equipment but the Board has not yet acted on the request.

The full-scale exercise slated for July 25 and 26 will deal with a simulated release of airborne radioactivity from the Big Rock plant. The five-phase drill will start

County youth are on the job

by PEG OHLE

Many of Charlevoix County's young people are taking advantage of government work programs this summer.

On Beaver Island, the area around the lighthouse is humming again as 37 young campers work on projects under the guidance of the Youth Employment and Training Program.

The young people, most of whom come from Charlevoix, Emmet, and Antrim Counties, are constructing a large pole building (60 by 40 ft.) and will finish other projects, including completion of a log cabin. They will also groom and upgrade some 15 miles of trails on property owned by the Charlevoix Public Schools and the Department of Natural Resources.

Those now working on the island have been there since June 20. They will leave July 15 and another group will arive July 25, remaining through August 26. It is expected that a total of 85 young people will have participated in the program by the end of summer.

One trustee was installed in office, officers elected, depositories and signatories named for 1983-84 school year at the organizational meeting of the Charlevoix Board of Education held Monday night.

Robert Drenth, who was re-elected to a four year term, took the oath of office.

At the election of officers that followed, Max Novak was re-elected president of the seven member board. This will mark his tenth term.

Other officers who were re-elected were Elaine R. Martin, vice president; Kenneth A. Boss, secretary and Ardeth M. Wieland, treasurer. Other members, Doris A. Pearl and Steven G. Smith, trustees.

Meeting dates for meetings during the 1983-84 school year will remain the same, the first and third Mondays of every month. The hour will be 7:30 p.m. The site, the high school study hall, also remains the same.

The First State Bank was named the depository for the three debt retirement accounts, the old, new and 1979 accounts; Title I, hot lunch, central office internal, high school activities, high school athletic, middle school internal and the culinary arts accounts and the Charlevoix County State Bank for the public library, general fund and payroll accounts.

Signatories for the three debt retirement accounts along with the general fund, payroll and Title I accounts will be the board president, secretary and treasurer; for the high school activities, high school

TCE search comes up dry

Only one buried drum thought to contain fuel oil was unearthed last week in a futile search of five sites in Charlevoix suspected to be possible sources of the trichloroethylene (TCE) contamination of city water. City crews, directed by Department of Natural Resources personnel, dug up three sites at which underground metal was detected by special equipment. A magnetometer and radar device were used by the DNR to survey the city for underground drums or storage tanks that might be releasing TCE, an industrial chemical and suspected carcinogen, into local groundwater aquifers.

The three sites excavated last week were the alley between West Garfield and Lincoln, the southeast corner of the Newman-Grant St. intersection and the northwest corner of the Hurbut-State St. intersection. Besides the drum with fuel oil, the only other material dug up was metal debris thought by DNR geologists not to have any connection with the TCE contamination.

It was exactly 19 years ago this week that the young lady pictured above first graced the front page of the Courier. On page one of the July 16, 1964 issue, she was pictured as a happy seven month-old toddler on the laps of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Voy of Southfield. What's so newsworthy about a seven month-old baby, now a 19 year-old young lady? Her first name. The Voys had always considered Charlevoix the most beautiful spot in Michigan so when their daughter was born, what better way to demonstrate their affection than to name her accordingly. Thus, making her triumphant return recently and shown above at the Weathervane, is Sharla Voy. Honest.

For Saints and Sinners

by Pastor James M. Raum
Charlevoix Church of the Nazarene

Winston Churchill described Russia as "a riddle wrapped inside a mystery inside an enigma."

Ever since the Day of Pentecost when the Holy Spirit fell on the waiting disciples, the world has looked on Christians as an enigma too. The born Christian in this world is forever a square peg in a round hole. He or she just doesn't fit anymore. They belong to a differend world and march to a different drum beat.

Someone has said "that God will not crush our opposition all together, but will always make a way to get out of trouble. God will never release a man from a tight spot, just so he can have an easy time of it.."

If we will put our trust in Him, he will have bigger plans for us and a higher service for us to perform for Him. Many times in our past we have prayed that God would work out His divine plan, and at the same time that God would also work out our desires and plans.

God works out what will be best for us, and that is not always what we would like to see happen. In God's plan He sees a "greater service for Jesus Christ". God's plans are never loosely fitted together.

Acts 5.29, "we must obey God rther than man", even though we don't fit, we obey God's will for our lives. Dr. Richard C. Halverson once said, "The great commission leaves no room for debate". Christ commands that the church carry the gospel into the world. The only alternative is to disobey! God wants witnesses not lawyers! We will come out on the winning side if we only will trust in Jesus Christ. He trusted you and I to carry on His work in this world today. Are we upholding our part?

Intern hired to help keep tabs on Lake Charlevoix water quality

by DAVE KNIGHT

Carole Peven

Efforts to maintain high water quality in Lake Charlevoix have received a welcome boost with the hiring of an intern to assist volunteers this summer in an ongoing monitoring program.

Carole S. Peven, a recent graduate of Michigan State University, is one of a team of summer interns to be assigned by the Tip of the Mitt Watershed Council to lend expertise and assistance to nine Northern Michigan lake associations.

Peven will be conducting water quality tests for the Lake Charlevoix Property Owners Association (LCPOA) during her ten-week internship in the Charlevoix area. Fifteen members of the organization have volunteered to take part in the water quality monitoring program, according to Association president Donald Yenni, and Peven will be working closely with them.

Said Yenni, "The Association is looking forward to working with Carole. We have quite a bit of interest in water quality."

A June graduate of MSU, Peven holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Resource Development with an emphasis on water quality. Her career goal is to work as a consultant and planner in the field of natural resources, preferably in the area of water resources.

"I have always enjoyed the outdoors," said Peven, a Southfield native, "And I've become particularly interested in hydrogeology while at Michigan State."

Part of Peven's mission this summer will be to help Lake Charlevoix home owners identify possible sources of pollution from lakeshore properties and suggest ways to avoid such pollution.

Her primary reference tool will be a recently completed report entitled "Water Quality of Lake Charlevoix: A Shoreline Algal Study." The report, condocted by the Northwest Michigan Regional Planning and Development Commission, uses a property-by-property survey of algal growth along the Lake Charlevoix shoreline to identify probable sources of excess nutrients entering to the lake. (See accompanying story.)

"Lake Charlevoix has a pretty high water quality right now," said Peven, "I think it is good that the Property Owners Association is taking preventive action at this point to make sure that quality is maintained."

Funds for the program are provided entirely through private donations. Other means of support have also been arranged through interested private citizens; LCPOA members, for instance, will be supplying Peven with boat transportation when she needs it for her monitoring project. While there is no salary involved for the interns, they will each receive a stipend at the end of their summer's work.

For the various lake associations, including the LCPOA, the benefits from the internship program are many. In the case of the LCPOA, Carole Peven will be assisting not only with the cladaphora algae study, but also with the group's efforts in testing lake water for visibility with the Secci Disc test and taking water samples for chlorophyll A and chloroform.

All of the data collected by Peven over the summer will be entered into a notebook and turned over to the LCPOA for its files.

Septic tanks, lawn fertilizer not helping water quality

by DAVE KNIGHT

Excess phosphorus from leaching septic systems and lawn fertilization is finding its way into Lake Charlevoix, not in amounts to cause any serious degradation of water quality, but significantly enough at some locations to adversely affect water quality along the shore.

These are the main conclusions of a 32-page report entitled "The Water Quality of Lake Charlevoix: A Shoreline Algal Study" recently completed by the Northwest Michigan Regional Planning and Development Commission.

The study is the result of a survey taken in August, 1981 in which almost the entire 60-mile shoreline of Lake Charlevoix was inspected for growth of cladaphora algae. Cladaphora, a green, filament-type algae found growing on rocks and logs in shallow, wave-swept areas, is an indicator of excess nutrient. Since its presence along the shore often indicates locations where excess nutrient –specifially phosphorus– is entering the lake, it is used in the study to identify problem areas.

Shoreline stretches with the most severe cladaphora growth, according to the study, are the Hemingway Point area, an area west of Advance, and several small areas along the north shore. Stretches between Boyne City and Young State Park and between East Jordan and Lord Road had several small growths but no large problems.

To put the issue of phosphorus loading from septic systems and lawn fertilization into perspective, the study includes data from a 1979 Department of Natural Resources study on the total amount of phosphorus entering the main body of the lake. According to the DNR, tributaries of Lake Charlevoix are the largest contributors of phosphorus adding 5921 pounds of the nutrient to the lake each year, or, 34.5 percent of the total amount. Of these, the Jordan River alone contributes 2733 pounds per year, or, almost 16 percent.

Other major sources are precipitation and dry fallout (30.2 percent) and the Jordan River Fish Hatchery (15.8 percent).

While the DNR estimated that 727 pounds (4.2 percent) of phosphorus was added to the lake each year from septic tanks, it did not make any estimate on how much phosphorus was a added by lawn fertilization. The Commission study, however, estimates that

Knight on the Town

The fragile princess

by Dave Knight

Charlevoix's relationship to the two industrial entities flanking it to the north and south is like that of an Oriental princess being carried on a litter by two husky manservants.

Medusa Cement Company, on South Point, and the Consumers Power Company nuclear plant on Big Rock Point to the north have "carried" the community for the past two decades, providing jobs and contributing mightily to the tax base.

Two of the area's largest industries, Medusa and Big Rock have made it possible for many people to live and work here who would not otherwise have been able to enjoy such a beautiful hometown.

Thus one cannot blame the local residents who see the litter-bearers facing some rough road ahead and who are hoping that they do not stumble – or are deliberately tripped – and drop the princess.

There are also those would just as soon see the litter put down for good to spare the fragile princess the turmoil of such travel, which, they think, will age her unneccessarily.

Thankfully, there is a third school of thought in this apparent dilemma. That is that the litter-bearers can walk a little bit more carefully to make sure the princess is having a safe, smooth ride but still keep moving toward the destination.

In the case of Medusa, it will be in the best interests of everyone involved to bring the perennial matter of cement dust pollution to closure. Citizen complaints over past years have been single voices playing Davids to the cement company's Goliath.

Nothing constructive ever results from that kind of situation.

Now that the voices have been orchestrated into some sort of chorus, a more equitable and hopefully more productive dialogue can take place.

What should happen as soon as possible is the introduction to the discussion of some independent, reliable information. All the accusations have been heard. Now it's time to get down to the business of documentation.

One fact that we are told is bankable is that cement can be produced, using a process such as Medusa's, without undesirable spreading of dust offsite. Let all parties involved start from that premise and proceed.

Big Rock's future is more tenuous and more complicated.

In contrast to Medusa, into which a multi-million dollar investment has only recently been made thus ensuring somewhat of a corporate comittment, Big Rock's most profitable years are behind it.

Whether it shall be allowed to live out its scheduled lifespan until the year 2000 will be a matter for federal administrators to decide. Chances are, executive types at Consumers Power headquarters in Jackson have already made their decisions for Big Rock based on balance sheets, not scientific analyses.

Pro-nuke or anti, one must admire the plant for its outstanding record of safety and reliability over the years. If the scientists decide it can continue safely, it deserves our support.

Economic health in any community depends on a balance. Charlevoix needs industry as much as it does resort business, retail trade, professionals, et. al.

There's no good reason why we can't have it all.

Letters: Biblical interpretations

To the Editor:

The turmoil in world political economics and the Bible as a guide book on communism verses captalism and nuclear war, as presented by some Bible interpretors, full of loop holes and half truths. The emotions perpetuated by religious fanatics do more to confuse rather than help solve world economic problems and the threat of nuclear war.

There is a real need to clean up such religious attitudes that exist in Ireland, Jerusalem and many other religious factions that commit mass murder while reading the same Bible. Some of the mistakes made are to compare some countries political economic values against anothers regardless of size, natural resources or historical over-population. There is a real need for a peoples international organization to promote social responsibilities and to share world resources.

It is said that we have to spend billions on nuclear missiles to catch up with the communist countries. Makes me wonder what they are waiting for, or is it part of their strategy to have the capitalists spend themselves into monetory bankruptcy? The communist Russians, Chinese, Yugoslavs and ether public ownerships by government action, have their own kind of management money rules and problems.

The claim that communism permits no personal property is false. However, the use of property rights for personal gain is limited. While the conditions created by international profiteering / free enterprise by individual conquest to stay on top of the values of monetary manipulations, create false values and unemployment in the midst of plenty. It is easy to see that capitalists prosperity is maintained by inflation. The land values of 50 years ago averaged around $40 an acre against $1,000 an acre today.

This is a result of something for nothing real estate speculation. There is an extravagance between making money by investment and earning money by work. In the lump-dumping of all values very few people recognize a legalistic difference. Income by ownership historically is a refined standard of old style European feudalistic landlordism. That places property rights above human rights and needs.

There is a need to recognize the Constitution as equal sharing of opportunities for all the people. To allow a privilege money class to monopolize the economy and influence the government for their own benefit means we have a dictatorship by money power and that is basically what political revolutions are all about.

Government debts are increased by the need to fund more unemployed labor, farm subsidies and guaranteed business loans. These are supported by the sale of tax exempt bonds that are continuously absorbed by private insurance corporations, bankers, international speculators and investors. To save the capitalistic system from its own greed and balance the credible exchange of values by money, it will be necessary to tax all speculative and excessive incomes.

Youth work programs oldest of the Youth Employment Programs' camps. Approximately 270 young people have worked at the camp since 1978. In previous years, the work crews refurbished the historic Beaver Island Lighthouse as well as two other old buildings now used as a classroom and a dining hall. The crews also constructed two log cabins and built outhouses.

The Beaver Island Project is one of seven Youth Employment and Training Program sites in the State. Others are located at the Traverse Bay Vocational Center in Grand Traverse County, Camp Buffalo Springs in Grand Traverse County, Camp Manistee in Manistee County, Camp Bog Stone near Cadillac, Alba in Antrim County, and on North Manitou Island.

The campers, who range in age from 16 to 19, are paid the minimum wage of $3.35 and work 32 hours a week. Funds for the program come from a Department a Labor grant. A typical day includes six hours of work, two hours of environmental education, and evening sessions on a wide variety of topics. To be eligible for the program, they must meet certain family income requirements.

Elsewhere in the county, 77 young people are working under other Youth Employment Programs.

Of these, 56 young people, ages 16 to 21, are working at public service jobs for various governmental units, schools, and other non-profit organizations. Those selected are "CETA eligible" (low income youths), or youths who are wards of the state living in foster care homes, or handicapped youths with a substantial barrier to employment, or youths who are a member of a family on public assistance.

The other 31 young people, ages 18 to 21, are doing public service jobs funded through the Michigan Youth Corps. There are no family income requirements for participating in this program, but the workers were selected on a priority basis of financial need with age as a minimum requirement.

Michigan Youth Corps workers can be found laboring for Charlevoix Township, all the school systems in the County, the City of Charlevoix, Charlevoix Recreation Department, Boyne City Housing Commission, East Jordan Senior Center, and Charlevoix County Number System, among other places.

Emergency planning with the notification by Consumers Power of an "unusual event" to state and local officials.

The scenario will continue with an "alert" being reported by the plant and the governor declaring a "State of Disaster". Consumers Power will then declare a "site area emergency" and evacuate non-essential personnel from the plant. A "general emergency" report will then be communicated by plant officials to the state and local agencies followed by a "recovery and re-entry" phase in which the emergency situation is brought under control and the reactor safely shut down.

All state and local governmental units involved in the drill will respond to each phase according to procedures outlined in their respective plans.

On hand for the exercise will be several federal evaluators who will present a critique on the drill Thursday, July 28 for the various agencies and officials taking part.

Hobbycraft draws rave

by Bob Clock

CHARLEVOIX'S first big event of the season — The Lakeside Hobbycraft Fair — was an outstanding success judging from the vast numbers of visitors and townspeople who poked through the exhibits in East Park all day Saturday.

And craft items appeared to be selling very well, thank you.

I was a little surprised by the preponderance of straw flowers and came to the conclusion that they are "in" this season. Next year it will probably be potholders. Or tea cozies.

Like everyone else, I was fascinated by the hand-powered World War I knitting machine that was demonstrated throughout the day. It was designed to turn out socks for doughboys, but the tubular knitted material it produces can be cut and used for all kinds of knitted items, from scarves to baby sweaters.

I also was awestruck by the three-dimensional wooden wall plaques being produced by Petoskey cabinetmaker Will Shomin. Shomin suspects his latest creations have crossed the line dividing craftsmanship and fine art and I suspect he is right.

My favorite tableaus were an ascending balloon and cattails against a harvest moon. The lines are classically simple but the effect on the viewer is dramatic. I predict Shomin's plaques will be collector's items before long.

The fair, incidentally, was the brainchild of Mrs. Arthur Wexstaff of Bay Shore who felt that hobbyists and craftsmen deserved a showcase for their wares — something similar to Waterfront Art Fair. Only a handful of craftsmen entered the first fair in the late 1960's, but the the number of entrants and the quality of craftsmanship has been growing by quantum leaps ever since.

THE WHITE ELEPHANT sale sponsored by the Charlevoix Volunteer Fire Department to raise money for a new tanker also went well. You could pick up some real bargains with a little change in your pocket.

Jim Elliott, who is sparkplugging the drive, says the tanker fund has a balance of about $80,000 — with about $30,000 to go. Donations are still being gratefully accepted. Can you think of a better way for a Charlevoix area property owner to invest his money? I can't.

EARLIERTHIS year, Clockwise predicted a long, warm spring and a hot, hot summer after our mild, mild winter.

I missed the boat on the long warm spring, which turned out to be one of the coldest and wettest on record. But summer is turning into a real bell-ringer. No one in these northern climes can remember more warm, sunny days strung end-to-end.

However, our farms and gardens are badly in need of rain — a real all-night soaker.

And until we get it, grass and brush fires remain a serious threat. A carelessly discarded cigarette or a campfire left unattended could raise havoc with our fields and forests.

Report on Lake Charlevoix

lawn fertilization adds about 51 pounds of phosphorus per year.

While relatively miniscule amounts of excess phosphorus loading are attributed to septic systems and lawn fertilization, the study points out that the areas that are most often affected are the near-shore areas. And since those are the areas used most heavily for recreational purposes and that most lake property owners desire to keep aestetically attractive, the study suggests that efforts to avoid phosphorus loading from septic systems and lawns are worthwhile.

It recommends that the local health department investigate the more severe problems associated with leaching septic systems. It also urges the lake association to maintain ongoing information and education programs for lakeshore property owners and repeat the cladaphora survey every two years to note changes in the algae growth patterns.

Special efforts should be made, says the study, to inform owners of "well maintained and apparently heavily fertilized lawns on the north shore" of the effects on the lake of lawn fertilization.

athletic and hot lunch accounts, Vincent Olach and Judy Boss; middle school internal account, David J. Smith and Virginia Wood; central office internal account, Gordon W. VanWieren, Lillian Carr and Judy Boss and culinary arts account, Vincent Olach, Judy Boss and Elizabeth Meadows.

In other action, Vincent Olach, Business Manager, was authorized to make investments for the Charlevoix Public Schools.

Superintendent VanWieren served as chairman pro-term.

The board, following its organizational meeting, approved the millage levy for 1983 at 25.75 mills, which includes an additional rate of .38 mill.

The millage approved at the meeting will meet the anticipated budget for the 1983-84 school year. The millage rate was adopted following the public hearing June 27.

Staffing for the 1983-84 school year was discussed at length. Alternative issues were discussed as Charlevoix schools, like most schools, face a decreasing enrollment. No decisions were made. The final decision will be made at the August 1 meeting.

Doris Pearl reported on the meeting she and Ardeth Wieland had with a company that could offer a hot lunch program that could cut the deficit of operating the program as it has been operated by the school. During the 1982-83 school year, the hot lunch program operated at a deficit of $28,000. The board is exploring alternative means of operating the program without increasing costs and without operating in the red. Bids have been requested from ten vendors as required. A decision regarding the program will be made shortly.

A small freight wagon utilized at one time at the Beaver Island lighthouse has been given to the school district by the man who had taken it from island in the early 1950's. The school has accepted the metal frame, axles and wheels that remained of the original wagon. John Pearl III, who will be a junior, this fall, has rebuilt the wagon which will be returned to the lighthouse later this summer. Letters of appreciation are to be sent to Morris Baker of Dexter who gave the wagon and Pearl who restored the vehicle.

New bus runs?

by PEG OHLE

In an effort to better serve county residents, the Charlevoix County Transit System is considering starting more commuter work runs between several communities.

Under consideration are new runs between Boyne City and Boyne Falls to Petoskey; between East Jordan and Charlevoix to Petoskey; between East Jordan and Boyne City to Petoskey; between Charlevoix and Petoskey; between East Jordan and Charlevoix; between Boyne City and Charlevoix; between Boyne Falls and Boyne City; and between Boyne Falls and East Jordan.

Persons interested in any of these runs should call the Transit office, 582-6900, between 6 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. to give their name, phone number, residence, place of employment, and work schedule.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Osenko

Maldonado-Osenko

The Norwood United Methodist Church was the setting for the marriage of Lorrina V. Maldonado of Tucson, Arizona and Mark A. Osenko of Mesa, Arizona on Saturday afternoon, July 2.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Raul Maldonado of Tucson, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. George Osenko of Livonia and Norwood.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Pastor Glenn Britton before approximately 100 guests. For the occasion, the church was decorated with ivory and baby blue rosebuds.

The bride, who was given in marriage by Donald Joseph, wore an ivory wedding gown of chiffon with dotted Swiss and lace fashioned with a peasant bodice and long train.

She carried a bouquet of pearl orange blossoms with blue and ivory ribbons.

Jennifer Osenko served the bride as maid of honor. Alisha Leigh Morrison was the flower girl, and Aaron Earl Morrison was the ringbearer.

Jason Igou served as best man and Jeff Osenko helped to seat the guests.

Music was furnished by pianist Steve Stargard and vocalist Sarah Stargard, who sang "Perhaps Love, "No Words Can Ever Say", and "The Lord's Prayer".

A reception in the Church Friendship Hall, hosted by the bridegroom's parents and the Norwood Women's Fellowship, followed the ceremony.

The newlyweds are at home in Mesa, where the bridegroom is a sales representative for manufactured housing and the bride is a dental assistant.

Engagement correction

In last week's announcement of the engagement of Margaret Jean Himebauch to Vern W. Cole, we incorrectly stated that the bride-to-be was a graduate of Petoskey High School. She graduated from Charlevoix High School in 1977.

Newcomers Club names new officers

The Newcomers Club of the Charlevoix Welcome Wagon held its annual election of officers at a recent meeting.

Lisa Winchester was named chairperson; Karen Bakker, vice chairperson; Carol Diehl, secretary; Cindy Urban, treasurer; Ruth Dyer, telephone chairperson; Mrs. Bakker, Apple Festival chairperson.

Plans were made for a series of CPR training courses to be offered at the all-purpose room at the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department in September. The classes will be given without charge and will be taught by Karen Bennett of the Sheriff's Department. The dates will be Sept. 22 and 29 for the training with afternoon sessions scheduled for 1 until 3:30 p.m. and the evening sessions from 7 until 9:30 p.m. Two sessions are necessary to complete the training. Classes will be limited to 12 enrollees each so members are asked to register early.

Kelly wins annual Art Fair scholarship

Charlevoix's famed Waterfront Art Fair, is celebrating its twenty-fifth anniversary Saturday, August 13, with the awarding of its annual scholarship to Jeff Kelly, 16, a high school senior bent on a career in fine art.

Said to be the only art fair witch sponsors an annual scholarship, the Charlevoix Waterfront Art Fair attracts thousands of visitors to the one-day display of some of the country's top fine art, in its waterfront park.

This will be the third year that Jeff Kelly as the scholarship recipient will be invited to display his sketches and acrylics side by side with the juried work of artists from around the country.

Kelly was awarded this year's scholarship to help him attend the Michigan State Board of Edocation's Summer Institute for Arts and Sciences at Central Michigan University, July 17-30th.

Son of Donald and Lorraine Kelly of Charlevoix, Jeff says his three art fair scholarships have made it possible for him to seriously consider a career in the fine arts. His first scholarship helped him attend Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp, to which he returned last year, and will return again this year, on one of Blue Lake's coveted scholarships.

"These scholarships are the only reason I have been able to keep at my art work in the summer," Kelly says. "I will be an art major in college and I know art will be my career," the young man explained.

Mary Ann Chew, scholarship committee head, pointed out that the scholarships are very much in keeping with the founding purpose of the art fair, which was to being fine art north to an area where museums and galleries were non-existent, twenty-five years ago, and to encourage area artists.

"Jeff has grown a lot as an artist," she observed. "And we are really interested in helping young people, such as Jeff," she continued.

"I work in pen and ink and acrylics. I paint and sketch," Kelly explained as he showed some of the work he will display at the art fair, Saturday August 13, to Mary Ann Chew and art fair spokesperson Suzi Reis.

Yachting Notes

by A. Nony Mouse

The last race of the spring series found old Mr. Wind up to his usual unpredictable wizzy, blowy, shifty, drifty self. Shortly after the start, the wind backed, veered and then backed again, allowing the competitors that went left front, seats for the balance.

In P.H.R.F. fleet, CAMOUFLAGE recovered from a late start and fought off attacks by BANDIT, MARVELOUS II and PYGMALION to win overall honors. Rumor's of mutiny were abound as Bob Schofield skippered PYGMALION to second place, in the absence of owner Dave Strawbridge. Interviewing the crew after the race, they claimed that the boat had never performed as well and were hoping that Dave's convention will become a regular Wednesday night event. Third place went to that old BANDIT, Josh Barnes who sailed one heck of a fine race, beating out INDOOROPHILLY which in itself is a major accomplishment. MARVELOUS II was fifth.

The Portsmouth fleet results: 1. CHEEMAUN, 2. SEASCAPE, 3. LULL, 4. COOL WHIP, 5. STALWARTH.

According to the race committee the best start of the night went to RIBBIT. They were right at the line when the gun went off with good boat speed; however, it appeared that they missed the first critical wind shift and became buried in traffic. Keep up those great starts!

Ferry Ave. Beach is still the best spot in town to view the races. A big hello goes out to all the loyal, land-locked fans that cheer the fleet on.

Free exams set

Free physical exams for those students grades 7 through 12 who plan to participate in interscholastic athletics or cheerleading for the 1983-84 school year have been scheduled.

Girls' exams will be held on Monday, July 18th and the boys' exams will be held on Wednesday, July 20th, with both sessions beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the study hall area of the high school building.

Charlevoix area physicians will be conducting these free exams and students are encouraged to take advantage of them. Those who do not do so must make their own appointments at doctors' offices as physical examinations are required by the Michigan High School Athletic Association for participation in any or all sports.

Coaches will be on hand to assist the students.

Carlsons breaks out of tie

A four-way tie for first place was broken Wednesday in the Charlevoix Recreation Department Men's League when Carlson Plumbing defeated Wojan Aluminum 15-5. The other teams in first place posted wins. Swanson's K&D defeated the Landing 15-3 and Townhouse downed Charlevoix Garbage 14-4 to protect their positions in league standings.

Carlson's scored their 15 runs on 19 hits allowed by Jim Cluk. Ray LaVoie gave up 12 but Wojan's were unable to take advantage of them.

Swanson's collected 19 hits off Mike Mapes while Bob Holtzman, the winning pitcher, allowed nine as Swanson's downed the Landings by a wide margin.

Townhouse II continued its winning streak scoring 15 runs on 19 hits allowed by Bob Smith. Bill Tribulowicz, winning pitcher, allowed six hits.

Carlson's moved into first place in the men's league Friday as the plumbers defeated Air Force 12-2; Townhouse I trimmed The Landing 9-4 and Erber-McKeown chalked up an 8-5 win over Charlevoix Garbage.

Dana Smith allowed 16 hits which Carlson's converted into 12 runs. Among the hits was a home run by Randy Holecheck. Ray LaVoie gave up seven hits.

Townhouse I scored nine runs on the 16 hits given up by Mike Mapes as they won over the Landings whose Ed Holm allowed nine hits.

Erber McKeown posted its second win of the season as the team collected 15 hits off Bob Smith to score eight runs to five for Charlevoix Garbage. The G-men had eight hits from Kevin Webb.

Chx. wins in Connie Mack

Action in the Connie Mack League saw Charlevoix defeat Boyne City 7-4 in a game played here Wednesday.

Kurt Puffpaff allowed seven hits while Wandrie of Boyne City gave up 10.

Charlevoix took a 4-0 lead before Boyne City trimmed the margin to 4-3 in the fourth inning. Charlevoix added three more in the sixth inning for the win.

Charlevoix went ahead in the first inning on a walk, a double by Scott Kelly and a single by Jon Spieles. An error, a fielder's choice and a sacrifice accounted for the team's single run in the second inning. A home run by Gary Drury, a double by Paul Andoni and a fielder's choice added two more runs in the third to make the score 4-0.

Boyne City came back in the fourth to cut the score to 4-3 on two walks and a home run by Wallenburger.

Doubles by Kelly, Spieles and Drury and a single by Kerr gave the team the win though Boyne City scored one more on singles by Gabos, Follette and Wandrie.

In a game played earlier, Charlevoix defeated Frankfort 12-2.

Connor wows local gymnasts

by ANNE KELLY

Appearing recently at Charlevoix High School in a benefit gymnastics exhibition for the Charlevoix Gym Club, Bart Connor and Mark Oates won the hearts of young gymnasts and the audience alike with their personal approach to performance. Taking the time to explain and to demonstrate a variety of skills, both young men came across as just the kind of talent America can be proud to send to the '84 Olympics in Los Angeles.

As Jim Mitchell, director of Charlevoix Gym Club, commented, "It will probably be sometime down the road when the kids realize how fortunate they are to have had World Class gymnasts work with them and perform for them."

Conner and Oates graciously worked with gymnastics students of the club from Charlevoix, Gaylord and Cheboygan during the morning clinic prior to the June 25th evening performance. They passed tips for better personal performance and demonstrated techniques on the floor and the gymnastic equipment. Both Connor and Oates were personable, accessable and comfortable with the young gymnasts.

In a question and answer period at the conclusion of the clinic, Connor explained that only in the past several years, have American gymnasts measured up to internation competition standards. In men's gymnastics, when Kurt Thomas made it, others like himself were spurred on to believe that it was not impossible.

"I wouldn't trade our free methods of teaching gymnastics for all the systematized methods of teaching gymnastics in Europe," Connor commented. The U.S.A. is not noted for its systematic gymnastics training of youth as are the competitive European countries.

He himself, a world Champion on the parallel bars and a member of the 1976 and 1980 Olympic Teams, got interested in gymnastics at his local Y.M.C.A. in Chicago when he was 10 years old. "Success was my motivation," he explained. He became proficient, traveled with his team, kept on improving and eventually brought home trophies.

Connor practices in the gym 2½-3 hours a day. Both he and University of Oklahoma sophomore Mark Oates teach at summer gymnastics camps and participate in exhibitions around the country.

Their performance in Charlevoix demonstrating their skills on the pommel horse, parallel bars, high bar, and floor was a thrilling experience for gymnastics enthusiasts who came to witness Olympic quality gymnastics and were not disappointed.

Olympic gymnast Bart Connor gives a demonstration of his skills to a group of young Charlevoix-area gymnastics students in the high school gym.

The Charlevoix Public Schools is now accepting proposals for the operation of the food service program for the school year 1983-84.

During the past school year ('82-'83) an average of 444 meals were served per day.

Proposals must be received at the office of the Business Manager, 208 Clinton Street, Charlevoix, Michigan 49720, not later than close of business July 22, 1983. Bid specifications may be requested from the above office or by phone 616-547-6573.

The Board of Education reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Use caution when canning summer produce

"Botulism toxin poisoning from home-canned foods can be deadly. The toxin can not be seen, tasted nor smelled, so the only guarantee you have that your home processed foods are safe is by carefully using accurately time and temperature proportions," said Sheri Rhoads, Charlevoix-Antrim County Extension Home Economist.

Botulism spores are naturally present in foods. Rhoads explained that once they are sealed in a vacuum with low-acid foods that are improperly canned, they produce the deadly toxins. One teaspoon of botulism toxin can kill a population the size of New York City.

Low-acid foods are of three types: vegetables, tomato-vegetable mixtures, and meats, including fish and poultry. Pressure canning kills the spores in these products before they produce toxins.

Why isn't water-bath canning enough, even if extra canning time is allowed? Water-bath canning involves submersing the sealed jars in boiling water for a certain period of time to kill bacteria. This is safe for high-acid foods such as fruits, tomatoes and pickled products, because the acid environment is not conducive to the bacteria's survival.

However, boiling water only reaches a temperature of 212 degrees F. no matter how long it boils. Botulism spores can only be killed at 240 degrees F., the temperature reached by steam in a pressure canner.

Therefore, it is extremely important to use the correct canning method as well as the correct temperatures and times. Don't trust your memory - look up the canning times and temperatures in current reference books.

Each pound on your pressure canner dial means 2 degrees F. If the dial is off two pounds, you may actually be canning at 236 degrees F., a temperature to low to kill botulism spores.

To check the accuracy of your gauge, look at the pointer. If the pointer is loose and moves back and forth when the cover is tipped, it should be replaced. If the pointer falls away from the stop pin two or more pounds, or if it does not return within one pound of the stop pin, it should be replaced.

Have your dial gauges checked for accuracy. Weighted gauges, even if they are bumped or dropped, will weigh the same and thus be accurate. The spring in dial-gauge is susceptible to damage from bumps and movement, so have it checked yearly, either by sending it back to the company or by bringing it to the Extension Service Office for checking.

The Charlevoix County Extension Service will be offering free pressure canner gauge testing on Wednesday, July 27, from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m., at the Extension Office in the Boyne City Hall Building, 391 B. N. Lake Street. Bring your gauge as well as the lid to your canner.

The testing will also be offered at the Emmet County Fair in August, and the tester will be housed in the Emmet County Extension Office until then.

Call Sheri Rhoads at 616-582-6232 between 8:30 and 4:30 p.m. weekdays, for more information.

Tickets selling briskly for annual Kappa Sigma home tour

by PEG OHLE

Although they came off the presses a little late, tickets for the Charlevoix Home Tour are selling well at most outlets, according to a member of Kapa Sigma Sorority, sponsors of the Tour.

They are available at the Shop of the Gulls, The Apple Tree, and the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce in Charlevoix; at the Tin Soldier in Harbor Springs; and at the Petoskey Chamber of Commerce.

The Tour, which will benefit the Charlevoix Area Hospital, will take place this coming Saturday afternoon, July 18, from 1 to 5:30 p.m.

There are four houses and two condominium units on the Tour schedule, each with its own, separate charm and distinction: two houses designed and built by the late Earl Young of Charlevoix; an elegant Lake Charlevoix home designed by architect Hans Wiemer; two apartments in the Lake House Condominium overlooking Lake Michigan, designed by Charlevoix architect Jack Begrow; and an older in-town summer home.

The latter home, which was built in 1922, has 14 rooms on three floors plus four bathrooms, a butler's pantry, an attic, and a basement. The kitchen, who has been modernized, was originally two rooms and a porch. The living room and dining room are a combination of English traditional and Oriental decor, complete with several Oriental pieces of art. Four of the seven bedrooms are decorated in the manner of Swiss, French, English, and Oriental bedrooms.

Tickets for the House Tour are $10 each. No children under 12 will be permitted on the Tour.

Will counsel senior citizens on job openings

Senior citizens looking for full or part-time employment will be interviewed by a sympathetic member of their age group when they register at the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MCSC) office in Petoskey.

Megan Adams of Charlevoix has been hired as a contract worker from the Michigan Senior Community Service Employment Program (SCSEP) to interview older job seekers.

In her job, Ms. Adams will be able to counsel senior citizens about job opportunities and re-training possibilities.

A spokesman for the MESC told the Courier that they recently have had many jobs which could be filled by senior citizens. They included secretary, cashier, waiter, sales representative, sales clerk, dishwasher, vendor, inspector, and appliance repair helper, among others.

The telephone number of the MESC in Petoskey is 347-5150.

Indian heritage celebrated by Nishnawbe Festival at Art Center

Crooked Tree Arts Council's Second Annual Nishnawbe Festival will open on Saturday, July 16 at the McCune Arts Center in Petoskey.

In the morning, there will be a special cancellation of mail from 8 till 12. The official opening of the festival will take place at 7 p.m. in the gallery, at which time the Richard Pohrt Collection of Indian Art, on loan from the Detroit Institute of Arts, will be unveiled. Mr. Pohrt operated an Indian museum in Cross Village for many years, and his collection exemplifies the Native American synthesis of art and culture.

At the 7 p.m. opening in the gallery, there will be a reception with native American refreshments served. Admission is free.

For Native Americans, art is a way of life. For thousands of years they have incorporated art into the rituals and daily routines of their culture. The Nishnawbe Festival is a chance for area residents to share in this celebration of Indian art, dancing and folklore and cooking.

"Nishnawbe" is the Ottawa and Ojibway word for Indian. But the word also has many subtle translations. It can mean the "original people of the forest", or it can imply a mystical link with the spiritual realities and heritage of their native land. The Nishnawbe Festival is an effort to embody the subtle insights of the Native American people by preserving and furthering their arts, culture and heritage.

Featured throughout the festival in the McCune Arts Center Gallery, will be the Pohrt Collection from the Detroit Institute of Arts. A book of Inaidn quill box patterns by Frances Pallthorpe, who taught art in Petoskey during the first half of the century, will also be on display. Miss Pallthorp meticulously copied the designs and colors of the quill box patterns which reflect the personal trademark of each artist.

To encourage active participation in the festival, a series of hand on workshops will be presented on Saturdays at 2:00 p.m. at the arts center. Dates and arts demonstrated will be: July 23, Louis Chingwa of Harbor Springs, beadwork; July 30; Peter Migwans of Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, Canada, painting; August 6, Tony Willis of Harbor Springs, Black Ash Basket Weaving; August 13, Yvonne Walker of Petoskey, Porcupine Quill Box Weaving; August 20, Ann Smith of Petoskey, Black Ash Basket Weaving, and Veronica Medicine of Petoskey, Fry Bread Demonstration. All workshops will be free.

Other events directed toward the preservation of Indian culture through art will be the taping on cassettes of Indian legends as told by the elders to the young, classes in Indian art for children, Indian dancing, a mini pow-wow and the display of totems, coup sticks, eagle feathers and a genuine birchbark tepee outside the arts center.

The Nishnawbe Festival will run from July 16 through August 27 at the McCune Arts Center, closing with an Indian Banquet. The menu will include buffalo meat, fry bread, corn, cider and Native American specialties, and feature special guest speakers. The banquet is the only event of the festival for which there will be a charge and tickets are $8.00 per person.

Gallery hours at the McCune Arts Center are Mondays through Saturdays, 10 till 5.

Carl Kohler, above, who was 90 years old on June 15th, celebrated a belated birthday party over the July 4th holiday. The Kohler's have two children, nine grandchildren and six great-grandchildren all of whom were present for the event coming from as far away as Alabama and Connecticut. A niece and nephew also came from New York. Previously, Carl had received a birthday card shower from old friends and will wishes containing pictures and memories of days gone by. These were arranged in an album. The family had a flowering hawthorn tree planted in their yard as a living memory. June also was the time of Kohler's 61st Wedding Anniversary.

A SPECIAL CONCERT was presented at the Charlevoix Area Hospital last Wednesday when the Charlevoix City Band played a few numbers for Clarence "Odie" Odmark, longtime Charlevoix High School band director, who is recovering from a recent stroke. Odmark headed the high school band program from 1946 to 1971 and was also an organizer and director of the City Band. Current City Band director Terry Isenbarger, right, was invited to surprise Odmark at the hospital by nurses aide Nora Martin who made all the arrangements for the band to come over to the hospital after the regular Wednesday night concert in East Park.

A TEST FLIGHT in a Navy T-38 trainer was taken at the Charlevoix airport last week by Paul Reising of Charlevoix. Reising, shown in the rear seat of the plane, is planning a career as a Naval pilot and was given a taste of what's in store for him by Lt. Rob Baker who flew into the Charlevoix Municipal Airport from his headquarters in Lansing.

Model T is apple of Gaskin's eye

This authentic Michigan license plate was from an era in which plates only carried four digits.

by DAVE KNIGHT

"John loves No. 83,899."

That's what you might find carved into a tree at the Gaskin residence on Belvedere Ave. The object of John Gaskin's affection is Model T No. 83,899 which rolled off Henry Ford's assembly line in November, 1911 and now lives a pampered life in Gaskin's garage.

The owner of a 1913 Model T for several years, Gaskin always wanted an earlier edition of America's most renowned automobile, particularly one with no front doors.

In 1978 he "got lucky" and located No. 83,899 in a Crawfordville, Indiana garage. The car was barely visible through 25 years of accumulated junk in the garage but, when eventually extricated, it proved to be a valuable find.

A 1912 Touring variety, it still belonged to the original owner and had last been run in the 1950s. Almost all the accessories and equipment on the car were original, including the John Brown carbide lights and the wooden

Model T Ford Club International to converge on Charlevoix for its annual tour

by DAVE KNIGHT

For one day next week, Charlevoix will be treated to the joys of another era, courtesy of the Model T Ford Club International (MTFCI).

On Wednesday, July 20th, up to 250 lovingly restored Model T automobiles will visit Charlevoix as part of the MTCFI's 27th annual tour.

Organized to provide members with a chance to compare notes on their cars and enjoy a pleasant drive together, the tour visits a different part of the country each year. Tours in recent years have visited Deadwood, South Dakota and Kissimmee, Florida where local MTFCI chapters served as hosts.

This year's host is the Northwest Michigan Chapter of which Charlevoix's John and Pete Gaskin are members. John, who owns two Model Ts, has made the local arrangements for Wednesday's activities.

The tour is actually a week-long affair based in Traverse City from July 17 to 23. From Traverse, participants from all over the Midwest will be taking day trips; some optional, to such areas as the Leelanau Peninsula and the Interlochen Music Camp. All the cars, along with over 500 drivers and passengers, will be making the trek to Charlevoix.

Gaskin expects the entourage to leave the Park Place Hotel, headquarters for the tour, at about 8 a.m. Wednesday. From there the cars will travel the back roads on its way past Torch Lake through East Jordan, Boyne City and eventually Charlevoix.

The caravan, said Gaskin, will travel at an average speed of 35 to 38 miles per hour.

Ford dealer and antique car buff Bob Mathers plans to offer a mid-morning coffee stop at about 10 a.m. in Boyne City.

On its way to Charlevoix on the Boyne City Road along the north shore of Lake Charlevoix, the tour will pass through Horton Bay where not much has changed since the glory years of the Model T. Members will enjoy the Horton Bay General Store, a classic, turn-of-the-century general store, and, a little farther up the road, Bill Price's Old Barn Antiques.

By 11 a.m., the cars will start to enter Charlevoix from the north. Arrangements have been made with the Charlevoix Police Department to cordon off all parking on the east side of Bridge Street from Antrim St. to Clinton St. and down Clinton to Round Lake. Police Chief Jack Mol said that the parking spaces involved will start to be closed to the public at about 9 a.m. Wednesday.

The Model T owners can then stop and do some shopping leaving their cars on display downtown for interested onlookers.

With Model Ts completely dominating downtown Charlevoix midday Wednesday, it will appear as if time in the city was turned back fifty years.

While some of the cars are parked downtown, others will proceed to Ferry Beach where the group will hold a picnic catered by Nanny's Old Place. The picnic is scheduled to be held in shifts with one contingent eating while the other shops downtown.

Other activities planned for the visiting Model T buffs include an open house hosted by the Charlevoix Historical Society at their Harsha House museum and a welcome from the Erber-McKeown Ford dealership which will be saluting 75 years of progress. Some of the MTFCI members may also be taking Bay Queen cruises.

The Model T Ford Club International took root in the late 1940s when some people interested in the restoration and preservation of Model Ts started getting together in the Chicago area. The "Model T Ford Club" was officially formed in 1952.

The club tour eventually became an annual event and steadily expanded geographically, requiring the addition of the word "International" to the club's title. Also added along the way were bylaws and a Board of Directors.

Today there are 50 local chapters of the MTFCI, of which the Northwestern Michigan Chapter is one. Pete Gaskin of Charlevoix, brother of John, is also involved with the local chapter. The bimonthly Model T Times serves as the official publication of the MTFCI and John Gaskin's 1912 Model T Touring Car is pictured on the cover of the January-February 1983 edition, parked in front of the Charlevoix City Hall.

Restoration began in 1979 and was from stem to stern. The top and upholstery had to be replaced and some stylish touches were added such as wire wheels (the originals were wooden) and maple trim boards on the rear doors.

By 1982, No. 83,899 was ready for its coming out party. It made a very successful debut, too, winning a blue ribbon for Gaskin at that year's Old Car Festival at Greenfield Village.

Both Gaskin's 1912 and 1913 Model Ts are driven weekly, many times to functions of the Model T Ford Club International which will be bringing its annual tour to Charlevoix next week.

Writes Gaskin in a recent edition of Model T Times which featured No. 83,899 on the cover, "My wife and I try to participate in all the (MTFCI) activities we can with our cars but we don't limit the cars to these activities. A very relaxing and refreshing experience is to take your car and ride through the countryside on a fall day just enjoying nature and Henry's machine."

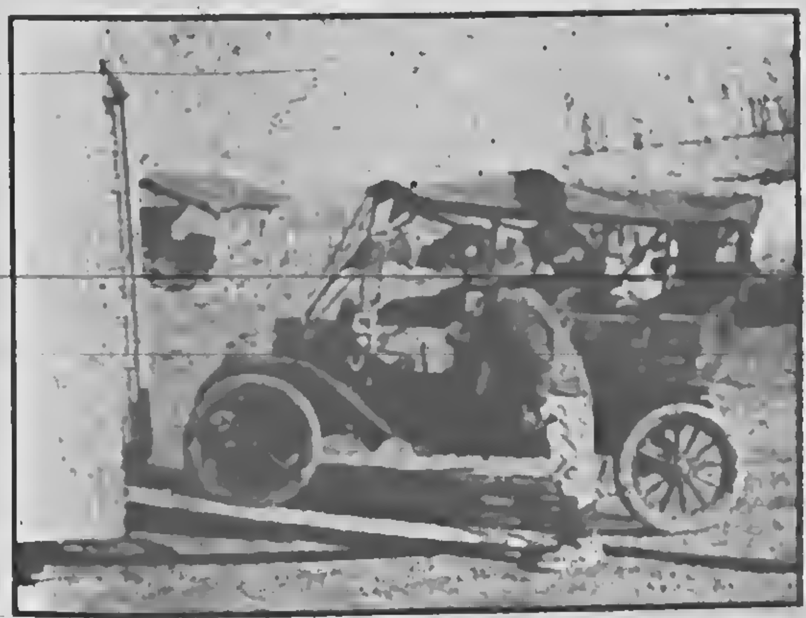
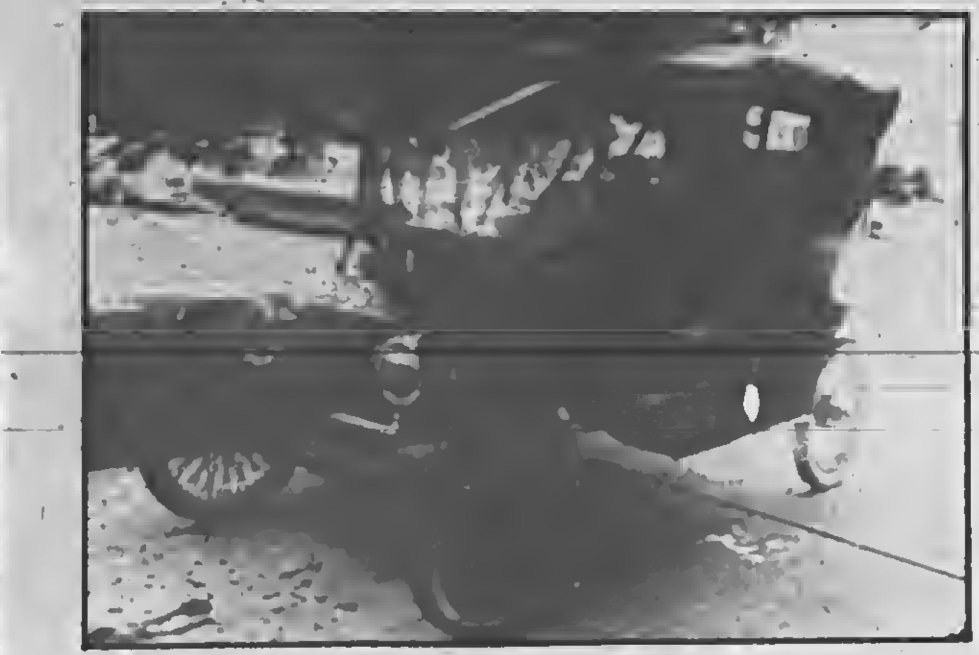
Gaskin's 1912 Model T was found, above, amid 25 years of clutter in a Crawfordville, Indiana garage.

The original owner of the car helps push it out of the garage to be loaded onto a truck.



The only owner No. 83,899 ever had before John Gaskin pauses a moment with his car before it leaves for a new life in Charlevoix.

Gaskin's other Model T, a 1913, is also being fixed up for the Model T International Club tour next week.



No. 83,899 is shown here after the restoration.

Who'll wear the crown?

by DAVE KNIGHT

Marking the official start of Charlevoix's 53rd Venetian Weekend Thursday night will be the annual Miss Charlevoix Pageant at the high school gymnasium.

According to pageant organizers Sandy Bonello and Georgia LaBlance, the 1983 Queen's contest and coronation will be every bit as entertaining and exciting as the pageants of past years.

Six eager contestants have been learning dance steps, preparing outfits and practicing their best smiles over the past few weeks in preparation for the pageant which each year attracts about 2,000 spectators for one of the most popular events of the Venetian Festival.

This year the pageant, emceed by KHQ air personality Mark Cage, will begin at 7:30 p.m. and will feature a variety of entertainment in addition to the Queen's competition.

Candy Smith of Vital Options, Inc. has choreographed a dance arrangement featuring all six of the Miss Charlevoix contestants. The routine is tailored to this year's Venetian theme, "A Continental Holiday" and incorporates music from the muscial "Cabaret". Can-can type costumes made by Betsy Reynolds will add to the color.

More music will be provided by young Charlevoix musicians Shawn and Tara McClelland. The Charlevoix High School Forensics Club will perform for the crowd and pianist Marina LaBlance will also be on hand.

A special musical treat will be offered by Miss Charlevoix 1982, Kathy Pidek, who will present a vocal arrangement. Kathy recently represented Charlevoix in the Queen Pageant of the National Cherry Festival in Traverse City and was one of the six finalists.

Three judges have been named to scrutinize the Miss Charlevoix hopefuls: Jeff Kruzel of Boyne City is a member of the Boyne City Chamber of Commerce and is associated with the Northwestern State Bank there; Donna Tisron of East Jordan was chairman of the East Jordan Fourth of July Grand Street Parade and Doug Flewelling of Petoskey works with the Little Traverse Civic Theatre.

Contestants will compete in three areas: bathing suit, talent and evening gown. In addition to being named Miss Charlevoix and having the opportunity to represent the community at various functions and other pageants, the winner of the 1983 crown will be awarded a scholarship.

Following are the six contestants along with their backgound:

MARGO THERESA SMITH, 18, is the daughter of Judith Crowell and Terry Smith of Charlevoix. She is 5'5", has blond hair and blue eyes. A 1982 Charlevoix High School graduate, she won a Michigan Academic Scholarship and has completed her first year at Western Michigan University. She enjoys softball, basketball, volleyball, swimming, reading, reading, sewing, cooking and jogging; in high school she was co-captain of her basketball and volleyball teams and received All-Conference honors. She also has interests in fashion design and marketing, the Romance languages and ancient history. Margo plans to show fashions of her own design for the talent competition. Margo is sponsored by Ski & Shore Real Estate of Charlevoix.

BETHANY ANN JONES, 17, is the daughter of Neil and Joanne Jones of Charlevoix. She is 5'8" and has brown hair and blue eyes. Beth is a hobby artist and enjoys painting with acrylics. She also finds time for swimming, bicycling and volleyball. She takes part in 4-H activites and performing arts projects at Charlevoix High School where she will be a senior this fall. Beth has been on the Charlevoix High School academic honor roll and has advanced to the State level in two categories of performing arts competition. She will use that experience for her talent presentation, the reading of the story "Grandpa" by Barbara Borack. Beth is sponsored by Charlee's.

KELLY J. MATHEWS, 19, is the daughter of Vernon and Andrea Mathews of Charlevoix. She is 5'2" and has brown hair and hazel eyes. Kelly is a 1982 graduate of Charlevoix High School where she was a Girls State delegate and a member of the academic Top Ten Percent of her graduating class. She recently graduated with honors from the Southeastern Academy travel school in Florida and is also a licensed cosmetologist having graduated from the Petoskey Beauty Academy in 1982. Kelly lists as her other interests sailing, bicycling, aerobics, tennis, skiing, reppelling, weight machines, travel and piano. For the talent competition she plans a humorous monologue. Kelly is sponsored by Mettler's by the Bay.

MARTHA REISING, 18, is the daughter of Paul and Marilyn Reising of Charlevoix. She is 5'7" and has blond hair and blue eyes. She graduated this year from Charlevoix High School, was a Flag

Medusa, WATCH agree on monitoring

by DAVE KNIGHT

A 90-day air monitoring program and an independent observer of on-site practices in the Medusa Cement Company plant were jointly agreed upon Thursday at a meeting between Medusa representatives and members of WATCH, Inc., a recently formed citizen group concerned about cement dust allegedly emanating from the Medusa plant.

Tentatively scheduled to start August 1, the monitoring program will involve representatives from an independent consulting firm yet to be chosen, Medusa, WATCH and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

DNR personnel at Thursday's meeting, including Rick Johns of the Air Quality Division's Compliance Branch, fully endorsed the joint monitoring program.

Johns expressed skepticism of the air quality monitoring that has been conducted in past years in Charlevoix. Though federal standards for air quality have never been violated, said Johns, the four monitors located around Charlevoix record the amount of particulate matter collected over a 24-hour period and do not always reflect a true picture of air quality.

"There might be a short burst of unacceptable air that, when analyzed on the monitor's filters for occuring over a 24-hour period, would look pretty good," said Johns.

Don Luster, an industrial consultant hired by Medusa, stressed the need for more data saying that it is time to shift from an emotional reaction to the problem to a more scientific approach.

"If action is going to be taken by Medusa to correct the problem," said Luster, "it is essential to know the nature of the problem."

Luster conceded that, despite the fact DNR monitors have never indicated any violation of federal air quality standards in Charlevoix, a problem exists.

"With the number of people sitting in this room, I've got to believe there's an air problem," said Luster.

WATCH organizer Howard Neilson who chaired the meeting, emphasized that his group's purpose was not to shut down the plant but to see that it operates more responsibly.

"We are not a bunch of long-haired environmentalists and we don't want to turn the clock back 100 years," said Neilson, "We too feel we want to be good neighbors and we too want to get down to the facts."

The air monitoring program agreed upon Thursday will involve the installation of several additional monitors which will record air samples from both selected locations around Charlevoix and at the Medusa plant. Luster also suggested that samples be taken from other potential sources of natural fugitive dust.

Data on meteorological conditions will be kept as will a detailed log of operations at the plant so that when there is a noticeble influx of dust recorded in the area, a possible correlation may be made.

According to Luster, laboratory analysis by electron microscope of dust particles collected by the monitors around town will be able to determine whether they originated from quarry blasting, kiln operation, clinker, roads or some other source.

The second part of the agreement will place an independent observer, agreeable to both WATCH and Medusa, in the plant to observe operations for the 90-day period. The cost for the observer is to be shared by the two parties.

DNR official Johns also suggested that local citizens keep track of the times when dust problems seem worst to add to the data base.

Waterfront Art Fair gearing up for gala 25th anniversary

Charlevoix is pulling out all the stops, including diverting an interstate highway, for the Twenty-fifth Anniversary of its annual Waterfront Art Fair, this year Saturday, August 13.

Organizers say, with confidence, this Silver Anniversary Waterfront Art Fair will see the highest quality of original fine art ever exhibited in Charlevoix.

Among this year's exhibitors will be many artists, who now show their works only in top galleries, but who started exhibiting at Charlevoix years ago. Distinguished artists including sculptors Walter and Peggy Midener, their daughter Wendy, creator of Star War's Yoda as well as characters for Jim Henson's Muppets, will join others from earlier Charlevoix shows. Contemporary exhibitors have been carefully selected for this show.

Charlevoix Waterfront Art Fair, begun in 1960, has become known throughout the art community, to artists, gallery owners and collectors, as one of the finest in the country. Over 600 artists apply for the limited 140 exhibition spaces. Collectors and gallery buyers say they hold acquisition decisions until the Charlevoix show. It is estimated that well over $200,000 annually, is spent by art buyers at the show.

Sculptor Walter Midener commented several years ago that "the Charlevoix Waterfront Art Fair attracts the most sophisticated audience outside New York.

When the first Waterfront Art Fair was held in Charlevoix, it was intended to bring fine art north to an area that had no galleries, no art curriculum in the schools, and no professional artists working and making a living in the community. The hope was that an art fair would not only make it possible for local residents to see fine art, but serve as a catalyst to aspiring artists.

The quality of the art fair evolved rapidly from a mix of crafts and fine art to a show devoted exclusively to original fine art - sculpture, ceramics, artistic photography, painting, artistic jewlery and etchings.

Today many of the exhibitors are artists who moved north permanently after visiting the area during an art fair. Most of these resident artists maintain open studios, several employ young would-be professional artists, and most have contributed substantially to the now flourishing cultural scene, which includes several art galleries, the two-county Crooked Tree Arts Council, the McCune Art Center (in Petoskey), and a full arts curriculum. In the Charlevoix

County Board tables action on Jordan River barrier

by PEG OHLE

The Department of Natural Resources has been rebuffed once again in its attempt to place a fish barrier in the Jordan River.

Last week, the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners tabled a resolution which would have permitted the DNR to construct a sea lamprey barrier on a site the Department had selected following engineering studies.

The resolution supporting construction of a lamprey barrier on the Jordan was presented by Commissioner Don Smith, who is the County Commission's liaison with the County Planning Department. A few days earlier, the Planning Department had recommended that federal and state funds be made available for the barrier.

The DNR is seeking permission to construct the barrier, which is in reality a cement dam rising about 18 inches out of the water to prevent salmon as well as lamprey eels from swimming upstream to spawn. The barrier would also make it unnecessary to chemically treat the river for lamprey control.

Another, separate, project for the DNR is to install a salmon harvesting facility next to the barrier as the first step in establishing a salmon sports fishery in Lake Charlevoix.

Most active opposition to the barrier has come from a group of East Jordan residents who were active in securing a "Natural River" designation for a portion of the Jordan River. This area is protected by special zoning

THE WITHERS ARE SPICING UP VILLAGE INN PIZZA

Jim and Sherry Withers are spicing up Village Inn Pizza with their new downstairs dining room.

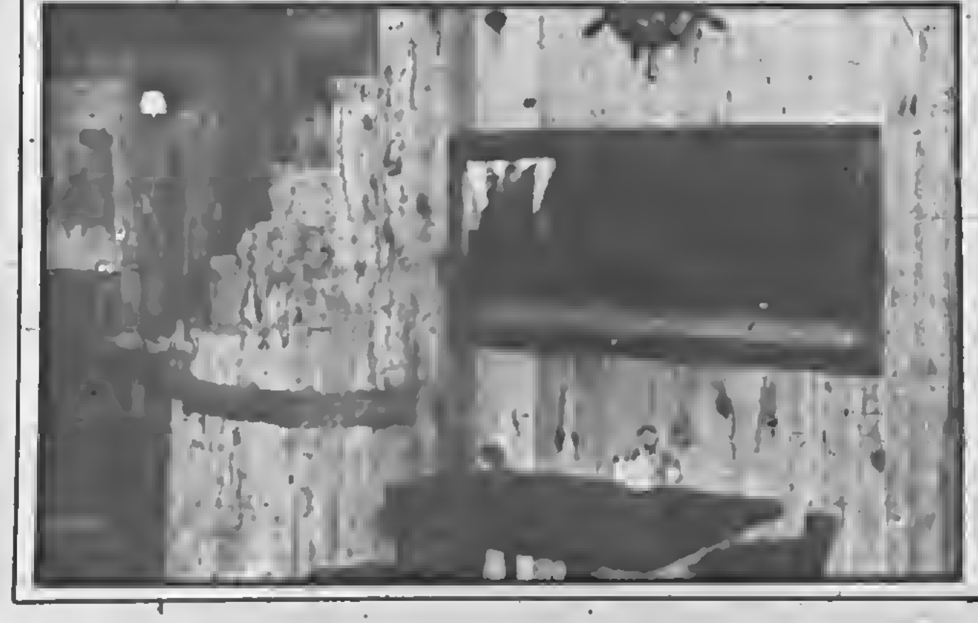
The V.I.P. has recently completed an extensive remodeling project in which the basement of the Bridge Street restaurant has been converted into an attractive new seating area.

Up to 50 people can now be accommodated in the downstairs dining room at V.I.P. which will also be available for parties, receptions, church groups, and banquets featuring their acclaimed buffet. According to the Withers requests have been made for three parties prior to the completion of the downstairs. Contact Jim Withers at 547-4405 for more information.

The nautical theme of the V.I.P. decor has been extended to the newly remodeled area with all designing done by Jim and Sherry and the construction done by Jim Withers and Ron McDonough.

An especially unique addition to the downstairs dining area is a 55 gallon tropical fish tank populated by African cichlids. One wall is dominated by a colorful mural depicting a serene woodland setting so characteristic of the Charlevoix area.

The Withers first got into the pizza business in 1975 when they started selling pizzas in the former A & W building on the south end of Bridge Street. By the next year, 1976, they had moved downtown into the former Charlevoix State Savings Bank location at 217 Bridge Street.



V.I.P. continued with pizzas and subs as its speciality at the downtown location but over the years the Withers have gradually expanded their menu and services with salads, burgers and sandwiches.

This spring, Jim and Sherry realized that so many more people today are calorie conscious and that diners on the go like fast service and a wide selection. The result was the addition of a 14 foot salad bar-buffet featuring 40 items including all the fixings for a make it yourself salad plus a wide variety of pizzas, soup and other luncheon favorites. Restaurant manager of the V.I.P. is Shawn McDonough who has been in the pizza business since was 14 years old and is Jim's right hand man.

The new downstair's dining area and the salad bar-buffet were not the only results of the recent remodeling project. A complete repainting, the installation of new upstairs windows and an attractive new sign all combine to give Village Inn Pizza a bright new look on the outside to compliment the interior improvements.

V.I.P. still has the distinction of having the only delivery service in the area but now it has also developed into one of the most complete family oriented restaurants in Charlevoix as well.

Village Inn Pizza is open for your convenience at 11:30 to Midnight daily and Noon to Midnight on Sundays.

MSU exhibit is proof of ancient culture in this area

by FRAN MARTIN

Evidence that people traversed the bluffs overlooking Lake Michigan as long ago as 1500 B.C. can now be seen in an exhibit on loan from Michigan State University and being shown at the museum at Harsha House, home of the Charlevoix Area Historical Society.

The exhibit contains artifacts that span a time period of 3000 years that were uncovered in an archaeological excavation conducted by a Michigan State University Museum survey team on what is known as the Pine River Channel site in 1982. The artifacts are exhibited in conjunction with site maps, photos and other explanation materials that relate the history of the people, their family life, social ties, industries and other pertinent information.

For those not familiar with the Pine River Channel site, it is located where the former Beach Hotel had stood since 1898 until it was razed to make way for the present LaCroft Condominiums.

The artifacts in the exhibit span a time period from the Lake Archiac Period 2500 B.C.-0 A.D. to the Initial Woodland Period 0 A.D. to 600 A.D. and through the Late Woodland Period 600 A.D. to about 1650 A.D.

The artifacts are mounted and accompanied by a legend that relates to history of each period. The accompanying charts, maps and drawings present an indepth explanation of what was found in the Pine River Channel excavation complete with an analysis of the findings.

Though the Pine River Channel site was not excavated until 1972 there was evidence in writings that the possibility existed that ancient peoples had lived at the site. These date back to 1883 and are mentioned again in 1931. However, nothing was ever done to explore the site until it was re-discovered in 1970 by Dr. Charles E. Cleland and his Museum survey team while working at other sites in the area.

At the time of the initial discovery, the site was earmarked for excavation at some future date. However, with the announcement that the site would be disturbed with the construction of the condominiums, it became imperative that the excavation be made at once or the valuable materials would be lost.

A drive to obtain public support to help underwrite the cost of the project spearheaded by Thomas Hanna, city superintendent at the time, netted $4000 in contributions. The city cooperated by offering men and equipment and the late Earl A. Young provided housing for the survey crew headed by Curator William A. Lovis.

Among Dr. Cleland's objectives for the site were to determine the extent of the midden or layer of organic material to find any prehistoric materials; determine the depth involved in the area

Knight on the Town
How dry we are

by Dave Knight

For a time last week, the concern over water quality in Charlevoix took a back seat to worries about quantity for a change.

According to the figures kept at the city water treatment plant, Charlevoix had gotten a total of .23 inches of rain this month as of Monday. If the trend does not reverse soon, July 1983 will go down in the books as one of the driest months on record.

One result of the worsening drought is that Charlevoixians are watering lawns and gardens a lot more than usual. In the 24-hour period from 3 p.m. Monday, July 11 and 3 p.m. Tuesday, July 12, the city pumped 1.85 million gallons of water, the highest volume of the year and one of the highest ever.

Unbeknownst to city crews because of a minor glitch in an alarm bell at the fire station, the water level in the new water tower on Division was allowed to drop way past the danger point and at about 6:30 p.m. that Monday there were only four feet of water in the tank.

Said City Manager Bob Hunt, "It (the water level) was right down in the stem of the wine glass."

Understand that nobody knew this at the time it was happening; there is a recording device that tracks on a circular chart the water level over a 24-hour period. When the gauge was checked Tuesday, the situation of the day before was realized. By then, however, the danger had passed.

After hitting the low point of four feet, demand started abating and the tank started refilling. By 4:30 a.m. Tuesday, according to the chart, the tank was full again.

The alarm bell is supposed to go off when the level in the tank hits 13 feet. When the 300,000 gallon tank is full, the water is 30 feet deep. According to Hunt, all the sophisticated sensing equipment at the tank was operational; it was just the simple bell mechanism at the fire station that choked in the clutch.

The oppressive heat did not let up, however, and on Tuesday and Wednesday 1.94 million and 1.96 million gallons were pumped respectively. Even with a reworked pumping routine in which more pumps are on longer, by Thursday it was difficult to keep the tank full again.

Temporary bans have interrupted watering the city golf course and the aeration mechanisms cutting down the levels of TCE contamination have had to be revised to accomodate a third city pump.

To date, however, the city has not had to enact any bans on citizen use of water. The drought's not over yet, either, though.

One fact that has literally saved the day is that Lake Michigan is currently at a relatively high level. Had it been on a low level cycle, chances are the city's clear well would have been pumped dry by now and we would all have had to subsist on beer for the rest of the summer.

Interesting thought.

The bizarre irony remains that here we are in Charlevoix, surrounded by three sparkling lakes, and not only must we settle for less-than-pure water, but now we are not even assured of having enough.

Clockwise
Joys of Youth

by Bob Clock

"LOOK AT THEM cavorting out there," Judy commented Sunday evening as we sat on a log on the Lake Michigan shore. "Not a care in the world. It's a pity they have to grow up and acquire problems."

Our kids — and the neighbor kids — had asked to go swimming at the end of a long, hot summer day. They already had spent all afternoon in the water. But a final dip before bedtime seemed like a good idea.

Judy and I didn't suit up. But we went along to keep an eye on the swimmers and watch the sun slowly sink behind North Fox Island. A beautiful finale to a beautiful day.

The kids had found an immense piece of driftwood on the beach. From the pointed end it probably had served as a piling for some long-defunct jetty on northern Lake Michigan or an adjoining waterway. Although it was partially water-logged, but it was sufficiently buoyant to support several young swimmers at a time astride its slippery back. But the log would start rolling as soon as anyone tried to stand on it. A chorus of delighted squeals would waft shoreward every time a swimmer was pitched headlong into the water.

"They can't help growing up," I commented after pondering Judy's observation. "But do they have to have problems?"

We both thought that one over for a while. I thought about bills, high blood pressure, taxes, leaky faucets, automobiles that are forever falling apart, a house that needs painting, the never-ending threat of nuclear war, chemical contamination of the environment, survival under an economic system that is capricious under the very best of conditions... The list is endless.

I also tried to remember how it was when I was young. I liked to cavort in the water, but I had problems — even then. Why did Louise B. suddenly decide to walk to school with Bob F. instead of me? What was I going to do when I grew up? Would I ever smarten up sufficiently to pass Sixth Grade? Why did arithmetic teachers insist on saying "pi-r-squared" when everyone knows pies are round?

To look at our kids — and the neighbor kids — splashing around in the clear, cool water of Lake Michigan you'd never dream they had a problem in the world. But I am sure they already have been initiated into the world of the adult worry wart. I don't pretend to know what their problems are, but I'm sure they exist and they are very real and very frightening.

Fortunately, they are able to set them aside on a summer evening. Maybe that's what separates the men from the boys.

WHATKIND OF A season is developing on Bridge Street?

Although no one has taken a body count, the concensus seems to be that there are as many — if not more — tourists in town as other years. However merchants generally agree that big-ticket items are not moving as briskly as they would like.

Small, inexpensive items, however, are keeping cash registers humming.

"Without them, we'd be sunk," one merchant told me.

ANOTHER VENETIAN weekend is just around the corner. As badly as we need rain, I'm all for it holding off until the festivities are over.

Waterfront Art Fair to celebrate 25th anniversary schools from kindergarten through high school.

An annual scholarship, given by the Charlevoix Waterfront Art Fair Committee, has been awarded several young area art students who have gone on to full time professions in the arts. The Charlevoix fair is among very few such fairs which offers a scholarship.

To celebrate their Silver Anniversary the Charlevoix Waterfront Art Fair has enlisted the support of the downtown merchants and city hall.

The one-day fair, Saturday August 13, will be spread across the rolling green terraced waterfront park, bordered on one side by Round Lake and the yatch harbor, and on the other side by U.S. Highway 31. But, for this one day, U.S. Highway 31 will be closed, traffic will be diverted and art fair visitors will stroll through downtown Charlevoix unimpeded by the art fair traffic. Local restaurants will serve sandwiches and quiches. Picnic tables will fill the street.

Among the artists making special return exhibitions this year are Henry Benson, of Boca Raton, Florida, who studied at the Beaux Arts in Paris. Benson's impressionistic paintings are in collections and galleries from coast to coast.

Thomas Kneff will show his highly realistic and detailed watercolors on Michigan and midwest scenes. John Church, instructor at the Interlochen Arts Academy, will bring his sterling and gold designed jewelery which art fair committee member Suzi Reis describes as "breath taking". Pat Custer Denslon, another painter-printmaker who no longer shows on the fair circuit, will exhibit. Robert Flack's ceramic sculptures, Todd Warner's sculptured wood and stoneware, Louis Torres' welded metal mythical creaturers and Jim Millar's sculptured bronze fountains will be on display.

The list of 140 exhibitors in the 25th Annual Waterfront Art Fair is a mix of young artists and older established artists. The reputation for excellence that draws both exhibitors and viewers has been cultivated by the committee which annually invites many top artists to show and selects other exhibitors during the jurying.

This year's Charlevoix Waterfront Art Fair may well be the art event of the year in Michigan.

Board tables action on salmon barrier restrictions. The proposed site for the barrier is located about three-quarters of a mile into the Natural River portion.

Jerry Manz and Hal Merrill of the DNR appeared before the Board of Commissioners to explain their engineering survey which showed the site they had selected was the only feasible one on the river for the barrier.

Manz was questioned by Doris Huckle of East Jordan, who contends that the Jordan is too fragile to withstand the siltation and other changes that a barrier would create. Manz replied that the weir would be a "plus" for the river — that the present chemical treatment kills not only lampreys but other fish and wildlife, too.

"The dam (barrier) would operate three to four months a year," he told his audience. "The rest of the time it would be free-flowing and open. There would be some siltation when it is operating. If we can manage the river the way we want, it will be good."

Manz also noted that a large percentage of the 300,000 Chinook salmon planted this year will return in four years, and, without a barrier, will end up in the upper river to spawn."

"The salmon program is important to the area — there is a demand for it", he added.

Thora Kotowich reminded the DNR representives that as far back as 1972, Natural Resources officials had warned against placing any obstruction in the river because of its fragile makeup.

Helen Cherry, clerk of South Arm Township, where the proposed barrier site is located, expressed concern about policing the river from its mouth in East Jordan some three miles upstream to the barrier. "It would take more DNR officers and Sheriff's deputies than they could provide," she said.

The only person (other than the DNR men) to speak in behalf of the barrier was Judy Shea of the East Jordan Chamber of Commerce. While the general feeling is promoted that the barrier would be "good for business" and as Manz said above, "there is a demand for it", no one group has actively and openly supported it. There are those who talk about the many fishermen good Chinook fishing in Lake Charlevoix and adjoining waters would bring to the area. There are also those who believe that a barrier to keep the lamprey and large fish out of the Upper Jordan would help to restore that area for fly fishing.

The County Board of Commissioners gave no hint as to when they will again consider the barrier question. If and when the barrier is approved by the County Board, the DNR will have to proceed to obtain approval from the Corps of Engineers, the Natural Rivers Zoning Body, and perhaps other official bodies.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel L. Bergmann

Rich-Bergmann

Susan Renee Rich and Daniel Lee Bergmann exchanged marriage vows on Saturday, July 9, at the Community Reformed Church of Charlevoix.

The Rev. Larry Grooters performed the rites before approximately 150 guests.

The bride and bridegroom have both been making their homes in Fairbanks, Alaska, where she is employed as a registered nurse and he is a self-employed home builder.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Hubert R. Rich of Harrison, Maine, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Bergmann of Charlevoix.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her parents, wore a bridal gown of white satin in a Victorian style with medium train, pearl and lace bodice, ruffled satin sleeves, and chapel-length veil. Her headpiece was of Sonia roses and baby's breath, and her bouquet was a colonial cascade of Sonia roses, light blue silk flowers, and miniature lavender lilies.

The bride's sister, Rita Kimball of Waterford, Maine served as matron of honor. Kathy Solomon of Traverse City and Lisa Bergmann of Charlevoix were bridesmaids. The attendants' gows were each of a different color — light blue, apricot, and lavender — with which they carried colonial bouquets accenting the color of the gown.

Carrie Solomon, three and a half years old, was flower girl. She wore a flowered dress of lavender, peach, and light blue on white and a small halo of flowers. Kyle Kimball, the same age, carried the wedding ring on a white satin pillow.

Gordon Solomon of Traverse City served as best man.. Alvin Bergmann of Juneau, Alaska and Michael Bergmann of Phoenix served as groomsmen. Steve Flora of Saginaw and Tim Bradley of Charlevoix were ushers.

Music for the ceremony was providewd by organist Frances Boss and vocalist Cindy Mansen.

A reception at the American Legion Hall followed the wedding. It was hosted by the bride's and bridegroom's families, who were assisted by Tim and Kathy Bradley, Robert and Lillian Bergmann, Maxine and Carol Bergmann, Marion Heeres, Betty Potter, and Howard "Buzz" Otis.

The rehearsal dinner was held in the church parlors on Friday evening, hosted by the Rev. and Mrs. Grooters, the bridegroom's parents, and Marion and Sue Heeres.

Following a wedding trip to Mackinac Island, the newlyweds will remain in Charlevoix until August, when they will return to Fairbanks.

Engagements

Lesser-Roberts

Mrs. Alyce Levy Lesser of Charlevoix is announcing the engagement of her daughter, Meg, to Steven David Roberts of New York.

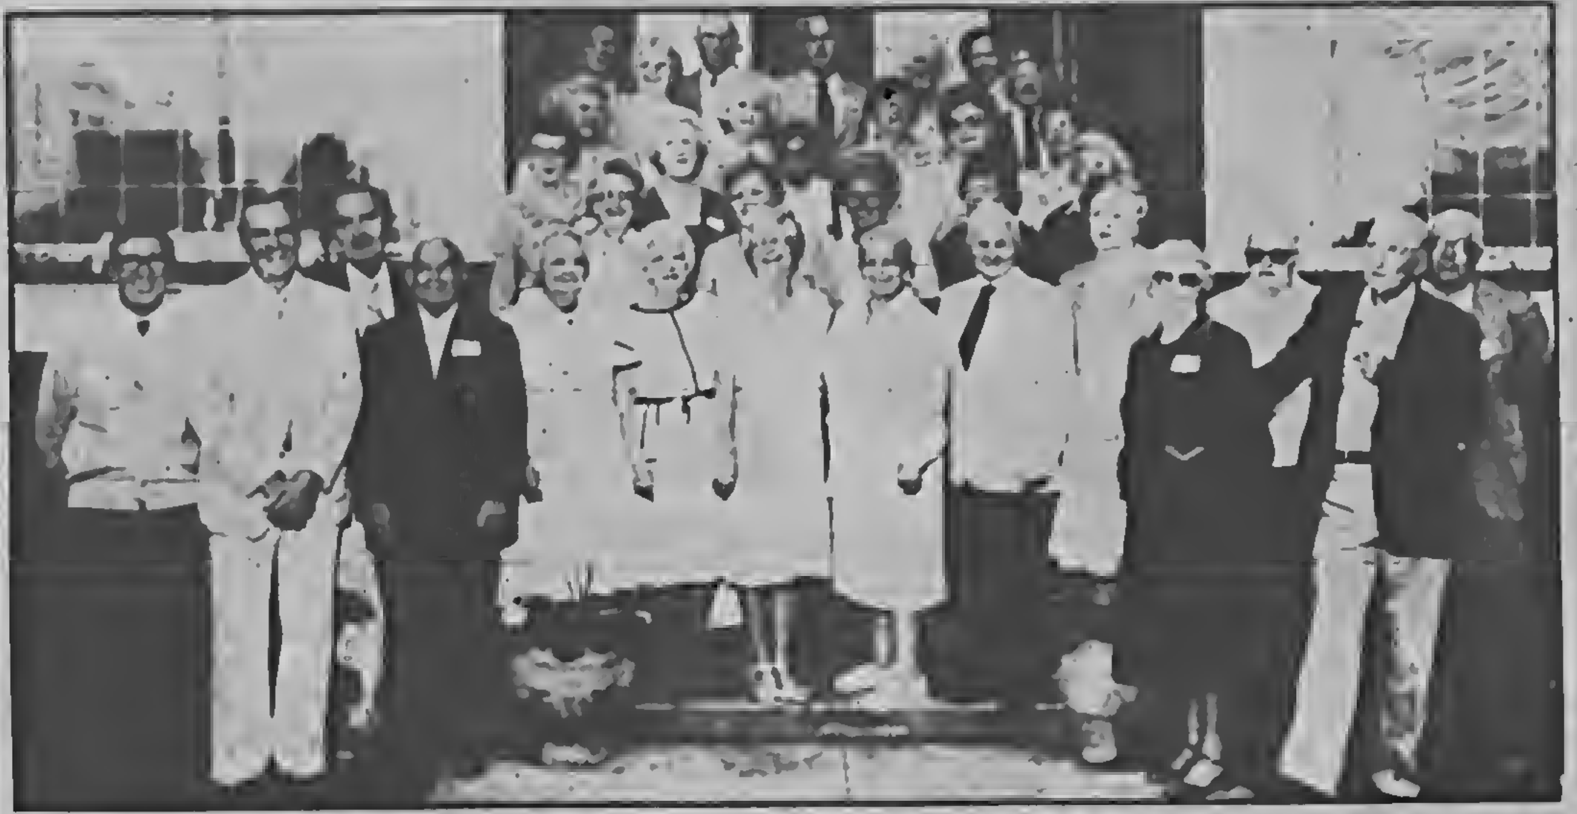
The bride-elect is also the daughter of the late Harry Lesser, Jr., who, with Mrs. Lesser and their children, moved to Charlevoix approximately 10 years ago from St. Louis, Missouri.

Miss Lesser's fiance is the son of Mrs. Paul M. Roberts of New York and the late Mr. Roberts.

Miss Lesser is a graduate of Clayton High School in St. Louis, class of 1974, and of the Rhode Island School of Design, class of 1978. Mr. Roberts is a graduate of Trinity College and received his Master of Business Administration degree from New York University.

Both young people are employed in New York by Echo Scarfs, Inc., Mr. Roberts' family's business.

The wedding will take place in Greenwich, Connecticut on September 11.



THE CLASS OF 1933 of Charlevoix High School held its fiftieth reunion at the Grey Gables Inn recently.

Of the 47 members of the class, 29 returned for the golden reunion, the only one the class ever had. Thirteen members of the class are deceased. Others who had been members of the class but who did not graduate here for various reasons joined class members for the event. A total of 52 members, guests and spouses were in attendance.

Ray L. Kipke of Charlevoix, the only former teacher, and Mrs. Kipke attended. Messages were received from two others, Mrs. Helen (Button) O'Neill and H.E. Bingham, who were unable to attend.

Robert (Tinker) Kirby was master of ceremonies. Jay Oliver gave the invocation in his native Ottawa Indian language. Each class member gave a brief resume of his or her life since leaving Charlevoix High School.

Coming the greatest distances to the reunion were Harry Baker, Longview, Wash., Mrs. Helen (Halverson) Belding of Redwood City, Calif., Mrs. Daisy (Dutcher) Szczpanski of Hollywood, Fl., and George Sneathen of Charleston, W. Va.

The Rev. Don O'Leary, his wife Phyllis, and their ventriloqual partner, Willie, will appear along with the "Joy of Jesus" team as the guest directors of the Vacation Bible School to be held at the Community Church of God, located at 202 W. Hurlbut Street in Charlevoix. The school will convene on Monday July 25 through Friday the 29th, from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon.

This year's theme is "Good News: Jesus is God's Gift for Me!" The theme utilized the good news gospel glove of Campus Crusade for Christ and the gospel kite, which was developed by Mr. O'Leary. Paper craft hand work also has been designed by Mr. O'Leary, which teachers will use to reinforce the lessons.

The O'Learys (known as Uncle Don and Aunt Phyllis) are the pastors of the Greenville First Church of God. Mr. O'Leary is director of the "Joy for Jesus" Ministries. The organization is a multi-visual ministry which employs a wide variety of presentations supporting a central gospel theme. Uncle Don and his little partner, Willie, are the lead members of the group assisted by Aunt Phyllis and "Muppet" type puppets, known as the "Joy for Jesus" Players. Also used will be flannels, drawings, lessons in "magic" effects, and music.

In addition to their pastoral responsibilities the team is in demand for performances at banquets, rallies, workshops, youth camps, and promotions. Mr. O'Leary is the wirter and producer of the Greenville Community Child Watch Program, which has been presented to hundreds of elementary and middle school children.

Rev. and Mrs. Don O'Leary and friend.

All children who attend the vacation bible school will receive a gift from the Treasure Chest, and students who earn the highest scores during the week will be awarded appropriate prizes. Parents may obtain further information by calling the Community Church of God at 547-2875. Rev. Walter G. Hastings, Pastor, and Mrs. Jane Sarasin, Director, extend a warm welcome for all children who have completed Kindertarten through fifth grade to attend.

Northwood's return a success

by KRISTA KNIGHT

Concert Review

Excellent musicianship and unusual, varied repertoire have become trademarks of the Northwood Orchestra. The Charlevoix Concert, sixth in the orchestra's "Festival of the Lakes" series under the direction of Don Th. Jaeger, reconfirmed that fact.

A refreshing and straightforward 18th century symphony by William Boyce opened the concert. The orchestra's superb technical control helped convey the composition's simplicity, spirit & beauty. With a piece of this time period, good intonation, balance, dynamics & ensemble are essential, and the group certainly met the challenge.

Next on the program was "Meditation from Thais" by Massenet, played by the accomplished violinist Norman Paulu, who is also concert master of the orchestra. Paulu's performance evoked the tenderness and emotional depth of this beautiful piece. It was a joy to hear such technical mastery. The orchestra provided a delicate and sensitive accompaniment for the violin's brilliant rich tone.

Weill's "Suite From Three Penny Opera" written for winds & percussion contrasted nicely with the previous works. Conductor Don Jaeger is to be commended on a good interpretation of an interesting and fun piece. Of special note was the saxaphone solo, played with rich tone & feeling. This piece was a bit redundant — perhaps cutting out one or two movements would have helped.

The second half of the program opened with Hindemith's "Concerto for Woodwinds, Harp and Orchestra. The abstract and dissonant quality of this piece was softened by the harp part, played beautifully by Anne Preucil. The whole orchestra worked well with Mr. Jaeger to bring out the richness of the composition, in which familiar tunes could be heard within the complex melodies & harmonies.

The highlight of the concert was the concluding piece, Tchaikowsky's Serenade in C for strings. It was the first performance of the piece on the tour, and the strings did a sensational job. Each section played with excellent cohersion, as did the orchestra as a whole. The dynamics & tempo changes added to the intensity. The strings played with brilliant tone quality and mastered the technical difficulties. The composition's difference moods and contrasting sections were sensitively interpreted.

We are priviledged to have an orchestra of Northwood's calibre touring in our area each summer. It is a first rate group of professional instrumentalists from all over the country under the baton of the talented Mr. Jaeger. Here's one listener who will be looking forward to next summer's "Festival of the Lakes" with much enthusiasm.

Opening of Mayfair gift shop fulfills longtime dreams for Danneckers

by PEG OHLE

Perhaps the first thing a shopper will notice about Mayfair of Charlevoix is that it is a large, roomy shop which makes it easy to browse and really see the many gifts and home accessory items that are for sale.

Mayfair, located at the corner of Bridge Street and Park Avenue, near the bridge, is owned and operated by Joann and Don Dannecker. It opened this summer after four years of planning.

"I took a course in accounting, we subscribed to trade publications, and we attended shows," Joann explained about the culmination of their dreams.

The Danneckers have been living in Midland, and Don still commutes weekends from his job there with the Bechtel Power Corporation. Joann and their youngest son, Gary, are living here in the apartment over the shop.

Selection of a town for the Danneckers' gift shop was easy. Don fell in love with the area when he was a counselor at Camp Charlevoix. Later, the family made many trips to Charlevoix to visit an older son who attended the camp, and just to enjoy the area.

Mayfair of Charlevoix carries a complete line of gifts for all occasions: Selden brass (it doesn't tarnish), Carson Pewter, Fenton glass, Otagiri pottery, Grainware acrylics, New Haven clocks, Nelson Lebo lamps, Avanti plush animals, and Wheaton preserves and candles.

The shop also has greeting cards (humorous, serious, religious), gift wraps (including several different patterns for childrens' gifts, large coloring books for rainy days, jewelry, baskets, figurines, music boxes, and much more.

This year, Mayfair of Charlevoix will close at the end of October so that Silent Sports North can return to the shop quarters during the winter months. The Danneckers will store their leftover merchandise in the basement to bring out again next summer along with a whole new stock of gift items. They plan to keep the shop open year-round before long.

Wakulats host Garden Club

The July meeting of the Charlevoix Area Garden Club was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Richard Wakula. Dorothy Miller and Carolyn Klooster were co-hostesses.

The meeting featured a salad luncheon of vegetables from the Wakulat's greenhouse.

Following the luncheon, Dr. Wakulat presented an interesting program relating to his hobby of gardening which began when he grew up on a cherry farm on Old Mission Peninsula in the Grand Traverse Bay area. He also mentioned Mrs. Wakulat's family farming background.

He told of his experiences in gardening in various soils and climatic conditions while serving in the U.S. Air Force.

Since establishing a residence in Charlevoix he succeeded in growing vegetables in conditioned sand beds until the resulting produce was discovered by the wildlife of the area.

At the present time, a hot house furnishes a suitable place to expand growth of vegetables following a winter of seed hibernation in the furnace room assisted by agro-lights for additional light and heat. Through the trial and error experiments he has produced an abundant yield of cascades of tomatoes, cucumbers, lettuce, chives and other herbs and beautiful flowers such as begonias, impatients, asters and others described as "a total beauty to meet the eye."

At the brief business session which followed, a review of the upcoming August 16 Flower Show was chaired by Kate Brady and Phyllis Block.

Bergmann Center accredited for three years

by DAVE KNIGHT

Charlevoix's Bergmann Center, a work activity center serving local handicapped adults, has received a three-year accreditation from the Commission on Accreditation of Rehabilitation Facilities.

The three-year accreditation is for the areas of work services and activity services and is the maximum granted to any rehabilitation facilities.

In a July 1 letter to Bergmann Center Executive Director Kenneth Brill, Alan H. Toppel, Executive Director of the Commission wrote, "This important achievement on your part is a further indication of your dedication and commitment to improve the quality of the lives of handicapped and disabled individuals."

The Bergmann Center was established in 1962 as a center for retarded children in a former home on Garfield Ave. It moved in 1980 to its present location on Martin Rd. and currently serves 36 handicapped adults from the Charlevoix area.

As a work activity center, its purpose is to provide a meaningful work environment for the mentally and physically handicapped residents of the area. Those employed at the Center work from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on supervised projects sub-contracted with such local manufacturing firms as Weather Shield Sports Equipment, Hoskins Manufacturing, LexaLite International and others.

Center employees also make and sell their own craft work such as Christmas pine cone wreaths.

The Center is supported by the Michigan Department of Mental Health through the Northern Michigan Community Mental Health Services Board and the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners.

Staff members at Bergmann Center in addition to Brill include secretary and bookeeper Helen Denny, workshop supervisor Jessie Cunningham, assistant workshop supervisor Jim McCallum and client payroll and workshop aide Carol Beal.

Members of the Board are James Hater, president, Ann Hufford, Marie Rabach, Milt Adams, Bob Bergmann, Joe Keck, Larry Zarka, Genevieve Varnum and Edna Miller.

Wrote CARF Executive Director Toppel, "Everyone involved in your facility can be rightfully proud of the unique distinction of being accredited. Just as the Commission will recognize this accomplishment in our listing of accredited rehabilitation facilities, we also encourage you to creatively make this fact known througout your community...We commend you for your performance which has resulted in accreditation and your constant efforts to improve the quality of your program."

The Commission on Accreditation of Rehabilitation Facilities, based in Tuscon, Arizona, is sponsored by the American Hospital Association, Goodwill Industries, National Association of Jewish Vocational Services, National Easter Seal Society and United Cerebral Palsy Associations. Associate sponsors include the American Academy of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation, the National Asscociation of Rehabilitation Facilities and the National Rehabilitation Association.

Hospice is granted tax exempt status

Charlevoix County Hospice's hope to begin serving the needs of terminally ill people and their families by this fall was given a boost with the granting of federal state tax exempt status.

Charlevoix County Hospice, which was formally organized last year, has sought tax exempt status in order to raise necessary funds to underwrite the training of volunteers and other expenses preparatory to making their services available.

The achievement of tax exempt status was announced at the annual meeting of the organization in late June.

It was also announced that the East Jordan Family Health Center has made office space available and a telephone has been installed so persons wishing to assist Hospice or learn more about its work may call Charlevoix County Hospice Director Kathleen Smith at 536-2842.

New members of the board of directors were announced and officers elected at the June annual meeting.

David Strawbridge, D.D.S., Charlevoix, Ellen Addington, Ellsworth and Thomas Anderson, an attorney in Boyne City were elected to the board. Camille Green, Charlevoix, and Carol McTaggart were re-elected to the board.

Charlevoix County Hospice Officers for 1983-84 are: Carol McTaggart, President; Camille Green, Vice President; Ellen Addington, Treasurer; Carol Allport, Secretary.

Dorothy Pelton, Director of the East Jordan Senior Citizen Center, and Hospice board member, will serve as Chairperson for the Education and Training Committee; Charles McDowell, Charirman of the Board of Northwestern State Bank, will continue to serve as Chairperson of the Finance Committee; Dr. Strawbridge has agreed to chair the Patient and Family Service Committee; and Sara Gay Dammann and Ted Townsend will co-chair the Public Relations Committee.

Charlevoix County Hospice volunteers will be trained this fall to work with terminally ill people and their families, as well as their physicians and the hospice volunteer medical team.

Volunteers, giving time as "good neighbors" will assist people and their families in a variety of ways from helping with meals and friendly visits to running errands or babysitting. The Hospice Professional Team, who also serve as volunteers, will provide services ranging from medical needs to assistance with insurance and obtaining any special equipment.

The Hospice concept is to offer an alternative to the terminally ill so they may choose to live their live until its end at home, with their families in familiar and comfortable surroundings. Hospice's focus is on the quality of life remaining.

Trend is changing; new house permits outnumber others

For the first time in months, new houses outnumbered all other types of construction for which the Charlevoix County Department of Building Inspection issued permits in June.

The Department issued 50 permits last month, 18 of which were for new houses. Of these, seven were issued for new houses in the City of Charlevoix, two each in Marion and Wilson Townships, and one each in Bay, Charlevoix, Eveline, Norwood, Peaine, and South Arm Townships, as well as one for the City of East Jordan.

Other permits issued during June included eight for remodeling and additions to present houses, 11 for residential garages, four for decks and porches, four for remodeling and additions to commercial buildings, three for demolitions, six for relocations, and five for location of and additions to mobile homes.

Construction costs of the 18 new houses are estimated at $725,540 (exclusive of electrical, plumbing, heating and other mechanical costs). Total costs of construction for which permits were issued in June is estimated at $313,862.

Birds are theme of Garden Club quilt

Sightings from Sunrise Hill, depicting appliques of 20 birds, most of them indigenous to northern Michigan, is the theme of this year's quilt made by the Charlevoix Area Garden Club.

In one corner there's the entertaining chickadees, in another a nuthatch, elsewhere a saucy blue jay, a robin pulling on a worm, a house wren perched at its doorstep, a pair of colorful goldfinches and many more, all hand-appliqued on blocks which then were hand-quilted. Sashed in deep forest green with a border and back of green print, the quilt was then placed on a frame and hand-quilted.

The quilt was made from a pattern created by Ellen Kellmeyer of Carmel, N.Y., a special education teacher, and revised to meet the local Garden Club's needs.

The quilt is the result of nearly a year's work by club members which began with cutting of pieces for appliques including blocks which were then made into kits which were dispersed to club members who returned the finished blocks this spring. The assembling of the blocks and quilting took place during the spring.

Chances are presently being sold on the quilt which is on display at Sears as a fund-raising project.

Funds derived from the project will be used to support the club's local projects that include the Memorial Gardens on Mercer Blvd., the postoffice planter, the island at Petoskey and Michigan Aves., the Pere Charlevoix Park on West Dixon Ave. overlooking Lake Michigan and the sign gardens at the south entrance to the city. Proceeds will also help underwrite the club's financial commitment to the Grass Lake Conservancy on Lake Huron in Cheboygan county sponsored by the Michigan Federation of Garden Clubs.

Tickets may be obtained at Sears or from any Garden Club member. The drawing will be held during the Garden Club's first annual Flower Show scheduled for August 16 at the Community Reformed Church.

NASHVILLE STAR MINNIE PEARL took time out from a recent taping of the television show "Hee Haw" to greet the Leonard Dubeys of Charlevoix and the Alden Fleshmans of Petoskey. The two area families were vacationing in Nashville when they attended the taping session and got to meet Cousin Minnie backstage. Leonard, on the left above, told Minnie "You're a doll!" thus prompting the familiar Minnie Pearl grin.

Fire calls

The following fire calls were recorded last week by the Charlevoix Fire Department:

Monday, July 11, 5:42 p.m.: Car fire at 106 E. Lincoln.

John Pearl, Charlevoix High School Industrial Arts student, shows the small freight wagon he has restored to Max Novak, president of the Charlevoix Board of Education.

The freight wagon, formerly used at the Beaver Island lighthouse now owned by the Charlevoix School District, was taken from the island in the early 1950's by Morris Barker of Dexter who had utilized it to display model locomotives. On learning that the lighthouse was now owned by the school district and realizing its historical significance he offered it to the school district.

being excavated, where it occured across the site and whether it was stratified or layered with artifacts of one time period deposited on another. A second objective was to determine whether such things as house patterns, hearths and storage pits could be found.

The excavation; however, did not reveal house patterns or storage pits but hearths were found at the site.

The excavation, however, did result in a wealth of materials, many of which can be seen in the exhibit, that told, when analyzed by the curators, the life style, eating habits and other information. Seeds of plants and berries, butchered bones, fish skeletons and bones that helped reveal the seasons the site was utilized. Artifacts include such things as a stone hammer, a copper fish hook, a needle used for sewing garments, a pipe stem, other stone tools, beads for adornment, shards of pots and other items used in daily living.

An Educational Bulletin entitled "Excavations at Charlevoix" written by Margaret B. Holman accompanies the exhibit and relates how an archaeologist works to reconstuct our past tells the entire history of the excavation. It also lists contributors whoses support made the excavation possible.

The exhibit has been brought to Charlevoix through the efforts of Louis Orlowski who contacted Michigan State University and worked with Dr. Lovis to bring the exhibit "home" to Charlevoix where it may be seen from 1 to 4 p.m. any Friday, Saturday or Sunday through the Labor Day weekend at the museum at Harsha House at 105 State St. Credit must also be given to Edward Beuttner who had made an earlier inquiry about the artifacts.

Besides apartment rentals, the Society is supported by membership fees, donations, and the sale of books, maps, and place mats.

The Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department and the Charlevoix County Commission on Aging will soon initiate a daily re-assurance-phone program for senior citizens or handicapped persons who live alone.

Sheriff George Lasater is recruiting volunteers to assist with the program. Each volunteer will be assigned a list of from one to six persons whom they will call each day to see if they need any help.

"Several citizens in Charlevoix County over the last few years have been in a position of a health or medical emergency in their home and have been unable to seek help until a relative or neighbor checked on them," Lasater noted in his announcement.

"Hopefully, this program will help eliminate this potential problem with our elderly and handicapped citizens living alone."

Persons interested in becoming volunteers are asked to contact the Sheriff's office at 547-4461.

Summer in Charlevoix means taking in a crop of hay, above, tossing a Frisbee, right, or just lounging on the beach, below.

Is the life of a lifeguard all it's supposed to be?

by ANNE KELLY

What a life! Perched up on the chair, getting a great tan, surrounded by beautiful, adoring girls - not so insists Don Baun, who guards Depot Beach this summer.

"This is a high responsibility job," Baun explained. "We have to be constantly aware of what's happening and be patient."

There are five lifeguards this year servicing the three major Charlevoix beaches: Mark Morgan and Mike Martin are at Ferry, Gerard Doan at Michigan, Bann at Depot, and Mark Beaudoin doing the rotation for the other guards on their day off. The guards are scheduled four days on, one off so that the beaches will be supervised from 11:00 a.m. to 6 p.m. every day of the week from the 2nd week in June until Sept. 2. All five young men are certified lifeguards through the Red Cross Water Safety Instructor in lifesaving as well as CPR.

This summer some new life saving equipment has been added which should afford peace of mind to local swimmers: there is an emergency phone to check in with Recreation Director Ike Boss and the other lifeguards as well with the Coast Guard if need be, a back board to assist a swimmer with a neck injury, a life ring buoy and rescue tubes on order.

Although Bann believes that the purpose of the guards is one of "applying preventative measures - stopping a situation before it gets started," all the guards are prepared to act on the lifesaving adage, "reach, throw, toe, go," if an emergency arises. Lifeguards are trained to save a swimmer in trouble by reaching or throwing life supportive equipment first before resorting to going into the water over his head for a resuce.

Lifeguards have been faced with a minimum of emergencies so far this season, though each has experienced at least one episode in which they needed to intervene. Luckily, most swimmers are cautious and respect the whistle which usually is blown for pushing or shoving off the dock or hanging on to the buoys.

Advice for swimmers that might make the guard's life a little easier? Well, remember that the guards are there in case an accident occurs, they are not there to babysit. 1) Do not send young children unsupervised to the beach. 2) Parents, be sure your babysitter is aware of water safety for young children (not to leave them alone while he-she swims out to the dock.) 3) Swimmers, please stay off the buoys. 4) No pushing off the boards. 5) No flotation devised in deep water. 6) Watch the littering, and 7) no dogs allowed on the beach.

As for the glamor of the job, Baun assured me that it was fairly mythical. A Junior at Indiana University, he has spent most of his summers in Charlevoix. The Bauns have a home at Pine Point. Don is trying to prevent roasting alive in this heat wave by wearing a shirt, utilizing an umbrella and using No. 15 sunscreen on his nose and lips. He arrives at the beach stocked with a radio which he plays at a pleasantly considerate volume, a towel, something to eat and drink, and plenty of bandaids for the kids.

Beautiful girls paying him attention? "There could be more," Baun admits modestly.

Don't let excessive summer heat catch you unprepared

The higher temperatures of mid to late summer can find some individuals unprepared to deal with them. Heat stroke - beat exhaustion and heat cramps can happen to anyone; but are most common among people with circulatory problems (due to age or medical conditions) or those people that occasionally over exert themselves in the sun.

Heat strokes are one way that the body responds to heat. It is characterised by extremely high body temperatnre (106 degrees F. or higher) and a disturbance of the sweating mechanism causing the victim to have dry skin.

First aid to combat the high body temperature of the heat stroke victim includes methods to lower the body temperature as soon as possible. This can be accomplished by putting the victim in cool water, or sponging the body with cool water or rubbing alcohol, or applying cold packs continuously. Placing the victim in a cool place or air conditioned room may also be helpful. While treating heat stroke cantion should be used not to lower the temperature of the victim too rapidly below 102 degrees F.

Heat cramps may be an early sign of approachiug heat exhaustion if there is a deficiency in both water and salt. The muscles of the victims legs and abdomen are likely to be affected first.

First aid measures for heat cramps include giving the victim sips of salt water (1 teaspoon of salt per glass) at a rate of ½ glass every 15 minutes over 1 hour of time. Moving the victim to a cool place and massaging the cramped muscles will also help.

A victim of heat exhaustion may faint or feel very weak. Excessive pooling of blood near the surface will keep the skin of the victim cool or near normal in temperature with a somewhat clammy look. The pooling of blood near the skin interferes with circnaltion to vital organs such as the brain, heart and lungs. If the victim faints they will usually regain consciousness as the head is lowered, and the blood supply is increased.

First aid for the conacious victim includes giving fluids in the same manner suggested for heat cramps. The victim should also lay down, in as cool an area as possible. If the victim vomits, medical attention should be sought as soon as possible.

If a problem develops with any type of heat related condition it should be reported to a physician.

Beadworking workshop is part of Nishnawbe Festival

Louis Chingwa will present a workshop on Indian beadworking at the McCune Community Arts Center in Petoskey on Saturday, July 23, at 2:00 p.m. for the Nishnawbe Festival.

Mr. Chingwa will explain and demonstrate the steps necessary to create his Indian beadwork: constructing and stringing the loom, creating the design, and stringing the bead pattern.

By demonstrating the beadworking, he hopes to interest people in pursuing the art, so that his craft and his heritage may be preserved.

Mr. Chingwa, an Ottawa Indian and native of Harbor Springs, taught himself beadworking less than 10 years ago. While bedridden, he decided to learn a craft and learn about his heritage at the same time. He was inspired to try beadworking by a beaded depiction of the Last Supper, crafted by a Petoskey woman.

This historic craft requires much accuracy and time. Mr. Chingwa labors over small projects, such as a key chain, for as long as six hours. A larger work, such as a belt, may take up to three days.

Traditionally, cedar wood beads, berries, acorns, shells and popcorn were strung on sinew. Now, modern beads and string are used.

The historic designs were symbolic patterns for ritual prayers prayer meetings. Mr. Chingwa painstakingly reproduces many of these designs, taking great care not to misplace a single bead. He also creates his own contemporary patterns and custom designs patterns on request.

Mr. Chingaw learned only a little about the Ottawa heritage from his parents. His mother knew many of the traditional Indian crafts, such as fry bread making, black ash and sweet grass basket weaving and rug braiding. She didn't teach him these crafts. But she did instill in him a value of these crafts to the Indian culture.

Mr. Chingwa finally learned the most about his Ottawa people by studying them in books. He believes all Indian children should learn the crafts of their native people.

He hopes that through his beadworking, he can help generate interest in his Indian people and keep his heritage alive.

This workshop is the first in a series to be presented each Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Art Tree in the McCune Arts Center, Mitchell at Division Streets in downtown Petoskey. Collection of Indian Art from the Detroit Institute of Arts is on display at the Arts Center Gallery through August 27, at which time the Festival will close with an authentic native American banquet. There is no charge for any of the events except the banquet, which is $8 per person. Gallery hours at the Center are Mondays through Saturdays from 10 till 5. The Nishnawbe Festival is made possible by a grant received by the Crooked Tree Arts Council from the Mott Foundation.

Outdoor report

from the DNR District office in Gaylord

All trout streams are normal and clear with moderate pressure having fair succes on brook, brown and rainbow. Several limit catches of brook trout are presently being taken from the east branch of the Black River in Montmorency County. Live bait and flies both producing good catches.

Some fair to good catches of walleye continue to be taken from Mullett Lake in Cheboygan County, however, generally speaking success on bass, bluegill, northern pike and other panfish is slow as fish move into deeper water.

A few lake trout and chinook salmon being taken in the Charlevoix-Petoskey area on Lake Michigan and Little Traverse Bay in water depths of 50-60 feet.

Wild raspberries and blueberries will begin to be picked in fair to good supply by the weekend. Blueberries will be found in pine areas and raspberries along hardwood openings.

Many wild flowers are presently in bloom such as: Fireweed, Arrowhead, Marsh Lily, Butterfly Weed, Honeysuckle and Orchids.

Wildlife Division and Conservation Officers are checking presently on several deer-crop damage reports. There are complaints of several deer moving into farm fields doing damage to strawberries, beans, potatoes and other crops.

A total of 4 forest fires the past week burned 6.6 acres bringing the total this year to 59 fires for 174.8 acres. Permits are needed from DNR before any open burning can be done.

There's no place like your home town, when you shop at home and bank at home, it's almost like doing business with yourself.

The many community services you receive, your property values, and local taxes you pay are helped immeasurably every time you, or anyone else, shops in your home town. The dollar you spend out of town does buy merchandise, but the fringe benefits of that dollar goes to the residents of that city. And, the quality of life here at home suffers because you took away some of it's dollar vitamins.

Firm chosen to study new city well system

by DAVE KNIGHT

Strong endorsements from City Manager Robert Hunt and local engineer Alvin Ranger prompted City Council Monday night to award an engineering contract for municipal well development to the firms of McNamee, Porter and Seeley of Ann Arbor and Gosling-Czuback of Traverse City which had submitted a joint proposal.

The proposal chosen was one of five received by the Hunt following the council's decision earlier this summer to explore the possibility of developing a new city well system to replace the current system which is contaminated by the industrial chemical trichloroethylene (TCE).

The McNamee-Gosling proposal is to drill a series of up to eight two-inch "observation" wells at selected sites to study the geology and groundwater of the vicinity. They will then drill four, six-inch "test" wells at the most promising locations which will be used to determine whether there is sufficient quantity of water to supply the city's needs.

Sites for the observation and test wells will be chosen from areas owned or controlled by the city. Possible sites mentioned Monday night include the airport, city golf course, Mt. McSauba, Ferry Beach and Depot Beach.

The cost of the project as bid by McNamee-Gosling will be from $25,000 to $31,000 for the engineering studies and from $30,000 to $60,000 for the actual well drilling. The total cost would then range from $55,000 to $91,000.

According to an analysis by Hunt of the five proposals submitted, that from McNamee-Gosling reflects the most expertise on hydrogeology, both generally and locally, the most practical approach to the testing process and the least cost in the long run.

Other proposals were submitted by Granger Engineering of Gaylord and Layne Northern Company of Lansing (joint venture), Fishbeck, Thompson, Carr & Huber of Grand Rapids, Swan & Associates, P.C. of Saline and L.M. Miller & Associates of Ann Arbor (joint venture) and Capitol Consultants, Inc. of Lansing.

Ranger pointed out that the tandem of McNamee-Gosling represented the most local experience of all the firms. McNamee has been involved with several water studies and projects in Charlevoix and Gosling has worked extensively for the Medusa Cement Company and Charlevoix Township.

"To me, it's a closed book," said Ranger, "There's only one choice. If I were you I would get behind them (McNamee-Gosling) 150 percent, slap them on the back and tell them to go with it."

Public utilities superintendent Ed Whitley also endorsed the firm saying that its proposal was the clearest in what the city would get for its money.

Hunt said that the engineering studies would commence immediately and that all the studies an drilling should be completed by year's end.

The proposal was accepted unanimously by the council on a motion by Robert Timms.

CROWNED QUEEN OF THE VENETIAN FESTIVAL and and named 1983 Miss Charlevoix last Thursday night was Bethany Ann Jones, 17, daughter of Neil and Ann Jones. Beth competed for the crown with five other local girls in the annual Miss Charlevoix Pageant held on Venetian Weekend each year. Runner up was Kelly Mathews and Miss Congeniality was Vickie Rhine. The Venetian Festival again drew thousands to the city for a cavalcade of events and activites over a four-day schedule. See the Shorelines Summer Section for more photos of the Venetian fun.

State ruling will affect local property assessment

by PEG OHLE

Local property assessors and the County Equalization Department will soon have to take a different look at real estate sales as a guide to property values.

On June 22, the State Court of Appeals handed down a decision containing two rulings that will have a large impact on cities' and townships' assessing methods.

In the first ruling, the Court said assessors must account for the effect of buyer and seller creative financing on the sales prices of properties. In the second ruling, they said assessors should weigh sales study information from real estate sales closer to tax day more heavily than information from earlier sales.

The first ruling was based on the argument that "since the State Constitution requires uniform taxation of property, it is unconstitutional to assess two properties of the same value at two different levels just because creative financing was used in the sale of one of the properties" – the thought being that creative financing could inflate sales prices, resulting in assessed values that exceed 50 percent of true cash value.

The second ruling was based on the argument that more recent sales data should be weighed more heavily for assessment purposes, which could result in increases in assessed values if sales prices are increasing close to tax day. This potential increase in tax base and revenue could at least partially offset any revenue losses resulting from the creative financing ruling. However, if prices are decreasing, the result would be the opposite.

In explaining the rulings to the County Board of Commissioners recently, Equalization Director

New hot lunch contract

By FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Board of Education, at a special meeting held Monday noon, entered into a contract with Canteen Service Company, headquartered in Grand Rapids, to operate the hot lunch program in the Charlevoix Public Schools for the 1983-84 school year.

Proposals were received from two food service management companies. The proposal submitted by Canteen Service Company was for a $10,000 annual management fee-plus two cents for every meal served. A second proposal was received from Interstate United at Dearborn for the same management fee and 1¾ cents per meal served.

In explaining the decision of the board of education to accept the canteen proposal, Vincent Olach, business manager, said "Canteen is a company already established in western Michigan. We have checked with schools utilizing their service and feel they can better meet our needs.".

He went on to explain that the decision to utilize the food management service concept was because of the losses the school district was suffering in the hot lunch program in recent years. During the recent school year (1982-83) the hot lunch

WATCH meeting draws pros, cons; warchest growing fast

by DAVE KNIGHT

Comments both for and against the campaign to ease dust emissions from the Medusa Cement Company Charlevoix plant were heard at a public meeting held Tuesday, July 19 by Water and Air Team Charlevoix, Inc. (WATCH).

About 50 people attended the meeting held in the high school cafeteria to solicit memberships for the newly formed WATCH organization and explain the group's activities.

Several Medusa employees in attendance criticized meeting chairman and WATCH founder Howard F. Neilson for remarks published earlier this summer in the Courier in which Neilson claimed Medusa was trying to buy favor in the community through its civic contributions.

Said Medusa worker Delbert Batdorff, "I'm not in favor of Medusa polluting the air but I'm not in favor of tearing the company down, either." Batdorff's son was recently named the first Charlevoix resident to receive the annual Medusa college scholarship.

Neilson replied that he was "not attacking the scholarship program per se" but that he wanted to the

Outdoor Report

from the DNR District Office in Gaylord

Fishing pressure is somewhat reduced on all lakes because of extremely hot, bright weather; activity does pick up somewhat in the late evening. Fair catches of bass, bluegill and walleye taken at that time on mostly live bait.

Fair to good success reported on lake trout in 60-75 feet of water from both Lake Michigan in the Charlevoix-Petoskey area and on Lake Huron from Rogers City to Alpena.

The auction sale of trucks, tractors, pickups and many other equipment will be held at the Gaylord Repair Shop of the DNR at 540 South Otsego Avenue, Gaylord, on August 13.

From July 17 to the following April 15, you may train dogs on game birds and those animals that may be hunted with dogs. Only a pistol or revolver with blank cartridges may be used in dog training.

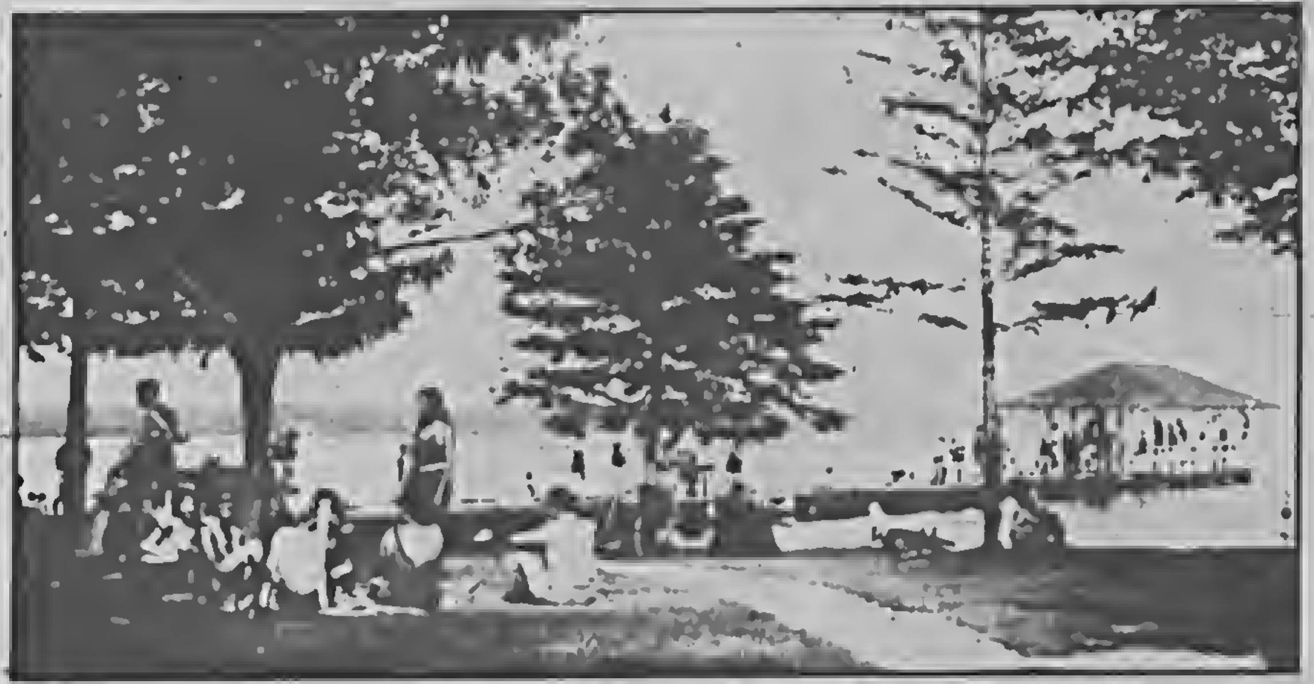
Wild raspberries and blueberries are coming on strong at this time and by the weekend, picking should be generally very good.

Many of the wild flowers presently in bloom would include the Thimbleweed, Black-Eyed-Susan and Wintergreen.

Many elk are presently being seen in the Pigeon River Forest including some very large bulls which are in full velvet.

The lack of rain has caused forest fire conditions to become serious and people are reminded to use caution with any open burning. Permits are being issued for only after 6 p.m. In the eight northern counties of the lower peninsula, 62 fires have burned 178.5 acres.

This Model T runabout, above, was one of over 200 Model Ts to visit Charlevoix Wednesday, July 20 when the Northern Michigan chapter of the Ford Model T Club International brought its annual tour to the area. The cars started out from Traverse City Wednesday morning, making their way north along back roads to Boyne City and eventually Charlevoix where they had reserved parking spaces downtown and a barbeque picnic, below, at Ferry Beach. The classic cars attracted hundreds of interested spectators and featured such stylish accessories as the unusual hood ornament shown to the left.



Charlevoix Yesterday

As long ago as the 1930's, the beach of Lake Charlevoix just off Dixon Avenue was a popular spot. In those days it belonged to The Inn, a large resort hotel located at the top of the hill. Now the beach is called "Depot Beach" and belongs to the City of Charlevoix. This picture was taken about 1930.

Earlab to pay visit

Charlevoix Area Hospital, working with Munson Medical Center of Traverse City, will sponsor the "Ear Lab" - a mobile hearing clinic - at the hospital beginning August 9.

The Ear Lab will visit Charlevoix Area Hospital on a regular monthly schedule, with more frequent visits if the appointment schedule becomes crowded.

The Ear Lab is a van equipped as a mobile hearing assessment clinic, for total diagnostic evaluation of hearing problems. Individuals will be referred to the Ear Lab by their personal physician to Charlevoix Area Hospital which will arrange appointments.

The Ear Lab will travel throughout north western Michigan under the auspices of Munson Medical Center. A technologist will conduct the tests and the results will be sent to the patient's personal physician.

Pre-school children may be tested to detect hearing problems before they become too serious and early enough not to affect a child's education. People of any age who use hearing aids may benefit from tests to check their performance. Anyone with a suspected hearing problem may be sent to the clinic by their doctor.

The Ear Lab is open to anyone but specialized hearing screening for industry will continue to be performed by Charlevoix Area Hospital staff physician Harry Custer, M.D., who serves as a medical consultant for many local industries.

People who suspect hearing problems or people requiring an in-depth assessment of their hearing, should contact their personal physician who will make the necessary arrangements.

Charlevoix Area Hospital is one of six area hospitals working with Munson's Ear Lab.

Youth Corps digs into Mt. McSauba project

by ANNE KELLY

"Summer work experience that works like a real job." This, according to Doug Ross, Director of Michigan's Youth Corps Program, is the concept in a nutshell. Ross, visiting Mt. McSauba's conservation project Friday morning, explained that the Youth Corps is an 8-10 week state-wide summer work program. Plans for the program were announced in early May and the subsequent bill passed legislation May 28th setting the wheels in motion for 25,000 unemployed Michigan youth to have jobs. About 67,000 youth applied for these jobs.

The program was initiated with a two-fold objective: 1) that 25,000 young people gain work experience of a structured, disciplined nature and 2) that communities (like Charlevoix) would have the opportunity to utilize Youth Corps workers for community projects.

Recently the governor announced a third objective: 3) that Youth Corps workers should be afforded the opportunity of a day of career planning and testing at their local community colleges so as to receive vocational counseling for the future. His concern, according to

Extension agent reports to county board on trip

by PEG OHLE

The Charlevoix County Extension Services office may soon be promoting some new ideas as the result of a three-month learning trip taken last winter in a motor home by Dean R. Rhoads, District Extension Director, Resources Development, headquartered in Traverse City.

Rhoads recently told the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners about his trip and illustrated his report with slides taken along the way. He and his wife travelled 8,000 miles, visited nine states in the south and east, and talked with Community Resource Development co-workers at county, region, and state levels to gain new insights into processes, techniques, and project ideas useful to Michigan.

Rhoads' report was divided into four parts: how oil and gas drilling affects local communities, how various state County Extension Services assist small businesses, how various state County Extension Services help promote home-based industries, and how various state County Extension Services assist in local community and economic development.

Among the interesting facts gleaned by Rhoads: in states that are big producers of oil, property taxes are low. Government and schools are supported by taxes on oil production. In Missouri, promotion of business and industry, emphasizing decision-making such as location, expansion, etc., is almost a fifth Extension Services division. In Arkansas, the Extension Services promotes making and selling home-made products for the tourist industry as well as other markets. A large

Dorothy dusts off a thief

by Dave Knight

As far as I'm concerned, Mrs. Dorothy Kingsley of Grand Rapids can visit Charlevoix a-ny-time she wants to.

Because of her actions last Wednesday, one local merchant avoided the loss of a substantial amount of cash and one suspected thief will have a hard time holding his head up among his colleagues for having been collared by a 66-year old woman armed with a dust rag.

If robbery wasn't such a serious subject, the entire incident last week might have gone down as one of the most exciting and entertaining events to occur in downtown Charlevoix since a seagull flew off with the toupee of a resorter waiting in his convertible for the bridge to go down.

In any case, let the message be spread far and wide: There are some places where a guy can make a healthy profit in the grab-the-money-and-run business...but Charlevoix is not one of them.

Mrs. Kingsley does not look like a crimefighter. She looks very much like your mother and is a perfectly delightful person to meet and chat with. Who would ever guess that beneath that cheerful demeanor lies a fearless champion of justice with the instincts of Sherlock Holmes and the moves of Dick the Bruiser.

It was about 3 p.m. last Wednesday when Mrs. Kingsley was dusting the shelves of Central Drug Store and noticed a man wandering the aisles of the store. Mrs. Kingsley doesn't really work in the store; her daughter and son-in-law, Lani and John Ochs are the owners and when she visits them, she likes to help out by doing little jobs such as setting up displays and cleaning.

What first strock her as unusual about the man was the fact that he had been in the small store for about 45 minutes without seeming interested in any merchandise.

A large man appearing to be in his 40s, he further aroused Mrs. Kingsley's suspicions when he returned her stare.

"I think he knew I was watching him," she recalls.

She lost track of the man momentarily but when she stepped into the drug store's back room behind the prescription counter, there he was. He claimed he was looking for the restroom and had been directed to the back by another employee. Trouble is, Central Drug's restrooms are in the basement.

She straightened him out and he stepped back into the store but in a few minutes, he approached her again with a bottle of vitamins and asked if he could pay her.

Mrs. Kingsley told him she could not take his money and sent him to the checkout counter in the front of the store. After she left him, however, her suspicions continued to nag.

"I just had the queerest feeling," she said.

That feeling drew her once more to the back room where this time she confronted the same man just as he was about to run out the back door. Clutched to his chest was a red money pouch pilfered from the store's unlocked safe.

"That isn't yours!" she blurted, seeing the pouch.

"Now it is!" was his confident reply and with that he dashed out the door onto Clinton Street and then down the alley behind the store with Lani Ochs and her mother in hot pursuit.

Chris Mack, 12, joined the chase as the suspect passed the rear of the Topside bar which is owned by Chris's grandmother Mrs. Millie Mack. Where the alley jogs west a bit, the pursuers lost sight of their man but Dale Boss happened along, saw the suspect still heading south down the alley and the chase was un again, now with a virtual entourage on the trail of the would-be robber.

They all followed him in the back door of the Cass Supply auto parts store. Owner Cass Russell watched in bewilderment as one, two, three, four, five people came running in the back door, through the store, and then out the front.

The suspect was lost again momentarily on the crowded Bridge St. sidewalk but Boss spotted him coming out the side door of the Dockside Pharmacy and ducking into the rear of Ace Hardware on Mason. As Boss followed him in and slammed the door behind him, Mrs. Kingsley, still with her dust rag in hand, wisely circled around to the front of the store.

The suspect apparently thought that if he just walked quietly through the store, the whole parade of pursuers might run right past him...and his ploy almost worked. But he was just about to casually saunter out the front of Ace Hardware when Mrs. Kingsley spotted him and exclaimed, "That's the guy!"

As stunned bystanders looked on, she proceeded to lasso the man around the middle with her dust rag, apply a bear hug and back him up against the plate glass in the store's alcove.

By that time, the call had gone out on police radio and a virtual law enforcement convention commenced on the corner of Bridge and Mason. Police Chief Jack Mol, Officer Robert Tripp and Charlevoix County Sheriff George Lasater all arrived on the scene to find a 66-year-old woman pinning a grown man against the front window of the hardware store.

Amid a gaggle of panting pursuers, puzzled shoppers and a sea of blue shirts and badges, the suspect may have come up with the quote of the week as he was being spread-eagled across the store's counter and frisked.

Turning his head around, he asked, "Does this mean I'm arrested?"

Last Thursday afternoon, David Bernard Caldwell, 42, of Mount Vernon, Maine was charged in District Court with larceny from a building and remanded to the Charlevoix County jail following arraignment. Bond was set at $2,500 and a preliminary hearing scheduled for August 2.

As for Mrs. Kingsley, she has resumed her cover as a mild-mannered drugstore helper.

But the word has gone out among denizens of the Charlevoix underworld: You can tug on Superman's cape, you can spit into the wind, you can pull the mask off the ol' Lone Ranger...but you don't mess around with Dorothy.

Letters: Responds to Novotny

To the Editor:

I would like to respond to James Novotny's letter in the July 13 edition of the Courier titled "Biblical Intepretations". He mentions loop holes and half truths as mentioned by certain Bible interpretors. I would appreciate to know where these loop holes and half truths are found in the Bible.

For a man who has worked hard all his life and enjoyed his success in life, living under the "free enterprise system", I can't understand why he believes socialism is superior to our way of life. To me this would be like living in the United States and enjoying freedom and having a desire to move and live in one the Russian Gulags or slave camps. This doesn't make any sense at all. No matter what brand of socialism you may desire, they are all failures. Name me one Socialist Utopia?

You also mention Jerusalem as having religious factions that has commited mass murders. I think you owe the Israeli's an apology for making such a foolish statement. Imagine a small nation of three million people whose only desire is to live in peace, surrounded by the hostile forces whose only desire seems to be to exterminate them and you have a problem. The hostile forces exceed over a hundred million people and who can blame Israel for moving against hostile forces that threaten their existence. As a Christian, I don't think much of the so-called Christians that committed atrocities against helpless people inside Lebanese Refugee camps, but don't blame Israel for this. A Christian has a right to defend themself, their family and their country, but to kill in cold blood is inexcusable.

Finally you say "the claim that communism permits no personal property is false. However, the use of property rights for personal gain is limited." Isn't this another way of saying you don't own your property?

Different assessing approach

Joan Blanchard noted that it would be very difficult to obtain details of financing in all home sales.

John Person, Secretary of the State Tax Commission, echoed this concern when he described the problem as "an issue of not having the necessary information to account for creative financing."

The Court decision does not detail whether local assessors, County Equalization Directors, or the State Tax Commission will be responsible for obtaining the information. This question and others pertaining to the two decisions have been turned over to the State Tax Commission to design methods for implementing the decisions.

According to the Michigan Townships Association, many questions were left unanswered in the two rulings. They say it is unclear whether the decisions apply statewide or just to the counties named in the case (Washtenaw, Lapeer, and Oakland), whether they are retroactive, or just how the State Tax Commission should implement the decisions.

If the decisions are fully implemented statewide, it could mean that Charlevoix County would have to return as much as $100,000 from its last tax collection, according to Mrs. Blanchard.

program at the Charlevoix school operated at a deficit of $28,000; in 1981-82 the program was $18,000 in the red and $15,000 the year before that. Since schools are required by state statute to operate a hot lunch program, the school board began studying other alternatives in an effort to cut the deficit, Olach continued. After many months of studying the concept and visiting schools that are utilizing it, the board consulted with several companies that offered the service before requesting proposals from several. The two mentioned above responded.

The hot lunch program as well as the a la carte service at the high school will continue to be operated much as it has been in the past. The same personnel now employed by the school will continue in their present positions. However, they will receive a course of training under the new management. All meals served will meet or exceed federal and state standards.

"The big difference will come in the purchasing of foods. Canteen will be responsible under the contract for the purchase of all foods used in the program. This alone should effect considerable savings because the company purchases in large quantities to support its complete operation throughout the state. By purchasing in volume, Canteen can purchase supplies at a much lower cost than the school which buys in much, much smaller quantities. Their purchasing power and discounts through their multi-million dollar contracts can offer significant savings and often offset the cost of their management fees," Olach continued.

By specializing in nothing but food service, the Canteen Service Company can insure an innovative program and the know how to improve participation in the program. In addition, the company has the purchasing power and the technological know how to process and utilize all USDA commodities and the management resources to make any changes and innovations to successfully operate a school food service, he said further.

Among the many schools presently being managed by the Canteen Service Company are the Cadillac area schools, Wyoming area schools, Muskegon schools and the Pinconning area schools.

Canteen management will talk with students, PTA or any similar school affiliated group, faculty and school board to establish and develop menu preferences and other specific needs of the school.

The contract with the Canteen Service Company will be on a one year basis. At that time, the Board of Education will evaluate the food service program and decide on the future operation.

Clockwise
The brown, brown grass of home

by Bob Clock

CAN YOU REMEMBER when the lawns of Charlevoix were ever browner than they are today?

Of course, we have suffered droughts before, but water was less expensive and everyone did a little sprinkling every few days.

Today, we are billed not only for water used but the price of the water is more than doubled on the the assumption that all of our domestic water enters the sewage treatment system — even water used to wash our cars or freshen up our flower boxes.

The multiplying factor now is 2.21. It will jump to 2.77 as soon as new rates are approved by the council. Then even fewer lawns will be tinged with green.

Even the Charlevoix Municipal Golf Course resembles the Sahara Desert — with the exception of the watered greens which stand out in sharp contrast to the rest of the links.

What we need, of course, is a nice, warm, steady, 24-hour rain. Unless the grass roots are dead, our lawns would bounce back overnight. But a continued drought is almost certain to do irreversible damage.

WHAT SURPRISES me most about our dry weather is how weeds survive. At the city garden I am careful to water only where our crops are planted. Nary a drop falls between the rows — but that's where the weeds proliferate. Crab grass appears particularly hardy, even with its shallow roots buried in bone-dry powder.

Although pigweed roots go a little deeper, noxious plant is enjoying a particularly fine season. I don't know where the moisture comes from to keep it green. Perhaps it captures dew from the night air. But even dew has been scanty of late...

ANOTHER VENETIAN Festival is history. This one seemed better than usual for some reason — but I have the same impression every year. The street parade was fun, the stands on Bridge Street all offered tempting treats and the entertainment in the park was to my liking. Even the fireworks Saturday night were better than usual.

All of which probably means I am getting old. I used to think Venetian Weekend was the best weekend of the summer to get out of town. Now I wouldn't miss it on a bet.

WATCH warchest growing company to live up to its corporate responsibilty and its "responsibility as a good neighbor."

"I was in the chemical business for 43 years," said Neilson, "but today we're living in a different era, an era in which there is a new responsibility to the environment."

Other criticisms from Medusa employees included claims that the company was being unfairly singled out as a polluter and that the new manufacturing process started two years ago at the plant is just now becoming finely tuned.

In another development announced this week by Neilson, an anonymous, year 'round Charlevoix resident has donated $10,000 to WATCH stating that he "is in full agreement with the purposes and procedures being followed by WATCH in cleaning up the excessive cement dust emissions in the Charlevoix community."

According to Neilson, the donation brings WATCH's warchest total to almost $50,000 and will make possible the joint hiring, with Medusa, of the consulting firms to conduct the air sampling and plant monitoring studies agreed upon by both parties two weeks ago.

Neilson was also optimistic about receiving additional funds from 12 other resort and condominium associations to be contacted. WATCH's goal is to accumulate at least $150,000 in contributions which, said Neilson, will allow continued monitoring of the situation for years after the 90-day tests to be conducted this year.

Said Neilson, "We certainly do not intend to diminish our efforts and programs at the conclusion of the 90-day test period. If minimal cement dust emissions by Medusa is attainable for 90 days, then it follows that it is attainable on a permanent basis."

Anniversaries

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Nielsen

Nielsens cite 50th

An open house honoring Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Nielsen of Ironton will be held at the Charlevoix Rod and Gun Club Saturday, August 6.

The couple will greet guests from 7 until 11 p.m.

Though Mr. and Mrs. Nielsen were married October 28, their fiftieth anniversary is being observed at this time so their sons-in-law and daughters, who are hosting the memorable occasion, can join them.

Married at Charlevoix October 28, 1933, Mr. Nielsen and the former C. Mary Beattie have always resided at Ironton. Mr. Nielsen, a mason, followed his trade until retiring.

Mrs. Nielsen was employed at Courters, Inc., of Boyne City for 17 years until retiring in 1977.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Nielsen are avid gardeners, caring for a large vegetable as well as a flower garden. Mr. Nielsen also takes great pride in their large yard where trees and bushes are named for the daughters who helped plant them. Mrs. Nielsen is also interested in ceramics and among her creations are miniatures of the "Seven Dwarfs", done in pleasing colors, that "inhabit" the area around the house. Both are also avid pinnochie players.

Both are members of the Ironton Congregational Church. Mrs. Nielsen is a member of the Retired U.A.W. Workers of Antrim, Charlevoix and Emmet Counties.

The couple has five daughters who with their respective husbands and children will be hosting the open house. They are Mrs. Roger (Doris) Phend of Winston-Salem, N.C., Mrs. Gilbert (Joyce) Rhoades of Albuquerque, N.M., Mrs. Geoffrey (Terry) Enlund of Hemlock, Mrs. James (Sharon) Huff of Durand, and Mrs. Michael (Mary) Brown of Lansing. The couple also has 10 grandchildren.

Grandvue Auxiliary seeking new members

The Grandvue Medical Care Facility Auxiliary, dedicated to the patients at the facility and their well being, is presently conducting its annual membership drive Mary Margaret Geiken, membership chairperson, has announced.

In announcing the membership drive, Mrs. Geiken said "Our goal is to make and keep Grandvue Medical Care Facility a pleasant place for those people who must utilize the facility. We make their comfort and their well being our prime purpose as a service organization. All funds we receive from memberships, our annual Tag Day or as gifts through our memorial fund are returned to the facility in equipment, furnishings and in scholarships for people entering the health field."

During the past year, the Auxiliary purchased 12 tables for the dining room, special tables high enough to allow a patient in a wheelchair to sit at the table at mealtime, she explained. In addition, 24 stack chairs were purchased.

This, she said, was the Auxiliary's contribution toward the rennovation of the dining room area at the facility.

Mrs. Geiken also explained that effective in 1984 there would be a new format for administering the Auxiliary's scholarship fund which, in the past, was available to anyone in the county entering the health field. Effective in 1984, the scholarship will become available to Grandvue employees that they may receive the scholarship to continue study in their given field. Effective at the same time, the scholarship will be a gift rather than on a loan basis as in the past.

Since its organization, contributions the Auxiliary has made includes such things as parlor furnishings and draperies, day-room furnishings and draperies, beauty shop equipment, a $1000 contribution toward the cost of a fence, 13 wheelchairs, 18 lounge chairs, 24 dining room chairs, patio table and flower boxes, occupational therapy chair and cabinets, a sewing machine, a roster at the front entrance, a television set, pictures for the corridors, 16 card tables, two Century tubs (automatic bath and whirlpool) plus lesser items such as a Communion set, hymnals and music books, a Norelco razor, Christmas trees and trimmings, books for the nurses' library.

In addition, auxiliary members plan entertainment for the patients, arrange parties on special occasions, work in various capacities at the facility. "The service the auxiliary gives to the hospital is endless" a spokesperson for the facility said.

The auxiliary also conducts several fund-raising projects including the Tag Day, games parties and other events throughout the year to supplement its treasury.

Present plans call for the purchase of wheelchairs with the funds raised during the recent Tag Day Mrs. Geiken said

An active membership in the Auxiliary is $2.00; an inactive, $3.00 and a life membership, to be paid only once, $50 Checks for memberships may be mailed to Phyllis Malpass, Box 412, East Jordan, MI 49727.

Tollas recital coming up

Fran Tollas

Charlevoix soprano Fran Tollas will appear in recital at 3 p.m. Sunday, July 31 in the Ross Stoakes Theatre of the Virginia McCune Art Center in Petoskey. The recital is the second in a program entitled "Sing-Help-Enjoy" sponsored by Chip Counseling Center and the Michigan Council for the Arts.

Four other accomplished musicians from the Northern Michigan area will assist Mrs. Tollas in the recital which will include works by Bach, Beethoven, Dvorak, Copeland, Spohn and Jerome Kern.

Carol Geis of Charlevoix, a student of Flavio Varani, will provide piano accompaniement.

Barb Kowalczyk of Traverse City will be featured on the flute. She is a student of Ken Andrews, teaches herself and is a member of the Northwest Symphony Orchestra.

On clarinet will be Charlevoixian Mark Gallagher who is presently enrolled in the Masters program at the Eastman School of Music and is a member of the Northwood Orchestra.

Special guest will be Arthur Mayday, a pianist from Onaway and Ypsilanti. He is a graduate of Eastern Michigan University and a recitalist.

Mrs. Tollas' background includes degrees in music history and vocal performance. She is currently teaching private voice lessons for the Crooked Tree Arts Council and at her home in Charlevoix.

The "Sing-Help-Enjoy" program was initiated last year when Mrs. Tollas, through Chip Counseling Center, was awarded a $500 grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts. The purpose of the program is to teach and encourage singing as a tool to better emotional health.

"Through teaching singing to a variety of individuals," wrote Mrs. Tollas in a letter to supporters of the program, "We will demonstrate how achieving a degree of success in singing builds self esteem, develops personality, encourages discipline and acts as an emotional outlet. We are convinced this will prove true for people of all ages."

In addition to the two formal recitals, Mrs. Tollas has included in the "Sing-Help-Enjoy" program mini-recitals, youth workshops, individual private lessons with selected high school students and workshops with senior citizens.

Hoping to continue the program this fall, Mrs. Tollas has applied through Chip Counseling Center for another grant from the Michigan Council of the Arts.

Youth Corps contribute to local project

Ross, was that many of the Youth Corps workers would not be sure of where they were going or what they were going to do once their stint was up. This third objective called "Project Stepping Stone", will enable the young people to "get hooked up with someone involved with what they want to do."

The community aspect of the Youth Corps objectives is good news for Charlevoix this summer. Into their 3rd week on the job, Youth Corps workers recruited from Charlevoix and surrounding areas, are working on improving and conserving the 53 acre Mt. McSauba Recreation area which includes ½ mile of beach frontage on Lake Michigan. 13 Youth Corps workers under general supervisor Bo Boas and project supervisors Rich Kane and Joan Wagner are involved in various aspects of the project. Project objectives, Boss reports, include the carving out of 2 miles of cross country ski and nature-hiking trails through the property, the erection of 204 vehicle barriers at various public access points to prevent the destruction of wildlife by 4-wheel drive vehicles, the placement of boulders on the north and south property lines on the beach to prevent sand erosion, and the planting of 7½ acres of beach grass to counteract erosion.

Grants from the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture Soil Conservation Service, as well as the Michigan Youth Corps are making these improvements possible.

Continuing the work accomplished here this summer by creating a program through the schools and other parties interested in nature conservation, will be one of Charlevoix's plans for the fall, according to City Manager Bob Hunt who was on hand to greet Ross at the McSauba project Friday morning.

Erosion problems on the back of the Mt. McSauba ski hill and beach areas have caused the loss of approximately 2000-3000 yards of sand over the last couple of years.

Both Boss and Hunt expressed concern for the conservation of the city's Mt. McSauba land parcel. They hope that the reconstructive efforts as well as future plans for community conservation education will alert those who recreate on the property as to the delicate balance of nature in the woods and on the beaches.

As for the Youth Corps, all supervisors speak highly of their workers who have participated in the building barriers, carving out trails through the woods by hand, and hand-hauling black dirt, sod, and wood chips up the hill through the woods by wheel barrow.

"There isn't another civil job that would require any more manual labor," Joan Wagner stated emphatically. "They work hard, especially in all this heat and they're a great bunch of kids."

For Saints and Sinners

by Pastor Mike Mitchell
Assembly of God Church

Have you ever been disappointed? Everybody has at one time or another, and as long as you live, you'll face disappointment again and again. That's why it is so important for you to learn how to be a winner over disappointment. There are three main things that bring disappointment.

First, you can be disappointed by people. When someone you love hurts you or lets you down, you become disappointed. How do you deal with that? Begin by realizing that when you put your confidence in other people and begin to lean on them as your source - that's when you get disappointed and hurt. Remember that people can only do so much because they're limited. They can't be God in your life. They too, you must make allowances for people's mistakes, for their weaknesses and failures. No one is perfect, not even Christians. Even Christians are limited. They're capable of making bad decisions. They may be ever so sincere and feel they're doing the right thing, and yet it may turn out wrong because they're not God.

Second, you can get disappointed by circumstances. You tried to do your best and it didn't work out. You feel God has let you down. And you feel disappointed. When that happens, remember that, "We know that all things work together for good to them that love God..." (Romans 8:28). How do you overcome disappointing circumstances? By knowing that God has a plan for your life. Realize that you're somebody in Jesus Christ and that He has never disappointed anyone.

Third, you can get disappointed in yourself. It's hard to cope when you let yourself down. You start to say, "Well it's my own fault. I blew it. I can't ever do anything right." Sound familiar? You start to take yourself apart piece by piece and you really get down: What should you do? Remember that God loves you...just the way you are. He doesn't love you just when you're good and pout at you when you're bad. He loves you the same all the time. When you disappoint yourself, run to Him. Ask Him to forgive you and help you, and He will.

Disappointments will come. But let God help you be a winner!

Little Red Shoe House makes local debut

Another national retail chain store has opened an outlet in Charlevoix.

The Little Red Shoe House is doing business in Oleson's Shopping Center, between Oleson's Food Store and The Sewing Corner.

The store is managed by Charlevoix native Cecilia (Corp) Borths, who says she has always been called "Cookie".

"We carry overstocks and irregulars of well-known brand shoes, Cookie explained. "We have all types of shoes – athletic, dress, and casual – for infants, children, men, and women.

Some of the brands available at the Little Red Shoe House are Hush Puppies, Brooks, Kangaroos, Harbortown, Sperry, Mainewoods, and Wimzees.

Because the inventory is made up of part lots from manufacturers and some shoes have minor imperfections, Little Red Shoe House prices are lower than most retailers'.

"For instance, we have some Sperry Topsiders as low as $20," Cookie pointed out.

There is plenty of room for browsing in this shoe store, which is mainly self-service but with salespeople available if needed. The rocks are clearly marked by sizes, and there are benches for use in trying on shoes.

In addition to shoes, the Little Red School House carries handbags, tote bags, all types of hosiery and sox for children and adults, and a complete line of shoe cleaning supplies, including polishes, cleaners, and brushes.

The store is open Mondays through Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and on Sundays from 1 to 6 p.m.

"Louis Edwards personifies the true meaning and the ideals of Scouting. He lives his life by the Scout laws and leads his troop by example. The many young men who have passed through his troop are better citizens today because he dedicated his time and energy to teaching them the Scouting way of life".

This statement, taken from a Special Tribute approved by the Michigan State Senate and signed by Governor James J. Blanchard and Senator Mitch Irwin of the 37th District, portrays the atmosphere that existed and the sentiments expressed at an appreciation program honoring Scoutmaster Edwards for 25 years of service to Scouts and Scouting, Friday evening.

Hosted by the Scout committee of Troup 11, the event attended by representatives of the Scenic Trails Council of which Charlevoix is a member, District Executives, members and former members of the local Scout committee, Scouts, former Scouts, friends of Scouting and his family.

Paul Ryan, Executive Director of the Scenic Trails Council, commended Scoutmaster Edwards for his dedication to Scouting over a period of 25 years and what that dedication has meant to the more than 400 boys who have passed through Troop 11.

Burt Oleson of Traverse City, president of the Council, commended Scoutmaster Edwards for steering boys into the Scout program. "It is important to bring them into Scouting before they turn to other interests" he said in praising Edwards for his efforts in behalf of the program.

Ryan then presented him with a plaque in recognition of his leadership role in Scouting.

Bergmann, a member of the Scout Committee when Edwards was "recruited" as Scoutmaster in 1958 and Mrs. Bergmann all recall incidents relating to Scouting and expressed their appreciation for the contributions Scoutmaster Edwards has made through the years.

Richard Edwards, Louis' brother, related the incidents relating to his "recruitment" as Scoutmaster and the indecisions he faced before deciding to "give it a try". That was 25 years ago. At the same convention center is surrounded by smaller buildings in which local craftsmen make and sell their products, especially to persons attending conventions.

In several southern states, parks and recreation study areas are located in swampy places so people may observe birds, animals, and insects in their native habitat. In one community, the County Extension Services helped set up a program whereby local banks will buy back homes on a monthly basis from senior citizens who need both a place to live and a steady monthly income.

time, he introduced their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Edwards.

David Novotny of the Scout Committee serving as master of ceremonies, read a communication from Don Mullan of Niagara Falls, Ont., who commended Scoutmaster Edwards for his role in cementing international relationships between American and Canadian troops. Mullan was the Scoutmaster of the Preston, Ont. Scout Troop that first began the exchange program in 1965. He presently has a troop in Niagara Falls, Ont. A letter from Rep. Robert Davis was also read.

Tim Hannah, an Eagle Scout from Troop 43 in Charlevoix and who is now with Senator Irwin's staff in Lansing, spoke of his association with Scoutmaster Edwards as an employee at Edwards IGA and how he had helped him earn his Eagle Scout rank. He then presented him the the Special Tribute from the Michigan State Senate in recognition of his 25 years as Scoutmaster of Troop 11.

John Houting, Assistant Scoutmaster of Troop 11 for the past 10 years, recalled highlights of his experiences with Scoutmaster Edwards and Troop 11, presented him with a scroll of appreciation from the Scout Committe, the troop and friends of Scouting which spoke of Louis as a "great humanitarian for his contribution to the youth of Charlevoix and to all those whose lives are richer and more meaningful for having known and worked with him."

He then presented Edwards, a railroad buff, with a gift certificate for a railroad ticket that will take the recipient on a trip on any railroad of his choice.

At this point, Scoutmaster Edwards was almost speechless and had trouble acknowledging the tributes, gifts and expressions of gratitute expressed by so many.

Though he could say little Friday night, he had expressed these thought earlier in an inverview about his years of service as a Scoutmaster: "To kids life is forever. When you are with them, some of that spirit rubs off on you. For anything I might have done for them, they have done equally as much for me. It's been more that a fair exchange as far as I'm concerned."

Members of the scout committee who planned the special event were David Novotny, Nick DeYoung, John Houting, Mrs. Gerald Chase, and David Phillips.

The commendation event, a year in the planning, was a well-guarded secret and though Scoutmaster Edwards may have suspected something was planned, he did not know the scope of it until Mr. and Mrs. Larry Anders, who had invited him to dinner, escorted him to the American Legion Post Home Friday evening.

To climax the event, Scoutmaster Edwards was invited to serve as Grand Marshall of the Venetian Street Parade Saturday. He watched the parade, his first as a spectator, from a viewing stand in East Park.

A Unique Charlevoix Home Tour

by ANNE KELLY

Our son Scott and I attended this year's Charlevoix Home Tour for different reasons. I, to cover the event for the "Best of the Bay", Scott, because he's an aspiring architect with champagne taste. He never designs middle-income housing or dog houses. Price range is usually $250,000 and up. Scott hoped to see his home plan idea books come to life and I don't think he was disappointed.

Sponsored by the Kappa Sigma Sorority to benefit Charlevoix Area Hospital, the tour included six homes to be viewed between 1:00 and 5:30 p.m. Each home was supplied with volunteer hostesses who graciously pointed out highlights and directed the flow of visitors from room to room. Directions to and a brief description of each home was included on the brochure which served as our ticket. It was a uniquely Charlevoix tour in that one of the homes was designed by local architect Hans Wiemer, two by the late Earl Young, and the Lake House Condominium's Jack Begrow. All of the landscaping was done by Site Planning Development. Linda Mason Interior Design accomplished the interiors of the two condominiums. Some homes displayed local artwork.

We began our tour at the Johnson home which is located just off the Boyne City Road on Lake Charlevoix. We later decided that this was our favorite of the six. To reach the contemporary structure, you must follow a paved drive down through the woods to the lake. The property welcomes you before you walk through the front door. With its beautifully landscaped grounds, terraced lawns and enclosed gardens boasting produce that denies the six week draught, the Johnson's home stands elegantly looking over the lake. Inside we were delighted on every level; the oriental rug in the foyer serving as a backdrop for the oriental china collection, the plush champagne carpeting throughout, the master suite with its commanding view of the grounds and lake and two baths (You mean they really have a "his" and a "hers"?), the ceramic tiled kitchen (do they really make toast crumbs here?), and the plant room on the lower level.

"Yi!" exclaimed Scott.

"And this is only a summer home, Scott."

We were both impressed - I with the elegant furnishings and peaceful atmosphere (no one would rush hectically around this house; I think they write poetry on the balconies) - Scott for the design, the unique fireplace, the use of skylights, the conversation and entertainment areas (Pingpong, anyone? or pool?)

The Earl Young homes did not lend themselves to viewing on a 90 degree day. Both homes are described as the "massive structure played against the charm and intimacy of small rooms." Unfortunately the heat made the small rooms seem even smaller and the massive structures did not keep out the heat. Both homes would have been perfect viewed on a crisp autumn day, nuts and apples on the coffee tables, or in winter with lightly falling snow and a crackling fire in the fireplaces. As it was, the temperature detracted from the "charm and intimacy" aspect.

"I love the arch window", I remarked at the Wayhnrns. Scott liked the way the lighting fixtures were built right into the stone of the living room walls, giving the room an almost medieval aura.

We both loved the playhouse. A miniature replica of the house, it was built to keep the children happy while the main house was under construction. I could relate to that. I used graham crackers and tinker toys.

At the Wallace home, we admired the leaded window panes imported from Poland, the carved cherub rescued from a church destroyed in the Spanish Revolution and a variety of other artifacts. But most of all we welcomed the lemonade and Tim's trail mix served on the patio.

A welcome change of pace greeted us at the Lake Front Condominiums where the breeze off the water lowered the temperature about 20 degrees.

The contemporary Cook's and the traditional Lesser condominiums had a big plus in common. They both share a magnificent view of the channel and Lake Michigan. All the furnishings seemed to lead up to that focal point which I would think would be just what the interior decorator intended. Scott was impressed by the Cook's living room telescope (excuse me, my dear, but I think I'd like to spot a comet). We both sort of sighed as we slipped our toes through peach pile carpeting that felt like velvet.

"Not too shabby," was Scott's comment.

We have saved the Daisy and Clayton Scott home for the last for two reasons: it was close to home and we had heard that it was a real showpiece. That it was. From the remarkable use of color carried through in all the rooms on the third floor (green, yellow, orange, pink, blue - and they all worked!) to the "European country grace" of each room on other floors thereafter, it was a museum of Better Homes and Gardens displays. My favorite room, though miniscule, was a lavatory which featured floral porcelain fixtures imported from France. Scott was into the modern effect created in the jacuzzi bathroom on the second floor. Funny we should both choose bathrooms when thinking of the highlights. I suppose this is what happens when you can't imagine how your own bathroom would look when it isn't strewn with damp towels.

"Welcome to the Kelly home," I said to Scott as we climbed the familiar porch steps to our own front door. The floorboards on the porch are somewhat warped from the winter. Our landscaping is suffering from brown patches where the sprinkler doesn't reach.

The Big Apple Is Still Great Fun

By MEG BROWN,
Of Bayside Travel

When the editor of the Best of the Bay called to inform me that this issue would possibly be due out a week earlier than scheduled in order to be available for the Venetian Festival, I lamented that I was off for three days to New York City. Undaunted, the editor advised, "Great, write about the Big Apple!"

It seems like quite a contrast sharing Alaska one month (last issue I wrote about my week long wilderness trip in Alaska) and New York City the next month. My whirlwind visit to Manhatten Island was packed full of shopping, sightseeing, great eating and theater going. I'll just share some of the highlights with you.

When it came to sightseeing there are many sights that are within walking distance from the popular hotels. The majestic St. Patrick's Cathedral is inspiring and very near is the landmark of Rockefeller Center. This time of year the plaza at the Center is used as an outdoor cafe — but there is a minimum charge to eat there — alas, you can't just order a glass of lemonade.

One really can't mention sightseeing in New York without noting the taxi cabs. The taxi drivers in this city are very special! Everyone we dealt with was interested in us and interesting. They do of course, expect to be tipped but we didn't encounter any who were rude about this matter of tipping.

We had planned to take a sightseeing tour by bus of the entire city which was to take four and one half hours and cost about $14.00 per person. I read off the list of sights we were to see to our taxi driver who was driving us to the Gray Line station, and asked how much it would cost and how long a taxi ride it would be for such sights. He quoted me a cost of $25.00 and estimated a length of two hours. We took the cab ride and it was great! Also, another tip about taxi service is that a trip by taxi to the major airports is as much as the limo service. On the way from the airport, we rode in a very plush van and there were only three passengers. But, on the return trip, we have every seat on the van full, and a taxi would have been much more personal and comfortable.

The Sheraton Centre where we stayed is in a wonderful central location on 52nd Street and 7th Avenue. Our room was small, but newly redecorated and comfortable. The room rates at the Sheraton are reasonable for New York City, but high by Midwest standards.

We had great fun visiting the other landmark hotels. We enjoyed afternoon tea in the Palm Court of the Plaza Hotel which was grand — watching all the elegant people, listening to violin and piano music, and eating delightful tea sandwiches.

The Waldorf Astoria's massive, yet beautifully proportioned lobby is like a museum of Deco art and interior design.

The Helmsley Palace just completed about a year or so ago is opulent. It is the only hotel in all of New York state to be awarded a five diamond rating by the Automobile Club of America. We enjoyed breakfast in the Trianon Dining Room of the Palace. It was elegant and beautifully served. (I counted at least four different waiters serving us.)

We often combined our shopping with our eating, enjoying excellent lunches in the dining room of Bloomingdales and the cafe in Burgdorf Goodman. However, the culinary highlight of the trip was dinner at Le Club at 313 East 51st Street. Le Club is a private club to which prominent figures of the business, political, and entertainment fields pay membership dues for this haven of charm and refinement. It's a superb combination of supper and night club.

The broadway shows we saw were "Merlin" and "Nine". The starting ticket price is $35.00 a seat, and though it took my breath away to pay that price — the joy and thrill of this magnificent live entertainment also took my breath away — and it was well worth the price.

It was difficult to choose which museums to see, because you do have a choice — a great choice in New York. We decided on the Museum of Modern Art and the Frick Collection. Both are not so large as to be overwhelming, although the Museum of Modern Art is expanding. It was showing mainly abstract art, and I was thankful that we registered for the 40 minute lecture which helped a novice art admirer, as myself, understand a little better the concept of abstract art.

The Frick Collection was a true delight and I recommend it to any visitor of the city. The entire collection is housed in the 1913 Frick Mansion. You see art objects, painting, furniture, fresh flowers combined together in a much less sterile setting, than in the usual museum.

In a month's span of time I've hiked through the tundra of Alaska and hailed a cab on 42nd Street in Manhattan — which did I prefer — I loved them both — travel can and should be great fun whatever the destination — see your friendly travel agent — and enjoy!

John and Pearl Rowe

Rowes' garden features quality of yesteryear

By ANNE KELLY

Anyone who has fought the battle of the quack grass, swatted bugs away while weeding in the hot morning sun and prayed for rain after six weeks of drought knows what John and Pearl Rowe know: that gardening is a labor of love.

"You have to love it," admits Pearl as she automatically pulls weeds from among the perennials walking along the rows.

"You have to be half nuts," John would add.

Yet for nearly 20 years the Rowes have been gardening a 4½ acre organic "truck farm" on Park Avenue and loving it.

Gardens which specialize in a little bit of everything on a small commercial scale are almost a relic of the past. Chemical fertilizers and improved methods of large scale application boosted the agriculture business right out of small scale production. This with a loss of quality the Rowes believe. Their garden is purely organic. A 60 foot deep well provides contaminant free water for their fruits and vegetables. Not even their lawn is chemically treated to get rid of weeds.

"We can't," Pearl explained. "We'd lose our birds."

The Rowes work at their garden "from snow to snow", so that they will be ready to offer customers first rate fruits, vegetables and flowers from early spring to late autumn.

Although many local residents have a family garden plot or rent one from the city, they still may patronize the Rowes' garden for produce and fresh cut flowers for weddings and restaurants. Many customers stop by and pick up a freshly picked bouquet on their way home or on the way to visiting a friend in the hospital.

Summer resorters find a fresh produce haven at Rowes'; at this time of year there are young carrots and tiny new potatoes, leaf lettuce and snap peas.

This is no ordinary customer supplier operation, however. It's an old friends and new acquaintances situation, chatting under shady trees; sipping on a root beer and discussing everything from how the family's doing to gardening. A walk down the row to pick the desired produce, a simple scale on the picnic table, a pleasant exchange of informalities and — that's the way it works at Rowes.

It's like buying produce from Katharine Hepburn and Spencer Tracy, I decided. Pearl, a lovely aristocratic lady, a former milliner (hat maker) wearing a floppy brimmed straw picture hat, and John leaning on his hoe throwing in a few humerous comments and both, at 76, still obviously in love with each other.

John, a former manager of a sporting goods store, has to take it easy after an illness which damaged his hear last year, but keeps pace with his determination to maintain the quality of the life style which they have come to treasure.

For John and Pearl Rowe gardening is not only a labor of love; it is the way of life they love.

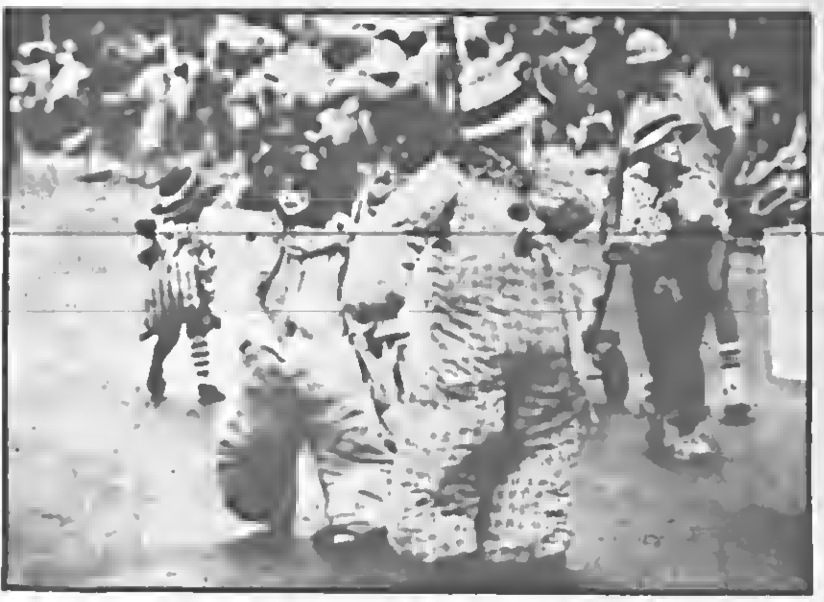
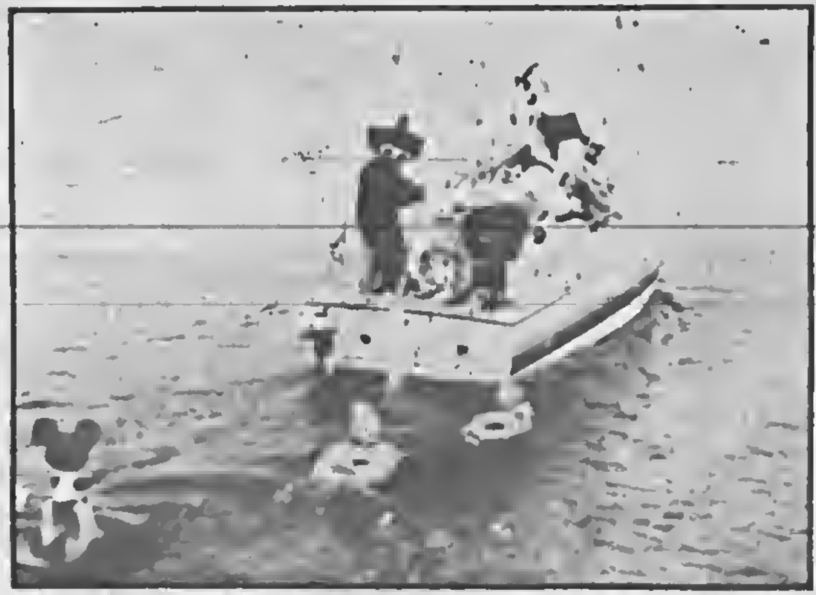
The boat paraders shown here proved that one does not have to own a big, expensive boat to join the parade and have fun.

The street parade attracted vehicular entries of all types including this lounge-cycle able to hold almost an entire family.

Favorites of the Venetian Street Parade for the second year were members of the Scottville Clown Band which brought its unique combination of comedy and musical ability to not only the parade but also the East Park stage later in the day.

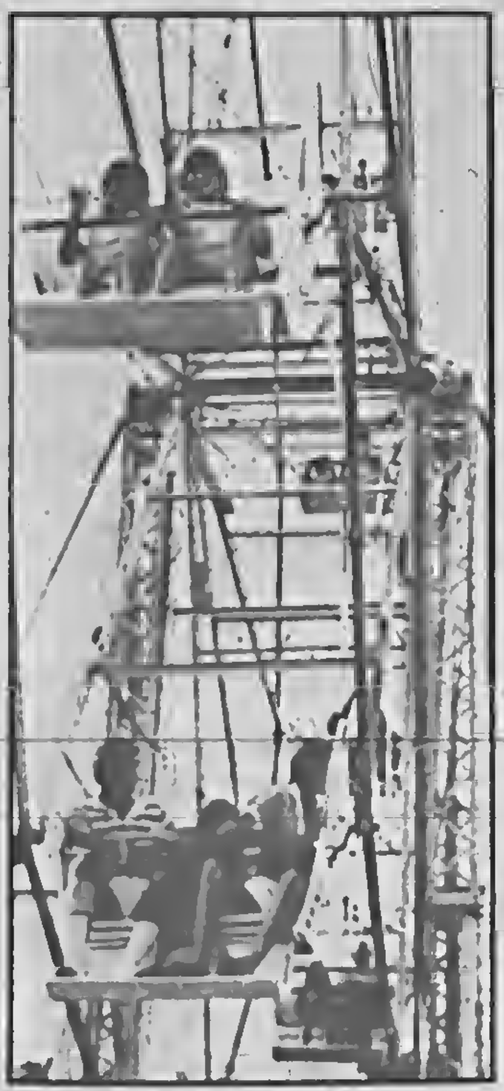


Clowns such as these fatties added color to the street parade.



This Venetian Boat Parade entrant consisted of a mini-parade in itself.

This was one of the many clowns who delighted youngsters along the street parade route Saturday.



The carnival rides, including the ever popular ferris wheel, above, were all part of the Venetian Festival fun.

WILLIE NELSON was in Charlevoix over the weekend to appear in the first concert of the 1983 summer series at Castle Farms Music Theatre Sunday evening. Crowd estimates ranged from 13,000 by concert promoters to 16,000 by the Sheriff's Department. Delays in parking cars at the Castle's lot on the south side of Highway M-66 were blamed for a mammoth traffic tie-up that saw cars stopped on U.S. 31 as far north as Duffy's of Charlevoix. The Sheriff's Department reported three drunk driving arrests and one arrest for disorderly conduct. There were also several tickets issued for minor violations.

Weathervane units nixed

Plans for further expansion of the Weathervane Terrace Motel received a chilly reception at the Charlevoix City Council meeting Monday night when council members sent back to the Planning Commission a request from the developers for rezoning and site plan approval.

Developers Richard Georgi and Arch Wright, neither of whom were present at the meeting, had submitted a proposal to add 24 units to the Weathervane Terrace by demolishing the two houses to the west of the existing units which were just completed this spring.

Also proposed was a rezoning of the property from R-4, multiple unit residential, to M-H, motel-hotel.

At a previous meeting, the Board of Appeals had refused several height variances that would have been neccessary for the proposed expansion. Plans included two more towers similar to those incorporated into the existing building. The Board also voiced concern over the proximity of the site plan to the western property line.

Stating their objection to the expansion project Monday night were Robert Silver, a director of the LaCroft Condomonium Association, Mrs. Mildred Campbell, who owns

'Red stuff' in lake is algal bloom

A reddish substance reported by swimmers last week along the Lake Michigan beaches in Charlevoix has been identified as a harmless species of algae by the District No. 3 Health Department.

The substance was reported in shallow water and along beaches both north and south of the pier with at least one call being made by a private citizen to the state Department of Natural Resources Pollution Emergency Alert System (PEAS) hotline.

According to District Health Department sanitarian Larry Levengood, his office was contacted by the DNR to follow up on the report and subsequently confirmed the substance to be an algal bloom.

Though the precise species of the organisms has not been identified, Levengood said that it appeared to be similar to algal growths that have

City Hall wants information on any existing wells

Charlevoix residents who know of existing water wells within or immediately outside the city limits are being asked to notify City Hall to assist in the search for a new municipal well system.

Test well drilling at potential production sites is scheduled to begin in September but data from existing wells, whether currently in service or not, is first being sought to eliminate possible duplication of effort.

"City engineers will be contacting other local engineers and well drillers in this effort," said City Manager Robert Hunt, "But we would also like to hear from common citizens."

Anyone with knowledge of existing wells is asked to call or write Water Superintendent Ed Whitley, 210 State St., 547-2411.

Muma resigns

Charlevoix City Treasurer Robert Muma has submitted his resignation to be effective this Friday, August 5.

The resignation reportedly was tendered to City Council following its July 25 meeting as a committee as a whole although no mention of the action was on the Council's agenda and the meeting had been adjourned when the matter was discussed.

Muma, whose family is originally from Charlevoix, has held the position of City Treasurer for four years. He recently accepted a job in Bay County dealing with payroll insurance and retirement which starts August 22. Muma plans to move to Bay County before that date.

Muma expressed regret over having to leave this area, "Charlevoix's been real good to me. The people are great. I'll miss it very much."

The position of City Treasurer, for which Muma was paid an annual salary of $20,800, is appointed by City Council for an indefinite term. The council is expected to receive a recommendation from City Manager Robert Hunt on a new City Treasurer at an upcoming meeting.

Robert Muma

Said Hunt, "With Bob Muma, we have seen tremendous improvement in how the city manages its finances. He has done a great job and will be missed."

DNR keeps pressing for weir

by PEG OHLE

In an attempt to convince the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners that a fish weir on the Jordan River would be in the best interests of the area, the Department of Natural Resources brought in John Scott, head of its Fisheries Division, to the Commissioners meeting last week.

The DNR had been invited to appear before the Commissioners to clear up questions that some Commissioners had about how the weir operated, its effects upon the river, and what a fish harvesting facility would mean to the community.

A resolution to permit the construction of a weir on the Jordan was tabled by the County Board of Commissioners at their July 13th meeting after the project had been approved by the County Planning Commission. At the time, the only reason given for the tabling action was that some of the Commissioners needed more time to digest what they had been told.

Over 75 interested persons attended last week's Board of Commissioners meeting, which had to be moved from the Board's regular meeting room in the County Building Annex to the Circuit Court Room. Perhaps the longest and most pointed speech was delivered by Judy Shea of the East Jordan Chamber of Commerce, who said she had received petitions bearing 1,000 names as well as resolutions favoring the weir from the East Jordan, Boyne City, and Charlevoix Chambers of Commerce, the Charlevoix County Planning Commission, and other groups.

Others in the audience who said they were in favor of the weir added that Judy Shea had told the story well.

Opponents to the weir again mentioned the fragility of the river and the problems of policing the stream from its mouth upriver to the weir at spawning time.

Another consideration was brought to light by Charles Sberk, who inquired what future public funds are guaranteed for fish and wildlife control.

According to Scott, a weir is especially needed in the Jordan River, which is rated 16th among 30 "dirty" rivers in the state because of its lamprey production. He also said that there was a great demand among local residents for the weir and a fish harvesting facility.

The County Board of Commissioners is expected to reconsider the weir resolution at its meeting on August 24.

Big Rock drill went well, say reviewers

"BREX 83", the code name given to the emergency preparedness drill held last week at the Big Rock Point nuclear power plant, received a generally favorable evaluation Thursday by observers from the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) and the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA).

The drill consisted of a scenario involving potential release of radioactive gas from the Big Rock plant. Evaluators judged the responses to the simulated incident by both the plant personnel and the various public agencies involved in Charlevoix and Emmet Counties' emergency planning.

Some minor deficiencies cited in the initial report Thursday included the handling of shift changes at the county emergency operations centers, inadequate calibration of radiation detectors, over simulation of the accident scenario and a lack of tough media questioning at the Joint Public Information Center press conferences.

Historical Society to sponsor oral history workshop

by PEG OHLE

Oral history dates back to the days before hieroglyphics. It is the art of preserving history by handing down from generation to generation stories about events of the past the the people who were involved in them.

Today there is a new technique in oral history. It is the art of tape recording conversations with people who have special stories to tell, usually about the past.

This technique will be demonstrated and discussed later this month when the Michigan Oral History Council meets in Charlevoix under the auspices of the Charlevoix Historical Society.

Bob Morgridge, local historian and teacher who has been using the tape recording technique for some time, is spearheading the meeting on Saturday, August 27, and will talk to the group about "Oral History in Charlevoix County".

He will tell about how he prepared an oral and slide film history of Ironton by interviewing long-time Ironton residents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Alexander, writing a script which was professionally narrated, and putting the pictures he collected on slides.

Morgridge will also demonstrate his interviewing techniques by talking with Bob Miles, another local historian, who will describe for tape recording his large collection of local pictures which now belong to the Charlevoix Historical Society.

The Charlevoix Historical Society also has about 50 tapes of interviews with senior citizens, recordings of talks made at Society meetings, and other events of historical interest. Morgridge was instrumental in getting the recording program started and has conducted many of the interviews himself.

The Michigan Oral History Council workshop in Charlevoix is billed as "Echoes from the Attic". Besides Morgridge, speakers will be Marj Brazer of Ann Arbor, president of the Oral History Council, who will speak on "Getting Started" – themes for oral history, how to organize a project, and whom to interview; Geneva Winkemann of the Detroit area, whose subject is "How to Conduct an Interview" - a hands-on demonstration with all the do's and don'ts; and Glenn Ruggles, who will show his film "The River's the Same", a 16 mm. picture history of his home town of Elk Rapids. Ruggles will tell how he put the film together, the problems he encountered, and what the project cost.

According to Morgridge, Ruggles' talk will give his listeners ideas of how to go about making historical films of their communities.

Morgridge points out that such films are useful not only to historical associations, but to groups like chambers of commerce, service clubs, and even schools. He is hopeful that some of the communities in Charlevoix County will undertake a an oral history and film-making project.

"Echoes from the Attic" will be held in the Harsha House at 103 State Street. It will begin at 9:30 in the morning on Augustr 27 and continue through the afternoon, but participants may come and go as they please. Reservations may be made with Bob Morgridge, 98 Oak Street, Charlevoix, up to August 27, or at the door on the day of the workshop. The fee is $5 payable to Morgridge.

Officers and crew of the U.S.C.G.C. Mesquite gather on the main deck for change of command ceremonies Friday.

Command changes on Cutter Mesquite

In a Change of Command ceremony on the fore deck of the U.S. Coast Guard Cutter Mesquite, Friday, Lt. Cdr. Robert E. Young assumed command of the 180 foot cutter from Lt. Cdr. David H. Blombert.

Capt. David H. Freeborn, Chief of the Aids to Navigation Division at the 9th Coast Guard District Office in Cleveland was present for the impressive Change of Command ceremony. He read the orders and inspected the crew prior to the official Change of Command.

Lt. Cdr. Young, a 1973 graduate of the U.S. Coast Guard Academy, comes to the Cutter Mesquite from the U.S.C.G. Safety Office at Port Arthur, Tex. Prior to that assignment, he had served as Executive Officer on the U.S.C.G.C. Mariposa stationed at Detroit.

Lt. Cdr. Blomberg, who has been skipper of the Mesuite for the past year, has been assigned to the Marine Safety Office in Milwaukee. He is a 1969 graduate of the U.S. Coast Guard Academy and was assigned to the U.S.C.G.C. Edisto out of Boston and the Port Safety Office at Boston; at a LORAN station on Yap Island in the West Caroline Islands; at the Marine Safety Office in Duluth and at the Chevron Shipping Co. in San Francisco before taking command of the Mesquite in August 1981.

As a part of the ceremony, the officers and crewmen of the Mesquite presented Cdr. Blomberg with a gift.

Present for the Change of Command were invited guests from the community and the dependents of the crew.

County takes new tack in mediating custody cases

by PEG OHLE

The State of Michigan is making a last-ditch attempt to settle disputes concerning child custody or visitation rights without bringing the matter into an open court of law.

House Bill No. 4870, effective July 1, provides that the Friend of the Court "Shall provide, either directly or by contract, domestic relations mediation to assist the parties in settling, voluntarily, a dispute concerning child custody or visitation that arises from a domestic relations matter."

The bill further defines the professional qualifications of mediators who will be acceptable under the law.

In order to have money on hand to pay these professional mediators when their services are required, the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners recently approved a $1,000 drawing fund in the Treasurer's office.

According to Friend of the Court officer George Ebenhoeh, the fund will be replenished regularly by judgement fees paid by divorce case principals who make use of counseling and mediation services.

Presently, persons who are granted judgements of divorce pay fees ranging from $30 to $70, depending upon the amount of time the Friend of the Court and-or mediator spends on the case. This is in addition to the $40 filing fee paid when filing the divorce action.

Ebenhoe does not believe very many of the divorce court actions in Charlevoix County will reach the mediation process.

"So far, we've been able to resolve about 95 percent of the cases ourselves (money matters, custody, visitation) without court time," Ebenhoeh explains. "Because mediation is a voluntary procedure, the chances of the other five percent or so agreeing to agree or mediate are very slim."

However, in order to comply with the law and have qualified mediators available for those who want them, Charlevoix County will soon sign contracts with three counseling services with whom they now have only informal working agreements. These are CHIP Counseling Center in Charlevoix, East Jordan Counseling Center, and Northern Michigan Mental Health Services in Petoskey.

Ebenhoeh believes that his succes in negotiating mutually satisfactory divorce settlements is due to the fact he is the first unbiased person with whom the parties of a divorce come into contact. "Until they come into my office, they both have been talking to friends or relatives who see only one side of the question. Because they know I'm not biased, they look up to me, and that's good," he says.

Ebenhoeh tries to keep as much of divorce case action out of the court as possible. "Family problems shouldn't be resolved in a court of law," is the way he puts it.

During 1982, 91 divorce cases involving children were filed in Charlevoix County. Ebenhoeh's office was active in all of them. In addition to the divorce cases, there were 39 separation cases involving children, three paternity actions, 21 Uniform Reciprocal Enforcement of Support Act (URESA) cases in other states, and 10 URESA cases coming into the county. There were also two miscellaneous custody cases (such as a grandmother asking for custody of a child). All this added up to a case load of 166 cases for Ebenhoeh and his staff.

When divorce judgements involving no children are added to Ebenhoeh's 91 cases, the number of divorce judgements in Charlevoix County in 1982 was 111. Ebenhoeh believes that this year the figure will remain about the same.

"We had a peak number of cases in 1977 to 1978, but they have leveled off since then," Ebenhoeh said. "At one time, Charlevoix County was above the state average in divorces, but that is no longer the case," he added.

Although divorce has become a way of life in the last few years, it is an expensive process. In addition to the court costs noted above, local lawyers' fees run from $500 for the most simple case to $2,000 for a very complicated one. Most lawyers ask for a large portion of the fee "up front" (when the action is filed), a requirement which many people find hard to meet.

Some indigent and very poor people are helped in securing divorces by Northern Michigan Legal Services in Petoskey, which furnishes legal aid to many who can't afford it otherwise.

Vernice revisited

by Dave Knight

Dogs of Our Lives: Chapter Three

When I last left you, I had found happiness with a German shepherd-husky mix named Vernice after a series of relationships gone bad.

The bitter memories of my es-dogs had been completely erased by Vernice whose cheerful personality and instant loyalty made her a hit with family and friends in the month or so we have had her.

As you recall, when the decision was made to look for a new dog, my first inclination was to get a puppy. After all, I reasoned, when one gets a grown dog, one gets a dog that has been programmed by somebody else. Who knows what habits the dog has developed or what idiosyncrasies might turn up unespectedly?

Since most grown dogs that wind up in the pound don't wear Medic Alert bracelets, who knows what glitches there might be in their medical histories? Some questionable traits - such as car sickness - can only be discovered one way: the hard way.

Thus when I appeared at the County Humane Society a couple weeks ago, I was set on getting a puppy that could be raised the way I wanted...a clean slate, if you will.

But Mrs. Smith who works at the Society's kennels changed my mind with a very convincing srgument.

I told her a needed a watchdog.

"Then you don't want a puppy," she said, since it will be at least a couple years before the dog can be effective in guarding anything.

I told her we'd like to have the dog be inside sometimes.

"Then you don't want a puppy," she said, reminding me of all the messy training we'd have to go through.

I told her I have a 21-month old daughter.

"Then you don't want a puppy," she said pointing out that toddlers and puppies can be overly rough on eacb other with bad habits developing both ways.

I told her that my wife has young violin students coming to our house for lessons almost every day.

"Then you don't want a puppy," she said; without constant attention, the little feller will make a racket and disrupt everything.

What could I say? She was right on every count. I didn't want a puppy. It was a tough realization to make but it was only logical. I needed a grown dog, not a puppy.

And so I picked out Vernice, a black and tan female Mrs. Smith and I estimated to be about two or three years old.

My wife had wanted a puppy, too. So when I came home with Vernice, there was a note of disappointment. I told her everything Mrs. Smith told me as much to reinforce my own feelings as well as my wife's. We don't want a puppy, I repeated, we don't want a puppy.

It took about three weeks but we both finally resigned ourselves to the fact that we had made a good decision; that we truly had not wanted a puppy.

In fact, it was just about the time we were both finally convinced that we had made a brilliant decision not to get a puppy that Vernice disappeared under the barn...

...and delivered four puppies.

Ignorance is no excuse for Open Meeting Act violation

by PEG OHLE

This reporter did not personally attend last week's meeting of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners as she usually does. Information covering action taken at the meeting reported elsewhere in this newspaper was obtained from reading the County Clerk's notes and by talking to several people who had attended the meeting.

It was with some surprise and disappointment that we later learned all six members of the County Commission had met with members of the Department of Natural Resources staff at an "informal" gathering prior to the regular Board meeting.

No minutes were taken of the "informal" meeting and no notice was posted advising that it would be held.

Both failures to do so are in violation of The Open Meetings Act, 1976, PA 267; MCLA 15.261 et seq., which requires all meetings of a public body to be open and that "minutes must be kept and minutes of public meetings must be available for public inspection."

The Act further provides that "In addition to the posting of notices of meetings, a pablic body must mail notices to persons who reqnest such notices on an annual basis npon payment of a reasonable cost. Media are entitled to mailed notices without charge."

The County Board of Commissioners and the DNR personnel who attended the "informal" meeting were together for over two hours. The DNR personnel had been invivted by the Commissioners to attend the regular Board meeting to discuss a fish weir on the Jordan River. The subject was on the Board's agenda. It seems highly unlikely, therefore, that the weir – a matter of public concern – was not discussed at the "informal" meeting. Certainly the time wasn't spent talking about the weather.

We do not believe that the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners meant to violate the law. The "informal" meeting was probably held to pave the way for an orderly meeting later. However, ignorance of the law is no excuse, and we suggest that every public official in the County obtain a copy of the Open Meetings Act from the Attorney General or the Michigan Association of Counties so the same mistake will not be made again.

Letters: Stop light needed

Dear Editor:

Have you ever tried turning south on US 31 from Highway 66? The flashing yellow light just doesn't seem adequate to allow you safe passage onto US 31. We feel that a full traffic signal is needed at that intersection during peak traffic periods which in the summer months seems like 99 per cent of the time. Even in the off season regular working commuter traffic seems to be bottle-necked at this intersection.

Clockwise

A day at Douglas Lake

by Bob Clock

AFTER 18 YEARS in Northern Michigan, the Clocks finally had an opportunity to visit the University of Michigan's Biological Station at Douglas Lake in Cheboygan County last Saturday afternoon. I was surprised at the size of the station, its great antiquity and the beauty of the surroundings.

A good friend of ours — Sandy Beadle, late of Holly — is a student at the station this summer and invited us up for a tour. We packed a picnic lunch and headed north. The station is located just north of Riggsville Road, about six miles west of Pellston and consists of dozens of modern and rustic buildings, some of which appear to date back to 1909 when the station was established.

We were particularly intrigued by the two-student housing units along each side of the lake shore drive which appear to be among the earliest structures on the premises. They consist of wooden frames covered by sheet metal siding and sheet metal roofs. Each cabin has its own small wood-fired heating plant.

Newer buildings consists of laboratories, a library, administration building, cafeteria and boathouse.

At the rear of the library are three large, lighted glass cases with shelves for the display of horticultural specimens. Each has a card bearing the Latin name and popular name of the various plants. In front of each case is a bench where students may sit and study the specimens at their leisure.

With such an attraction, who needs television?

THE STATION ALSO has volleyball and basketball courts and small sand bathing beach. The kids, of course, wanted to go for a swim and they did, although they had to be particularly wary of the sharp dropoff. Unlike the shallow north end of the lake, the south end has a very narrow rim of sand before the bottom drops away into forest-green water.

Literally miles of shoreline are owned by the university and the wooded banks are reminiscent of wilderness lakes in the Upper Peninsula and Ontario.

As lovely as the setting is, the station is not a summer playground. Even on Saturday evening, some students were still poring over books in the library or working over test tubes and beakers in the laboratories.

AFTER DOUGLAS LAKE, we headed north on I-75 for our annual pilgrimage to Mackinaw City. The city was jammed with tourists, the souvenir shops were humming and the fudge was selling like, well like fudge. We bought some and pretended we were tourists.

Among the newest attractions are fresh-baked waffle ice-cream cones. Delicious. Simply delicious. They cost $1 each for a single dip — but you don't need any supper.

adjoining property, and Mrs. Marvin Beyer, who also owns adjoining property.

Said Silver, "We feel this proposed building represents an absolute visual pollution. The people who would use it are transients who do not have the interests of the community at heart."

The rezoning and site plan issues were referred back to the Planning Commission with several conditions.

In other action, the council:

-Refused to act on a request by the Fireball Arcade for estended Sunday hours until language can be drafted for a comprehensive ordinance applying to all arcades in the city.

-Was advised by City Manager Robert Hunt that the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad has given up on negotiations with Michigan Northern Railroad to sell two miles of trackage from the swing bridge to the Medusa spur and that the tracks have been contracted for removal. Hunt recommended that the city take the responsibility of removing tracks at the Ferry Ave. and Stover Rd. crossings.

Algae bloom

appeared along the Lake Michigan shoreline in Charlevoix occasionally in past years.

"We believe it may be related to a combination of factors such as temperature and rainfall but we don't have a definite reason for it turning up when it does," said Levengood.

The rust-collored substance appears oily at first, said Levengood, but upon closer inspection does appear to be a biological growth comprised of individual organisms.

"We have no reason to believe it is harmful to swimmers," said Levengood, "And in past years it has disappeared in a couple days."

Levengood added that the Health Department will continue to monitor any abnormal increases in the the algae bloom.

Natalie Johnstone, the winning pitcher, gave up four hits. Faye Alger allowed four.

Though Sue Barta gave up nine hits, Kwikie Duplicating lacked the hitting power to take advantage of them scoring only two runs while Townhouse scored six runs on the seven hits given up by Lisa Hilton.

Flight Deck wins 17th in Twsp.

The Flight Deck continued its winning streak by defeating Control Engineering 14-8 and Dairy Queen shut out Boyne Machine 13-0 in action in the Charlevois Township League Tuesday night.

Dairy Queen collected four of its 13 hits in the first and five in the second inning as they routed Boyne Machine. Chris Putman, Mike Voccia and Kyle Smith had three hits each for D.Q. Bob Sandahl and Mike Pearsall had two hits each.

The Flight Deck pulled a close one out of the loss column Wednesday night when the team defeated Boyne Machine 11-8. In the second game, Juillieret's downed the A-Team 7-6.

Greg Revoir and Bob Sandahl had three hits each and Mike Pearsall two including a home run for Boyne Machine whose Roy Grunch had given up 13 hits in the game.

Swansons takes sole lead

A win by Swanson's K&D over Carlson Plumbing by a score of 10-9 broke a tie for first place in the Men's Slow Pitch League to highlight the action Monday night. In other games Townhouse 1 defeated Erber-McKeown 3-2 and Townhouse 11 edged Air Force 19-18.

In the game that broke the tie for first place in the league, Tim Carey's bases-loaded single brought home the winning run in the bottom of the eighth inning to give Swanson's the league lead. Carey also had two home runs and Dave Storm had one. Bob Holtzman, the winning pitcher, allowed 14 hits. Ray LaVoie gave up 23.

Air Force scored 13 runs in the fifth inning to lead Townhouse 11 for two innings before Dick Burdette's single in the bottom of the seventh brought in the winning run. Both Jim Werner, the winning pitcher, and Dana Smith allowed 23 hits.

In the third game of the night, Townhouse 1 edged Erber-McKeown 3-2 in a game that saw Sonny Wright give up 13 hits. Ike Boss allowed nine.

The win by Wojan's left them in third place as the team got 14 hits off Ike Boss. Jim Cluk gave up 14 hits.

Yachting Notes

by A. Nony Mouse

A fresh westerly blessed the fleet Wednesday evening as the 34 boat fleet scrambled to remember what lines to pull to make the boats go in a moderately heavy breeze.

An excellent display of fine sailing and good seamanship made the difference to the winners this week. PYGMALION, having ripped her mainsail tucked in a reef and barely skipped a beat to win the race by, get this, 2 seconds ahead of MINT JULIP, who blew out a head sail. CAMOUFLAGE tunked along to third, seemingly oblivious to the troubles of the two ahead. 4th place went to the newest addition to the fleet. Gary Gleason's new Carpi 30, CHARLIE BROWN, showed very good boat speed and proved to be quite stable in a fair breeze. They were first to finish but because of the handicap, corrected to 4th by 23 seconds. SONAR steered a steady course to 5th place, 19 seconds behind C. BROWN.

A minor collision occured as 11 MARVELOUS knotted up their spinnaker halyard, and klunked into CANUSA. 11 MARVELOUS did the only honorable thing by retiring from the race.

In the Portsmouth fleet: 1. SEA SCAPE; 2. TE-GI; 3. KOOL WHIP; 4. CHEEMAUN; 5. STALWARTH.

Discussion of spliting the PHRF fleet into two classes while retaining the same start has been welcomed by most of the competitors. It would be calculated for all of the summer series races, giving the older and smaller boats a taste of victory.

Teams sought for Labor Day tourney

Teams are being sought for the second annual Labor Day Weekend Tournament being sponsored by the Charlevois Township Slow Pitch League.

The 12 team tourney, which will allow an open roster, will be held Sept. 2-5 at Shanahan Field with trophies for the top four teams, George Melke has announced.

Interested persons may call Melke at 347-3931 Est. 282 or Lee Barta at 547-8508 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

There will be a $75 entry fee.

All proceeds from the tournament will go directly into the field improvement fund, Melke said.

Lake water quality is meeting topic

A special program has been scheduled for Tuesday night, August 2 at the Charlevoix High School on how lake property owners can help improve water quality.

Tipp of the Mitt Watershed Council intern Cathy Sleight will present a slide program at 7:30 p.m. on how area lakes can be kept clean and pure through the actions of lakeside residents.

Rec. Dept. plans annual track meet

The Charlevoix Recreation Department will hold its annual city track and field meet for boys and girls ages 8 through 13 years.

The event will be held at Kipke Field at the Charlevoix High School and registration will be at the track at 1 p.m. Wednesday, August 10.

Entries will participate in two divisions with separate divisions for boys and girls. The junior division will be for ages 8 through 10 years and the senior division for 11 through 13 year olds.

Each division will compete in the 25, 50 and 75 yard dashes, broad jump, softball throw, standing long jump, and the 440 yard relay. Ribbons will be awarded to the top three finishers in each event.

For further information call the Charlevoix Recreation Department at 547-4272.

Approaching school year occupies Board

By FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Board of Education took several actions at its meeting Monday in preparation for the 1983-84 school year.

Major among these were the application for a Tax Anticipation Note, the certification of the 1983 tax levy, staffing to fill vacancies and the improvement of the parking lot at the high school.

Superintendent Gordon W. VanWieren was authorized to execute the application for the Tax Anticipation Note of $360,000. Bids for the note, which is $205,000 less than the note borrowed in 1982 and which is to be borrowed for 15 days less than the 1983 note, will be opened September 12, it was explained.

The 1983 tax levy certified at the meeting will be the same as in 1982 or a total of 27 mills. The levy will be as follows: 9.10 mills allocated for operation, 16.15 voted for operation, .50 for public library operation, .40 for 1958 debt retirement, .55 mill for 1968 debt retirement and .30 mill for 1979 debt retirement.

Two teachers who have substituted in the school system, Eric Lundteigen and Cathy Silberhorn, who also did her practice teaching here, were offered one year contracts and Pauline Austin a one year contract to teach part-time at the elementary school.

At the same time, John Houting was granted a two year leave of absence with the provision that he will be able to return to the system if a vacancy exists for which he qualifies. He has been at the elementary school for the past 11 years and has asked for a leave of absence to accept an assignment in Mainz, Germany with the U.S. Department of Defense to teach in an American Dependent School there.

The condition of the southern most section of the parking lot at the high school was discussed at length. Vincent Olach, business manager, was advised to have the lot properly engineered to correct a drainage problem and to seek bids for the work. A bid for a section of the drive in front of the school off Garfield Avenue will be sought at the same time.

Curriculum committee reports were heard from Jeanne Seymour on computers, Sally McNamara on Social Studies and Sue Tillotson on Science. Mrs. Seymour said it was important to fit the study of computers into the schedule but questioned where it should go and how it could be fitted into the school day. It was suggested that an adult education program on computers be offered with students being permitted to enroll. She also said there was need for more computers.

Mrs. McNamara said the Social Studies section of the curriculum had been evaluated and if there was a weakness it was in the first through the third grades. It was also recommended that an elective in Social Studies be made available in the tenth grade and that all students attend meetings relating to local government.

Art Fair to highlight Midener's work

Reviving a tradition in celebration of its 25th Anniversary Charlevoix's Waterfront Art Fair (Saturday, August 13) is putting on special display work by internationally recognized artists.

Walter Midener, President Emeritus of the Center for Creative Studies in Detroit, a world recognized sculptor, his wife Peggy, whose paintings and intricately designed "boxes" are in collections and museums around the U.S., and their daughter Wendy Midener Froud, creator of Star Wars' Yoda and characters for Jim Henson of Muppet fame, are loaning works to the show.

Celebrating its 25th anniversary of bringing fine art to northern Michigan, the organisers of the Charlevoix show asked the Mideners if they would loan their works in the tradition of the show's earlier years when collector Nathan Cummings loaned his personal paintings and sculpture by such greats as Renoir, Degas, Roualt and Rodin.

Walter and Peggy Midener, each with a distinctive style and using different media, had been recruited nearly twenty years ago to bring their works to the Charlevoix show, to help the young art fair get established in the fine arts world. Along with colleagues from Detroit's Society of Arts and Crafts, now the Center for Creative Studies including Sarkis Sarkisian, Guy Palazzola and Charles Culver, Walter and Peggy Midener brought their works north to give the young fair a boost.

As the show established its reputation and began attracting top young artists from around the country, artists such as the Mideners, who generally only displayed their works in museums, galleries and special shows, withdrew.

At the same time, the tradition of displaying works by great artists in the bandshell was begun through the generosity of art collector Nathan Cummings, then living in Charlevois, and several Michigan Museums.

This year Walter Midener is loaning four of his large carved wood sculptured pieces. Midener's work has been shown at New York's Metropolitan Museum and Whitney Museum, at Detroit's Cranbrook Museum, and galleries, museums and collections across the country.

Art Fair .....

Walter Mildener "has achieved significant honors nationally and internationally, as administrator, educator and sculptor," a catalogue for a retrospective of his work at the Pontiac Art Center described.

His sculpture, some larger than life size, in metal, terra-cotta and wood, have a soaring, often religious quality to them. "His achieved moments of empathy with the human form and condition personally relates to each of us," Ian Lyons wrote for the Pontiac retrospective.

"My sculpture is influenced by themes from the Old and New Testaments, Classical Mythology and by basic human relationships," Mildener commented in the same show.

Born in Germany, Mildener emigrated to the United States in 1938 and moved to Detroit from New York in the mid 1950's to join the Society of Arts and Crafts.

Peggy Mildener's work, especially her intricately designed boxes also reflect an interest in sacred tradition. Her "boxes" call on themes from traditional Native America and African cultures as well as classical Greek. Two of her paintings will be displayed, as well as a large prize winning triptych and several "boxes".

Mrs. Mildener's work is in many private collections, as well as among the permanent collection of the Detroit Institute of Arts and Butler Institute of Art in Youngstown, Ohio. A teacher and art critic, Mrs. Mildener is currently teaching for the Crooked Tree Arts Council in Petoskey and serving as coordinator for many of the art shows at the organization's McCune Art Center.

Wendy Mildener Froud designed Yoda for George Lucas' movies The Empire Strikes Back and The Return of the Jedi, as well as muppets for Jim Henson and several characters in Henson's movie Dark Crystal. Currently commuting between Devon and London, England, the younger Mildener is now working on a new film for the Henson organization. She has loaned the Charlevoix show four of her puppets.

The loan of the Mildeners' works caps the plans for the celebration of Michigan's second oldest art fair. Along with the Mildeners, many artists who once showed at the Charlevoix Fair but now only exhibit in museums and galleries are bringing their works back to Charlevoix. Joining them will be some 60 artists who were accepted to display their works at this show.

The show which attracts many serious buyers and art collectors is also an unique opportunity for northern Michigan residents to see a broad spectrum of contemporary fine art.

Walter Mildener displays some of the work to be featured at the Waterfront Art Fair.

Mrs. Yenni elected president of Grandvue Auxiliary

Mrs. Betty Yenni of East Jordan was installed recently as president of the Grandvue Medical Care Facility at the annual meeting held at the facility. She succeeds Joanna Gann of Charlevoix in the office.

Other new officers who will serve during the 1983-84 year are Mrs. Delores Rasch of Boyne City, president-elect; Mrs. Jean Korthase of Boyne City, vice president; Mrs. Jeanne Schenck of East Jordan, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Dorothy Krause of Boyne City, recording secretary; Mrs. Phyllis Malpass of East Jordan, treasurer; Mrs. Edith Chamberlain of Charlevoix, historian.

At the meeting, members voted to purchase lawn furniture for use by the patients. The purchase will cost an estimated $1,000.

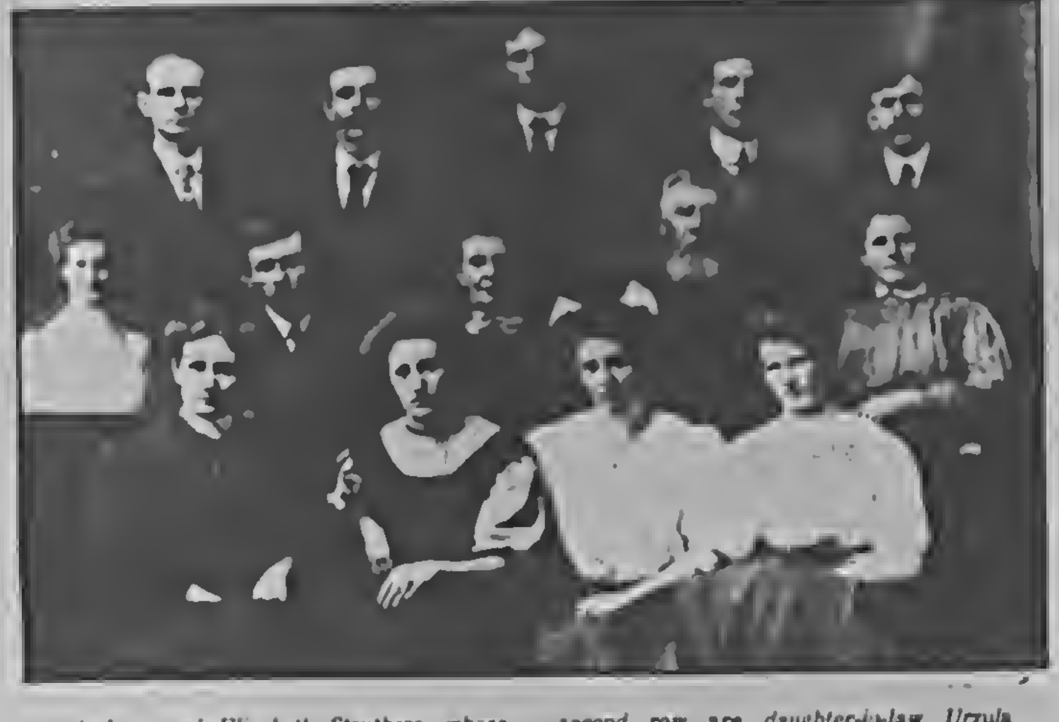
Funds derived form the recent Tag Day sponsored by the Auxiliary were earmarked for the purchase of new wheelchairs. A decision was made to purchase all one brand of chair so that parts will be interchangeable and accessable.

The annual membership drive is now underway. Active memberships are $2.00; inactive, $3.00 and life meberships (to be paid only once) $50. Mrs. Mary Margaret Geiken of Charlevoix is membership chairperson.

Ronald Conkle, administrator of the facility, atended the meeting and introduced Mrs. Eileen Rouse of Boyne City who serves as liaison between the auxiliary and the Department of Social Services.

The next meeting of the auxiliary is scheduled for 2 p.m. Thuraday, Aog. 11.

Membership in the auxiliary is open to anyone interested in the patients, their welfare and the operation of the facility.



Andrew and Elizabeth Struthers, whose descendants will hold their first reunion in Charlevoix next year, are shown in this photo in the middle of the second row. Family members gathered around them include, left to right in the top row, sons Charles, John, Andy, Bob and son-in-law Henry Howe. In the second row are daughter-in-law Urzula (Andy's wife), son-in-law John Haggerty (Lucy's husband), Elizabeth, Andrew and daughter Millie. In the front row are daughters Lucy, Zell, Viola and daughter-in-law Erma.

Struthers planning family reunion

One of Charlevoix's oldest and most well known families will be holding its first reunion here next summer.

On July 7, 1984, descendants of Andrew and Elizabeth Struthers will converge on Charlevoix from all over the United States and Canada for a reunion with the many Struthers family members still living in the area.

According to reunion organizer Carol Struthers Burnett of Anderson, Indiana, relatives are expected from California, Arizona, Washington, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Florida, Indiana, and several Canadian locations as well as from throughout Michigan.

Says Mrs. Burnett, "Since Charlevoix was the original homestead of the Struthers in the United States, for many (of the relatives) this is a feeling of a pilgrimage home."

Andrew Struthers was born in Scotland and came to the United States in the 1840s. He married Elizabeth Walker in 1861 in Stratford, Ontario.

Shortly thereafter the couple moved to the Charlevoix area and were some of the earliest pioneers of the community during the mid-1800s. Arriving as squatters, Andrew and Elizabeth first set up their homestead near the village of South Arm and later moved to Hayes Township.

A successful farmer for many years, Andrew became an influential resident of the county. He was the town supervisor for many years, a justice of the peace and school officer. He was instrumental in many important decisions of the day including the location of the Charlevoix County Courthouse and the construction of many county roads.

Though many of the Struthers' descendants have scattered across the country in the 122 years since the Charlevoix homestead was established, many still live in the immediate area. Howard Struthers, Leona Bartlett, Ruth Berg, Beatrice Richardson, Dorris Pearsall, Betty Smith, Mary Ann Chew, Daniel Berg, Broce Bartlett, Jr., Sandra Beaudoin, Robert Geer, JoAnn Geer, Barry Pierce and Charles Pierce are some of the local Struthers family descendants who will be taking part in the reunion next year.

A book is being written tracing the entire family back to Andrew and Elizabeth. Anyone with information on any Struthers descendants are asked to contribute.

Those wishing further information on the reunion are asked to contact Mary Ann Chew at 547-4157.

Hanging baskets provide the "High Wire Act" while "The Midgets" will be represented in miniature arrangements. The swan, symbol of East Jordan, will be used in arrangements in "The Flying Trapeze" class of the show.

This year's show is unique as one class, "The Fat Lady" is open for public participation. Any amateur may design a mass arrangement using only fresh flowers and materials. This arrangement may not exceed 18"x14"x14" and must be brought to the Civic Center before 9:30 a.m. on August 15. Garden Club members and floral professionals are excluded from entering this class.

The horticulture section of the show will include single specimen of various flowers, fruits, and vegetables grown by members in their own gardens.

The East Jordan Civic Center is located one-half block east of Main Street near the Post Office. Admission to the flower show is free. For further information call 536-7382 or 536-7631.

Judges for the show are Phyllis Block, Portia Crawford and Anna Belle Webb. Rod Cortright, Charlevoix County Co-operative Extention Director, will judge the horticulture section of the show.

Committee members include Joanne Schenck, Jan Birckelbaw, Emily Coward, Polly Sinclair, Deana Hurwitz, Peggy Midener, Marion Sherman, Phyllis Malpass and Bernadine Greig, chairperson.

Outdoor Report

from the DNR District Office at Gaylord

Fishing pressure on Lake Huron near Alpena was heavy over the weekend with good success on Brown, Chinook, Coho and a few Lake Trout. Largest Brown checked was 20 lbs. and the largest Lake Trout was 21 lbs. Most of the success was in 100 ft. of water. In the Charlevoix-Petoskey area on Lake Michigan fair catches of Chinook and Lake Trout being taken in depths of 80 feet.

Inland lake success generally light because of the prolonged hot dry weather. Some fair bass, northern pike and walleyes taken from scattered locations late evenings and early mornings.

All trout streams are normal and clear with fair catches of Brook Trout taken from the Black River in Otsego, Montmorency and Cheboygan Counties and Brook, Brown and Rainbow from the Sturgeon, Pigeon and other streams. Flies and live bait both producing some very nice catches.

Wild blueberries and raspberries are being picked in good supply at present. Rain is badly needed soon to prolong this crop and to develop the blackberries that are coming on in the next two to three weeks.

Several reports of young grouse broods are being seen by berry pickers as more people move about the woods.

Many projects are presently underway by the MYC crews, such as painting of buildings, stream bed improvement and forestry work. Many of these projects would not be completed without these people.

Seven forest fires the past week burned 27.3 acres. Fire conditions are serious and no permits are being issued until a break in the weather arrives.

CHARLEVOIX AREA HOSPITAL'S fund for cardiac monitoring equipment received a $1,000 donation from the Kappa Sigma Chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, thanks to the success of the July 16 Home Tour.

This was the second year the sorority named Charlevoix Area Hospital as beneficiary of the proceeds from the Home Tour. Over 70 people, about half of whom were sorority members, worked to make the tour successful.

"Many people got infected with our enthusiasm for this project and offered to help," commented organizer Lilly Matye of Charlevoix, noting that the home owners were especially generous in opening their homes to the public.

Five Charlevoix homes were opened for the tour: Peg and Carl Johnson's Lake Charlevoix home; Shirley and Max Wayburn's Boulder Park "Boulder House"; Daisy and Clayton Scott's European style country house; Jeannine Wallace's landmark Earl Young "mushroom house"; and condominiums at the Lake House, owned by Alyce Lesser and Pat and Peter Cook.

Lilly Matye, Suzie Reis and Eileen Heck met with Charlevoix Area Hospital Administrator Richard Krueger to present the check for $1,000 last Thursday. They are shown above, outside the Intensive-Coronary Care Unit, with one of the hospital's "crash carts" the portable monitoring and resuscitation equipment and medications that the hospital keeps in various locations for victims of cardiac or respiratory arrest.

Administrator Kreuger explained how important donations such as the sorority's are, enabling the hospital to maintain the high quality of care given critically ill patients.

"Medical technology is changing quickly. Machines which were considered advanced ten years ago are obsolete today. It would be impossible for any hospital to recover all its expenses and keep up to date with such important equipment if weren't for the generosity and support of our friends," the administrator explained.

The Charlevoix Coast Guard Station's 44-foot lifeboat in action on Lake Michigan.

Coast Guard is local "Cavalry"

by DAVE KNIGHT

If the residents of Northwestern Michigan develop any one trait in common, it is a deep respect for the waters by which they are surrounded.

Lake Michigan, for instance, the vast, temperamental body of blue to the west, can gently toss children in their inner tubes one day and send a 700-foot freighter to the bottom the next.

It was out of this respect that life saving stations were first established in many Great Lakes coastal communities over a century ago. Their mission: not to combat the forces over which they had no control, but to meet them on as even terms as possible to save lives and make boating a safer mode of travel for both pleasure and commercial interests.

In Charlevoix, the first such station appeared around 1883, was federally commissioned in 1900 and became part of the U.S. Coast Guard in 1915. Today, the Coast Guard's Charlevoix rescue station utilizes state-of-the-art equipment, a pair of able vessels and a crack team of trained personnel to maintain a constant vigil over the literally thousands of square miles of navigable water assigned to their protection.

Contrary to what some people think, the station is not directly associated with the Coast Guard Cutter Mesquite which docks at the opposite end of Round Lake. Both are under seperate commands and are administered by different offices at C.G. headquarters.

"While we work closely with other agencies on such activities as law enforcement and boating safety," says Chief John Foster, commanding officer of the station, "Our primary mission is search and rescue."

The Charlevoix station is responsible for responding to distress calls on Lake Michigan waters as far south as Leland, as far north as Good Hart and west to the sea lanes in the middle of the lake including the Beaver archipelago. They are also available for runs on Round Lake and Lake Charlevoix.

As an agency of the U.S. government, the Coast Guard is also responsible for enforcement of federal maritime law on federal waterways.

"Enforcement of state and local boating laws is mainly the job of the Sheriff's Department and Department of Natural Resources but we do work closely with the local authorities to provide assistance whenever needed," said Foster.

After so many years of standing watch over the public's well-being, the local Coast Guard has come to be regarded by many people as "the Cavalry" to be called in any emergency. Sometimes, in fact, people become a bit too dependent on the station.

"We have gotten calls for everything you can think of," says Executive Officer Guy Veillette, "From highway accidents to forest fires to UFOs."

UFOs?

"Yep...We got a call a couple years ago from some people on Grand Traverse Bay reporting a big orange ball over the water," he said, "We sent a boat out and almost launched a helicopter but never found a thing."

Not counting the assistance calls referred to other agencies, the Charlevoix station handles about 100 situations a year in which one of its boats is actually sent out, according to Foster.

The station is manned by a complement of 16 to 20 Coast Guardsmen at all times. Perhaps "manned" is not the appropriate term anymore since two females have been assigned to the station for the first time just last month.

Personnel at the station average about 23-24 years old and are usually rotated to another assignment every three years. Rotation used to be on an 18 month to two-year basis but the Coast Guard has found longer tours of duty to be more cost effective.

Approximately a third of those assigned to the station live right in its berthing area which is similar to college dormitory quarters. All are trained at the Coast Guard's own boot camp and many continue their training in areas of specialization such as marine engine repair, navigation, emergency medical training and communications.

"We are very happy with the personnel we get out of boot camp these days," says Foster, "They are generally better educated and more career-oriented than in past eras."

Charlevoix's first rescue station was originally on the south bank of the Pine River Channel near the pierheads next to where the DNR Great Lakes Fishery Station now is located.

The present Coast Guard facility was built next to the railroad swing bridge on the upper channel between Round Lake and Lake Charlevoix in the early 1960s with crews quarters and storage warehouse.

At the station's disposal are two motor rescue boats, a 22-foot light duty craft and a 44-foot lifeboat to handle most search and rescue missions.

The 44-footer is an obvious source of pride to the personnel assigned to the station. The steady hum of its twin V-53 GM diesels reflects the tender loving care lavished upon them. Built in 1967, the steel-hulled lifeboat is equipped for rescue missions under a variety of adverse conditions.

Included in its belowdecks compartments are emergency medical supplies, cold weather immersion suits, a mini-galley, heavy lines for towing, dewatering equipment such as pumps that can be transferred to vessels taking on water and a rescue basket for hoisting victims into a helicopter.

Fire fighting equipment on the boat include a high-pressure hose for wood fires and a foam system for oil fires. It has enough provisions for extended missions and, according to Foster, has stayed out on searches as long as three days.

The 44-footer is self righting; if capsized in heavy seas, it will come right side up again in 60 seconds. Under such conditions, the crew of four are all tethered to their stations with special belts.

As boating increases, so does Station's "business"

"This boat can handle anything the Great Lakes can dish out," says Petty Officer Dan Stonewall, cox of the 44-footer, "This is the boat the Coast Guard uses at many of their ocean port stations where it has to go out in seas much heavier than on Lake Michigan."

The only conditions that become particularly hazardous, said Foster, are during the winter months when cold temperatures cause icing on the hull. The weight of the ice, he said, can prevent the boat from righting itself if capsized.

"Business" has been brisk for the Charlevoix Coast Guard Station in recent years, said Foster, who has noticed a steady increase in the number of pleasure craft on Northern Michigan waters.

Sailboats in particular have gained in popularity the past few years he said.

"For the most part, people know what they're doing when they buy a new boat. We are not seeing very many inexperienced boaters on the lakes," said Foster, "If there is any one piece of advice I would give to boaters, it would be to use courtesy and respect when they're on the water, just as if they were driving their car on the highway."

Foster stressed that any boat owners not familiar with the federal requirements for recreational boats should obtain the special booklet published by the Coast Guard outlining everything from mechanical requirements to distress signals. The booklet is available at the Coast Guard Station.

To assist boats that have run aground, a line is fired from the rescue boat with this specially designed .30 caliber rifle.

Boating safety course to be offered

City is in good fiscal shape, say auditors

by DAVE KNIGHT

When the budget document for the City of Charlevoix's fiscal year 1982-83 was bound in black, it may have been an accurate portent of what was to come.

An audit recently completed of the budget year ending this past March 31 showed a surprisingly strong fiscal performance by the city in just about every category. The only budget areas that fell somewhat short of expectations were the water and sewer funds.

Concerted efforts by the city toward frugality, coupled with a few good breaks, were major contributors to the financially successful year said City Manager Robert Hunt in summarizing the audit conducted by the Petoskey firm of Hill, Woodcock and Schroderus.

The general fund, which comprises about 25 percent of the city's total budget, turned a profit of $107,000 which was about $100,000 more than was expected. The substantial gain was a result of revenues that came in $56,302 over budget and expenditures that were $61,831 under budget.

State revenoe sharing was one area in which quite a bit more money turned np than was expected. According to City Treasurer Robert Muma, when the '82-'83 city budget was being developed, the state was threatening cut backs in revenue sharing to ease its own fiscal crisis and the city budgeted accordingly. While over $144,000 had been received in state revenue sharing funds in '81-'82, the city budgeted for only $112,782 in '82'83.

Said Hunt, however, "State revenues turned out to be only dismal rather than very dismal" and $12,000 more came in than wss projected.

Smart money management also paid off as the city made $32,668 on interest, about twice the amount projected in the budget. Muma was able to get as much as 21 percent (per annum) interest for one month by investing city funds in a cash management program.

The decreased expenditures, said Hunt, were the result of conservative budgeting in the first place and "even more conservative fiscal control" by department heads.

In the public safety budget slone (police, fire, ambulance), espenditures were almost $40,000 less than budgeted.

Two other major city-supported operations, the major and local street funds, also torned in sound balance sheets for fiscal '82-'83 thanks to, again, the receiving of more state funds than expected, conservative budgeting and the unusually mild winter.

The $81,106 received from the state in gss snd weight taxes in fiscal '82-'83 was almost $25,000 more than had been expected.

Still smarting from the massive snows of the winter of '81-'82, the city budgeted the $85,000 it took to clear that mess for its next year's budget to play it safe. One of the tamest winters in decades followed, however, and saved the city about $51,000 in budgeted expenses.

Overall, revenues for the major and local street funds exceeded estimates by $43,000 and expenditures were $57,000 less than budgeted. These developments enabled the major street fund balance to be increased by $48,000 to $77,000 by the end of the fiscal year; the original budget plan had been to decrease the balance by $24,000. While the local street fund had been budgeted to make a $3,500 profit, it actually ended up $30,000 in the black, erasing a starting deficit of $7,000 and leaving a healthy balance of $23,000 at year's end.

City residents awaiting street paving are advised not to get too excited, however. According to Hunt, "Most, if not all, of the surpluses experienced in the major and local street funds have already been devoted to street paving in connection with the stormsewer project and West Dixon water main project."

Of the city's three enterprise funds – those funds that must generate sufficient profits to support themselves such as in private business – the electric fund was a good performer and the water fund at least managed to turn the corner toward profitability. The sewer fund, however, remains mired in debt and is sinking in further as the new treatment plant contnues to depreciate while remaining underused.

The $2 million budget of the electric fund comprises about half the total city budget; it is by far the largest single fund in the city budget. Its dependence on the currently unstable building industry also makes it one of the hardest for which to budget, says Hunt. In fiscal '82-'83, both revenue and expenditure estimates fell short by hundreds of thousands of dollars but the fund still managed to increase total earnings by $250,000.

Though the substantial net gain in the electric fund marks a dramatic improvement over past years, Hunt is hesitant to interpret it as a trend.

"This fund has a history of rather erratic perfromance," he said; "And it will take at least a couple of years of solid profits back to back to suggest that the electric fund is permanently 'out of the woods'".

In the water fund, expenses were $18,000 below budget because the city did not spend as much as it had expected on the TCE contamination problem, but revenues were down $25,000, possibly caused by water conservation following a 1981 rate increase. So while a net profit of $40,000 was anticipated for the year, the actual net was $28,000. Net liquid assets stood at $23,635 at year's end, none of which was in cash.

More importantly, however, said Hunt, is the fact that the fund's cash situation turned in fiscal '82-'83 from a negative to a positive flow. He expects acceptable balance levels to be reached in two to five years.

If the '82-'83 audit sent up any warning flags, they were in the sewer fund. Revenues for the year fell $81,000 short of projections thus eliminating any possibility of attaining the $103,000 profit hoped for in the budget. Had that profit been realized, it still would have only put a "major dent" in a beginning balance deficit of $137,000.

TURNING OVER THE HELM Thursday for the last time on the Medusa Challenger was Capt. Jack Bradley of Charlevoix, right, who retired last week after 42 years on the Great Lakes, the last 14 of which were spent as master of the 552-foot Challenger. Taking over as skipper is veteran seaman Bud Left of Beaver Island, left, who has served on the Great Lakes almost as long as Bradley, most recently as First Mate on the Challenger.

Bradley began his seafaring career as a deckhand in 1941 and, except for a two-year interruption for a tour of duty with the Navy, has sailed the Great Lakes ever since. He was named master of the Challenger in 1967 when the 81 year old cement carrier began operation for the Medusa Cement Company.

Left had his own command, the C.H. McCullough, Jr., for two years before joining Bradley on the Challenger in 1967.

Brinker to return as Chx. city treasurer

by DAVE KNIGHT

Former Charlevoix City Manager James Brinker will be offered the postion of City Treasurer following action by the City Council Monday night.

Brinker is presently the Harbor Springs city clerk having resigned as Charlevoix city manager in 1981.

The treasurer's position in Charlevoix was vacated last week by Robert Muma who resigned to take a governmental position in Bay County.

According to a memo from City Manager Robert Hunt circulated among council members Monday night, Brinker agreed to accept the job provided he be paid a salary of $24,000 annually which he is now earning in Harbor Springs.

Other conditions included two weeks of vacation, a three percent contribution by the city to the ICMA deferred compensation fund and the city's reimbursement of "reasonable moving expenses".

Brinker has indicated that he plans to relocate in Charlevoix if offered the position. Hunt said that Brinker can be on the job by August 29.

On a motion by Robert Timms, the council voted 5-1 to offer Brinker the position with Clement Olach casting the lone "no" vote.

Brinker held the position of City Manager in Charlevoix from 1979 to 1981. He was previously employed by the City of Charlevoix as a comptroller.

Stormsewer improvements mark city-county cooperation

by DAVE KNIGHT

Cited as an example of how two units of government can work together to benefit the people, Charlevoix's recently completed stormsewer project was officially dedicated last week.

Under the project, a total of 5422 feet, or 1.02 miles, of new storm sewer was constructed beneath Prospect St. down to Round Lake on the north side and beneath State St. from Carpenter to Antrim and down Antrim to Round Lake on the south side. The new storm sewer is designed to prevent accumulation of rainwater during heavy downpours that in the past has resulted in flooded basements for several city residents in the affected areas.

Two presentations were made at the ceremony held near the Antrim St. outfall into Round Lake.

Mayor Kenneth Staley presented County Drain Commissioner Clayton Healey with a plaque expressing gratitude for Healey's assistance in arranging financing for the $414,588 project and City Treasurer Robert Muma handed over the final payment to Dennis Jason representing contractor W.A. Porter.

Said Staley, "Much of what we have been able to do here has been a result of joining with the county on the project."

Drain Commissioner Healey came to the rescue of the city when it was determined that ballot language on a bond issue passed by city voters did not allow the stormsewer project to be built all at once. Exceptionally favorable terms for both construction costs and bonding prompted City Hall to seek construction of the entire project in one single phase rather than the pay-as-you-go plan originally approved.

Normally, the city is out of the juristiction of the county Drain Commission. However, a City Council resolution requesting Healey's assistance paved the way for the cooperative arrangement under which the county bascially contracts the city to sell the bonds and do the construction. When the project is eventually paid off, the county will then officially give ownership of the improvements back to the city.

Healey expressed mutual satisfaction with the outcome saying, "It's been a pleasure to work with the city."

The stormsewer project first got off the ground in Novemner of 1981 when city voters approved a bond issue for the work. Construction eventually got under way in September, 1982, and was completed this past May 31.

Factors contributing to the city's being able to construct the entire project at once instead of piecemeal included the agreement by W.A. Porter employees to make wage concessions in order to submit an attractive bid.

Muma also credited the Charlevoix County State Bank and the First State Bank of Charlevoix for their "community spirit" in coming in with substantially lower percentages than downstate banks on the bond sale.

1898 tour guide led travelers to Charlevoix

by PEG OHLE

Charlevoix has been a vacation city for over 100 years, so there should be no surprise in finding its virtues extolled in a traveler's handbook published in 1898.

What is surprising is the detail in which J. G. Inglis, the author of "Northern Michigan Handbook for Travelers", tells about the entire area.

He describes traveling from Traverse City to Charlevoix by both rail and carriage; he gives a capsule history of the City of Charlevoix (including the Mormon period); he describes steamer trips on Pine Lake (now Lake Charlevoix – ed.) to both Boyne City and East Jordan; he takes his readers on a carriage trip to East Jordan via Ironton; he tells about a trip to Beaver Island ("Mail steamer leaves Charlevoix on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday of each week, fare for the round trip $2.00"; but, most of all, he suggests a walking tour of the City of Charlevoix which could almost be taken today.

For the visitor to Charlevoix in 1898, this is what J. G. Inglis recommended:

"Perhaps the most convenient (place to start) will be the swinging bridge which crosses the river just at the entrance to Round Lake and close to the steamer docks. From this bridge, one gets a good view of the main business street of the town. Our first stroll will take us through this street to the foot of a hill – about three blocks – where, turning to the left we follow the fine avenue to the Kalamazoo resort and Bellvedere hotel.

"Pretty cottages adorn the beautiful terraces upon the right, while on the left the lake glows in a deep and beautiful blue. Across upon the other shore are seen the handsome cottages of the Chicago resort. Beyond, the lake rounds to a narrow stream, across which is thrown the large iron railroad swinging bridge. (It's not used any more – ed.).

"Following the avenue to its end – about five minutes walk – we reach the attractive Bellvedere hotel (It was torn down years ago – ed.) surrounded with cottages, and beyond, across the railroad track, the wide and fine expanse of Pine Lake lies before us.

"Pine Lake is a large sheet of water divided, at the southern extremity, into two arms – South Arm, leading to East Jordan, 12 miles; and Pine Lake proper, ending in Boyne City about 15 miles from Charlevoix. Turning to the right, the cottages extend back of the hotel for a considerable distance, and immediately across the street is the little suburban depot of the Chicago & West Michigan R. R. known as Bellvedere (also gone – ed.).

"From this point the railroad bridge may be crossed by those in haste – crossing unpleasant and dangerous – to the Charlevoix Inn (also gone – ed.) and depot (now headquarters of the Charlevoix Yacht Club – ed.) proper which lie iummediately across the river. A row boat may sometimes be secured as ferry." (It would be hard to find in 1983 – ed.).

"Most visitors will however, prefer to retrace the journey through the village, and returning to the bridge, climb the little hill that lies beyond, and passing through a pretty residence portion of Charlevoix, make the first turn to the right. Follow this street for five minutes walk when the beautiful new Charlevoix Inn, which graces the shores of Pine Lake, appears to the right. The Inn is 450 feet long, built on graceful lines, situated in a beautiful park with fine approach from the depot. Beyond the depot the pretty railroad park stretches to the water's edge. Immediately across the track is located a natatorium, complete and elegant in all its appointments. The Charlevoix Inn, completed in 1898, is one of the most elegant and beautiful of the hotels of American summer resorts and should certainly be inspected by the tourist."

"Just before reaching the hotel, a large greenhouse is passed (not there now – ed.); turning at this point to the left – north – a footpath – five minutes walk – leads to the conspicuous Mount McSauba upon which an observatory tower has been built. (The footpath and the tower are gone but Mount McSauba is still there – ed.). From this commanding eminence a view of surpassing beauty may be enjoyed. The itinerary will be completed by descending from this point to the shore of Lake Michigan, and following that shore through charming groves and beach back to the river, thence past the Fountain House to the swinging bridge, our point of beginning." (Houses and condominiums replaced the groves. The Weathervane Terrace Inn replaced the Fountain House – ed.).

For those seeking lodging in Charlevoix, the traveler's guide lists five hotels – The Inn (400 rooms, $3.00 to $5.00 a night); Chicago Resort (100 rooms, $2.50 a night); Belvedere (spelled correctly, 100 rooms, but no price); Pountain City (75 rooms, $2.00 a night); and the Bartlett (75 rooms, $1.50 to $2.50 a night).

The guide also lists 14 persons who had cottages for rent; prices available upon application. They were:

Memories of Camp Charlevoix are relived at reunion

This totem pole was a landmark at Camp Charlevoix. It was made from a white pine tree and carved with figures representing camp activities, including a horse's head, canoe paddle, baseball bat, football, two tennis balls, Indian head, two-masted sailboat, fish, anchor, bow and arrow, topped by the Torch of Truth.

by PEG OHLE

Many stories were told this past weekend about the "good old days at Camp Charlevoix".

A reunion of former campers and counselors at the well-known boys' camp on Lake Charlevoix brought men and women from all over the country for a three-day time of remembering.

Guests of honor at the reunion were Ken and Ruby Smith, now of Tyron, North Carolina, who were the second owners and operators of Camp Charlevoix, from 1948 to 1971.

Ken had already spent several years at the camp as a counselor when he entered military service in World War II. Upon returning, he began to work full-time for Camp Charlevoix as associate director and program director as well as being in charge of promotion during the year, preparing himself for eventual ownership.

Ken fondly recalls the slogan of Camp Charlevoix which appeared on a sign near the camp on the Boyne City Road: "The Character Camp for Boys". This phrase was not only a slogan for the camp, he explained, "It was the basis for the camp being."

Carefully selected camp employees (55 for 150 campers) used their skills in guiding the young men, aged seven to 16, through the problems of growing up and laying a foundation of good character. Sports were an important part of the process, and they were offered in abundance at Camp Charlevoix: tennis, archery, fishing, canoeing, sailing, water-skiing, baseball, horseback riding, and whatever else there was room for.

Tales of these activities, along with "Green and Gray Competition", were told again and again over the weekend.

The reunion program was as diversified as activities at Camp Charlevoix had been. There was a picnic at Ferry Avenue Beach along with Green and Gray Competition in games for all ages; a luncheon cruise on the Star of Charlevoix, a reception and banquet at Stafford's Bay View Inn honoring Ken and Ruby Smith, and a chapel service on the shores of Lake Charlevoix.

This was the first Camp Charlevoix reunion since the camp closed in 1971, but, according to local alumni, it won't be the last. Two of these alumni were very busy helping make things go right last weekend: Peter "Rusty" Smith of Charlevoix, Ken and Ruby's son, and Stafford Smith of Petoskey and the Bay View Inn.

Peter is the Smith's only son. Their daughter, Julia (Mrs. James) Thistlewaite, has two boys and lives in suburban Detroit with them and her husband.

As might be expected, Ken and Ruby are keeping busy in their retirement years with volunteer community and church work. "We're as busy as ever", Ruby confided.

Charlevoix oldtimers will recall that the first location of Camp Charlevoix was near Ironton. After three years, it was moved across the lake near Oyster Bay to "170 acres of pine and fir woods and open fields, with three-fourths of a mile of lake front and a beautiful beach". The latter description is from a booklet written by Lewis C. Reimann, who founded Camp Charlevoix and operated it until Ken Smith took over in 1948.

'Sky-pieces' to give new dimension to Art Fair

There will be a new dimension - height - to the Charlevoix Waterfront Art Fair when it opens next Saturday morning.

The height will be provided by two colorful "sky pieces". One skypiece called the "Hemi-Flora", is an inflatable image with seven 40 ft. to 90 ft. helium filled tenacles which move in the sky responding to electronic sound while tethered to the ground. The other sky piece is made up of two skyscreens, one of which is a multiple colored 50 ft. by 40 ft. screen sculpted by air currents and six artists working from the ground. The other skyscreen is a "self screen" of silhouettes of participants from the crowd.

The sky pieces are the work of Lou Rizzolo, professor of art at Western Michigan University and were part of the exhibit at the Grand Rapids Arts Festival in June.

Sky pieces are not as easy to display as other works of art, the Art Fair Committee has found out. They had to locate two barges and found John McGoff and Dave Irish willing lenders. They needed helium, so Medair Equipment and Supply agreed to defray some of its cost. Production called for a gasoline generator; Bob Koontz was glad to cooperate. The next need was for two quartz lights; Ed Whitley and the City Electrical Department came to the rescue. Finally, the call went out for an outboard motor boat; Ward Brothers answered.

Lou Rizzolo is no stranger to northern Michigan. He taught art at Petoskey High School from 1966 to 1964. He also taught art history and watercolor painting at North Central Michigan College.

Assisting Rizzolo with the sky art exhibition are Jerry Catania, art director at Lake Michigan College in Benton Harbor; Ken Zelmis, photographer and journalism teacher at Plainwell High School in Kalamazoo; Tom Webster, vice president of the Energy Marketing Group in Petoskey; and Marc Rizzolo and Greg Sikkenga, Plainwell High School seniors.

To apply for the positions, those interested should contact Ron Knapp at the Michigan Employment Security Commission office in Petoskey, 347-5150.

Knight on the Town

This week's hot story

by Dave Knight

Figure that on any given day in late July or early August, there could be from 5,000 to 10,000 people roaming the streets of downtown Charlevois.

Housewives, account executives, window washers, lawyers, secretaries, plumbers...you name it. Every occupation under the sun.

Now, say you pulled your car into a parking stall amid this passing parade and smoke started to roll out from under the hood.

Say you then opened up the hood only to have flames shoot out from the engine compartment.

Of all the thousands of people milling around Charlevois, whom in particular would you most like to happen to mill around your burning car at that moment?

This situation actually faced a woman one day last week whose car was parked on Park Ave. just off Bridge St. When the smoke was detected coming out from under the hood, it first appeared to be a case of overheated radiator.

But sure enough, when the hood was opened, the flames leapt out and a serious fire was definitely on its way to ruining somebody's day, if not their car, too.

Passers by tried everything at hand to deal with the rapidly deteriorating situation including dipping shopping bags in street puddles to futilely attempt to smother the fire. The tearful woman could only look on helplessly as the smoke billowed from her car.

Of all the aforementioned teeming masses of people wandering around, would not it be miraculous to have a fireman just happen to come along at that moment?

In fact, as long as we're talking miracles, why not go one better and order a fire chief.

What the heck...let's go all the way.

Wouldn't it be positively perfect, at the moment said car burst into flames, to have a fire chief with a loaded fire extinguisher happen to come along?

Odds too prohibitive, you say?

Then you have not been around Charlevoix long enough to know how things work here.

Indeed, just as the car fire on Park Ave. last week was about to get down to the business of doing some serious damage, it was John Martin himself, Chief of the Charlevois Fire Department, who did happen to be driving past at that very moment and who did happen to have a loaded fire estinguisher in the trunk of his car and who did calmly settle the issue with a single "Pffffft."

Said Martin later, "In Charlevois, we take care of our own."

Pretty timely care, too, I'd say.

One important chapter must be added to the Dorothy Dusts Off a Thief story told here two weeks ago.

As you will recall, Mrs. Dorothy Kingsley, 66, armed with her dust rag, collared a suspected thief who had led a group of concerned citizens on a merry chase through the downtown business district.

The man had allegedly stolen a money bag from Central Drug Store which is owned by Mrs. Kingsley's daughter and son-in-law, John and Lani Ochs. What we never mentioned in telling the story was what happened to the money bag.

While the suspect was being pursued down the alley behind Bridge St., one of the people who saw him was Ed Sarasin, a city employee who had recently been cutting some high weeds in the vicinity. Sarasin saw the pursuee temporarily elude the pursuers where the alley jogs west but set the chase back on track by pointing to where the suspect went.

Later, Sarasin was the one to find the Central Drug money bag in the weeds off the alley where he though he had seen the suspect ditch something during the chase.

There was a substantial amount of cash inside the bag but Sarasin did not hesitate to return it immediately to the Ochs who were grateful enough for his honesty to present him with a finder's fee.

Letters: Home tour thank-you

To the Editor:

Our second annual Charlevoix Home Tour to benefit the Charlevoix Area Hospital was a big success, thanks to many, many Charlevoix area people who helped in promoting and conducting the Tour.

Several business people and others paid for the advertising promoting the Tour: Mr. and Mrs. Dennis McLelland, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Kluczynski, Mr. and Mrs. James Mabee, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wellman, Mr. and Mrs. William Haggard, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Blissett, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Gibbons, Mr. and Mrs. John Michael, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gregory, Mr. and Mrs. Tim Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Georgi, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brachel, Mr. and Mrs. Walt Hufford, Wojan Aluminum Products, and Jerry Left of Great Lakes Fish and Chips. We thank them all.

Flowers were an important part of the Home Tour. They were furnished by Mr. and Mrs. David Fowler, Roger Peacock of Espressions Unlimited, and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Louiselle. Thank you.

Then, there were many people whose help comes under the heading of "Miscellaneous": Terry Salmonson of Aartvark Studios for photographic help; Trever Wood, for his etchings; Site Planning Development, for whom Trevor Wood works; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bolt, for the advertising poster; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Casciani of Quickie Print; the Charlevoix Courier, Petoskey New-Review, and Charlevoix County Press for news coverage; Tim Malter of Tim's Natural Foods, for his contribution of refreshments; Mr. and Mrs. Ron Agnello and Ms. Nancy Burnside, who advertised on the tickets; Ms. Suzi Reis, who procured the homes for the Tour and served as our advisor and consultant; Mrs. Julius Gilbert, our sorority sponsor; the Charlevoix and Petoskey Chambers of Commerce, the Tim Soldier in Harbor Springs, the Shop of the Gulls and the Apple Tree in Charlevoix, for handling ticket sales.

Clockwise

CCC remembered

by Bob Clock

IF YOU WERE a member of the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) during the dark days of the Depression, you might be interested in picking up a copy of a new book, We Can Do It!, which is just off the press.

Even if you weren't a member of the CCC, there's a good chance you may find the book of more than passing interest, because it chronicles an era of American history that parallels — almost too painfully — our present economic doldrums.

Written by Charles A. Symon of Gladstone, the book traces the history of the CCC from its inception March 9, 1933, five days after President Franklin Roosevelt took office, through its abandonment in 1942 when the nation needed all the manpower it could lay its hands on to defeat the Axis.

"Michigan had about 117 CCC camps, over the two peninsulas," Symon writes in a letter accompanying a review copy of the book, "and 94,000 "boys" 18-25 (later 17-28) were enrolled, mostly from families on welfare. Their pay: $30 a month, of which $25 (later $22) was deducted and sent home to their parents. They worked at fighting forest fires, preventing fires, planting trees, stream and lake cleanup and erosion control.

"They built roads and bridges, developed state and federal parks and camp sites. They came in all colors — black, white and red — and in all ages. In time, special camps were set up for World War I and Spanish-American war veterans. Education, religion, discipline and recreation were all a part of their lives. They served six-month enlistment periods and were originally allowed two. They came, primarily, from Michigan cities and farms but many other states were represented."

Symon draws his text both from official CCC records and the recollections of former CCC members, most of whom today are on the threshold of senior citizenship.

I was a little surprised to learn that Gen. Douglas MacArthur was instrumental in setting up the CCC. Symon quotes from William Manchester's book, American Caesar:

"MacArthur's greatest contribution to the New Deal was inplementing the Civiliam Conservation Corps ... which put unemployed young men to work in American forests. In less than two months he enrolled 275,000 CCC recruits, put them through a two-week training course, and shipped them to U.S. Forest Service camps in forty-seven states. He had reservations about the program — CCC boys were paid $30 a month, compared with the $18 for Army privates, and when he suggested that they we used as the nucleus of an enlisted reserve, John Dewey and Reinhold Niebuhr led a pacifist protest that torpedoed his plan — but his organizational talents made the program one of FDR's greatest successes."

WAS THE CCC a success? Probably so. Many of the forests we enjoy and profit from in Michigan today were planted by members of the CCC. But probably more important was what the CCC did for its members.

The average enrollee entered at 18 and one-half years weighing between 130 and 140 pounds. He emerged nine months later (the average enlistment) weighing betweenn 142 and 160 pounds — a tribute to the prowess of camp cooks. He also was one-half inch taller.

"We had pie every day," recalls Harland McGeorge of Boyne City about his days at Otsego Lake State Park near Gaylord. McGeorge is one of the many contributors to the book.

In addition to gaining weight and adding inches, some 110,000 enrollees crossed the line between literacy and illiteracy during their enlistments and many acquired skills demanded in the private sector.

A success? It's a pity all government programs don't work so well.

Softcover copies of the book cost $9; hardcover, $10.25, postpaid. They may be purchased from Charles Symon, 197 Louedo Ave., Gladstone, Mich. 49837.

Letters: Musicians of yesteryear named

Dear Mr. Knight,

We enjoy your "Charlevois Yesterday" feature very much and always watch for identification of subjects of the pictures which seems to come unfailingly from some reader or other, but last April you ran a picture which to my knowledge has not yet been commented on.

In your issue of April 27, you ran a picture of a marching band of very small students in front of what is now the Middle School, but not one person has volunteered to identify it. I remember that band very well and it must have been about 1928 ("early part of the century" indeed!) and the drum major is Bob Wexstaff - I don't recognize any of the others. The pretty blonde teacher who organized this band was Rocena Wilson - I am not sure of the spelling - and she taught either first or second grade. Surely someone who still lives in town must know who some of these little musicians are - they seem all to have percussion or rhythm instruments and I recall nothing about their performances except that the capes and hats were blue with red bands - weren't they, gang?

I haven't stopped laughing yet over your story of Dorothy Kingsley catching the robber with her dustrag, and I certainly hope somebody thought to send that item to the big city papers downstate. It's been a hot summer down there and they need all the laughs they can get. I only wish someone could have caught that chase on film - it deserves to be preserved for posterity.

Thanks, too, for that lovely descriptive phrase, "generic dog" for those who, like ours, draw their ancestry from many noble canine lines and are just too nice to be called "mutts".
Anne Iligman Olmstead

To the Editor:

A correction to Mr. Olson's interpretation of my public letter of July 13.

The first question on where are loop holes and half truths found in the Bible. There was no such reference to the Bible but rather to the interpreters choosing their own political philosophy and then trying to nail it down by using the Bible.

Second question - why do I believe in socialism? This is like talking to a man who has been asleep for 100 years and doesn't have any knowledge of present political economic values. Today's values and living standards involve government on all levels. Just to name a few public services: subsidizing farm products; employment insurance; guaranteed tax exemption loans to organized for profit corporations; investment owned public utilities that claim they are entitled to a profit on inflated investments; social security; food stamps. Are you getting your fair share of socialized capitalism?

The third question is not related to the letter but has to do with Russian slave camps. Since all communists are required to work, they automatically become political enemies of the state according to your theory.

The fourth question has to do with an ideal state you call utopia which has never existed under any conditions therefore is only an idiolic minded attitude.

The next question has to do with Jerusalem which is a place of religious factions and no reference was made to Israel therefore no apology.

The question of ownership rights involves the use of property to extract a profit in the exchange of values by the power of ownership regardless of conditions this can create.

Budget...

Coupled with $5,000 less espenses than budgeted, the net income of the sewer fund turned out to be $27,000. That, said Hunt, would have been "bearable", but depreciation charges of $34,000 on the treatment plant cancelled any gain and resulted in a $7,500 loss.

Citing the a negative balance in the sewer fund of $145,000 as of March 31, Hunt has suggested to City Council that some form of rate increase will be neccessary, especially in light of the fact that at least two potential indostrial customers that had expressed interest in joining the system appear to have postponed their plans.

Another area of concern in both the water and sewer funds is the City Charter requirement that each utility fund maintain a $75,000 emergency reserve. While Hunt sees this as attainable within five years for the water fund, he warns that without a rate increase, the sewer fund will never accumulate the required reserve.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Smith of Smith's Little Acre, Charlevoix, and Mr. and Mrs. James Wright of Lansing.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a full-length Edwardian style gown of white chiffon and lace over satin. A halo of beaded leaves and baby's breath secured an elbow-length veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of baby white orchids, pink and white sweetheart roses, and baby's breath.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. Alan Froggatt of the Community Church of Calumet, and the Rev. David W. Yingling of the United Methodist Church in Charlevoix.

Their Edwardian-style gowns were of chiffon over satin in pink and light blue, respectively. They wore halo headpieces of beaded leaves and baby's breath. Their colonial bouquets were similar to the bride's.

Steve Prekosovick of Edina, Minnesota was the best man. Groomsman was James Wright II, brother the the bridegroom, of Lansing. Ushers were Henry Bazeman of Flint and Stephen LaJoice of East Jordan.

A buffet reception at the Charlevoix Yacht Club was hosted by the bride's parents. The bridegroom hosted the rehearsal dinner at Nanny's Old Place on July 29.

The couple will take a delayed wedding trip in the fall. At the present they are residing in Flint.

The bride, a graduate of Michigan State University, has been a teacher at Calumet High School for the past seven years. The bridegroom is a graduate of Michigan Technological University at Houghton, and is a methods analyst at the Buick transmission complex in Flint.

Lead in City League still changing hands

The Charlevoix Men's Slow Pitch League goes into its final week of play with standings in the league still up for grabs.

In action Monday, Carlson's downed Townhouse 1 10-3; The Landing dumped Erber-McKeown 9-1 and Wojan Aluminum edged Townhouse 11 9-8 on Monday.

In make-up games on Friday, Swanson's K&D handed Townhouse 1 their second defeat of the week by a socre of 4-1;. Wojan's defeated Charlevoix Garbage 17-2 and Erber-McKeown won over Air Force 12-6.

Ray LaVoie allowed 13 hits and Ed Holm, the losing pitcher, 12 hits in the Carlson win over Townhouse 1. Scott Morgan posted a homer for the victors while Joe Jones hit one for Townhouse I.

Mike Mapes pitched The Landing to an easy 9-1 victory over Erber-McKeown, allowing 10 hits to 17 for Ike Boss.

A home run by Ed Pierce gave Wojan's an assist in the team's win over Townhouse 11 whose pitcher, Bill Trubilowicz, allowed 13 hits. Ralph Doan, the winning pitcher, gave up 15 hits.

Dave Storm and Tim Carey's home runs accounted for two of Swanson's 11 hits off Ed Holm in their win over Townhouse I. Bob Holtzman, the winning pitcher, gave up 10.

Wojan's capitalized on 17 of the 22 hits Bob Smith gave up to trounce Charlevoix Garbage 17-2. The losers collected seven hits from Ralph Doan.

Ike Boss posted one of Erber-McKeown's few wins, a 12-6 win over Air Force, as his team took advantage of the 12 hits given up by Dana Smith. Boss allowed 11.

An Air Force runner slides into a tag at third in softball action earlier this season.

The clinic was held during the week of August 1-5. Soccer players worked on team skills and strategy for four hours each day. "In soccer," Wilkinson explained, "there's a winning team, not a winning player. The game is won from the defense up." Wilkinson, who is a teacher as well as a soccer coach in Sault Ste. Marine, Ontario, has been sponsored by the Youth Activities Program.

Program Director, Mike Davis, reports that teams are presently being formed for the season and that coaches are needed. Anyone interested in a coaching position should contact Mike at 547-4471.

Flight Deck records 19th win; takes Township League crown

Flight Deck wrapped up its 19th win and the title in the Charlevoix Township Slow Pitch League with a 19-3 win over Juilleret's while Dairy Queen held on to second place with a 16-2 victory over Control Engineering on Tuesday.

On Thursday, Control Engineering snapped back with a 9-7 win over the A-Team while Juilleret's returned to defeat Boyne Machine 10-3.

In the Flight Deck victory, seven of the team's 19 runs were scored in the sixth inning. George Melke had four and Bruce Meliva accounted for three hits. Juilleret's was scoreless until the fifth inning when they scored all three. Dave Farnsworth gave up nine hits. Scott Taylor allowed 19.

In its game, Dairy Queen got off to a great start with a six run first inning behind the pitching of Bill Joy who gave up six hits. Kevin Morrison paced the hitting with four; Cris Havens, Gary Moore and Doug Frye had three each. Dave Melke allowed 23 hits.

In their 9-7 victory over the A-Team, Juilleret's pulled the victory out of the loss column with two runs in the top of the seventh. Dave Melke allowed 14 hits; Jim Browe 12.

George Melke Sr. had three hits for the winners. Gary Janz, Jim Lamp, Del Kelly, Joe Battle and Browe had two hits each for the A-Team.

Juilleret's scored five runs in the first inning and four in the second as they posted an easy 10-3 win over Boyne Machine behind the pitching of Scott Taylor who allowed nine hits. Greg Revoir gave up 12. Ron Hoxie and Dean Drier had three hits each for the victors. Darcy Phelps, Revoir and Bill Herriman had two each for Boyne Machine.

This league concluded its season in a make up game Monday. However, the league will sponsor a Labor Day weekend tournament.

Upsets mark Womens League tournament play

In the Charlevoix Women's Slow Pitch League tournament that has been highlighted by upsets, Townhouse will meet Kwikie Duplicating at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday and Medusa will take on the winner of the first game in the tournament finals at 7:45 p.m.

The upset came Thursday night when Townhouse, which had won the league title in regular season play, was defeated by Medusa by a score of 9-5 and sent Townhouse to the loser's bracket. In the second game Kwikie Duplicating dumped Radio Shack 13-5 for a chance to meet Townhouse Tuesday.

Earlier in the week, Radio Shack had eliminated Michigan National Bank 9-7 and Kwikie Duplicating had defeated Paul Bunyan Lanes 7-1.

In the Medusa-Townhouse game Thursday night, Medusa scored five runs in the top of the seventh inning to break a 5-5 tie and post the victory. Natalie Johnstone, the winning pitcher, allowed nine hits. Sue Barta gave up 17. Audrey Nelson had a home run for Townhouse.

Lisa Hilton pitched Kwikie Duplicating to an easy win over Radio Shack, allowing only eight hits. Jean McDonough gave up 13.

On Tuesday, Meda Kehrer allowed 18 hits and Jean McDonough only 13 as Radio Shack posted a win and a chance to advance in the winner's bracket.

Missy Sandahl had a homer as Kwikie Duplicating rolled over Paul Bunyan Lanes. Lisa Hilton gave up six hits. Faye Alger allowed 12.

Petunia Auction exceeds goal

When the final accounting was completed Monday, it turned out that Saturday's Petunia Auction was a financial success. The auction to raise funds for the petunias along U.S. 31 through Charlevoix exceeded its goal of $7,000 (last year's total) by $500. A sizeable crowd, above, turned out for the auction as Bruce MacArthur, right, president of the sponsoring organization Keep Charlevoix Beautiful, Inc. spotted bidders for the auctioneer, left, and Hugh Mason and Vel Kammerman recorded the sales, below right. The most generous bidder for the day was Paul Olsen who bid a total of $2,540 for items including a 1952 Ford and a catered yacht trip to Mackinac Island. Pat McKeown won the weekend on Mackinac Island for a $100 bid and gifted it to Paul and Katie Burlew who helped coordinate the auction. Cash donations are still being accepted, especially to help pay for the application next year of a pre-emergent herbicide to cut down on weeds.

The Charlevoix High School class of 1973 recently held its 10th reunion at the American Legion Hall. Of the 119 members, 45 attended. Pictured are:

Second row: Sue (Luedke) Gengle, Murphy (Wallace) Watts, Catherine (Begrow) Barnard, Sally Keie.

Third row: Katherine (Drewa) Marsh, Robin (Ferguson) Johnson, Lynn Eby, Dawn McKenzie, Elaine (Carr) Rydze, Elaine (Dhaseleer) Scharenbrock.

For Saints and Sinners

by Rev. Walter G. Hastings Community Church of God

All of us have admired the art masterpiece known as "The Praying Hands". Here's the fascinating story behind that masterful work of art.

In the late fifteenth century two struggling young art students, Albrecht Durer and Franz Knigstein, worked as laborers to earn money to continue their art studies. The work was long and hard; it left them little time to study art.

Finally they agreed to draw lots and let the loser support them both while the winner continued to study. Albrecht won. If and when he attained success, Albrecht agreed to then support Franz so that he too could finish his studies.

After Albrecht achieved success, he returned to keep his bargain with Franz. He soon discovered the enormous sacrifice his friend had made for him. As Franz had worked at hard labor, his fingers had become twisted and stiff. His long, slender fingers and sensitive hands had been ruined for life. He could no longer manage the delicate brush strokes so necessary to execute fine paintings. In spite of the price he had paid, Franz was not bitter. He was happy that his friend Albrecht had attained success.

One day Albrecht saw his loyal friend kneeling, his rough and gnarled hands entwined in silent prayer. Albrecht sketched his friend's hands. From this sketch he later completed a truly great masterpiece. He gave it the simple but moving title, "The Praying Hands".

Look for that person God may send across your path to whom you can be a true friend this week!

Lake conference to be held

Tip of the Mitt Watershed Council will be sponsoring their second annual Inland Lakes Conference on Saturday, August 13, in the Inland Lakes High School in Indian River. The Conference focuses on water quality in the northern three county region.

This year's keynote address will look at laws that protect water quality and how the public fits into the picture. The speaker will be Dr. L. Leighty, expert in water law, Michigan State University professor, attorney and extension service specialist. In another presentation Dr. Leighty will be discussing the "Michigan Farmer's Right to Water Bill." This pending legislation would "assure farmers of this state a continuous, adequate water supply in order to maintain a strong viable agricultural industry in this state." This proposed law is in direct conflict with the Riparian Water Rights Doctrine, which gives waterfront property owners priority and the right to use water for boating, swimming, drinking and household purposes.

Groundwater contamination is another topic scheduled for the conference. Michigan Department of Natural Resources staff will be discussing how contamination occurs, how to clean it up and how to prevent the problem in the future. "I consider this quite a timely topic," states Watershed Council Director Carol Magee, "because of the problems in Charlevoix and Petoskey's municipal water supplies and the Littlefield Township dump situation." A plume of contaminated groundwater which contains around 10 cancer causing substances is headed for the Crooked River and the Inland Water Route.

Films of wildlife and the wonder and beauty of lakes will be shown continuously through the conference to provide additional options and to entertain the younger folks. The films include: Life of a Wood Duck, Freswater World, Way of a Trout, The Season, Rise and Fall of the Great Lake.

Marine Safety will be discussed by the Cheboygan County Sheriff Marine Patrol. Several programs are directed to cottage owners; "Detecting Pollution in Your Lake," "Tips for Cottage Owners", and "Strengthening Lake Associations." Wetlands protection will also be covered at the conference.

The Watershed Council is a non-profit organization which is concerned with protecting water quality and promoting wise use of the water resources. "Most of us came to this region to enjoy the beautiful clean lakes," stated Dick Rhodehamel, Council Board member, "and we're trying to get people interested in working to keep them that way." Dick Rhodehamel represents United Burt Lake Association. Burt Lake is helping host the conference. The conference is open to the public. The cost is $6 and includes registration and lunch. For more information please call the Watershed Council office at 347-1181.

Garden Club prepares for flower show

by FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Area Garden Club will host its first Flower Show at the Community Reformed Church Tuesday, Aug. 16, Mrs. Homer Brady, general chairperson, has announced.

The theme of the show, which has been in the planning stages for the past year, is "Beauty Surrounds Us" according to club president, Mrs. J.O. Crawford. To illustrate this, all types of flowers grown in this area, annuals, perennials, wild flowers and even weeds and evergreens will be utilized. These will be combined with horticulture exhibits that will include garden vegetables and fruits. In addition, there will be an educational exhibit.

Judging of the show will begin at 10 a.m. by four judges including two Master Judges, and two others who are working toward advancement as Master Judges under the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan.

The Flower Show will be open to the public from 1 until 8 p.m. on Aug. 16.

The Flower Show exhibits will portray the results of a year-long series of workshops taught by a member of the club, Anna Belle Webb, a Michigan Federation Life Judge who qualified as a judge while living in Birmingham prior to coming to Charlevoix to make her home.

The entire show is being presented under standards and guidelines established by the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan of which the Charlevoix Area Garden Club is a member.

To give the show a greater dimension and to create interest, an exhibit of handmade quilts, including the club's own quilt done in a bird motif and an exhibit of colored prints taken at the Grass Bay Conservancy on Lake Huron in Cheboygan County by the Charlevoix Camera Club. The Grass Bay Conservancy property has been purchased by the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan.

As mentioned, the show is being presented under guidelines and standards set by the state organization. Under these, exhibitors may enter as many classes as desired but are limited to one entry in each class; must have grown all horticulture exhibits; must have been in possession of the item exhibited a minimum of two months and potted plants a minimum of three months.

The show will be divided into three catagories, artistic design, horticulture and educational. The former will be exhibited in niches made especially for the show to give it a professional setting.

Phyllis Block and Keith Morris chair the artistic design division which will include all cut flowers presented in an array of containers and settings. Other arrangements of wild flowers, weeds, door hangings or swags, conifer branches; arrangements for outdoor living including picnic or patio settings and dried flowers. All these will be among the exhibits found under the heading of Father Charlevoix Waters, Wayside Gardens, Woodland Wonders and Outdoor Living.

There will also be indoor table settings using flowers: Inspiration in the Japanese manner portraying Adventures in Space and Oriental Simplicity. Miniatures also fall under this catagory.

These exhibits will bring out the principles of design including balance, stability, proportion, rhythm and color harmony.

The horticulture division is chaired by Marge Dinwiddie and Lucy Witthoeft. This will include flower specimen blooms in green containers and garden vegetables on special containers.

This group will include annuals, perennials such as roses, hemerocallis, chrysanthemums and others; color combinations or free design; container plants such as hanging plants, indoor and outdoor planters, dish gardens or terrariums, indoor plants such as succulents or cacti, ferns, African violets, unusual potted plants, bulbs, corms, fibers and others and Garden Bounty, vegetables from the exhibitor's garden.

Points to consider in this division are color, form, foilage, stem, unusual distinction and condition.

The Educational division is headed by Mrs. Webb. This will include horticulture information, evergreen branches and cones, lists and pictures of edible plants, information on poisonous plants and herbs and their uses.

Mrs. Anna Belle Webb and Mrs. Homer Brady, shown above in Mrs. Webb's garden, make plans for the upcoming flower show.

A second section under this is Bird Awareness and Conservation which includes planting for birds, bird houses, feeders and nests chaired by Edith Close.

Others are Conservation and invitational exhibits which includes orchids and other exotic plants.

The quilt exhibit is headed by Nancy Fowler and Lucille Rower. Included in this catagory is the club's own quilt which features appliques of birds indiginous to this area. It will be given away on Aug. 16. The exhibit of handmade quilts is headed by the "quilt lady", Mrs. William Jolliffe. Other members of the original group are Mrs. Merle Plagge, Mrs. Don Smith, and Mrs. Robert Currey where the group, which now boasts 20 members, meets twice monthly.

Bonnie Staffel is in charge of the Camera Club exhibit. This will include colored pictures of the multitude of wild flowers found at the Grass Bay Preserve. The pictures were taken by Dr. Hobert Martin, Dr. Merle Plagge, Mrs. Staffel, Don Seelye, Louis and Grover Everts, Lynn Carson and Bruce Lanphar.

It was pointed out that the show, in its entirety is a group effort with every member serving on at least one committee, others on more than one that attracted their interest.

Following are the various committees who have worked together to present Charlevoix's first Flower Show from 1 until 8 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 16, at the Community Reformed Church:

Kate Brady, general chairperson is being assisted by the following committees who serve as a support group:

Mrs. Marvin Bayers of 110 West Dixon, adjoining property owner of the project, spoke regarding the proposed site plan for the Weathervane Terrace. She voiced her opposition of the project and requested that Council deny the zoning change and let it remain at R 4.

Mildred Campbell of 115 Pine River Lane, mentioned she did not receive notification of the Planning Commission meeting. She voiced her objection of the second addition because of the noise and garbage accumulation that has acquired since the first addition has been erected.

Bob Silver, member of Board of Directors, of La Croft Condominium Association, voiced objections on behalf of the 64 home owners of LaCroft. Rev. Philip Schairbaum is new pastor of First Congregational Church

by PEG OHLE

The Rev. Philip G. Schairbaum is the new pastor of the First Congregational Church of Charlevoix. This week, the Courier talks with him about his ministerial work, and about himself and his family.

COURIER: What church did you leave to come to Charlevoix?

SCHAIRBAUM: I was minister for education at the Plymouth Congregational United Church of Christ Church in Fort Wayne, Indiana. I went there in 1976.

COURIER: Where were you before that?

SCHAIRBAUM: Let's see. I received a bachelor of science degree from Miami University in Oxford, Ohio in 1968; then I taught junior high vocal and instrumental music in the Cincinnati Public Schools until 1971; then I went back to school and received a master of divinity degree from United Theological Seminary of Twin City, New Brighton, Minnesota in 1974. At the same time, I served as associate minister of the Linden Hill Congregational United Church of Christ in Minneapolis. I was there until I went to Fort Wayne.

COURIER: Do you have a family?

SCHAIRBAUM: Yes. My wife, Ginnie; Ann, who is eight; Mark, who is six, and Laura, who is almost two. Ginnie is a former history teacher and public school counselor. She is a minister's daughter and I'm a minister's son. We're a team.

Rev. Philip G. Schairbaum

COURIER: What are your special interests in the ministry?

SCHAIRBAUM: Personal ministry. In Minneapolis and Fort Wayne, I was one of several ministers. Here I can look forward to more family-oriented, intimate kinds of experiences. This is more natural. General ministry will give me an opportunity to link up the dimensions of church life. It is my primary focus in life.

COURIER: Why do you believe you were offered this pastorate in Charlevoix?

SCHAIRBAUM: Growth, for one thing. If there is no growth, there is no life. I don't mean growth only in numbers, but growth in faith. I bring resources to help people explore what it means to be faithful. Young people can come to our church to build a faith. The minister in some ways personifies the way the church wants to go. I am a younger person, a family person. The babies of the last baby boom are now having families of their own. Most of these young families will explore what our church has to offer. It is a critical time for the church. Church attendance around th world is rising, even though ever so slightly, because young people are returning to church.

COURIER: What else do you hope to be able to do in this new ministry?

SCHAIRBAUM: My music skills will be useful – I was a church musician. Through the years, this church has had a good sense of music and we will carry it on.

COURIER: We mentioned your special interest in personal ministry. What is the basis of your faith?

SCHAIRBAUM: I am open and ready to receive the new but at the same time I'm not letting loose of that which is fundamental – the church's foundation.

COURIER: What are your hobbies?

SCHAIRBAUM: Hiking, camping, backpacking, reading, gardening, music, and travel. Now that I'm here, I'll probably take up fishing and cross-country skiing. Both Ginnie and I particularly like camping. We've camped in the Smokies and on the boundary waters of Minnesota. We are planning our next camping trip to Colorado. We also like to travel – we've helped with two church-sponsored tours to Europe. Now, we are enjoying the opportunity of expressing ourselves in this land of clear water and air. It's an ideal location to launch the first ministry of our own.

Outdoor Report

from the DNR District Office at Gaylord

Inland lake fishing was not the best in the month of July, perhaps the extremely hot weather drove fish into deeper water causing them to be more difficult to catch. Some scattered fair to good catches of panfish and a few good northern and walleye were taken.

Lake trout and salmon success good to very good on Lake Michigan from Charlevoix to Petoskey in Little Traverse Bay. Most of the fish are taken in 90-100 feet of water and run 6-8 lbs. with one 18 lb. lake trout checked.

Lake trout and salmon reported excellent in the Rockport-Alpena area with many limit catches taken in 70-90 feet of water. Fishing pressure on lake Huron has been generally heavy.

Some of the wild flowers that will be blooming in August would be the Lemon Lilly, Purple Vetch, Orange Hawkweed, Purple Sneeze Weed, Fireweed, and Silverweed.

Fire permits are once again being issued as light showers reduce fire conditions in most areas. So far this year, in the northern eight counties of the lower peninsula, 74 fires burned 212.3 acres.

Tiger muskey will be planted by the Fish Division today in Cornwall Flooding, Otsego Lake, Little Wolf Lake, and Little Bear Lake.

It may be hot and humid at present but remember within the next three weeks many signs of fall will begin to appear.

To present quill working demonstration at Art Center

Yvonne Walker will present a "hands-on" quill working demonstration on Saturday, August 13 at 2:00 p.m. for the Nishawbe Festival at the McCune Arts Center in Petoskey.

Anyone interested in trying quill working is invited to participate in the workshop. Mrs. Walker will teach a step-by-step process. Each person will be given materials, including a piece of birch bark, quills, sweet grass and tools. Participants will learn to sort quills, cut birch bark, design a pattern and do the actual quill work. Mrs. Walker will also demonstrate how to use sweet grass to finish the edges of the creation.

Mrs. Walker, an Ottawa Indian, collects all her materials from woodlands and fields in the area. The timing involved in gathering the materials is subtle. She picks sweet grass when the June berries are ready. She gets birch bark when the strawberries are ripe. And she only used the quills of porquplnes found in the fall and winter. In the spring and summer the animals' diet is too lush, which makes the quills greasy and fragile.

Mrs. Walker respects the land and resources that produce her materials. She never takes more bark or grass than she needs. And she always takes care to bury each porqupine wheh she is finished.

Quill boxes were originally used for functional purposes. But over time quill work has become an art. Mrs. Walker learned this art from Suzy Shagonaby, while working at the Ottawa-Chippewa Arts Center in Petoskey. Suzy taught her the patience needed to work the intricate designs of a quill box. Suzy also gave Mrs. Walker her "cut-out" patterns on pieces of birch bark. These patterns had been passed down from teacher to student for generations.

Mrs. Walker always knew that she would be a student until her teacher died. When Suzy did pass away, Mrs. Walker felt her own style beginning to emerge. She began experimenting with animal designs. She also incorporated shading and dimension into her new, intricate patterns. Her tone and expression when describing these changes suggested that she experienced something mystical in her transformation from student to teacher.

Soon Mrs. Walker began instruction others in quill working. Now her sister Donna and her two sons, Christopher (16) and Arnie (17) are skilled in the craft. She also holds classes in her home and gives frequent demonstrations.

Mrs. Walker says that although she has many students, there are few quill workers. To help solve this problem, she has written a step-by-step book on quill working, designed for classroom use. The book is not yet published; Mrs. Walker hopes for assistance in its publication. In the meantime, she will continued teaching and perfecting her craft; the oldest art form of the Woodland Indians.

This workshop is the third in a series presented for the 1983 Nishnawbe Festival at the McCune Arts Center on Mitchell and Division Streets in Petoskey.

The Richard Porht Collect of Indian Art, "Forest, Prairie and Plains", from the Detroit Institute of Arts is on display at the Arts Center Gallery through August 27, as part of the DIA's statwide services. At this time the Festival will close with an authentic Indian banqoet. Tickets are $8 per person.

Gallery hours are Monday through Thursday from 10 to 5. The Nishnawbe Festival is made possible by a grant from the Mott Foundation to the Crooked Tree Arts Council.

Waiting for the Bridge

Waiting for the drawbridge in Charlevoix is a frequent pastime during the summer months when the span over the Pine River Channel opens every half hour for passing boats. Is what seems to most people to be wasted time actually a valuable lesson in patience? Reporter Anne Kelly explores that possibility on page 7.

Did God have a lesson in mind when He created "The Bridge"?

by ANNE KELLY

"Patience," my mother would say, "is a virtue." And as I grew up, I learned that virtue involved doing nothing while you waited for something forever. Maybe "nothing" is putting it too drastically.. You could, after all, grit your teeth, sit on your hands, unravel your sweater, pick gum off the sides of your tennis shoes, count the pores on the top of your left hand. You could do anything but give in to the temptation to whine, cry or throw yourself down on the floor, push and shove or scream. It was a character building exercise second only to saying five decades of the rosary without falling asleep.

Patience was required when your mom met a friend in the supermarket and you sat in the basket while they talked. I remember exercising patience when we stood in line for polio shots. There were always long lines of grade school kids and people like Janet Wazak who made a point of fainting just before it was my turn. Patience was, and probably still is, a prerequisite for waiting in line for the Saturday matinee in towns where they have Saturday matinees. Patience was the virtue which made waiting something of a challenge. Either you were going to get to heaven because you were pleasant waiting for your piece of cherry pie or your turn in the bathroom, or you'd end up in Purgatory where there was a line like you'd never seen before waiting to get into Heaven.

The "children who never grew up", were pointed out to me. They'd definitly end up in Purgatory: the horn-honker flicking his cigarette as he cursed his way out of the Church parking lot; the lady who pushed and shoved until she elbowed her way to the sale table at Higbee's; the kids who always had to get "cute" in line; the impatient patients at the doctor's office who had been kept waiting for two hours and couldn't restrain themselves any longer.

Patience was a good virtue to have developed before moving to Charlevoix and encoootering THE BRIDGE.

What do you do while waiting for the bridgs to go up and down? What do you tell your kids to do? What, in fact, can you do? Patience. This is an opportunity that would have set Sister Helen Margaret on fire.

I have used the pacifier approach with our children: graham crackers, M&M's one by one, sucking on Necco Wafers to see whose would last the longest. Occasionally, the educator in me comes to the rescue: card games in the glove compartment, singing old camp songs, how many sail boats can we count sliding through?

I have seen diversionary tactics on Bridge Street: emissaries sent out to buy Coke for the car, getting out and stretching, visiting friends two cars up the road. All of these beat being miserable inside but are chancy if traffic begins to flow before you're ready to go. Some toy with decision making: should we turn off the engine or rev up the motor and inch forward? Should we make a left at Oleson's and sneak around to the light on Clinton in hopes of gaining a length?

Some say THE BRIDGE is a nuisance, a pain in the neck if you're in a hurry to go from here to there. But like freeways in rush hour or the Ironton Ferry when you,'e the 5th car, I think THE BRIDGE was created by God to create patience.

Art Fair: best and brightest

It was billed as a gala affair all along and the 25th annual Waterfront Art Fair held Saturday in East Park did not disappoint. From the unique sky art, shown being inflated with helium, above and on station in Round Lake, right, to the crowds estimated at over 50,000, below, the Art Fair was considered a rousing success by both organizers and participants. Sunny skies and mild temperatures provided the perfect setting for the silver anniversary affair.

Only one change of plans developed when the experimental traffic blockade on Bridge St. from Antrim to Clinton was cancelled by Police Chief Jack Mol and City Manager Robert Hunt at about 11:30 a.m. Southbound traffic on U.S. 31 was snarled by a combination of the opening drawbridge downtown and the cumbersome detour onto Park Avenue and State St.

Hoskins seeks EDC help in expansion

by DAVE KNIGHT

Hoskins Manufacturing Co. has plans for a 14,000 square foot addition to its Charlevoix plant and will make a request for $850,000 in bonding to finance the project from the Charlevoix County Economic Development Corporation at a special meeting August 23.

Stanley Jerlecki, plant manager of Hoskins' Mio plant and coordinator of the expansion project, said the added space would be used to house additional manufacturing equipment, most of which would be relocated in Charlevoix from other Hoskins facilities.

At the outset, said Jerlecki, at least eight new jobs would be created by the expansion with the possibility of more positions opening up as market conditions improve.

The principal product lines of the Hoskins Charlevoix plant are small sizes of nickel chrome resistance wire which are used in a wide variety of products. The plant presently covers 22,000 square feet at its location off Highway M-66 south of Charlevoix and employs about 49 hourly workers.

According to Jerlecki, who is working with plant manager Barb Skeel on the project, the Charlevoix

County board quizzes Saworski

by PEG OHLE

Members of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners, the chairman of the Board's ad hoc committee on the County Transit System, and Art Saworski, director of the Transit System, got together last week to discuss the shortcomings of the Transit System, as presented in the ad hoc committee's report.

The committee had found some fault with the Transit System's record-keeping as well as several aspects of operation, including the revenue-cost ratio of .1852 percent (revenue received compared with cost of providing a ride) and the apathy of the general public toward using the Transit System.

The discussion centered mainly on the Transit System's bookeeping because Saworski had in hand an audit report by the State Department of Transportation which showed that the Transit System books accurately reflected the income and expense figures as reported to the Department of Transportation on a monthly basis.

Saworski saw this audit as a clean bill of health for the Transit System while Commissioner Don Smith, chairman of the ad hoc committee, pointed out that there were record-keeping shortcomings in which the Department of Transportation had no interest, such as no check-off system showing Transit revenues turned into the treasurer's office or Transit disbursements made through the clerk's office.

Smith also noted that there was no monthly trial balance computed for the Transit System. Such a record would indicate when the monthly allotment is received from the State and show any other revenues and disbursements as well.

Other questions asked by Smith covered operation of the Transit System:

Why are Transit System buses used to deliver meals to homebound senior citizens at an average cost of $3.40 a delivery when volunteers might be found to deliver the meals for mileage alone? (In 1982, 6,406

Dixon condos await attorney's word

by DAVE KNIGHT

Narrow approval was given Monday night by City Council to the rezoning and preliminary site plan for a four-unit condomonium project next to the Lodge motel on East Dixon Ave. but the whether the margin of approval was too narrow to be valid is now up to the city attorney.

East Dixon Ave. resident James Elliot, who has consistently led neighborhood opposition to any multiple family housing development on the vacant property, presented the council with a petition protesting the rezoning of the property from R-1, single family residential, to R-4, multiple family residential.

Signers of the petition included four of nine property owners whose properties are within 100 feet of the lot proposed for development by Lodge owner Jack Uhrick.

According to the petition, the city charter maintains that if at least 20 percent of the residents who own property within 100 feet of the property in question oppose rezoning, it takes a two-thirds vote by council to amend the existing zoning.

City Attorney Jeffrey Van Treese pointed out, however, that the language cited in the petition was not in fact from the city charter but appeared to be state statute. He said that the two-thirds rule may well apply in the matter but that he would have to investigate it.

Council proceeded on that basis and first voted on a motion by James Block to deny the rezoning. With council members Block, Ray Wood and Clement Olach voting to deny and Shirley Roloff, Jeffrey Porter and Robert Timms voting against

Medusa may face Rogers Commission

by DAVE KNIGHT

Michigan Department of Natural Resources officials are contemplating the formation of a Rogers Commission hearing on dust control problems at Charlevoix's Medusa Cement Company.

The hearing, a standard procedure in the DNR's environmental protection branch, would be held before an 11-member panel of air quality officials from the Department. Medusa was last summoned to such a hearing in 1981 for similar reasons.

According to air quality staff member Arden Toland of the DNR's Roscommon office, the Rogers Commission hearing is a "show cause" procedure at which Medusa would be asked to explain why or why not it is meeting the requirements of its permit to operate.

The hearing is an informal proceeding, not usually involving legal counsel, at which the public is also invited to make comments pertaining to the plant's performance in meeting air quality standards.

Although no formal announcement of a Rogers Commission hearing had been made to the plant as of last Friday, Toland said that the hearing could be convened as early as later this month or early September if the DNR decides to proceed with it. Ample public notice will be given, he said, as to the time and location of the hearing.

The fact that a Rogers Commission has several options available to it is preferable, said Toland, to stricter action such as litigation.

One possible scenario, he said, would have the commissioners listing areas to be improved by the plant and setting a time schedule for those improvements to be completed.

"A lot of good comes out of a Rogers Commission hearing because the company acts as a show of good faith rather than being forced to do something by legal action," said Toland.

A Rogers Commission proceeding would have no effect on the concurrent studies of plant performance and air quality being conducted jointly by Medusa and Water and Air Team Charlevoix, Inc., a local citizen group.

Resolution prepared for okay of salmon weir on Jordan River

by PEG OHLE

When the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners meets next Wednesday evening (August 24), they will be asked to act on a resolution which would permit the Department of Natural Resources to construct a sea lamprey barrier and fish harvest weir in the Jordan River.

Location of the weir is described as "3-4 of a mile south of Roger's Bridge; in the Southeast 1-4 of Section 33 of South Arm Township", which puts it in the section of the Jordan River designated as a Natural Scenic River.

When the river was so designated, there was a stipulation that no obstruction of any kind be placed in the river because of its fragile makeup. However, present DNR officials insist that there will not be enough siltation from the weir to cause any damage to the river.

The proposed Charlevoix County resolution notes that extensive flooding would take place if the barrier were to be located any farther down the river (out of the Natural Scenic part), that the weir would eliminate the need for continued chemical treatment of the river to kill lamprey eels, that local

Horton Bay man killed in M-66 car accident

by FRAN MARTIN

A Horton Bay man, Gerald Durkee, 37, was killed in a one-car accident late Friday near Ironton according to the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department.

Durkee was one of two occupants in the vehicle. The second was Richard Lee Ager, 25, of Charlevoix, to whom the car, a 1974 Plymouth two-door, was registered.

According to the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department which still has the accident under investigation, the pair had left The Landing at the Ironton Ferry and were enroute north on M-66 when the vehicle left the road a quarter of a mile south of Sequanota Road. The car went out of control, skidded across the south-bound lane, rolled into the ditch, up the bank and came to rest 30 feet from the centerline. At one point it was 55 feet from the centerline. From the time it left the road until it stopped, it traveled a total of 283 feet officers said.

At this time, officials have not determined who was at the wheel at the time of the accident. Durkee was thrown from the car; Ager was found in the back seat.

One of the first vehicles to reach the scene was the East Jordan ambulance enroute to the Charlevoix

To demonstrate Indian bread, basket weaving

There will be two workshop-demonstrations on Saturday, August 20 at the McCune Arts Center in Petoskey in connection with the 1983 Nishnawbe Indian Festival. Veronica Medicine will show how to make Indian fry bread and Ann Smith will demonstrate black ash basket weaving. Both will be held in the Art Tree Shop at the Center, beginning at 1 p.m..

Mrs. Medicine will teach how to mix and knead the dough for fry bread, a flat bread similar to a thick tortilla. Topped with meats and chopped vegetables, it's eaten like a taco. She promises to provide tasty samples of the bread and share her "fool-proof" recipe. Visitors will be encouraged to join Mrs. Medicine in kneading some of the dough.

Recently Indian fry bread has gained in popularity. In fact, Mrs. Medicine introduced it to the Harbor Springs High School cafeteria. Her "Indian taco" was a big hit with the students.

An Ottawa Indian and life-long resident of Harbor Springs, Veronica Medicine does more than make fry bread to perpetuate her heritage. She is dedicated to re-educating people about her Native American culture. She explains that Indians were not savages without government, religion or civilization. Actually, the Native Americans were a civilized people with a strong leadership system, and many spiritual values and sacred rituals.

Due to the mistaken image of the Indian, many beautiful ways of their living have been lost. However, some of the finer qualities of the Indian culture are slowly being resurrected.

For example, Mrs. Medicine is actively involved in the Native American Traditionalist Movement. The Traditionalists seek to reviatalize the higher values of Indian culture. They give up alcohol and drugs to practice the traditional Indian values.

Mrs. Medicine is a Catholic Traditionalist, which combines Catholic teachings with Native Traditionalism. She believes that, "You don't have to give up Catholic beliefs for Traditionalism, or Traditionalism for Catholic beliefs. They can reside together peacefully, and lead to a fulfilling and enriched life."

This hard-working lady has done a great deal to educate others about her Native American culture. Her ten year old son is also active in the Traditionalist Movement, and is the youngest singer-drummer in the Powwow Circuit. He was already earned his eagle feather, awarded by a distinguished elder.

Ann Smith will give the second workshop demonstration on Saturday August 20 in black ash basket weaving. She will display baskets in various stages of contruction and demonstrate the weaving process. She will also exhibit some of her finished baskets.

Mrs. Smith is a full-blooded Ottawa Indian. She grew up in Charlevoix and graduated from Petoskey High School. She is one of the few Indians still skilled in black ash basket weaving in the area.

Black ash weaving has been passed down from generation to generation in Mrs. Smith's family. She learned the craft from her mother and aunt when she was a child. Mrs. Smith plans to teach her daughter too.

Mrs. Smith gets most of her materials from friends. If she needs extra wood she must commission someone to chop down a black ash tree.

Mrs. Smith and her husband, Nathan, work as a team on every basket. Mr. Smith prepares all the materials. He pounds the six foot log into layers. He tears these layers off the log, scrapes them and splits them into strips. Mr. Smith also whittles handles for the baskets out of white ash trees.

When the materials are ready, Mrs. Smith weaves the strips into baskets. The baskets may be used for anything from sewing supplies, to eggs, to laundry.

Mrs. Smith leaves some of her baskets with the natural hue of the black ash tree. She colors many of the others with bright dyes. She uses a special wood dye. But her ancestors used weeds or berries to tint the wood of their baskets.

Mrs. Smith enjoys teaching others how to weave black asb baskets. This summer she taught an adult summer school course at Petoskey High School.

By teaching classes and giving demonstrations, Mrs. Smith is helping people understand her Indian culture better. In this way she hopes to strengthen and carry on her Native American heritage.

Ann Smith's workshop is the fifth in the series presented for the 1983 Nishnawbe Festival at the Arts Tree in the McCune Arts Center.

Corrently, the "Forest, Prairie and Plains: Native American Art from the Chandler-Pohrt Collection", a statewide serves exhibition of The Detroit Institute of Arts, is on display through August 27. At this time the festival will close with an authentic Native American banquet. Tickets for the banquet are available at the Arts Center for $8 per person.

Gallery hours are Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The Nishnawbe Festival is made possible by a grant to the Crooked Tree Arts Council from the Mott Foundation.

Red Cross officials are becoming increasingly concerned about the difficulty of obtaining blood donors during August. In an effort to raise public awareness aobut the need to donate blood this summer, the American Red Cross today recognized Charlevoix Area Hospital as a participating hospital within the Wolverine Region.

At special award ceremonies citing the hospital's role in helping maintain a safe and adequate volunteer blood supply, Dr. Willys F. Mueller, Director of American Red Cross Blood Services in the Wolverine Region, presented plaques of recognition to Charlevoix Area Hospital officials. "We recognize the vital role each participating hospital really plays," he said, "because the hospital is the last in a series of important steps that enable blood donors to give the gift of life. Without the cooperation of all our participating hospitals," he said, "the Red Cross could not guarantee an adequate, safe, and healthy blood supply for our patients."

The cooperation between the local hospital and Red Cross Blood Services is vital in keeping the rising cost of health care to a minimum, Mueller indicated. "Each participating hospital, along with local industries and businesses, helped us collect over 58,000 units of life-saving blood last year in a cost- and time-effective manner," he said.

Because blood is voluntarily donated through the Red Cross, there is no charge for the blood itself when used by patients in a prticipating hospital. Nor are persons needing blood required to replace it.

The Red Cross administers a cost-recovery fee designed to defray the expense of recruiting, collecting, testing, and distributing blood and blood products. In most cases, health insurance plans will pay for these processing fees. "Working together with the hospital", Mueller said, "The Red Cross believes strongly in 'Community Responsibility' - health persons in the community donating blood often and regularly for the sake of those who need it."

But the summer months post special problems for the Red Cross, Mueller explained, citing factory shut-downs, school closings, and vacation schedules for families as primary reasons for the donor slow-down during August.

"This August has been expecially difficult because of the increased demands by our hospitals for blood products, especially O posotive and O negative blood types," Mueller stated. "All our hospitals have been especially cooperative in helping us balance our blood inventories throughout the whole region. This means an occasional shifting of blood supplies from one hospital to another to keep up with patient needs," he said.

The Wolverine Regional Red Cross Blood Services will supply nearly 60,000 pints of blood this year to the 37 participating hospitals of northern and central Michigan, a 27-county area that includes the thumb and two counties, Mackinac and Chippewa, in the Upper Peninsula.

For more information about donating blood during August, call your local Red Cross Chapter.

Free groceries to be distributed in county

by PEG OHLE

Low income families in Charlevoix County will receive a bag of groceries worth $12 to $14 next month when they go to pick up their allotment of surplus cheese. The date is tentatively set for September 21.

The groceries will be bought with $14,973.69 in federal Emergency Food and Shelter National Board Program funds alloted to the county.

A committee of county agencies and social services organizations is coordinating the program which is expected to benefit some 1,100 families. County Commissioner Don Smith is chairman of the committee and is being assisted by the County Department of Social Services, County Extension Services, the Red Cross, and the Community Services Center of the Seventh Day Adventist Church.

The bags of groceries will include such highly nutritious staples as peanut butter, hot cereals, macaroni, tuna fish, dried milk, and canned vegetables.

Suggested recipes for using the groceries will be prepared by Sheri Rhoades, Extension Services home economist, and given to each person who receives groceries.

Any food that is not distributed on this one day will be stockpiled at the Community Services Center and the Department of Social Services for emergency food allotments during the winter.

Charlevoix County's Emergency Food grant is part of $100 million appropriated by the federal government, half to the states and half to voluntary organizations. The county's money comes from the voluntary organizations' portion.

The county was given some leeway under the program as to how to spend the grant money. It could be used to purchase food and/or transportation for mass feeding, to purchase supplies incidental to feeding (such as utensils or pots and pans), to assist with expenses associated with mass shelter (rent, cots, blankets, and other supplies), emergency lodging or shelter costs (hotel or motel expenses), or limited emergency rent or mortgage assistance.

The county committee determined that the local need was for food and set up its program of grocery distribution accordingly.

Annual senior citizens picnic set by Comm. on Aging

There will also be entertainment, door prizes, and other activities to create a festive atmosphere.

Tickets, at $4 each, are available at the Senior Centers in East Jordan and Boyne City, from the Commission on Aging office in Charlevoix, and from A. D. "Hap" Cunningham, Commission on Aging Chairman, in Charlevoix.

Knight on the Town

Sail sore

by Dave Knight

Sailing is the quiet sport, right?

According to its billing, sailing is supposed to gently sooth the frazzled nerves, provide an escape from the frantic pace of life in the real world and unite a person with the forces of nature.

Nothing wrong with soothing or escaping. It's the uniting with the forces of nature that can sometimes be a more traumatic proposition.

Just ask Denny O'Bryan.

Dr. O'Bryan, a Petoskey optometrist, got united with the forces of nature in no uncertain terms on Lake Charlevoix last week and wound up a lot worse for it.

Let's just say it was not very soothing.

O'Bryan was crewing on Grant Hawkins' 26-foot Night Moves Wednesday night during one of the wildest nights of this season's summer racing series sponsored by the Charlevoix Yacht Club. Southeasterly winds gusting down the length of the lake at 30 to 40 knots churned the course into a frothing cauldron, prompting many regular competitors to spend the evening ashore.

Of the 35 or so boats usually out on Wednesday evenings during August, only about 20 braved the weather last week.

Needless to say, it was a fast race. As always, the finish line extended out from Depot Beach and this particular week the southeaster made the final leg a downwind run with the boldest of the PHRF fleet flying spinnakers.

The force exerted by a wind-filled spinnaker, even in mild weather, is awesome. In heavy air, a 'chute can dismast a boat with surprising ease.

A fluky gust caught Night Moves' spinnaker and the boat broached, or, tipped all the way over onto its side. The boom flew across the deck and introduced itself to Denny O'Bryan's midsection quite rudely. It also gashed Mrs. Hawkins' head.

The result was three broken ribs for him and some stitches for her.

To their credit, the plucky crew finished the race but were met by an ambulance at the dock shortly after.

Rumor has it that a local boat shop will soon be stocking shoulder pads, football helmets and flak vests along with rain gear and Topsiders.

And if the National Safety Council finds out about this, soon padded booms will be de rigueur on all sailboats.

Clockwise

The ultimate

by Bob Clock

LIKE OTHER Charlevoixans, I have been fascinated this summer by the proliferation of boardsailors on our waterways.

To me, they look like the ultimate in outdoor summertime activity. In addition to a board and a sail (circa $700), all you need is a lake and a breeze and away you go.

But it's not that easy, of course. First of all you have to be a fairly good swimmer. Nest, you need well developed biceps in order to hang onto the sail, a finely tuned sense of balance to stay aboard and lots of determination to get up and try again after your 150th cold water plunge.

Practitioners also tell me you need lessons, lessons, lessons — just to get the hang of it. And I believe them.

One weekend, many years ago, my sister and I tried our hands at riding a surfboard on Higgins Lake behind a power boat operated by my brother-in-law. But neither of us could stay aboard more than a few feet.

"I'm going as slow as I can," my brother-in-law would call to us everytime we took a plunge.

It was only after I had given up and returned to Detroit that my co-conspirators in the surfboard game discovered that you're not supposed to start slow. You need a fast start to get up and away. Lessons would have solved the problem.

My sister became an espert surfboarder before the week was out, she tells me. I wouldn't know. I was in Detroit.

IS WINDSURFING anything more than a fad?

Probably no more so than downhill skiing, cross-country skiing, hang-gliding, snowmobiling, sailing, dirt biking or other sports are fads. It seems that after an initial spurt of interest, enthusiasm tapers off somewhat, but the sport continues on indefinitely among the truly addicted.

A few sports, of course, continue to grow in popularity, witness golf, tennis, and baseball. There probably are more golfers in the world today than at any time in the centuries-old history of the sport.

It will be interesting to follow the course of the boardsailors over the years. I suspect they'll be with us for some time to come. I won't even be surprised when the first boardsailor arrives in Charlevoix from St. James — or vice versa.

ANOTHER SPORT which appears to be gaining in popularity is flying ultralight aircraft — those glider-like contraptions powered by chainsaw motors that you see skimming over Charlevoix quite regularly nowadays. The operator, who doesn't have to be a licensedpilot, reclines in a seat that looks like a lawn chair beneath a pair of gigantic wings.

The September National Geographic carries an interesting photo-display on the new ultralights, crediting them with bringing fun back to flying. They apparently are safer than they look, since they need very little room to land and touch down at relatively slow speeds.

According to the National Geographic, ultralights are not a great deal different from the aircraft the Wright brothers flew at Kitty Hawk. But for speed, altitude and endurance, they have Wilbur and Orville beat all hallow.

Man killed in accident

Area Hospital with a patient. An East Jordan Emergency Medical Technician remained at the scene to work with the injured men until the Charlevoix ambulances arrived and transported them to the hospital Dr. Reed Freidinger, Charlevoix County Medical Esaminer, pronounced Durkee dead on arrival at the hospital and ordered an autopsy at the Little Traverse Hospital Division of Northern Michigan Hospitals. Ager was treated and released.

The body was transferred to the Stackus Funeral Home and then to Grand Rapids.

Durkee is survived by his mother, Dorothy.

Sheriff's deputies said that immediately following the accident they were informed there was more than the two occupants. However, a search of the area in which area residents participated turned up no other person.

Letters: Back to Novotny

To the Editor:

I would like to respond to James Novotny response to my letter answering his.

The first question concerning loop holes and half truths was brought up in his first letter and I simply requested that he show the readers where they were located in the Bible. He skirts this by claiming different interpreters "choosing their own political philosophy and then trying to nail it down by using the Bible". As you are the one who believes this, give us an example from the Bible.

On the second question - isn't a trillion dollar debt and no end in sight a failure on your Socialism or should we call it creeping socialism as we conservatives have called it from the beginning.

On the third question concerning slave camps - you say "since all communists are required to work, they automatically become political enemies of the state according to your theory" end of your quote. I hardly think you will find any communist party members in slave camps unless they have fallen from grace.

The fourth question - I asked you to name a Socialist Utopia and you couldn't. Instead you try and twist this to claim one never existed. The Garden of Eden was a utopia according to the Bible. And according to the Bible the earth will be a utopia again when Christ returns and rules this earth with a rod of iron.

On the question of Israel you skirted my contention that you owed Israel an apology by accusing them of bloodshed in Lebanon. What religious factions in Israel was guilty of any bloodshed whatsoever?

And finally you say "The question of ownership rights involves the use of property to extract a profit in the exchange of values by the power of ownership regardless of conditions this can create" end of your quote. This is another way of saying if you are a privileged card carrying communist party member, you can have privileges that the non-party member doesn't have.

Talk about loop holes and half truths. I believe that those that spend time reading Marxist-Leninism propaganda and believing it are bankrupt as far as eternity is concerned.

Hoskins expansion

expansion is part of a manpower realignment program within the company which is celebrating its 75th anniversary this year.

EDC bonding for the Charlevoix project is being sought in conjunction with $3.5 million in bonds from other sources for an expansion of the firm's facilities in Indiana.

"We're putting emphasis on going into the marketplace to garner a larger share of the market," said Jerlecki, "We want to make our move now because even thought we are at a low point in sales, we feel the market is on the verge of picking up and we want to be ready for it."

He said that Charlevoix was chosen as an expansion site because the firm has "new product lines that are most advantageously produced in Charlevoix" as opposed to other Hoskins plants in Milo and New Paris, Indiana.

The estimated $850,000 price tag for the expansion would cover construction of the building addition, to be attached to the south side of the existing structure, and some new manufacturing equipment. Most of the equipment, however, to be used in the new section would be relocated from other Hoskins plants.

The initial bonding request will be made to the EDC at the August 23 meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the Charlevoix County annex building. Final action on the request could be taken at the EDC's September 7 meeting.

Jerlecki said that if approval is given September 7, construction would start immediately that month.

Transit system

such meals were delivered. That adds up to over $20,000. Couldn't someone be hired for half that amount to work a few hours a day?)

Would hiring a full-time mechanic to service the eight Transit System buses be a good idea? Presently, the System relies on local garages for repair and maintenance work which runs into many thousands of dollars each year?

What can be done to increase ridership of Transit buses by employed persons who would pay full fare? During 1982, fewer than one-quarter of Transit System users were full-paying customers.

(Saworski recently placed notices soliciting ideas for bus route revisions in places of business throughout the County but received very poor response. On another occasion, Saworski admitted that he felt Transit System ridership could probably be increased "only a point or two".)

How long should the Transit System be willing to offer service that costs on the average $3.40 for which they are paid only $1 cents?

There were no answers to these and other questions about the Transit System which is now in its fourth year of operating on federal and state funds and just beginning to receive funds from the County's voted .25 mill levy.

The County Board of Commissioners is taking the ad hoc committee's report under advisement.

Salmon weir

fish stocks have been depleted because of unregulated gill netting, that the fishing industry in the state amounts to $1.4 billion, and that Charlevoix County is ideally located for protected general fishing and a September to October salmon run.

Further, according to the resolution, "The DNR has agreed to close the Jordan River to fishing from the mouth to the weir during the salmon run and also strictly enforce this closure by providing adequate law enforcement and-or underwriting the cost of County law enforcement if necessary."

The County Board's decision to again consider the weir was based partly on receiving several petitions signed by residents of Charlevoix, Boyne City, and East Jordan asking that it be constructed because of the positive economic impact it would have on the entire area.

However, those opposed to the weir because they fear it will ruin the Jordan River point out that many of the petitions ask that the weir be placed at or near the mouth of the river and none indicate that it would be placed in the Natural Scenic River portion of the Jordan.

As one opponent of the weir puts it, "I wonder how many of those people would have signed the petitions if they had known where it was going to be placed."

If the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners passes the resolution permitting construction of the weir and harvest facility, it appears that the DNR will still have to obtain permission from the State Scenic Rivers Commission, the U.S. Corps of Engineers, and perhaps South Arm Township.

City Council meeting

denial, Mayor Kenneth Staley broke the deadlock with a vote not to deny.

Mrs. Roloff then moved to approve rezoning to R-4 and the voting followed the same lines with Staley again providing the 4-3 edge in favor of rezoning. Council went on to also approve a preliminary site plan for the project but Van Treese emphasized that if the two-thirds approval requirement cited in the protest petition was indeed binding on the city, both the rezoning and site plan approvals by the council would be invalid.

Van Treese added that the petition would also have to be certified by the city clerk.

In other action, the council:

-Approved several improvements to the West Dixon Avenue park including street lights, sidewalks connecting the recently built beach stairway to existing sidewalks and various landscaping measures.

-Decided to provide water to irrigate the Mt. McSauba erosion control project by extending city water lines from Carson Ave. rather than drilling a new well at the site or seeking purchase of the water from Charlevoix Township.

Authorized the purchase for $3,900 of a new telephone system for the city from Centrex as recommended by Fire Chief John Martin and former City Treasurer Robert Muma.

Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Heckendorn

Cook — Heckendorn

Kathryn J. Cook and Kirk Heckendorn exchanged marriage vows at St. Mary's Catholic Church of Charlevoix on Saturday afternoon, August 6.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Norman J. Cook and Mr. and Mrs. George Heckendorn, all of Charlevoix.

Father R. Dale Magoon performed the double-ring rites in front of the altar decorated with bouquets of white gladiolus and snapdragons. Approximately 200 guests witnessed the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white Victorian style gown of polyester and chiffon, with illusion yoke, leg-o-mutton sleeves, and semi-cathedral train. The bodice and skirt were decorated with Schiffli embroidered lace, Venice lace appliques, and seed pearls. Her waltz-length veil of bridal illusion was attached to a band of embroidered lace and seed pearls, and she carried a cascading bouquet of roses and miniature carnations.

Anne Johnson served the bride as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were three sisters of the bride – Joan Cook, Sheryl Cook, and Patricia Cook -- and Lisa Heckendorn, sister of the bridegroom. They wore floor-length gowns of mauve polyester with tiered overlays and sleeves of matching chiffon. They carried trios of matching roses and baby's breath.

The wedding dress and veil and the bridesmaids' dresses were made by the bride's mother.

Dana Schram served as flower girl. She wore a floor-length mauve polyester dress with a chiffon neckline ruffle and sheer sleeves. She carried a trio of miniature matching roses. David Skeel was the ringbearer.

Townhouse tops Medusa in tourney

The Townhouse Lounge closed out its season last week with both the Charlevoix Women's Slow Pitch and the tournament titles to its credit.

The Townhouse Lounge came out of the loser's bracket in the double elimination tournament of the Charlevoix Women's Slow Pitch League to take the title from challenger, Medusa, in action Tuesday and Thursday nights.

Townhouse had lost to Medusa 10-5 in the finals in the winner's bracket after winning the league title for the season.

To capture the tournament title, Townhouse deveated Kwikie Duplicating 13-6 and Medusa 10-8 before shutting out Medusa 8-0 in the finals.

In the game with Kwikie Duplicating, Townhouse scored 13 runs on 16 hits behind the pitching of Sue Barta. Brenda Bruce, Audrey Nelson and Ann Willis contributed home runs to the winning cause for an easy victory. Lisa Hilton was the losing pitcher. Barta gave up seven runs.

In the second game Tuesday, Natalie Johnstone gave up only seven hits bot Townhouse managed 10 runs off them to down Medusa 10-8. Sue Barta allowed 10 hits.

In the finals Thursday, Townhouse coasted to an 8-0 win over Medusa for the title. Johnstone allowed 11 hits. Though Barta gave up nine, Medusa was unable to capitalize on them.

Townhouse concluded the season with both the league and the tournament titles.

The tournament closed out the league's season.

Flight Deck, 20-0, are champs

The Charlevoix Township Slow Pitch League wrapped up its 1983 season last week with Flight Deck capturing the league title after posting a perfect 20-0 record.

A play-off for the second place trophy resulted in Boyne Machine edging Dairy Queen 5-4 in a game that went nine innings.

In their final game of the season, Flight Deck had defeated Dairy Queen 9-6. In a second game Monday, Boyne Machine won over the A-Team 11-8.

In the big game Monday night, Flight Deck scored nine runs on 21 hits off the losing pitcher, Bill Joy while Dairy Queen had six runs on nine hits. Dave Farnsworth was the winning pitcher.

Rick Selissen had four hits and Rich Borths and George Melke three each for Flight Deck. Kevin Morrison had three to lead the Dairy Queen.

Boyne Machine's Roy Grunch pitched Boyne Machine to an 11-8 win over the A-Team whose pitcher, Norm Coolman, allowed 18 hits. Grunch gave up 11.

In the play-off game for second place, Boyne Machine scored the winning run in the bottom of the ninth on a grounder by Dave Olach with the bases loaded to defeat Dairy Queen 5-4. Bill Joy allowed eight hits while Grunch gave up 15. Dairy Queen, however, lacked the hitting power to take advantage of the hits.

Rob Steve and Eric Lundteigen had two hits each for the winners. Joy had three and Cris Havens, Dave McKenzie, Jody Putman and Mike Pischner two each for the Dairy Queen.

The Township League will sponsor a Labor Day weekend tournament to raise funds to improve their diamond at Shanahan Field. Teams interested may contact George Melke or Lee Barta.

Gym Club reorganized under parent group

by ANNE KELLY

The Charlevoix Gym Club, formerly a private enteprise owned and operated by Jim Mitchell, is presently undergoing a transition into a non-profit corporation. The Club will be registered as Gym B.A.G., Inc., formerly the designation of the parent support organization. Mitchell will continue coaching gymnastics under the new arrangement as will two other previous coaches.

According to a letter sent as explanation to members, "The school of gymnastics is now being re-organized under the management of the parents in order to provide more personal and efficient programming."

The new Charlevoix School of Gymnastics and Dance will offer the following classes this fall: Tumble Tots, Beginning Gymnastics (for students who have never taken before), Intermediate Gymnastics, Advanced Gymnastics, Competitive Gymnastics and Boys Gymnastics. A dance program is in the process of organization. It will hopefully include offerings in: Classical Ballet, Modern Jazz, and Dance for the Gymnast. Interviews for prospective dance instructors are presently being conducted by Betty Eising of Cheboygan (616-627-5017). Prospective teachers should be qualified to teach both Classical Ballet and Modern Jazz.

An organizational meeting held August 11 at the Charlevoix Gym Club on Taylor Rd. in Charlevoix was conducted by temporary spokesperson Tom Spedding of Cheboygan, parent of one of the Club's competitive gymnasts. Along with other volunteer organizational committee chairpersons, representing Charlevoix and Petoskey, Spedding directed the meeting to issues which would involve the Club's membership which encompasses Charlevoix, Petoskey, Central Lake, Cheboygan, Gaylord, East Jordan and Boyne City. Discussion included budget and finance for the future of the Club, enrollment, registration and programming information, fundraising ideas, wood supply for heating the facility, publicity and the dance program.

Fall registration will be held August 30 - September 1, from 2:00 - 8:00 p.m. at the Gym Club on Taylor Rd. in Charlevoix. Fees and class schedules will be discussed at that time. The next organizational parent meeting will be held on Thursday, Aug. 25 at 7:30 p.m.

Further questions regarding the Club or registration may be directed to the club office 547-5181.

Outdoor Report

from the DNR District Office at Gaylord

The Fisheries Division will continue the brown trout removal program on the Black River in Otsego County for about the next two weeks. The browns removed from the river are planted in a nearby lake. The Black River is considered to be a brook trout stream.

Fishing on Lake Michigan and Lake Huron is very good for king chinook salmon also some lake trout and coho salmon. Most of these salmon are taken in water depths of about 100' with some of the kings running up to 30 lbs.

Pressure and success generally light on the inland lakes on Walleye, northerns, and panfish because of the extremely hot weather.

Wild Blackberry picking is just getting underway and should be fair to good by the coming week and the next two-three weeks. The crop is expected to be very good this year.

A few of the wild flowers presently blooming would include: Black-eyed Susan, Daisy, Cardinal Flowers and Michigan Lilly.

Anterless deer maps and the new fall hunting and trapping guides have been received and the anterless applications should be received soon; the deadline to apply is again October 1, 1983.

Most all State Parks and Forestry Campgrounds are reporting vacancies except a few that are filling on weekends.

In the eight northern counties of the lower peninsula, 78 forest fires have burned 221.0 acres. Permits are needed to do any open burning.

Charlevoix High School Varisty Cheerleaders returned from a week of cheerleading camp at Michigan State University. There were 17 cheerleading squads from all over Michigan, 5 of whom were choosen to stay and cheer for the East-West All Star football game in Spartan Stadium. To receive this honor, each squad had to compete in different areas of cheerleading, such as gymnastics, leadership, cheering ability and a number of other skills. Charlevoix Varsity cheerleaders were outstanding in every area and were awarded the opportunity to cheer at the Saturday football game. Those attending were (back row) Melinda Morgan, Jenifer Joy, Amy Bartlett, Tammy Horstman, Toni Eakes and Missy Walker. Front row: Amy Lindberg, Shelly Pond, Mary Donnelly, Lara Thomas, Carrie Richardson and Cheryl Hartnett. The girls attended camp with their coach Marcia Trimper.

Rec survey to be taken in County

Some 1,900 residents of Charlevoix County will be contacted by phone during the next five days in a survey being conducted by the County Recreation Department.

Those receiving calls will be selected at random from the phone book and will be asked several questions about how they spend their leisure time. Do they use the parks, the beaches, or the lakes? Do they sail, fish, ski? What kind of facilities would they like to see provided for their favorite leisure time activities?

According to Mike Davis, recreation director, results of the survey will be taken into consideration when writing a recreation plan for the County.

"This way we will hear what is really needed. It won't be just another national type survey," Davis explained.

The survey will be made by Joelyn Ingalls of East Jordan, a summer youth corps worker.

The Orioles captured the title in the four-team Ponytail League sponsored by the Charlevoix Recreation Department.

Missing: Becky Martin, Stacee Denny.

Bruce Murray is the coach.

Garden Club dedicates flower show to Mrs. Webb

In appreciation of their gratitude for her truly dedicated and gracious helpfulness in all aspects of the Club's work, the Charlevoix Area Garden Club dedicated its first flower show to Anna Belle Webb. Dereth Lane, who announced the dedication of the show at a recent meeting of the club held at the home of Marion Beatty also presented Mrs. Webb with a gift, a beautifully decorated goose egg made by club member, Julia Leedy.

The flower show will be presented at the Charlevoix Community Reformed Church from 1 until 8 p.m. Tuesday.

At the business meeting, Kate Brady, general chairperson of the flower show, summed up the remaining duties of the members. Marge Dinwiddie and Phyllis Block reviewed the various catagories and the responsibilities of the club personnel.

Nancy Fowler, chairperson of the club quilt, reminded members that the quilt, featuring birds of the area, was on display at Sears where tickets could be purchased.

Karen Joy and Lucille Ingram were co-hostesses. After refreshments were served, members walked along the beach searching for the wild flowers nature has presented to the Grand Traverse Bay coastline in such abundance.

The club's annual meeting will be held Sept. 13 at Duffy's of Charlevoix. Members are asked to contact Pat Wakulat to make reservations.

Justin Rashid of American Spoon Foods will inform, amuse and intrigue members with his enthusiastic praise of Michigan's wild and domestic foods which he terms "the treasures all around us". Annual dues will be accepted at that time.

GEORGE SEVESTIAN, (right) President of the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club presented Charlevoix Area Hospital Administrator Richard Krueger with a check for $500 last Thursday, the final payment of the Kiwanians pledge of $2500 for the hospital's building and renovation project. Accepting the final payment of the five year pledge Krueger commented: "Even though the building program is completed and our patients and staff are using and appreciating the new rooms and space, we are going to be paying for the building project for the next 19 years." The administrator explained that the pledges made during the fund raising campaign six years ago, provided the initial capital to enable the hospital to borrow the money for the expansion and renovation of the hospital.

"General funds revenues of a hospital cannot cover such major projects and therefore, we are dependent on the generosity of our supporters in the community. So these pledge payments are very important to us."

Sevestian told the administrator, "The Kiwanis Club is glad to be a part of this project. This hospital has excellent facilities and does a fine job."

Charlevoix Public Library announces that their "Summer Yummers" summer reading program has been a big success. 35 children participated in the program which was initiated by a party, games and movies in July and will conclude with more of the same at 1:00 p.m. Wednesday August 17. Above, some of the children enjoy the festivities of "book title bingo" and other games last July.

A number of different kinds of insects will be collected and identified during the trip, which will last approximately two hours. THE CLASSIC POSE FOR A CADDY is demonstrated by this young man who was photographed in action sometime around the 1920s at the 18-hole Chicago Club golf course. The course eventually was sold to the city but in its heyday it was one of the most exclusive playgrounds for the wealthy in Northern Michigan. Reporter Anne Kelly digs into the colorful past of the City Golf Course on page 3.

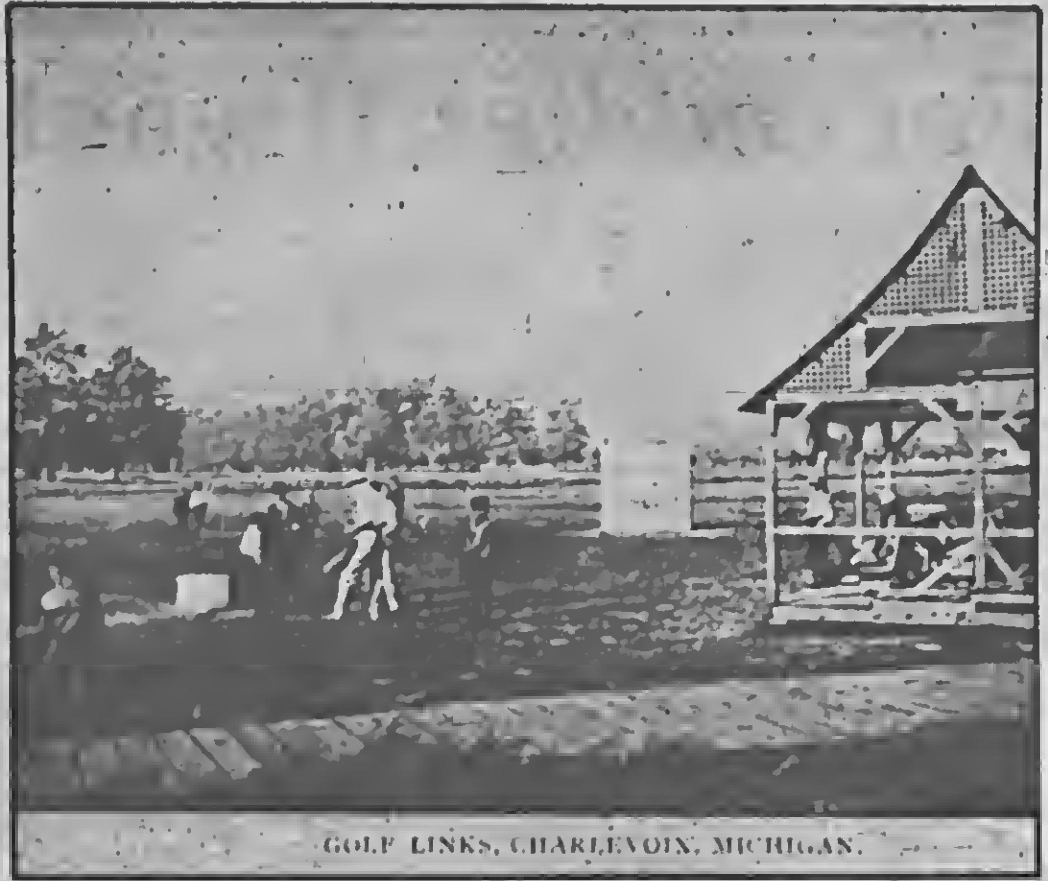
City links saw charm in its day



GOLF LINKS, CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

Bbarded sidewalks, as shown in the foreground of this 1900 photo, kept the mud off the golfers' spikes.

by ANNE KELLY

Another chapter in nostalgia, the Charlevoix Golf Club, like the Depot and Chicago Club, have enjoyed better days. Golden Days.

The 40 years between 1900 and 1940 saw the establishment and zenith of the north side of Charlevoix as a classy tourist mecca. Wealthy tycoons from Chicago and Detroit, Cincinnati and St. Louis who summered here, brought with them the affluence and charm which rather than isolating itself, infiltrated into the community, affording glimpses of another way of life to local residents.

Especially the 20's and 30's, according to some of my neighbors and friends who were "the kids" during those glorious years - those were the days. Rolls-Royces lined up in front of the casino, swimming at the beach fronting the magnificient Charlevoix Inn (Depot Beach area) with its terraced lawns and gardens and in-door swimming pool, watching the wealthy folks stroll in all their finery down E. Dixon Avenue in the evenings, and the wonderful 18 hole golf course that began by the Charlevoix Inn and wound its way down around what is now the Charlevoix Business Park. "It was ranked in the top 10, maybe the top 5 of the original golf courses in the country", remarked Jim Annis. Jim, who was born with a paintbrush, fishing pole and golf club in his right hand, is a good source of information on the days when the Charlevoix Golf Club was owned by Chicago Club. So is Bill Graves, manager of the present Club, and Art Krulik who frequents the course. All three worked in the club house or on the course as caddies.

During the 30's, the Club would employ about 200 caddies for the 300-350 golfers who played the course each day. Art, who contributed his photo album for this reminiscing session, and Bill thought that caddies earned about 35 cents for nine holes during those days.

According to an informational pamphlet supplied to caddies which Jim Annis found among his memoralia:

First of all (the pamphlet states) Caddies:

Be punctual. Get to the grounds on time; stay while there is work for you, and leave immediately after your work is done.

Be attentive. A successful caddie must pay strict attention to

For caddies, it was the good life business. The minute you are assigned to a player, put away all "horse play" and talk and be ready for duty.

Be obedient. Do promptly and cheerfully what you are asked to do by those in charge. When you are hired, it is your duty to please your employer. Learn how he wishes you to do and follow his wishes as nearly as you can.

Players:

Be considerate. If the caddie is not responsible for a bad shot or a lost ball, he should not be blamed for it.

Be sure to report to the Caddie Master, immediately upon coming in, any unsatisfactory service or any disrespect shown to you on the part of any caddie.

Be equally liberal in commendation of good service. Such commendation is a pleasure to the player, a satisfaction to those in charge and an inspiration to the boy.

"Chicago Club" according to Art Krulik, would pay their caddies 10 percent on the earnings in their bank book at the end of the season, thus encouraging thrift among the boys.

Most of the caddie yarns were volunteered by Jim Annis who believes that for a boy growing up in those days it "was life as it was meant to be lived." Often, golfer's would buy caddies refreshments after the 9th hole from Mrs. Woods who operated a homemade buttermilk and lemonade stand. If they were only playing nine holes, the golfer's limousine would pick them up at this point and return them to the clubhouse.

At the end of the day, although pranks among caddies was not uncommon, the real fun began. More often than not they would make a bee-line for the beach over the hill (where Oscar Stroud's cabins now stand). It was a common sight to spot 25-30 bare bottomed caddies cooling off there after a day of lugging a heavy golf bag around the course. Then caddies might take their earnings and slip over to Mrs. Jeffrey's Moonlight Gardens (now Duffy's) where they could buy a fantastic hamburg on a homemade bun with the works for 10 cents. Caddies were allowed to play from 4:00 until dark. There were caddie tournaments, prizes awarded for "the highest standards of work and behavior," annual lake excursions for caddies in good standing, and the awarding of the position of "professional caddie" each week.

That was before motorized carts, and pull carts. That was before the trains stopped coming to the Depot. That was before the Depression which saw the Charlevoix Inn demolished. And that was before the lawns turned brown from lack of care at Depot Beach.

During World War II, Chicago Club sold the golf club to the city for $1.00 provided they would keep there part of the bargain and retain the land as a golf course. The Charlevoix Golf Club saw less than 50 golfers a day during the war. The course was cut back to 10, then nine holes since it was pointless to try to keep maintaining 18.

"Economy has a lot to do with the game of golf," Bill Graves mused. "And you've got to have the weather, it's a weather game. People aren't playing golf when it's 90 degrees and at that temperature the fairway starts to dry up." Bill has been manager of the Charlevoix Golf Club for 13 years. He enjoys his job, for as in the motel business which he and his mother owned and operated in Ft, Lauderdale, it's a job which requires meeting people.

Bill encourages kids to take up the sport of golf because "it's a life time sport - golf is something they can play all their lives." He, himself, began playing when he was twelve. Art Krulik thinks he was seven. The only lessons they report taking were those learned from watching the golfers for whom they caddied.

Today Bill would advise that young golfers between the ages of 7-12 have an adult for supervision. Youngsters need to be taught the rudiments of playing and ettiquette during those years. "By 13," he believes, "if they've been playing they should know the rules. Golf, in Bill's opinion is a "good, clean sport" but one in which novices easily get discouraged. If their child shows an interest, parents should encourage the game of golf for throughout life it can be a source of relaxation, fellowship and skill.

Chicago Golf Club has taken a turn for greater accessibility, at least, over the years. Rates are lower than those of the private clubs. Family memberships, student memberships and individual season memberships are offered. There is a "Men's Night" every Thursday, a "Ladies' Day" every Tuesday.

While it has lost some of its elitist aura since its inception back in the 1890's, the Charlevoix Golf Club at least survives, providing residents and tourists with a fine little nine hole course within their means and within the city limits.

One job for the caddies in the old days was to clean their boss's clubs.

Inspection shows Big Rock to be in good shape, says Consumers Power

by DAVE KNIGHT

Big Rock Point may be a senior citizen among nuclear power plants but its vital organs are still sound according to the results of a major 10-year inspection just completed.

Officials of Consumers Power Company, owners of the plant, say the inspection findings are of special significance to the nuclear power industry because of the light they shed on the little-known subject of long term effects of nuclear power generation on structural apparatus.

"What these inspection results say is that nuclear power plants can be built to be safe and sound. The technology and equipment work well over the long term. Now that the inspection at Big Rock is complete, we have proof that this is true," said Russell B. DeWitt, vice president of nuclear operations for Consumers Power.

Big Rock has the distinction of being the oldest commercial boiling water reactor operating in the world and the second oldest commercial nuclear power plant operating in the United States having first gone on line in December, 1962.

An inservice inspection of the plant is required every ten years by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC). All physical systems in the plant were inspected as was the reactor vessel itself using a sophisticated procedure never before performed from the inside of a boiling water reactor like Big Rock's.

Ted Parker, project manager for Rockwell International, the firm contracted by Consumers Power to inspect the reactor, confirmed the positive results of the inspection saying, "The (reactor) vessel was found to be 'clean'".

Of particular interest to the NRC was the condition of pipe welds which have been found to be vulnerable to cracking and metal fatique in some larger boiling water reactors around the country. The problem, called intergranular stress corrosion cracking, has prompted the NRC to consider action against the utilities involved.

"There have been no indications that the problem exists at Big Rock," said plant superintendent David P. Hoffman, "All other minor problems discovered during the inspections – such as a bent pipe hanger or loose hanger nut – have been corrected."

The final phases of the inspection project began three months ago when the plant entered its annual shutdown for refueling and maintenance. The $1 million program involved about 4,000 individual inspections altogether with about 300 of those conducted during this summer's outage.

Standards used in the inspections were drawn from requirements in the American Society of Mechanical Engineers Boiler and Pressure Vessel Code.

According to Hoffman, a variety of inspection techniques were employed including visual examination, dye penetrent, magnetic particles, radiography and ultrasound. Approximately 80 percent of the inspections involved welds on the primary reactor coolant system and safety-related piping. Another 15 percent were devoted to pipe hangers, he said, and the remainder involved pumps, valves and other equipment.

The targets of the inspections, conducted by Rockwell International, the Magnaflux Corporation, Southwest Research Institute and Consumers Power's own laboratory services department, were "service induced defectx" such as cracks or corrosion.

Of all the inspections, the tests performed on the reactor vessel itself were the most unique, the most complicated and the most expensive.

According to Rockwell International's Parker, the job presented a unique challenge since a boiling water reactor as old as Big Rock's had never before been inspected from the inside

Also complicating the task was the fact that there was room in the spent fuel pool to store only 61 radioactive fuel bundles during the inspection. The reactor normally contains 84 bundles so 23 bundles were left in the Technicians from a division of Rockwell International operate a computer console that controls an ultrasonic inspection device inside the Big Rock Point plant's nuclear reactor.

A technician checks the position of a probe before it is lowered into the nuclear reactor at Consumers Power Compnay's Big Rock Point plant near Charlevoix. The computer-programmed, remote-controlled device is equipped with lights and a TV camera. Ultrasonic waves and vibrations tell operators the condition of welds and nozzles inside the 30-foot-deep reactor vessel.

Two burned when mast hits power line

A Lake Charlevoix boating mishap Sunday afternoon resulted in injuries to two Charlevoix men, one of whom was reported in fair condition at the Charlevoix Area Hospital Monday.

Dr. Donald Trimper, 47, and Gerald Staublin, 53, received severe electrical shocks when the mast of a 16-foot sailboat they were beaching at Lake Charlevoix's Oyster Bay came into contact with power lines overhead at about 3:30 p.m. Sunday.

Both sustained burns to their hands and were taken to the hospital where Staublin was treated and released but Trimper admitted when an abnormal heart beat was detected. James Williams, 47, of Charlevoix, was also helping beach the boat but was not injured in the incident.

Rezoning protest ruled valid

by DAVE KNIGHT

An August 15 vote by the Charlevoix City Council to rezone from R-1 to R-4 a vacant lot on East Dixon Ave next to the Lodge Motel to accomodate the construction of a four-unit condominium has been nullified by a city attorney's decision in favor of neighborhood opposition to the project.

City Attorney Jeffery W. VanTreese, in an August 18 decision, said that a protest petition citing the requirement for a two-thirds majority in a rezoning vote was correct and thus rendered the August 15 council action invalid.

The protest petition had been filed with the council by James Elliott, 310 E. Dixon, and was signed by four owners of property within 100 feet of the lot proposed for development by owner Jack Uhrick.

The petition cited a state statute that says when a protest petition signed by "the owners of at least 20 percent of the area of land included within an area extending outward 100 feet from any point on the boundary line of the land included in the proposed change" is properly filed; a minimum two-thirds majority vote is required to rezone.

Although Elliott first mistakenly referred to the requirement as being part of the city charter, VanTreese found it to be state statute that does apply to the issue.

Wrote VanTreese in his decision: "In reviewing the protest petition submitted by Mr. Elliott immediately prior to the vote on the rezoning, it is my opinion that the protest petition substantially complies with the statutory requirements for such a petition."

The four signers of the petition, Garrett Miller, Warren Duplessis, Mrs. Franklin Curtis and Eugene Bridge, were found by City Hall to own approximately 33 percent of the land within 100 feet of the Uhrick property.

Council had also approved, by a 4-3 vote, the preliminary site plan for the condominium project but that action is now also void following the reversal of the rezoning.

COAST GUARD

The U.S. Coast Guard Cutter Mesquite, pictured during icebreaking duties, will observe the fortieth anniversary of its commissioning Saturday, August 27. Highlighting the event will be the presentation of a replica of the ship's Commissioning Plate which bears the date of the commissioning and other information about the ship. Representatives of the Marine Iron and Shipbuilding Co. of Duluth where the ship was built will make the presentation in a ceremony arranged by Lt. Cdr. David Blomberg prior to the charge of command July 26.

Cutter Mesquite to mark 40th birthday Saturday

by FRAN MARTIN

The U.S. Coast Guard Cutter Mesquite, which has called Charlevoix its homeport since Oct. 12, 1980, will observe its fortieth birthday anniversary Saturday, Aug. 27.

In observance of the anniversary, a replica of the original commissioning plate placed on the ship at that time will be presented by representatives of the company which built the ship, the Marine Iron and Shipbuilding Co. of Duluth, Minn. The original plate which carried pertinent information regarding the origin of the ship has been lost during the years.

On hand to receive the replica will be Lt. Cdr. Robert E. Young, who assumed command July 26, his five officers and 42 enlisted men.

Built at Duluth, the ship was launched Nov. 25, 1942, and commissioned the following August 27, on of 14 buoy tenders in this class in service at stations around the world.

Of steel construction with a hull designed for ice breaking, the ship is 180 feet in length with a beam of 37 feet and a draft of 12'8". The Mesquite is propelled by two 700 HP Cooper-Bessemer diesel engines which drive two DC generators. These, in turn provide electricity to a 1200 HP Westinghouse motor that turns the ship's propellor for a top speed of 13 knots. The ship's cruising speed is 10 knots.

Unique features that distinguish the Mesquite from sister ships are the bow thruster, powerful hydraulic hoisting gear and ice-breaking hull. Using the rounded hull and blunt stepped bow, the ship rides up on the ice and uses its weight to break ice up to 18 inches thick. The hydraulic boom is used to hoist buoys, mooring chain and concrete sinkers aboard for inspection and servicing.

During the 1970's the Mesquite, like other ships in its class stationed in the Great Lakes, underwent extensive rennovation at the Coast Guard Yard at Baltimore. The main engines were overhauled, new ship's service generators installed, new heating and air conditioning systems added, and galley and berthing facilities up-dated. Berthing is available for eight officers, four Chief Petty Officers and 44 enlisted men.

From its homeport at Charlevoix, the Mesquite's primary duty is maintaining approximately 85 Aids to Navigation. Approximately 35 of these are large lighted buoys which must be set on station every spring and withdrawn in late fall before the rigors of winter take their toll. The smaller, unlighted buoys remain on station year-around but must be inspected every summer to insure that they are in readiness for another shipping season. In addition the ship services the automated lighthouses that dot northern Lake Michigan and Lake Huron waters.

The ship is also involved in search and rescue, ice breaking in the winter months and fisheries management. Each year the ship assists the Michigan Department of Natural Resources in stocking Lake Michigan with thousands of fingerling trout.

County Commission on Aging office moved

Headquarters of the Charlevoix County Commission on Aging will be moved from the Sheriff's building to offices in the same building as the County Transit System, on Boyne Road, in Boyne City.

This decision was made by the Commission on Aging at its August meeting.

At the same time, the Commission voted to station all buses at the Boyne City headquarters rather than have them scattered in parking places in Charlevoix, East Jordan, and Boyne City.

Also, the Commission on Aging voted to purchase a time clock for use by Transit system and Commission employees, and to consider revising the bus fare schedule.

According to Commission on Aging personnel, all steps were taken to improve services provided for senior citizens, handicapped persons, and others in the County.

Immunization requirements, clinics announced for Charlevoix students

Children spend a large part of their developing years in schools. During this time, the schools and public health agencies are concerned, not only with their formal education, but also with their physical health and safety. This concern for health is particularly important when one considers that schools provide occasions and places for the spread of serious communicable disease by bringing large numbers of children together for extended periods of time.

For many years, Michigan and other states have enacted laws and regulations requiring that children be immunized against the basic "childhood" diseases before being allowed to enter school. There is a long tradition of legal support for this, which acknowledges the school's concern for the health of the children in their care. When these laws have been vigorously enforced, they have been effective in reducing or eliminating disease outbreaks in schools. But where they have been neglected, a growing number of children have remained unprotected, only later to have achieved immunity by acquiring the diease. Outbreaks of vaccine preventable diseases in schools are espensive, disruptive and unnecessary.

The immunisation requirements for attendance in the public schools are as follows:

1. New students K-12 to a school district must present proof of at least one does of measles, mumps, rubella, tetanus, pertussis, diphtheria and polio vaccine to enter school.

2. Every new student (Kindergarten and transferee from another state or another school district) must have completed a basic series of at least four doses of diptheria and tetanus tosoids and pertussis vaccine within the four months following admission to school. Immunizations for measles, mumps and-or rubella should be repeated if initially given prior to the childs first birthday. The fourth dose of DPT, TD and third dose of TOPV may be waived if the entire series was administered during the year of school district entry.

3. Exceptions to the policy requirements may be granted by the school district if a written waiver is on file with the school district and is consistent with the suggested quidelines on immunizations, and if schedule requirements or date of entry make the needed immunisations impossible.

The local health department administers immunizations free of charge at the Charlevoix County Building every second Monday from 1:00 to 3:00 p.m.

Please contact the local health department if you have questions. Remember, measles, mumps, rubella, polio, tetanus, and whooping cough can be prevented by receiving proper immunizations.

New students to register

All students in the Charlevoix School District who are not registered for the 1983-84 school year may be registered at the school they will be attending, parents are advised.

This includes children who will be attending kindergarten for the first time to any senior who may have moved into the school district.

Every effort is being made to have all children registered to avoid the confusion of registering on the opening day of school, Sept. 7.

The Kindergarten through the fifth grade are at the Elementary School on Division Ave.; the sixth through the eighth grades are at the Middle School on Grant St. and the ninth through the twelfth at the High School on E. Garfield Ave.

Offices at the schools will be open from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. to allow parents to register children. They are asked to bring birth certificates and health records.

Any parents with questions may call the Central Office at 208 Clinton St. or any of the school offices.

Bus run set for kindergarten

The annual special bus run for children entering kindergarten in September has been scheduled for Wednesday, August 31, Vincent Olach, business manager for the Charlevoix schools, has announced.

The buses will leave the bus garage at 9 a.m. and, following their regular routes, will stop at the home of every child registered for kindergarten.

Parents are asked to be present at the time the child meets his or her bus driver who will then take the child on a tour of the bus, explain bus etiquette and answer any questions the child or the parents might have about the bus or the schedule.

Starting school can be a traumatic experience for a child even though it is something he or she has been looking forward to with pleasure. By acquainting the child with this new mode of transportation, we feel it will make the experience a happy one Olach said.

Apple Fest coming up

When the trees are ablaze with color, and the northern Michigan air has that autumn crispness, Charlevoix will again celebrate the season with its Fourth Annual Apple Festival.

The event is scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, October 8 and 9 in the city's East Park on the waterfront. Along with coinciding with the now famous Lake Charlevoix Color Cruises, the festival will entice visitors and homefolk alike with booths of apples, pies, struedel and braunsweiger.

No less than two dozen varieties of apples will be displayed, sold and sampled along with other fall harvest-time produce available at an old-time farmers' market in the park.

A Christmas bazaar, featuring items suitable for Christmas gift giving will be held on Sautrday in the Market Mall at 405 Bridge Street from 9 am to 5 pm on Saturday.

Other events planned for the weekend are food, games, information and farmers booths, a strolling magician and other entertainment, a community dance sponsored by KHQ-WVOY for the whole family Saturday, October 8, and a Saturday matinee at Cinema III. Local clubs and organizations will join in the fun as well as selling everything from apple cookies to candles and pine cone wreaths. Area restaurants will also feature apple specialties to commemorate the event. A student art contest and window decorating in the downtown area of Charlevoix will complete the scene.

For more inforamtion about the Apple Festival, contact the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce at 547-2101.

Marge Warner, cook at the Charlevoix County jail, is shown picking some sweet corn from the bountiful garden maintained at the jail.

Jail's garden is one of best around

by PEG OHLE

One of the finest vegetable gardens in Charlevoix is located in the front yard of the Sheriff's Department on Garfield Avenue.

For the sixth consecutive year, jail inmates and some other needy persons in the County are eating vegetables fresh from the Sheriff's garden.

Planned by Sheriff George Lasater, building maintenance man Harry Potter, and jail cook Marge Warner, the garden would be a pride and joy to any green thumb activist.

There are tomatoes, beans, lettuce, potatoes, cantaloupe, cucumbers, squash, and corn for daily eating as they ripen and for freezing or cold storage for future consumption.

The large plot is cared for by jail inmates who have achieved trustee status and who have had some gardening or farming esperience. The assigned trustee devotes his full assignment time to the garden, and if results are any indication, he enjoys his work.

Sheriff Lasater estimates that the garden saves county taxpayers at least $500 a year by providing food for jail inmates and in addition supplying vegetables for the senior citizens' hot lunch program, and for some individual senior citizens.

Since no labor costs are involved in growing the vegetables, gardening costs are minimal: $50 for seeds, $90 for fertilizer, and $10 for insecticides.

Besides the savings in dollars, Sheriff Lasater notes that growing a garden helps in the rehabilitation of trustees and makes it possible to serve more nutritional meals to the inmates.

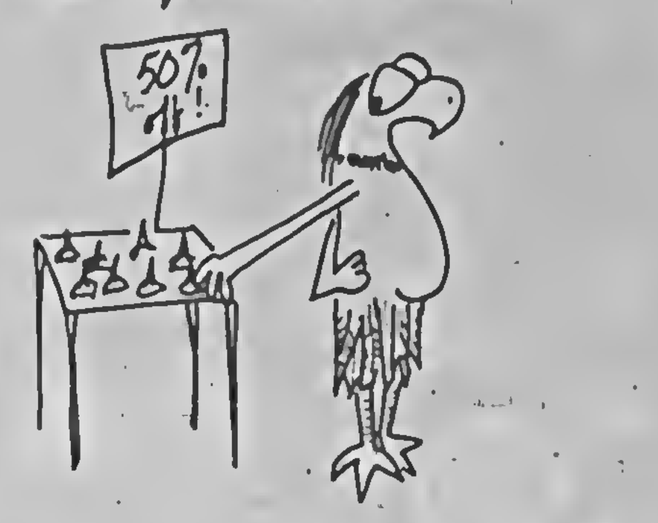
Knight on the Town

Birds of the Sidewalk Sales

by Dave Knight

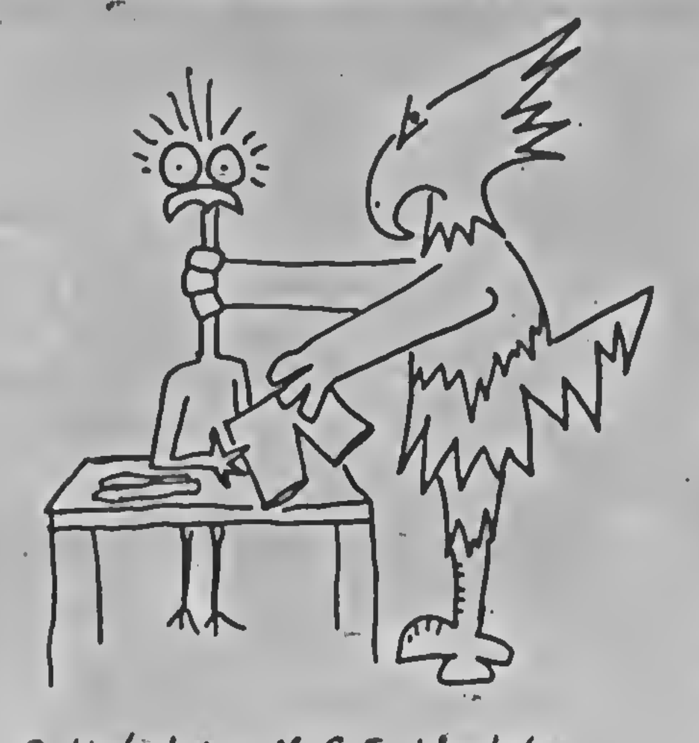
Among the thousands of shoppers who turn out annually for Sidewalk Sales in Charlevoix are a few "birds" we all recognize. Never before, however, has this ornithological sub-group been adequately catalogued. The following rough sketches document my recent foray into the Sidewalk Sale jungle, an expedition not recommended for the faint of heart.

The Tufted Icouldcareless



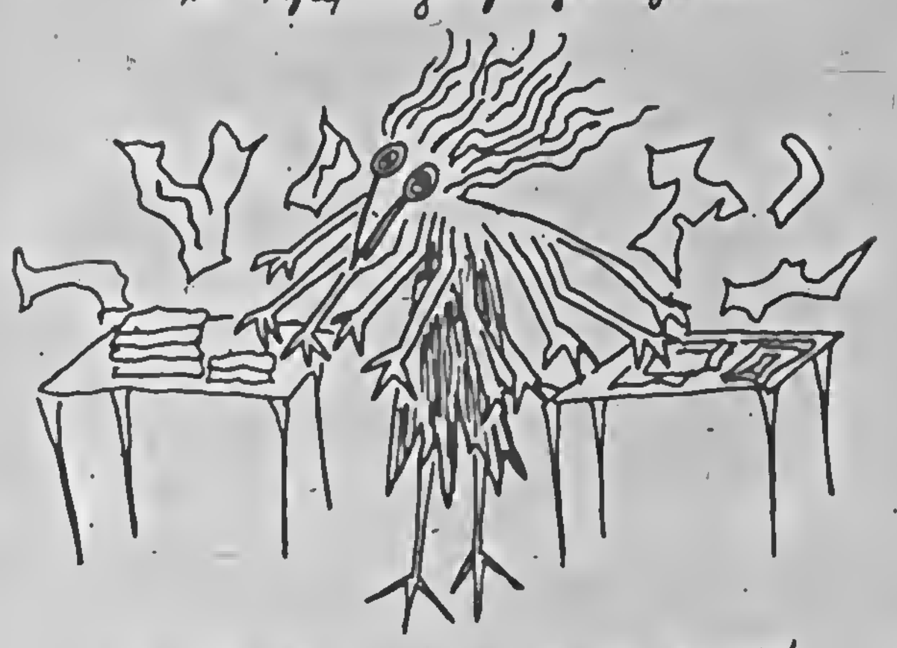
Slow moving, rather aloof, usually observed on periphery of crowd... appears totally uninterested, even bored. Waits until nobody's looking then stealthily buys the oil can with built-in digital thermometer on sale for 50 per cent off.

The Greater Grabhawk



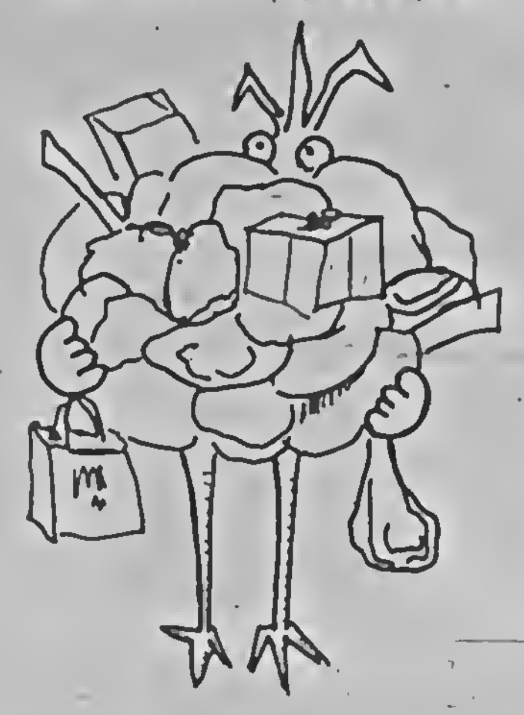
A bird of prey, the G. Grabhawk has virtual telescopic vision with which it can spot a good buy from over 80 yards. Having chosen its target, it will swoop in for the kill, sometimes resorting to violent force, if necessary, to discourage any competition for the item chosen.

The Fifty-eight fingered fowl



A very hyperactive species easily attracted to large, neatly stacked piles of clothing. Has unique appetite for odd sizes and uses its 58 fingers to rapidly dismantle neat stacks of clothing in quest of its prey. Not hard to stalk since it leaves an easy-to-follow trail of strewn merchandise.

The Crested Salesucker



Shown here is the male of the species which has the curious behavior of following the female around as she forages for bargains and stacks them upon him. Another strange adaption: When female screeches, male coughs up a Mastercard.

Clockwise

Change of seasons in the air

by Bob Clock

AS MUCH AS we would like the glorious summer of 1983 to continue indefinitely, there already are signs abroad in the land that our balmy weather is rapidly drawing to a close and that fall is at hand.

Although Labor Day is still almost two weeks away, many summer families already have broken camp and moved back to the cities — in time to get college students off to their respective campuses and youngsters outfitted for school.

The aroma of woodsmoke — missing from Charlevoix for two solid months — returned during Sunday afternoon's rain. It wasn't all that cold, mind you. But it was damp and a few sticks of wood in the stove or the fireplace were enough to dry up the atmosphere indoors.

Another sign of fall is the bountiful crop of tomatoes ripening in backyard gardens. Last year the harvest was scanty and late because of the cold, wet summer. But this year the red bonanza is arriving right on schedule. All of which means that supplies of Mason and Ball jars will have to resurrected from pantries, back porches, ~~basements~~ and the deep recesses of kitchen cupboards to be scrubbed and scalded for this year's supply of chili sauce, catchup and stewed tomatoes.

Of all the aromas in the world, does anything smell better than a pot of chili sauce simmering on the kitchen range? I doubt it. Unless it's woodsmoke on a rainy Sunday afternoon.

So far, however, I haven't noticed any leaves starting to change color. In fact, recent rains have turned the countryside a deeper green than it has been all summer.

SIDEWALK DAYS appear to have been a roaring success, with elbow-to-elbow crowds on Bridge Street for four days. Merchants certainly seemed happy with the the results, many of whom appear to have cleaned out their cellars and are now ready for fresh supplies of merchandise for fall and winter.

We have found the Sidewalk Days sale a good time not only to buy school clothes but also "stocking stuffers" for Christmas. The problem with the "stuffers" is keeping them beyond the range of prying eyes for four and a half months. A secondary problem — which crops up on Christmas Eve — is trying to remember where you hid them.

For many years Charlevoix held its Sidewalk Days between the Venetian Festival and the Waterfront Art Fair. However, mid-August seems to work out better, for both buyers and sellers. There is no point in marking down merchandise too early. And who wants to think of school clothes in July? Certainly not kids.

WHY DO SO MANY summer visitors make so many major purchases while vacationing in Northern Michigan?

I heard an explanation the other day that sounds entirely plausible.

Our local merchants are able to give the kind of personalized service and attention to detail that has all but disappeared in the large, impersonal department stores in the metropolitan areas.

Considering the bother of transporting purchases for hundreds — sometimes thousands — of miles, there has to be a good reason. And this is probably it.

Letters: Pro-weir

Dear Editor,

It is our feeling that the interests of the river would best be served by the placement of a lamprey barrier and temporary weir. Yes, it is an inconvenience to boaters and property owners, who have landscaped down to the river - but the river itself and wildlife would thrive better by a mere physical obstacle rather than the environment altering chemicals now placed in the river.

Furthermore, the river cannot be returned to its precivilized state and can only be maintained in its current "natural" state by the cooperation of local governmental bodies and the State of Michigan. Fish plantings are necessary due to the encroachment of civilization - but to maintain a balance it is necessary to manage these plantings. Without the plantings local fish populations would deteriorate to the point of being almost non-existent.

Every action taken has its pluses and minuses - no action does not seem appropriate when local fish populations are disappearing and lampricides are being dumped in the river. Let's not be paralyzed by a few property owners - who by living near the river, violate the river.

Cutter Mesquite...

Though the ship is now confined to the Great Lakes, the Mesquite's first assignment was in the Pacific during World War II. Following its commissioning in 1943 and shakedown cruise, the ship departed via the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence and the Atlantic with stops at Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk, Va., through the Panama Canal to San Francisco which was to become its homeport.

In January 1944, the Mesquite departed the west coast, arriving in Brisbane, Australia Feb. 29, 1944. During the remaining months of World War II, the ship saw action among the islands that extended from New Guinea north to the Philippines. In January 1946, though the war had been officially over for four months, still the ship was at Manila. In July, it began the long trip across the Pacific stopping at Guam and Hawaii enroute and arriving in California Aug. 15. In mid-October it was enroute to the Great Lakes, passing through the Canal Zone in late October and arriving at Sault Ste. Marie Dec. 5, 1947.

The ship's first skipper was Lt. A.H. Sheppard according to the ship's log.

The ship has not been without its heroics since returning to the routine of its duty in the lakes.

On January 12, 1973, while participating in Operation: Oil Can, the Mesquite along with the USCGC Raritan engaged in combating an engine room fire aboard the taker, Venus, off Escanaba in northern Lake Michigan. The ship reported the fire while three miles off Escanaba as the cutters were breaking ice for the outbound tanker. Tying up at the side of the stricken tanker, the Mesquite dispatched a Rescue and Assistance team with emergency firefighting equipment to the burning tanker which was without power and fire fighting capabilities. The Mesquite's personnel assumed command, and, with the assistance of personnel from the Raritan, extinguished the fire, repaired damage aboard the tanker and removed a casuality from the engine room. The engine room fire was then overhauled and a reflash set with the assistance of the Raritan personnel.

For their courage, diligence and unwavering devotion to duty during the hazardous mission, the personnel attached to and serving aboard the Mesquite on that date was awarded the Coast Guard Unit Commendation Ribbon.

The ship, like all the ships in its class, is named for a flower, tree or bush. Like the bush, for which it is named, the Mesquite is a vigorous, complacent survivor whose characteristics include tenaciousness and versatility.

Big Rock inspection...

reactor and had to be shifted from one side of the vessel to the other as remote-controlled equipment probed interior welds, pipes and nozzles.

Asked if he was surprised at the the sound condition of the 20-year old reactor, Parker said, "No, not really. The Big Rock plant was one of the earliest to be built and I think there was probably a lot of emphasis devoted to detail and solid construction.

"If there was anything unusual about the inspection, it was the difficulty we were faced with by the unique inspection approach," said Parker, "But the difficulties were met and disposed of."

The mechanism used to inspect the interior of the reactor vessel involved a huge tripod erected over the vessel from which a computer programmed ultrasonic probe, along with a television camera, was lowered into the water-filled, 120-ton reactor. Various probe fittings allowed inspection of both horizontal and vertical welds along with detailed examination in and around nozzles in the vessel wall.

Results from the inservice inspection are currently being compiled by Consumers Power Company and are to be forwarded to the NRC within 90 days.

With the inspection, refueling and routine maintenance complete, Big Rock is expected to be put back into service early this week.

Father Nicholas Meyer celebrated the double-ring ceremony.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Sell of Charlevoix and Gainesville, Florida, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John H. Heffling of Winter Haven, Florida.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore her mother's heirloom wedding gown of ivory satin featuring a low sweetheart neckline, long tapered sleeves, and a Chapel-length train. Her veil was an ivory waltz-length mantilla of Alencon lace and pearls.

Cynthia Begley of Tucson, Arizona served as maid of honor. Two sisters, Kathryn Sell of North Carolina and Kimberly Sell of Appleton, Wisconsin, served as bridesmaids, as did Terri Bradley of Charlevoix. They wore tea-length gowns of periwinkle blue chiffon, made with scooped necklines and deep ruffles. They carried arm bouquets of white roses with baby's breath tinted periwinkle blue.

John Heffling served his son as best man. Two brothers of the bride, Randall Sell of Tempe, Arizona and R. Tracy Sell of Grand Rapids, served as ushers.

A reception at the summer home of the bride's parents followed the wedding. Jennifer Sell, a niece of the bride, was in charge of the guest book, while three other nieces, Colleen, Amy, and Heidi Sell, served the wedding cake.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Heffling and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sell at LaCroft Condominium.

Following a wedding trip to southern California, the newlyweds are at home in Gainesville, where the bride is employed as a chiropractic assistant and the bridegroom is attending Holland Law School at the University of Florida.

Guests attended the wedding from Arizona, California, Florida, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, and the Upper Peninsula.

DSO String Quartet plans McCune concert

by ANNE KELLY

The Detroit Symphony String Quartet, formed 12 years ago to be the resident quartet at the Schoolcraft College Music Festival, is enjoying increasing popularity as it travels throughout Michigan. Slated to appear in concert at the Virginia McCune Community Arts Center Sunday evening, September 11 at 7:00 p.m., the Quartet hopes to continue realizing their three goals: "1) to help create and build upon an enlightened audience, 2) to make a lasting contribution to the cultural life of Detroit and Michigan and 3) to give continued life to the great music of composers who have made the very existence of String Quartets a necessity."

A versatile group, The Detroit String Quartet has performed compositions from classical to popular in a variety of settings from the Michigan Governor's innauguration to dinner parties and weddings.

Members of the Quartet include James Waring and Inez Redman, violins; David Ireland, viola, and John Thurman, cello. All four musicians have played with the Detroit Symphony and live in the Detroit area.

Compositions by Arriaga, Pachelbel, Mozart, Borodine and Laudenslager as well as musical vignettes from works of Mancini, Waring, Joplin, Gershwin and Copland will be presented.

Admission for adults will be $5.00. Children and senior citizens, $3.00. Tickets may be purchased at the Virginia McCune Arts Center. Children 12 years or younger must be accompanied by an adult.

Flag football players to report

Candidates for flag football teams are asked to register for the sport at the Charlevoix Recreation Department office by Friday, Sept 2.

This applies to boys in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades who are interested in playing on teams being organized by the Charlevoix Recreation Department.

The deadline for registering for teams is Friday, Sept. 2. The draft is scheduled for 10 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 10, at the softball field according to Dwight Boss, recreation director. A prospective player must be registered to participate in the draft. There will also be a $4.00 registration fee which will underwrite the cost of a team T-shirt which the player may keep.

Coaches and referees are also needed. The flag football program is made possible only by those who volunteer their services as coaches and game officials. If you are interested or know anyone who might be interested you are asked to contact Boss prior to the draft Sept. 10 either at the recreation department at 547-4272 or at home 547-9098.

Swansons are champs

The Charlevoix Men's Slow Pitch League concluded the season Monday with Swanson's K&D defeating Wojan Aluminum 5-3 to capture the league title.

Bob Holtzman, the winning pitcher, gave up 10 hits. Ralph Doan allowed 10. Dave Storm gave the victors a boost with a home run.

Board hears of alternatives to jail

by PEG OHLE

There are many ways of punishing and rehabilitating a criminal besides keeping him in jail.

This message was brought to the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners last week by representatives of Community Justice Alternatives, a group of criminal justice workers serving 10 counties of northwest Michigan from Traverse City.

Citing the high costs of prison incarceration and the deterioration prisoners often suffer while incarcerated, Gary Knapp, director of Alternatives, told his listeners about some of the other ways in which offenders could repay their debts to society.

Among the alternative penalty options which have proven effective for non-violent offenders in this area are Community Service Work, Victim-Offender Restitution, Alternative Penalty Planning, and Supervised Work Release-Employment.

These options punish offenders and provide a needed structure to assist offenders in becoming law-abiding citizens, Knapp explained. They also often provide compensation to victims and they don't cost the taxpayers as much as jail or prison.

As an aside to the problems of crime, Knapp noted that studies show that for every one percent increase in unemployment, there is a four percent increase in crime. Average unemployment in northwest Michigan in 1982 was 17.2 percent. The average unemployment for the region's jail population in 1982 was 52.5 percent.

The success of the offender assistance program is shown by the fact that they have helped 225 ex-offenders obtain employment in the last 21 months, according to Knapp. These offenders are described as coming under an average inmate profile showing him to be a single white male, 17 to 25 years old, unemployed, high school dropout, with a substance abuse (alcohol) problem, who most likely was convicted of a substance abuse or property crime.

Community Justice Alternatives is asking Charlevoix County for $7,436 as its share of the cost of carrying on the program in the County. State funds would supplement any County appropriation.

Sheriff George Lasater did not attend the presentation by Community Justice Alternatives last week but had been fully appriased of the presentation and is supportive of it, according to Knapp.

CITY OF CHARLEVOIX COUNCIL MINUTES

August 15, 1983
8:00 P.M.

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date and time in a regular meeting held in Council Chambers, 210 State Street, Charlevoix, Michigan, with Mayor Staley presiding.

Present: Councilmembers Porter, Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Olach. Absent: None.

The Minutes of the August 8, 1983 special meeting, and August 1, 1983 regular meeting were approved as presented in writing and as recorded in the Council Minutes Book.

A Public Hearing was held regarding a proposed East Dixon multi-family housing project by Jack Uhrick, owner.

Immediately following the Public Hearing, James Elliott, resident of East Dixon and a member of the General Public present, presented a protest petition to the Council. Mr. Elliott stated that accompanying the petition was a copy of a portion of the City Charter that requires a 2/3 affirmative vote of the City Council to change the zoning of any property, if the owners of 20% of the area within 100 feet of the property to be rezoned protest the rezoning by petition. Mr. Elliott asserted that the petition was sufficient to meet the requirements of the charter. The City Attorney clarified that Mr. Elliott's citation was from the State Statutes M.C.L. 125.84, not the City Charter. The City Attorney stated that the petition would have to be examined further to determine whether it met the statutory requirements.

Mr. Elliott then requested Council to vote on the rezoning of the property.

Moved by Councilman Block and supported by Councilman Wood to deny the rezoning of the Uhrick property from R-1 to R-4.

Motion was denied by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Wood, Block and Olach. Nays: Councilmembers Porter, Timms and Roloff. Mayor Staley casting a tie breaker vote, voted Nay. Absent: None.

The following Ordinance was offered and moved for its adoption by Councilwoman Roloff and supported by Councilman Porter.

(Ordinance No. 433 is published elsewhere in this edition of the Courier).

Ordinance was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Porter, Timms and Roloff. Nays: Councilmembers Wood, Block and Olach. Mayor Staley casting a tie breaker vote, voted Yea. Absent: None.

The City Attorney indicated that he would have to undertake further research to determine whether a 4-3 vote was sufficient to rezone property in light of the petition and accompanying statute matters. He also indicated that it would be necessary for the City Clerk to determine whether the petition meets the requirements of the statute.

Mr. Elliott questioned whether the site plan should be considered, given the uncertainty of the rezoning vote. It was generally agreed to consider the site plan, with the understanding that it would be null and void, if the previous vote was determined insufficient to accomplish rezoning.

Moved by Councilman Timms and supported by Councilman Porter to approve the preliminary site plan as requested by Jack Uhrick for a proposed construction of four condominium units on East Dixon, with the following conditions set by the Planning Commission.

1. Screening must be provided on the east and front side, either by berming or hedges.

2. No dumpster is to be located outside of the building.

3. Applicant must provide details of parking area lighting, preferably decorative lighting.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Olach. Nays: Councilmembers Wood and Block. Absent: None.

The City Manager stated that this was a preliminary site plan and further information would be required for final approval, as noted in the agenda packet.

Council generally agreed to authorize the following additional improvements to the West Dixon Park (Fother Charlevoix Memorial):

1. Installation of one old-style street lamp.

2. Sidewalk connecting stairway and benches to West Dixon walk in front of Beyers' property.

3. Boulders placed on beach between entrance to public stairway and entrance to Beyers' stairway.

4. Plant Honey Locust Trees.

5. Trim trees on bank to the northeast of the stairway.

6. Railing along bluff to prevent children playing on the bank.

Mayor Staley informed Council that the Keep Charlevoix Beautiful Organization has withdrawn its request to be exempted from the Community Room rental fee.

Moved by Councilman Timms and supported by Councilman Wood to authorize the purchase of a Centrex telephone system for City Hall and other city buildings.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Porter, Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Olach. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Moved by Councilman Olach and supported by Councilman Timms to amend Resolution No. 83-8-1 by striking "or until February 15th, when a final one time 3% penalty shall be assessed on unpaid bills" in paragraph 4.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Porter, Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Olach. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Council generally agreed there was nothing to be gained at this time by further protesting the draft State Compliance Schedule for the water quality project, as proposed by the Water Supply Division of the Michigan Department of Public Health.

Council generally agreed to appoint James M. Brinker as delegate to the M.E.R.S. convention in Midland, to be held September 22, 1983.

Council authorized the payment of bills totaling $218,166.67.

Council adjourned.

Original contata to be repeated at First Congregational Church

Elizabeth Humphrey

The original cantata, "The Prophecy", composed by Elizabeth Humphrey, will be performed at the First Congregational Church at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, August 28.

Ms. Humphrey, organist at the church in recent years, was commissioned to compose the cantata in celebration of the centennial year of the First Congregational Church which was formally observed in mid-September 1982. This year's presentation will be in recognition and in honor of the Rev. Charles Hastie, who served as interim minister, and the Rev. Philip Schairbaum, newly appointed minister.

The cantata tells, in words and voice, of "Jesus' Ride into Jerusalem", "The Upper Room", "The Crucifiction" and "The Ascension". The solo roles will be sung by Fran Tollas, soprano, Mark Puchala of Traverse City, tenor, Irving Prescott of Bay View and Jerry Staublin of Charlevoix, bass. All sang the same roles in the premier performance of the moving cantata. They are also widely known in musical circles in northern Michigan. The Congregational Church choir augmented by singers from other churches in the area will perform the choral parts of the cantata.

The composer, Miss Humphrey, has a varied background in music. A graduate from McMurray College in Jacksonville, Ill., she studied voice and piano at the Juilliard Graduate School of Music on a fellowship and studied composition under Vittorio Giannini, composer.

Her performance experience ranges from being soprano artist-in-resident at the Bay View Assembly for six seasons to touring extensively in recital on the Community Concert series and appearing as soloist in the Cleveland, Indianapolis, Chicago and Detroit Symphony orchestras. She also taught voice and piano and did some composing. It was at this time she studied at Mercy College in Detroit to become certified as a teacher as well as an organist and choir director.

The public is invited to attend the special performance of "The Prophecy" at the First Congregational Church at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, August 28 and the reception being held in honor of the Rev. and Mrs. Hastie and the Rev. and Mrs. Schairbaum and family at Fellowship Hall.

A free will offering will be accepted to help defray expenses.

Yellow Slickers, Bananas and The Big Yellow Bus

by ANNE KELLY

Whenever I think of back to school, I think of yellow. Yellow is the "con" color. Happy faces, Big Bird, sunshines, and Crayola Crayon boxes. It's the happy color of parents as they wave goodbye to their children boarding the big yellow school bus. It is the happy color of their smiles as they return to their toast and marmalade and morning paper.

Yellow whispers to his neighbor, never shouts. Yellow smiles as he forms circles for show and tell and lines for the drinking fountain. Yellow is mustard on bologna, banana peels in the lunch box and pencils in the bookbag.

Yellow assumes that every child without exception has had his hair cut, nails trimmed, and new tennis shoes purchased and is excited to be toting his tablet off to 3rd grade.

But mothers, and perhaps some fathers, know better. They know that back-to-school is not all yellow.

First of all there's the matter of sleep. The kids have been roasting marshmallows, sleeping out in the tent and watching the Late Show all summer. It's going to take more than a sunnyside up egg to get them up and off to the bus stop at 8:00 a.m.

Then there's the question of clothes. Back-to-school creates a clothes panic. For twelve weeks they have been playing and sleeping in bathing suits. Now they feel the need to make a major investment in the J.C. Penney's Back-to school catalogue. Not one child has decent socks or underwear or clean tennis shoes for the gym floor, as it turns out. Like the plants in the garden, they have become growing things which with water and sunshine have grown three inches or more. Pants are too short, shirts are too tight or don't have the right emblem on them.

Back-to-school is expensive. The kids need school glue, green erasers, folders, thermos bottles, backpacks, tote bags, 10-speed bikes, warm-up suits, basketball shoes, new designer jeans and water-proof fall jackets with a zipper pocket.

Somewhere a child waits in line for the bus in his new yellow slicker. It's the yellow thing to do for his mother. Soon he will get laughed out of the line by the older kids who are wearing waterproof jackets with the zipper pocket. Dry is not as important as "in" for first graders this fall.

Back-to-school is expensive and VISA is not yellow.

Finally there is the myth of THE BIG YELLOW BUS.

At 8:40 a.m. a small, helpless kindergartener stands in wait for his No. 39 bus. He is clutching his mother's hand. The mother, or perhaps a father, is reassuring the kindergartener that riding the big yellow bus is fun. She, or he, is privately hoping that the child will not have to go to the bathroom before it comes. THE

First Day of School

BIG YELLOW BUS approaches the parent with kindergartener. The bus squeaks and grinds to a halt. It's mouth opens, ready to devour the kindergartener. Every one is laughing. The bus driver has not majored in Child Psychology and is anxious to get the show on the road. The kindergartener's hand is perspiring almost as much as the parent's. The parent kisses the child good-bye, but he only digs his tennies in deeper. He will not board the monster. Who are those strange people? Where will the bus take him? Will he really return?

Mothers, and some fathers know that the only thing about the bus that is yellow is its color. They know that it smells like orange rinds or somebody's throw-up, is unbearably noisy and has bullies lurking in the window seats.

Back-to-school is not as yellow as it's cracked up to be.

In truth, there will be silver braces and brown-rimmed glasses that think they'll die if they show up in 7th grade. There will be blue moods when tears fall on unfinished social studies assignments. There will be red faces of embarrassment over mispronounced words, and white knuckles of restraint on parents who would like to wring the neck of the kid who humiliated their kid. There will be purple grape juice stains on white blouses and orange Bubble Yum stuck in blond braids. There will be green envy over the outfit or boy that someone got and someone didn't. And yes, there will even be black moments when parents wonder whether their child will ever make the grade.

But whenever I think of back-to-school I think of yellow. Maybe I've been conned.

TRAVEL

Toronto is Terrific..........

by Meg Brown of Bayside Travel

A Mini Vacation to Toronto is just the thing to enhance your life this fall season. Toronto by Via Rail out of Sarnia, Ontario makes the trip relaxing end provides the opportunity to view the beautiful fall colors from the comfort of a railway car —everyone is free of the driving responsibility.

The hotels and restaurants in this cosmopolitan city are so varied that a traveler's individual preference can be catered to and met.

Here are a few highlights of this marvelous city:

CN Tower gives you a view of the city that is superb, but you may find it preferable to go up the tower elevator independently, and have a cool drink and an appetizer rather than go in a tour group which costs about the same as a cool drink in the lounge.

Casa Loma is an opulent old castle/mansion which is fun to tour and appreciate how the wealthy once enjoyed life.

Eaton Centre is an inter city mall that abounds in great shops and is within walking distance of most city hotels.

Art Gallery of Ontario is a contemporary gallery building which offers a full spectrum of art — from the old masters to contemporary Canadian artists. And nearby is the great China Town of Toronto — second in population only to San Francisco's Chinatown. It's wise to note that most of the shops are closed tight on Sunday in all of Toronto — except for Chinatown — which is alive and fun on a Sunday afternoon.

The Bloor-Yorkville shopping and dining area in midtown Toronto is a must to visit. Bloor Street is known for its high fashion stores, movie theatres, trendy restaurants and a major museum. Yorkville is a favorite place to stroll with its gaslights and fine old restored buildings. It is a focal point for antique and art dealers, designer clothing and chic nightlife.

You'll be pleased to discover how easily you can get across town by mass transit. Thanks to people-minded planning, Metro Toronto mixes the historic and the modern in a distinctive architectural blend.

All this can be most affordable too. There are some great package rates with hotel and train transportation included. Your autumn will be more fun and memorable when it includes a trip to terrific Toronto!

A big step...the first day of school.

Your child may be excited about starting kindergarten but at the same time be concerned about such things as:

...will I have friends?

...will I get lost?

...will I get back home all right from school?

If your child does not know any of the other children who will be in his class, try to get the names of some of them — either from the school or by asking around the neighborhood.

Visit the school together. Explore the school building, find their classroom, find the bathroom, play on the playground. Try to arrange to meet the teacher. If possible, invite the teacher to your home for a meal or dessert and a short visit. There is something about sharing food that breaks down walls and builds acceptance by children. This will help them feel that the teacher is someone they already know when that first day of school arrives.

If your child will ride the school bus, see if you can arrange for him to meet the bus driver and "tour" the bus ahead of time — it's a monster compared to the family car. Talk about bus rules and the importance of paying attention to the driver, especially if your child will have to cross the road when getting on or off the bus.

If your child will walk to school, take practice walks with them along the shortest and safest route. Talk about having respect for the property of others — lawns, plants, etc. As you walk, point out laodmarks along the way that will help them remember the route. Do the same thing for the walk back home — things look different coming from the opposite direction. After you have followed the route together a few times, let your child lead the way. While they have the security of yor back-up, letting them lead will build confidence (for both of you!) in their ability to do it. Emphasize the importance of walking on the sidewalk or, if there is oo siewalk, walking on the left side of the road facing the oncoming traffic. Also emphasize the importance of obeying traffic lights and of crossing the street only at corners or crosswalks — checking for traffic in all directions. One of the best ways to reinforce these safety rules is by your own consistent example.

As parents we dutifully warn our children about strangers — don't talk to strangers, don't get into a car with a straoger, doo't take candy from strangers, don't let strangers into the bouse. We need to go a few steps further than that though.

First of all, we must be real specific about what we meao when we use the term "stranger". This is necessary because children under the age of eleven consider adults as persons with power, and authority figures to be obeyed. Also, if an adult is pleasant and friendly when talking to a child, he may quickly lose the status of "stranger" in the child's eyes.

Teach your children to ask themselves these three questions to help them decide whether or not the person they are confronted with is a stranger:

1. Do I know his or her name?
2. Do I know where he or she lives?
3. Have I ever seen him or her before?

If the answer to any of the questions is "no", then they are to consider te peraoo a stranger and respond accordingly.

SECONDLY, besides giving our children all the "don'ts, we oeed to give the "do's" as well. What do you want them to do if a stranger comes to the door, etc.

FINALLY, we can reinforce appropriate behaviors by doing some role playing with our children — rehearsing with them the responses that we want them to use. Actually doing it will help them to remember better thao just hearing what to do.

Make Color Work For You

Many women feel uncomfortable wearing colors they do not particularly like, even though those colors might be exceptionally flattering on them. It's well for us to remember that we wear clothes and colors as much for others as we do for ourselves. That's why you should learn to accept the colors that enhance your appearance, even if they aren't your favorites.

On the other hand, your favorite colors may not look best oo you. But that doesn't mean you can't wear them; they're ideal for accessories such as handbags, belts, scarves and jewelry. They can add just the right touch to whatever you're wearing without dominating your appearance.

A major factor in choosing the color of your clothing should be the color of your hair.

No entries went unrecognized at the Flower Show

by FRAN MARTIN

The first Flower Show presented by the Charlevols Area Garden Club was highly successful with entries in every category.

In addition to the Flower Show whose entries were judged, the show featured an invitational exhibit of esotic and unusual flowers and plants along with quilt and photography eshibits which were all well received by the large crowd attending the show.

Flower shows have been a part of the Garden Club movement since its inception in the late 19th century. The clubs that sprang up all over the country were organized show members could share garden skills and plants.

The shows became a way of sharing the beauty and learning to arrange flowers became an important Garden Club activity.

A show also gives people a chance to get acquainted with new varieties and to see new ways of using plants.

The entries were judged and ribbons awarded by a panel of judges composed of Mrs. Farwell G. Webb and Mrs. William B. Heermann of Traverse City, Mrs. Henry J. Cawthra of Walloon Lake and Mrs. Charles Raley of Midland.

In speaking of the show, the judges were quoted as saying the exhibits were outstanding and every arrangement was worthy of recognition.

Receiving blue ribbons for their entries in the artistic design category in which their were 18 divisions were: Betty Bartlett, Marian Beatty, Esther Bleha, Pbylils Block (4), Carolyn Christiansen, Portia Crawford; Carol Dutcher, Lark Foley; Derith Lane, Wilma Stabnick, Arla Staublin (2) and Lillian Swinton.

In the horticulture entries in which there were six categories and 28 divisions the blue ribbon winners were: Mary Biddick, Anna Burlin, Phyllis Block, Marjorie Dinwiddie (2), Carol Dutcher (4), Nancy Fowler (2), Jolyn Hall, Karen Joy, Julia Leedy, Nancy Murray, Mary Helen Riggle, Estber Ringler (2) Bonnie Staffel, Lillian Swinton, Pat Wakulat (3) and Lucy Witthoeft (2).

In the educational division, Annabell Webb was awarded a blue ribbon; Bird Awareness and Conservation, Edith Close; Conservation, Barbara MacArthur and Jeanne Heininger.

Invitational eshibits which were outstanding but not judged were entered by Henry Felix, Judy Williams, Helen Baker, Charlotte Kline, Virginia Smith, Maggi Wilson and Lucy Witthoeft.

Second, third and honorable mention ribbons were also awarded with every entry receiving recognition.

Winner of the Charlevois Area Garden Club quilt was Sandy Miller of Charlevoix.

Mrs. Kate Brady was general chairman of the Flower Show; Mrs. J.O. Crawford is club president.

Centurion moored in Round Lake.

Two distinguished guests

by DAVE KNIGHT

To Charlevoix oldtimers, the two stunning sailing craft in the harbor last week might well have bearkened memories of the Sylvia and other stylish vessels of a bygone era of opulence.

Paying a brief visit on Thursday and Friday was the 110-foot brigantine Centurion while the 76-foot schooner Raindancer was still tied up at the municipal yacht basin this week on extended layover.

Centurion, fresh off the ways of the Palmer Johnson yard in Sturgeon Bay, Wisconsin, is on an advanced shakedown cruise that will take her through the Straits

Health Department cites city for non-compliance

EPA to spend $480,000 to find TCE source

by DAVE KNIGHT

Almost half a million dollars will be spent on a search, starting in a matter of weeks, for the source of trichloroethylene (TCE) contamination of Charlevoix's municipal water supply according to the Environmental Protection Agency.

Of the 46 contamination sites in Michigan awaiting clean-up funds from the EPA's Superfund program, Charlevoix is one of only a handful to be included in the Superfund budget for fiscal 1982-83 which ends September 30.

A $480,000 allotment has been made by the EPA for a series of 15 to 20 test wells to be drilled by contractors over the nest 14 months. The first test wells are to be drilled near the municipal well at Lake Michigan Beach with subsequent drillings fanning out from that location to determine from which direction the contamination is flowing.

The most recent chemical analysis of Charlevois's water revealed a TCE concentration of 32 parts per billion, a level that has been generally consistent over the summer months. The industrial solvent suspected to cause cancer in humans was first detected in the Charlevoix municipal water supply in September, 1981.

While either federal or state funding may be available for clean up of the contamination source if and when it is identified, no Superfund money may be used for development of an alternate source of water for the city.

The matter of finding a new source of water became all the more crucial for Charlevoix city officials last week with the issuance Wednesday of an "order of proceedings" against the city by the state Department of Public Health (DPH). The order charged the City of Charlevoix with non-compliance with the state's Safe Water Drinking Act and mandated the abandonment of the existing city well by January 1, 1987.

In its order, the DPH said, "the construction and operation of the (City of Charlevois's) water works system is inadequate and that, because of the presence of trichloroethylene, continued use of the current water supply source represents a public health hazard."

The Department also cited a vulnerability of the present water works to flooding.

Until the situation is corrected, ordered the DPH, no extensions of water mains to new customers may be constructed. The city is also required by the order to conduct its own chemical analyses of the water on a regular basis. Arrangements for such testing have already been made, however, with a Grand

County Board votes for weir; but resolution is cloudy

by PEG OHLE

Charlevoix County has given the Department of Natural Resources their "go ahead" approval on constructing a sea lamprey barrier and fish harvest weir on the Jordan River.

By a 4 to 2 margin, the County Board of Commissioners voted last week to approve a resolution which would permit a barrier and harvest weir to be built on the Jordan three-quarters of a mile south of Roger's Bridge in South Arm Township.

East Jordan residents jammed the meeting room and cheered the Board's decision.

However, a second look at the County Board's resolution brings forth the realization that the DNR does not yet really have County approval for the weir.

It states that "the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners endorses construction of a sea lamprey barrier and harvest weir on the Jordan River and requests the Department of Natural Resources to move forward pursuant to state statute."

State statute dates back to 1851 and states that any person or corporation wishing to construct a dam (barrier) across a stream must present to the Board of Supervisors (now County Board of Commissioners) a petition asking for permission to construct such a dam and setting forth a full description of it. The statute further states that before the matter is considered by the Board of Supervisors, a notice of public hearing on the dam must be published in a local newspaper and mailed to all owners of land which would be affected by the dam.

As of Monday morning, no such petition had been received by the Charlevois County Board of Commissioners, no notice of a public hearing published, and no date set for a public hearing. This is all yet to come.

According to County Commissioner Don Smith, who presented the resolution, what the County Board's action means is that the County Board endorses the idea of the barrier (dam) and weir so the Department of Natural Resources may now proceed according to state law.

The vote ended several months of consideration of the probject by the County Planning Department and the County Board, during which

Students, teachers, administrators poised for first day of school

by FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Public Schools will open on Wednesday, September 7, for the 1983-84 school year.

School will begin at the usual times for all students in the first through the twelfth grades Supt. Gordon W. VanWieren said. Classes at the high school will begin at 7:50 a.m., at the middle school at 8:05 a.m. and at the elementary school at 9 a.m.

Classes will be dismissed at 2:20 p.m. at the high school, 3:33 p.m. at the middle school and 3:30 p.m. at the elementary school.

The cafeterias at all three schools will be open on the opening day of school. Prices for meals will be as before: 90 cents at the elementary school and $1.00 at the middle and high school. Meals for adults will be $1.50.

There will be a full schedule of classes on opening day.

The first day of school for kindergartners will be Thursday, Sept. 8. On this day parents must bring their child to school and come and get him-her that day. There will be no kindergarten bus run on this date.

When you bring your child to the Kindergarten room, parents are asked to check the tag to make sure the name and address are correct. It is easier for the children and the teachers if the parents do not stay in the kindergarten room. However, parents are invited to have coffee in the gymnasium and meet parents of other children while waiting to pick up their child if they wish.

The special schedule for Thursday, Sept. 8, will be as follows: All children outside the city limits with the exception of those on the M-66-Ironton-Marion Center route will be in school from 9:30 until 10:30 a.m. Thursday morning, Sept. 8. All children within the city limits plus those on the M-66-Ironton-Marion Center route will be in school from 1 until 2 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 8.

The regular attendance schedule will begin Friday, Sept. 9, when the children will be bused to school for the first time. The morning class will be in school from 8:55 until 11:30

St. Mary's has new principal

St. Mary's Parochial School is scheduled to open Wednesday, Sept. 7, according to Sister Jean Karen Woloszik who has been named principal. She will also teach the fifth grade class.

Parents who have not registered their students at this time are encouraged to do so before the first day of school. Sister Jean Karen said she would be at the school or the convent from now until school opens for the convenience of parents who wish to enroll their students. They may call either the school or convent for appointments.

Classes will resume at the usual hour, 9 a.m. and a full schedule of classes will be held on the opening day of school, Sept. 7.

Classes will be dismissed at the usual hour, 3:05 p.m.

The same faculty will be returning. They include Jeanne Dubey who will teach the first grade; William Neis, second grade; Jack Gebott, third grade; John Gagnon, fourth grade and Sister Jean Karen, fifth grade as well as principal.

Sister Jean Karen comes to Charlevoix from East Tawas where she served as principal-teacher for the past seven years. A member of the Dominican Order, she is a native of Alpena. She has taught in New Mexico and at Detroit, Saginaw, Grand Rapids and East Tawas in Michigan. She has been teaching for 16 years.

For Saints And Sinners

by Pastor James Raum
Church of the Nazarene

In our work-worshipping world, learning to enjoy life is no small task. Often those who need to learn how to use their leisure time are the Christian workers. I think of this segment of society when I see the familiar Datson commercial that shouts, "We are driven".

In the scriptures, God gives His children a beautiful balance for life. Christ's life was an example. If that is the way He lived, then it makes good sense that we do the same.

In Ephesians 5.1 NIV, we are told to "Be imitators of God". The Greek word here is where we get our word "mimic". We are to be Christ like!

Leisure time is more than idle free time not devoted to a paid occupation. Some of the most valuable work is done at leisure, and is never paid for in cash. Labor is a compulsory activity. In leisure, we do what we like to do.

God has given us four guidelines from Genesis: He creates, He communicates, He rests, and He relates.

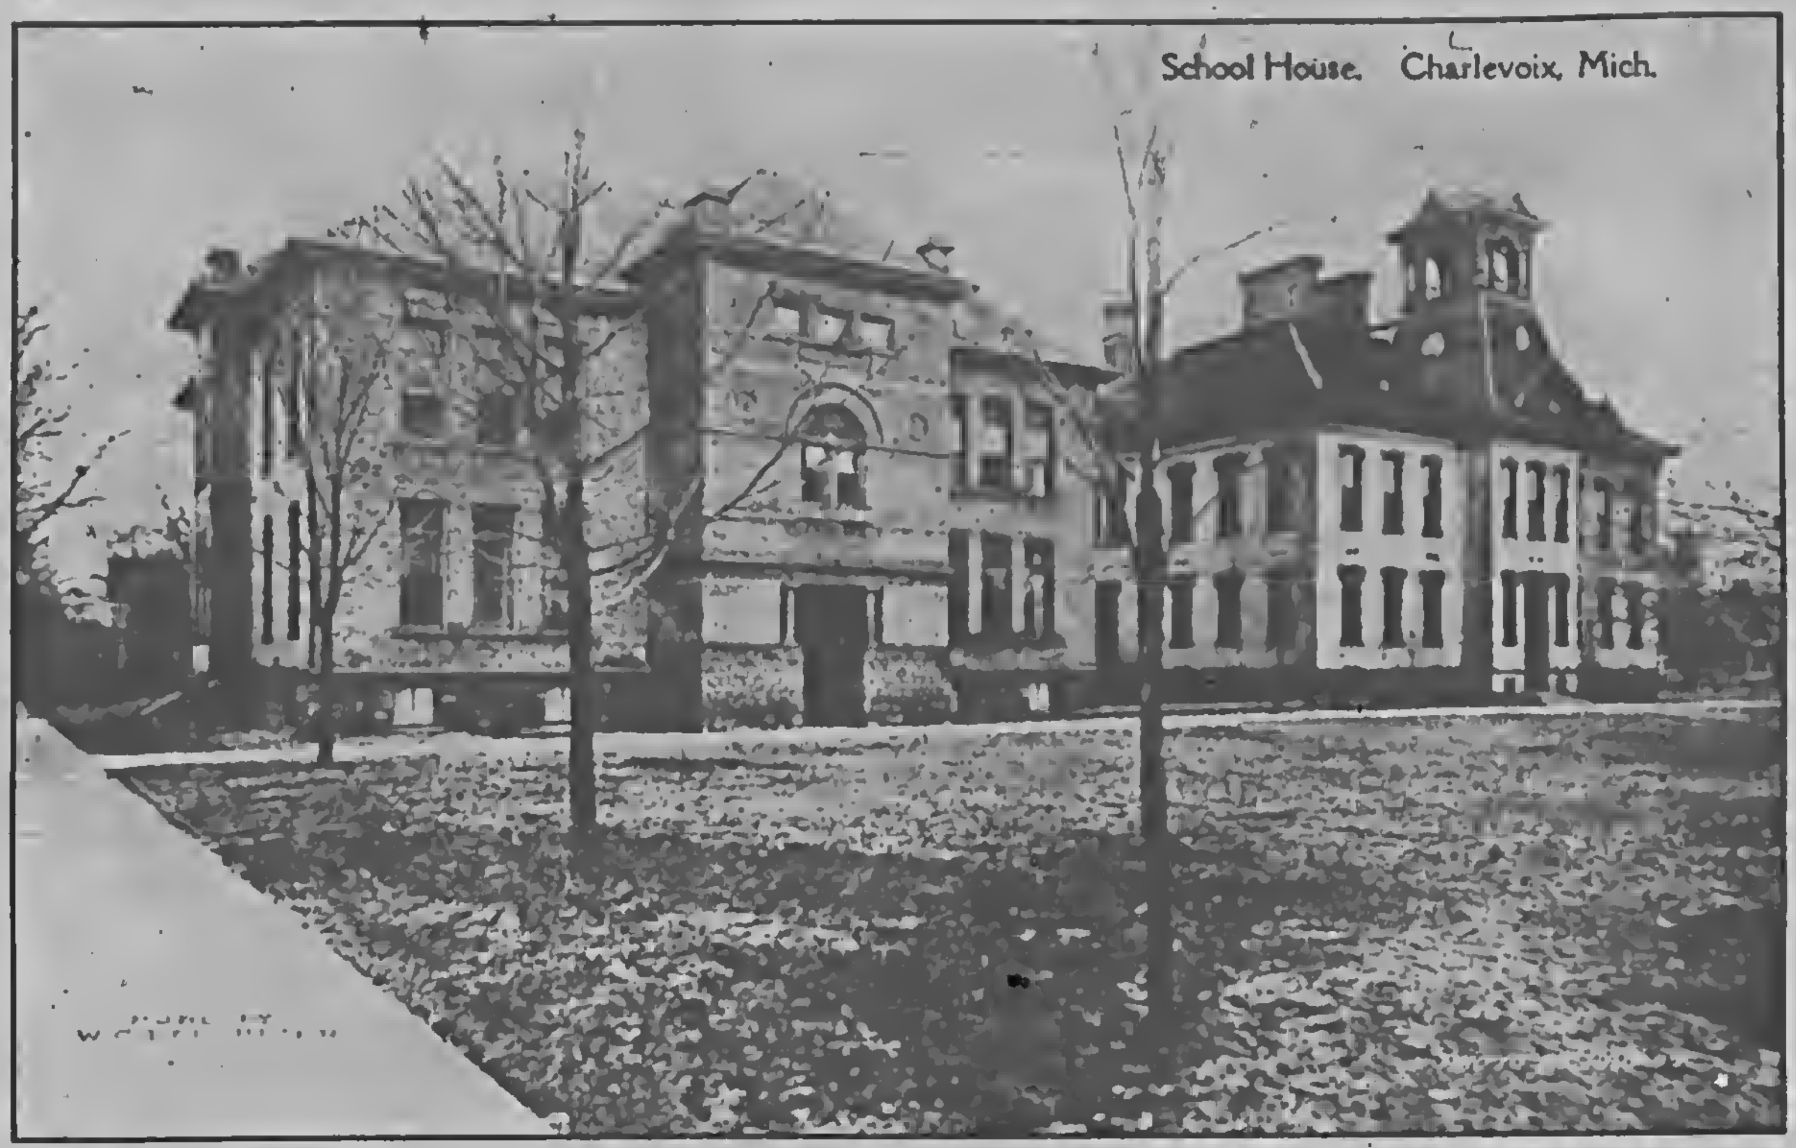
Creativity - God was engaged in the act of creation. He began with "formless and void", which lacked meaning, beauty and purpose. Leisure time can have meaning, beauty and purpose.

Communication - God has been in the communication business since "That's very Good", when He viewed creation. Leisure also means communication with each other. Unless we are careful, the speed of our lives will reduce us to gutteral grunts, frowns, stares, and unspoken assumptions.

Rest - God rested and each of us needs our rest. God deliberately stopped working. If God felt it was necessary, then how much more does man need it?

Relating - God felt that relating was so important that He saw a need for Adam to have someone to talk to, or relate to. He made Eve.

As Ruben Welsh said, "We really do need each other."



Charlevoix Yesterday

Up until 1960, the Charlevoix High School was located downtown just east of the present Middle School site. The Central Grade School was next to the High School, and the Charlevoix County Normal School used two rooms in the Grade School building. In the picture above, the High School building is shown on the left and the Grade School building on the right. The Central Grade School housed grades through eighth. There were also two other grade schools in town for many years, both offering classes through fourth grade: the Lincoln School was on Garfield Avenue where the Legion Hall is now located, and the Washington School was on Petoskey Avenue where the Charlevoix Federal Credit Union is now located.

OUIL: Local penalties are getting stiffer

by PEG OHLE

John Doe, 19, Charlevoix, operating motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. $405 fine and costs, 10 days in County jail, one year's probation, court referral program, and six months' suspension of driver's license without restrictions.

Regular readers of the Courier will recognize the above as a sample report from the 90th District Court in Charlevoix. It means that John Doe appeared before District Judge Harvey C. Varnum and was found guilty of operating a motor vehicle after drinking too much of an alcoholic beverage (OUIL).

He was fined $405, sentenced to 10 days in the Charlevoix County Jail, was put on probation for a year (during which time he must report regularly to his probation officer), after screening for alcohol problems was told to enroll in an alcohol abuse program (at a half-way house or some other program such as Alcoholics Anonymous), and was forbidden to drive his automobile for six months under any circumstances.

These consequences of conviction of what is commonly called "drunk driving" are meted out regularly in the local court, following guidelines set up by the State. While a jail sentence is not mandated by the State, it is part of the consequences in Charlevoix County, ranging from a minimum of three days to a maximum of 90 days for the first offense of OUIL.

Fines are mandated by the State, ranging from $100 to $500 for the first offense of OUIL, and going up to $500 minimum and $5,000 maximum for the third offense, which is a felony.

State law calls for suspension of the driver's license from a minimum of six months to a maximum of two years for the first offense of OUIL. At the judge's discretion, the convicted person may be given a restricted license permitting him to drive under certain circumstances, such as back and forth to work.

The unfortunate person who is convicted of the third count of OUIL under State regulations will have his driver's license revoked for a minimum of five years, and under no circumstances will be be permitted to drive during that period.

State law also mandates that persons convicted of OUIL submit to an assessment of their alcohol and-or drug problems. This is done before sentencing by a professional therapist who uses a variety of procedures in making the assessment. If a real alcohol or drug problem is discovered, the convicted person is given a choice of seeking treatment as mentioned above or serving additional time in jail.

If a course of treatment is decided upon, the convicted person must pay for the treatment, although public funds are made available in certain circumstances.

Another alcohol-drug related driving offense is operating a motor vehicle while impaired (OWI), for which the consequences of conviction are much the same as for OUIL, including jail sentence, fines, loss of driver's license, and substance abuse screening and treatment programs.

"Drunk driving" is not uncommon in Charlevoix County. So far this year, 75 people have been arraigned in District Court for OUIL. All suspected cases of alcohol-related driving violations are arraigned for OUIL but some are later reduced to impaired driving (OWI).

Of course, these 75 cases represent only those who were "picked up" while under the influence of liquor or impaired by liquor. No one knows how many others were on the street and not apprehended.

About two-thirds of all persons arrested for these traffic violations have an alcohol problem, according to Laurie Howell, District Court Probation Officer.

"People minimize what's going on. Alcoholics say they don't have a problem, and their families want to deny it, too, but the number of drunk driving deaths each year indicates it is a real problem," Mrs. Howell says.

Statistics indicate that the largest percentage of drinking and driving violators come from the late teens and early twenties age group, which is an added incentive to provide treatment for alcoholism as part of the consequences.

"If they can be treated while they're young, they have a better chance of rehabilitation," is one argument for the program.

OFFICERS AND CREW of the U.S. Coast Guard Cutter Mesquite which is stationed in Charlevoix observed the 40th anniversary of the ship's commissioning Friday by accepting a new commissioning plate donated by the Marine Iron and Shipbuilding Co. of Duluth, Minnesota, builders of the Mesquite. Lt. Cmdr. Robert E. Young, skipper of the Mesquite, accepted the plaque on behalf of the crew.

Medusa names Schmidt as new plant manager

by DAVE KNIGHT

John Schmidt of San Bernadino, California has been named plant manager of the Medusa Cement Company Charlevoix plant.

Schmidt took over last week from Thomas Timm who has been acting plant manager for the past two years. Timm will remain at the plant as assistant manager.

The management change follows a summer in which Medusa has been the subject of increased concern by both local citizens and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources in regard to dust control.

Though Schmidt had not had a chance to fully review the situation as of last week, he said he was anxious to resolve any problems of unneccesary dust emanating from the plant.

"I am going to work to the best of my ability to understand the problems and correct them," said Schmidt. "From what I have seen already, this plant appears to have the most advanced equipment available to control dust emissions. The precipitators, bag collectors and other dust control equipment installed here I know to be of sufficient capacity to do the job."

Knight on the Town

Crime is flagging

by Dave Knight

A recent story on the wire services told of a service veteran who, while attending an American Legion convention on the west coast, noticed one evening that the light on the American flag outside the convention hall had burned out. The patriotic chap proceeded to spend the night with a flashlight aimed at Old Glory, thus fulfilling the requirement that the flag be lit whenever left flying after sunset.

Chances are the respect for the flag shown by the dedicated Legionnaire may have dated back to a time in his life when he was given a much more difficult assignment in regard to preserving the honor of his country's flag...and his country.

Whatever his motivation, we could use the guy in Charlevoix. And along with a flashlight, we should equip him with a 12 gauge and a load or two of rock salt.

For some bizarre reason, it has become almost impossible to keep a flag flying in Charlevoix. They are being stolen at an incredible rate.

To persuade the Submarine Veterans organization to put their monument in Charlevoix's East Park some years ago, local member Ben Gill offered to personally see to it that a flag always flew over the stone marker. Little did he know what kind of financial burden such an obligation would turn out to be.

Thieves have made off with three of his flags already this year, one of which was triple stitched and worth $90. The others were not quite as expensive – $50 apiece – but the year's total is still running up. Gill's most costly year to date was two years ago when he had to fork over $580 of his own money to replace stolen flags.

"Can't figure out what they're doin' with 'em all," says Gill. "My flags are all clearly marked down the side so if any mothers see a marked flag in their kid's room, I'd sure like to know about it. I won't prosecute...I just want my flags back."

Two area businesses that fly the Stars and Stripes prominently, Midwest International and Kit Carson Lumber, have been hit hard, too. Midwest lost enough American flags plus their international flags that they now bring them all in at night instead of maintaining their nicely lit display.

Carsons go through about three a year. And those 10' by 15' editions aren't the cheap ones. Dick Kenney was particularly saddened by the loss a few days ago of an experimental flag made out of newly developed material that a company had loaned Carsons to see how it would wear. That was one of two flags that were stolen "bang, bang", one right after the other, said Kenney.

There is no flag flying at Kit Carson right now because the last thieves cut all the halyards before they left.

The Charlevoix Area Historical Society lost their flag as did the city utility department. Seems to make no difference who the victim is.

Perhaps the Winchester Funeral Home suffered the ultimate indignity. Not only did someone rip off their flag one night a couple weeks ago, the nervy crook pulled the whole flagpole right out of the ground and took that, too! Anyone see a guy walking down State St. with a flag pole lately?

Police Chief Jack Mol says this year's toll is about average. He advises flag owners to take preventive action such as tying the halyards up high on the pole, splicing in wire or cable near the cleet and encasing the cleet in a locked box.

Even those measures, he admits, cannot foil the determined thief.

In the great scheme of things, stealing American flags may not be the most heinous crime under the sun. But it's getting downright frustrating for those patriotic citizens who have enough pride in their country to fly the flag, only to be victimized time after time after time.

If one of the cuprits is ever caught, I hope he or she is sat down in front of a sewing machine, given a book on Betsy Ross and handed about 300 orders to fill.

Letters: Trustys are not trustees

Dear Mr. Knight,

As a personal acquaintance of Bob Clock and a reader-subscriber to your paper for some ten years, I should like to compliment you and Ms. Peg Ohle on the well written and most interesting article in your August 24th issue on the County Jail's vegetable garden.

However, as the retired Sheriff of Antrim County, I must admit that it took me some four years to convince the members of our Department that "a convict granted special priveleges because of good behavior" (see Noah Webster's various writings) was a trusty and not a trustee!

As a duly elected Trustee of Torch Lake Township for over seven years, neither the other members of the Township Board nor I wish to be considered a "reliable convict"! But unless your reporters and proof readers learn the difference between trustys and trustees, I'm afraid that your readers might get the wrong idea!

Fred H. Backstrom

Ed. note: Mr. Backstrom is absolutely correct. However, it is not our able reporter who doesn't know the correct usage; it is our editor who went through the story and changed every "trusty" to "trustee" and who will, from now on, trust his reporters.

Clockwise

No common sense

by Bob Clock

LAW ENFORCEMENT, admittedly, is one of the toughest jobs going. Lawmen not only face life-and-death situations on a daily basis but they are expected to make snap decisions that are correct — time after time after time.

Perhaps if their collective record were not so superb, breaches of common sense on their part would not stand out in such bold relief.

Sunday evening the Clocks were returning home after a brief visit to Traverse City. The traffic on the broad parkway skirting Grand Traverse Bay was fairly heavy, but was moving well within the speed limit.

We were on the curb lane, when all of a sudden brake lights of a dozen cars ahead of us lit up like Christmas trees, tires squealed, vehicles skidded sideways.

"An accident," I thought as I saw the flashing lights of a patrol car stopped dead in my lane.

One by one we merged with traffic in the inside lane and I was more than a little chagrined when I passed the patrol car to see that the officer merely had stopped a speeder and was calmly writing a ticket, totally oblivious to the fact that he was imperiling the lives and limbs of approaching drivers by blocking one entire lane of the four-lane highway.

Of course, there is no excuse for such stupidity. None whatsoever. Rather than stop on the parkway he should have followed the culprit another couple of blocks and hauled him over on a side street. Or gotten the fellow's license number and mailed him a summons. Or radioed ahead and have another officer make the arrest where traffic was less congested.

So far as I know, no accident resulted from the officer's inconsiderate action. But there could have been a pile-up of dramatic proportions. And someone could have been hurt or killed.

Don't get me wrong. Speeding is deadly. But it doesn't make any sense at all to put other lives in jeopardy just to nail one.

End of sermon.

NEW SERMON: Mashed potatoes.

There ought-a-be-a-law against otherwise superb restaurants serving chemically laced mashed potatoes to their unsuspecting customers. At the very least, the restaurateur should be required to post the fact that he and his help are too lazy to peel potatoes and that his bill of fare includes "instant potatoes" — just like they used to do when oleo arrived on the scene.

Of course some folks simply adore instant mashed potatoes. But I think you'll find they tend to be younger people who just don't know the difference between fake potatoes and real Irish spuds boiled until tender in lightly salted water, drained, mashed, slathered with milk and butter and whipped into a food fit for gods.

I've been told that some brands are better than others. But so far as I'm concerned they all taste like Agent Orange.

City water...

Rapids firm and are scheduled to begin next month, according to utility superintendent Ed Whitley.

A more immediate deadline of January 1, 1984 has been set by the DPH for the city to decide whether there is a sufficient groundwater source to supply the city's needs or whether another means of supplying water will be neccessary.

A hydrogeological study, authorized by City Council earlier this summer, is presently being conducted by Traverse City engineer Art Gosling to locate potential locations for new city wells.

Gosling said last week that results from test well borings on the city-owned Mt. McSauba property have all but eliminated that location from consideration. Gosling cited the unfavorable geologic structure of the Mt. McSauba area along with an insufficient quantity of water available as factors in the decision.

Testing will now focus, said Gosling, on the city golf course on Charlevoix's north side and the municipal airport land on the south side.

In a July 26 evaluation of eight potential sites submitted to City Manager Robert Hunt by DPH District Engineer Timothy Benton, the golf course site was rated as favorable but a note of caution was made in reference to the airport because of the possible proximity of the site to the as yet unlocated source of TCE contamination.

The city has 30 from the date of issuance of the DPH order to request a hearing.

Two visitors...

of Mackinac and into the North Channel before heading back to Sturgeon Bay for final adjustments.

On board for the cruise is a crew of four from Palmer Johnson along with the owner-to-be and his wife. Neither crew members nor Palmer Johnson corporate officers would reveal the identity of the prospective owner, an 80-year old retired Englishman. Following the shakedown and final work in Sturgeon Bay, Palmer Johnson is expected to make delivery of Centurion around October 1. She will then embark on a circumnavigational voyage with Tahiti as a final destination. The owner is reportedly planning to live on the boat and sail primarily in the South Seas.

During her visit to Charlevoix, Centurion flew the white British ensign on her stern, the green panda flag of the World Wildlife Fund on one mast and the red and white pennant of the Royal Yacht Squadron on the other. The Royal Yacht Squadron, the initials for which were also displayed on Centurion's stern, is one of the most exclusive boating fraternities in the world. Among the craft's fittings were signal cannons and other accoutrements with which R.Y.S. members exchange required greetings when they meet at sea.

The bright white, all-aluminum Centurion has a deck length of 92 feet. Her 4,380 square feet of sails are all self-furling with lines all running abaft the helm to a bank of electric winches. The substantial amount of electicity needed to power winches, air conditioning and a host of other luxury features on the craft is augmented by two unique adaptions.

Atop the canopy over the helm are a complement of solar cells to take advantage of the tropical sunlight under which Centurion will eventually dwell. Also, the propeller shaft has a clutch configuration that allows it to be disengaged from the engine when the boat is under sail and spin freely to turn a pair of 250-amp DC alternators.

The propeller itself is of variable pitch; Centurion's power plant is a 3306 six cylinder Caterpillar diesel engine. Belowdecks, Centurion is fitted out just like the home of the prospective owner. Included is a well-stocked library with a full collection of the works of Jules Verne. There is also a luxuriously styled salon and one guest stateroom.

Raindancer is also a relatively new craft having been launched in September of 1980 from Mahone Bay, Nova Scotia. She is on her first foray into the Great Lakes having spent previous summers in such areas as Florida, Bermuda, Nova Scotia and Newfoundland and winters in the Caribbean.

Owner Ronald Otto of West Branch is reportedly planning to winter Raindancer in this area and further explore the Great Lakes next summer.

The beautifully burnished, wood-tone hull of Raindancer is of Angelique hardwood on white oak ribs. The 62-foot deck is of teak and the traditionally rigged masts of spruce. She has an 18-foot beam, draws eight feet and is 50 feet at the waterline. She sleeps six, has a hull speed of 12 knots and is powered by an eight-cylinder, 160 horsepower Perkins diesel engine.

The 40-ton schooner takes a minimum of three or four to sail.

time DNR officials personally presented their views about the need for the barrier and weir and defended the location they had selected for it.

Most of the County opposition to the barrier and weir centered around the location selected by the DNR. It is in the section of the Jordan River designated a Wild Natural Scenic River. When it was so designated, it was supposed to be kept free of barriers of any kind because of the river's fragile nature.

Many people who fought for the Wild Natural Scenic River designation are still around and they spearheaded the opposition to putting the barrier and weir at the selected site.

Those campaigning for the weir were mainly local fishermen and businessmen who saw it as a boon to fishing activities and consequently to business.

The DNR Fisheries Division must still receive approval from the Jordan River Natural River Zoning Board and the DNR Land Resource Programs Division. They will both meet in East Jordan on September 8.

If and when the barrier and fish harvest weir are constructed, they will be used to catch coho and chinook salmon as they work their way upstream to spawn. Early this summer, 300,000 chinook salmon were planted in the Jordan by the DNR.

The salmon caught in the weir would be sold to Tempotech of Hart, which is under contract with the State to pay three cents a pound for the salmon. Tempotech would process and market such salmon products as fillets and jerky.

Many persons have expressed concern over Tempotech's low price contract, saying it would be better to give the fish away to state institutions and needy individuals outside. The fact that while Tempotech is harvesting, the river would be closed to fishermen from its mouth to the weir also brings some disgruntled comments.

The County Commissioners who voted against the barrier and weir were Thomas Breakey and Ralph Harmon.

Breakey drepresents East Jordan and South Arm Township on the County Board and was facing many of his constituents when he cast his dissenting vote. He noted that the petitions used by the East Jordan Chamber of Commerce to help "sell" the weir did not state that it would be placed in the Scenic River portion of the Jordan. He also said there were not "thousands of signatures" as advertised, but only 494, and of these, only 125 were from East Jordan. Breakey has been a proponent of placing the weir at the mouth of the river.

Harmon, who lives in Boyne Falls and represents the eastern part of the County, said he voted against the weir because the wording of the resolution gave the DNR permission to do just about anything they wanted. He also expressed his doubts that the DNR would be able to, or even try to, police the Jordan River from its mouth to the weir during spawning season as the resolution calls for.

a.m. and the afternoon class from 12:55 until 3:30 p.m.

Parents are reminded to bring the Kindergarten permit slip issued by the school nurse when they bring the child on Thursday, Sept. 8. More specific information regarding the bus schedule will be given to parents on Sept. 8.

Parents of kindergarten children may pick up room assignments at the K-5 school Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 6 and from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 7. Children not registered for school may also be registered Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday.

Four new teachers will be joining the faculty with the opening of school. Three of the four will be replacing those on leave. The fourth will be a part-time French teacher. They are Cathy Silberborn, Erik Lundteigen and Pauline Austin. Miss Silberborn, a Central Michigan graduate who did her practice teaching here and Mr. Lundteigen, a Michigan State graduate, have been doing substitute teaching in the area. Mrs. Austin, a Northern Michigan University graduate is returning to the classroom after two years on the faculty and time out to raise a family. All three are majors in Elementary Education. The fourth is Cynthia Haynes of Harbor Springs, an Alma College graduate with majors in French and art and a minor in English who will teach three sections of French at the high school and one session of exploratory French at the middle school.

A blindfolded Dr. David Strawbridge is shown just before being spirited away by his staff for a special "kidnapping" party.

Dr. Strawbridge 'kidnapped' by grateful office staff

"My goodness, crime seems to be running rampant in Charlevoix this summer" was the remark made by a passerby who had witnessed a "kidnapping" at 303 Belvedere Ave. Friday afternoon.

The "snatch", however, was not for real. It was just the staff at the office of Dr. David Strawbridge blindfolding the unsuspecting dentist and taking him "on a ride" that ended at Brownwood on Torch Lake where the group hosted a "thank you dinner" honoring the dentist and his wife, Beth.

"It was just our way of thanking him for all he had done for us. It wasn't much compared to what we had received but we did want him to know we appreciated it" a spokesperson for the staff of seven said about the incident.

Borrowing a van which was decorated for the occasion, the staff whisked both Dr. and Mrs. Strawbridge to the dinner site where they had arranged for a "fly-over" with the plane towing a pennant bearing an aerial thank you.

The "thank you" was for the series of seminars known as "Quest" sponsored by a group of dentists who believe that though knowledge and techniques are important, people are more important. The Quest seminars took Dr. Strawbridge and the staff, at his expense, to Chicago twice, to Phoenix for a week and, more recently, to Reno, Nevada.

"In the beginning, we wondered if the time away from our families made the seminars worthwhile. However, after the first four-day weekend in Chicago we began to get the feel of it and now we're sold on it" a spokesperson said. Quest, she explained further, emphasizes positive attitudes, enthusiasm and optimism not only in one's work but in everything one does.

Among quotes for the staff, Kelly Kenifeck said "I've learned to express my feelings. Not keep things inside"; "It has opened up communications with the staff and my family" was Marilyn Wood's summation; Jeanne Seymour said "My life is more fulfilling. It has shown me new ways to show a loving and caring attitude. I am now more aware of who I am and what makes me happy"; "It has affected a lot of other area of my life. Not just at the office" was Nancy Rajewski's comments on the program and Moon Price had this to say: "Finding more meaning, more fun after 30 years of dental hygiene has been very exciting to me".

Thus, the person who was concerned about the "crime wave" in Charlevoix can rest assured it was all in fun, the "snatch" witnessed on Belvedere Ave.

Grandvue tag day a success

The annual Grandvue Medical Care Facility Auxiliary Tag Day held in July netted $2,491.15 exclusive of Beaver Island it was reported at the August meeting of the facility's Auxiliary held at Grandvue Medical Care Facility.

The funds will be used to help underwrite the cost of 12 wheelchairs for use at the facility following action taken at the recent meeting.

The treasurer's report presented at the meeting revealed that the Auxiliary had a total of $4,512 in a checking account; $1,591 in the memorial account and $2,364 in a passbook savings account. All funds are earmarked for purchase of equipment, furnishings and-or supplies for the patients or the facility.

At the meeting, Connie VanHoesen, Mary Margaret Geiken, Shirley Schumaker, Virginia Halstead, Betty Yenni and Delores Rasch volunteered to help with the recent Grandvue patients' picnic.

During the business meeting, $125 was contributed toward the Christmas picture project headed by Dr. Robert G. Martin who takes pictures of patients and has them processed for patients to give to their families at holiday time. The funds underwrite the cost of film, processing, cards and postage. This has become an annual project at the facility.

Betty Yenni, auxiliary president, named the following committees to serve during the 1983-84 year: Finance - Betty Boswell, Lucille Dolwick and Phillis Malpass (ex-officio); Membership - Mrs. Geiken and Mrs. Malpass; Nominating - Mrs. Schumaker, Agnes Darbee and a third member to be named; Program - Jean Korthase, Vi Manglos and Kathy Sewell; Publicity - Connie VanHoesen; Scholarship - Mary Glenna Malpass, Mrs. Rasch and Edith Chamberlain.

Mrs. Arthur Rouse will serve as liaison between the auxiliary and the Department of Social Services.

At the close of the business session, the patients joined the auxiliary members for a program of entertainment by a senior citizens group known as the Merry Musical Singers of East Jordan, who, in gay Nineties garb, presented a show entitled "Old Time Summer Fun". Mrs. Yenni thanked the group for its appearance at the meeting.

It was announced that the December party for the patients would be hosted by members from Charlevoix.

The Grandvue Medical Care Facility Auxiliary meets the second Thursday of every month at the facility. The meetings are usually held at 2 p.m. Membership is open to anyone interested in the welfare of the patients and the operation of the facility.

Ellsworth to open

The Ellsworth Community School will open on Tuesday, September 6. Teachers will meet for meetings and orientation in the morning.

Buses will start out at noon and high school students will meet in the gymnasium for orientation. A walkthrough of classes will follow until 3:15 p.m. Buses will then return students to their homes.

Kindergarten will not start until Wednesday, September 7, with the Kindergartners leaving for home at 11:15. Kindergartners must have had all of their shots and innoculations.

Lunch will be served on Wednesday, September 7. We can allow no charges this year without permission from the office. Prices for lunches will remain at last year's level: Grades 1-6 at $.70 and Grades 7-12 at $.80 per day. The prices will be in effect until rising cost causes an increase. The greater our participation the less likely that a boost in price will be necessary. Encourage your child to take school lunch.

Free lunches will be available upon application. The state requires proof of parental income this year. Applications will be available the first week of school. Reduced price lunches are also available to qualifying students at $.40 per day.

Local BMXers to hold Race for Life for cancer

A BMX "Race for Life" to benefit research on cancer will be held at the Charlevoix Township BMX track at Shanahan Field on Saturday, September 3.

The racing will start at 11 a.m. with registration scheduled to be held from 9 to 10:30 a.m. Regular BMX racing will follow later in the afternoon with registration from 3 to 4:30 p.m. and races starting at 5 p.m. Big wheels races are also scheduled to be held at 11 a.m. and 5 p.m. for youngsters five years old and under.

Local BMX racers will be going door-to-door to solicit donations for the race, the proceeds of which will be given to the American Cancer Society.

The "Race for Life" concept was developed in 1981 when American Bicycle Association President Merl Mennenga learned of a talented young BMX rider named Todd Kingsbury of Waterford, Michigan who had contracted leukemia. Kingsbury, 11, was a promising BMX competitor when he eventually died in September of 1981.

Through the ABA, over $223,000 was raised that first year in the "Race For Life" series in which 130 tracks all over the United States participated.

In the Charlevoix "Race for Life", there will be no fee for first-time riders other than the insurance fee. This will apply to both the 11 a.m. and 5 p.m. races.

Local BMX organizers also announced last week that the Charlevoix Township track has been selected to host the 1984 Northern Michigan State Championship races next year.

For more information on the "Race for Life" or other BMX races, those interested may contact Della at 547-9116.

Almost since the State Legislature was formed, a supplement to laws pertaining to local units of government has been issued annually. The supplement describes legislation passed in the session of the legislature just completed about which local officials must be aware.

The 1884 supplement describing changes in laws pertaining to Michigan Township governments reveals much about the duties of Township officials almost 100 years ago. We have picked some examples at random:

"It shall be the duty of each supervisor, as soon as possible after entering on the duties of his office, to ascertain the taxable property of his township, and the persons to whom it should be assessed and their residences. For this purpose, he may require every person of full age and sound mind, and the proper officer of every corporation, to make in writing a full and detailed statement, signed by the person making it, of all the taxable property of such person or corporation.."

"It shall be lawful for all persons owning land on opposite sides of any public highway to construct culverts or cattle-passes under such highways; provided, formal application is made to, and permission obtained from, the commissioner of highways of the township in which said land is situated for such construction; and provided further, that such construction and maintenance shall be wholly at the expense of such applicant, his heirs and assigns."

"The board of school inspectors shall cause the township library to be kept at some central or eligible place in the township, which it shall determine. Such board shall also, within ten days after the annual township meeting, appoint a librarian for the term of one year, to have the care and superintendence of said library, who shall be responsible to the board of school inspectors for the impartial enforcement of all rules and regulations lawfully established in relation to said library."

"The several chairmen of township boards of school inspectors may examine and license teachers for their respective townships until the county school examiners are duly elected and qualified.."

"Whenever any householder, hotel keeper, keeper of a boarding house, or tenant, shall know or shall be informed by a physician or shall have reason to believe that any person in his family, hotel, boarding house, or premises is taken sick with small pox, cholera, diptheria, scarlet fever, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officer, the president, or the clerk of the board of health of the township, city, or village in which he resides."

"After the annual township meeting, and on or before the first Monday of May, in the year eighteen hundred and eighty-four, the township board of each organized township in the State, and the

Outdoor Report

from the DNR District Office at Gaylord

All trout streams have been producing good catches of brook, brown and rainbow until the weekend rains that caused all streams to be extremely high and colored at the present time. These conditions should return to normal by mid week.

Salmon success continues very good on Lake Michigan near Charlevoix and Petoskey. Most of the chinook salmon are taken in 70 feet of water. Lake trout and salmon success has slowed somewhat on Lake Huron with some fair catches still being taken near Rockport.

Pressure and success is near normal on the inland lakes for panfish, bass, walleye and northern pike.

Most all State Parks and Forestry Campgrounds continue to report vacancies and are expected to do so until the Labor Day weekend. Reservations can be made at State Parks but not at Forestry Campgrounds.

Blackberry picking is presently good and will be very good for the next ten days to two weeks. Some good blueberry picking is also being done at this time.

The 1983 bear season will open September 16 and run through September 25. Bear license required and permit needed for dogs. Check 1983-84 Hunting and Trapping Guide for northern counties open.

Soon we will be into the fall season but some of the wildflowers blooming at this time would include Silverweed, Orange Hawkweed, Lavender Lily, and Butterflyweed.

Generally speaking Forest Fire conditions are safe, 1983 hunting license are available at dealers, both State Parks and Forestry Campgrounds have vacancies.

As Probate Court Guardian, Lois Flum's job is caring for others

by PEG OHLE

There are many jobs in the human services field these days, but one of the most human has to be that of Probate Court Guardian.

Lois Flum has been a Probate Court Guardian in Charlevoix and Emmet Counties for the last seven years and presently has about 60 clients for whose welfare she is responsible.

Mrs. Flum's clients are assigned to her through Probate Court. Most of them are indigent or possess few worldly goods. Some are mentally handicapped, some are just plain elderly, some are incapacitated in other ways, and many have no living relatives. They may be in a nursing home, a foster care home, or a hospital. But they all need help and Lois Flum is there to give it to them.

As part of her job as Guardian, Mrs. Flum appears in Court in behalf of her clients; she provides Probate Court with reports on their condition; she supervises their financial matters; she arranges for their care and treatment; she applies for all Federal, State, and Local aid to which they are entitled; she attends meetings to represent her clients; she disposes of their personal and real property; she visits them regularly and keeps their families and friends informed of their condition; but most of all, she is available seven days a week, 24 hours a day for emergency calls which may be for a night-time visit to a hospital to sign an authorization for surgery, or any other emergency which may arise concerning a client's care.

Mrs. Flum has been known to spend the night holding the hand of a dying client. "No one should die alone," she says. And on other occasions she had arranged and attended funerals where only she and a member of the clergy were present.

Mrs. Flum's case load in Charlevoix County averages between 16 and 20 persons. Her Emmet County case load is somewhat higher, running up to 45 persons. Presently, 14 of her clients are in the Petoskey Nursing Home, so her weekly visits there are all-inclusive. The social worker there volunteered the information that Mrs. Flum "handles the affairs of 14 of our patients in an eficient, caring, professional manner...her services are indispensable to their welfare...(she) is more to these people than just a conservator."

Lois Flum appeared before the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners recently to ask that she be made a regular employee of Charlevoix County. (She has made the same request of Emmet County). Presently, the office of Probate Court Guardian in Charlevoix County is largely unfunded.

Lois Flum

Mrs. Flum receives $160 a month, working out of an office in her home which is furnished with telephone, answering machine, typewriter, files, and all other necessary equipment. She receives no re-imbursement for office expenses or for out-of-pocket costs, such as gas, oil, repairs and maintenance, telephone, paper and envelopes, postage, etc. Neither does she receive any hospitalization insurance, paid vacations, paid holidays, or any other form of fringe benefits.

The same situation exists in Emmet County except that Mrs. Flum receives $12.50 a client per month rsther than a flat rate.

What Mrs. Flum is asking of Charlevoix and Emmet Counties is that she be put on a salary basis of $10,000 a year (to be shared by both counties on the basis of caseload in each county), that her social security taxes be shared, and that she be re-imbursed for office and out-of-pocket expenses resulting from carrying on her duties.

According to local attorney Jeff Van Treese, who accompanied Mrs. Flum when she appeared before the Board of Commissioners, this financial arrangement would bring the local office of Probate Court Guardian within the compensation range of other County Guardian offices.

Mrs. Flum is no stranger to caring for others. Born and raised in Pellston, she went to work for Probate Court after handling the affairs of a relative who until then had been neglected. She is the natural mother of six girls and two adopted girls and the grandmother of 19 (boys and girls).

Schmidt named...

Schmidt brings to Medusa 13 years of experience in the cement industry. For the past eight years he has been manager of the Riverside Cement Company in Riverside, California. That plant, he said, had an "equal or greater" problem with dust emission and was located even closer to a residential community than Medusa. Citizens there were concerned about the dust, he said, but they were not as well organized as in Charlevoix.

While at Riverside, Schmidt was also appointed by the San Bernadino County Board to serve as a member of the Advisory Council to the South Coast Air Quality Management District Board. The board, mandated by the State of California, consists of local government officials and is responsible for acting on regional air quality issues in the Southern California area.

The six million ton market for cement in Southern California alone, said Schmidt, is about equal to the market in the entire Great Lakes region. As a result, there are six cement plants serving the area, four of which are approximately the same size as the Medusa plant.

According to Schmidt, however, none are as technologically advanced as Medusa.

"This plant (Medusa) is known across the country as having the best, most up to date technology available in the cement industry," said Schmidt, "I have also found the personnel to be very well trained with a lot of experience in cement manufacturing."

Area lakes offer perfect medicine for diving fever

by ANNE KELLY

Ron Gooding is Assistant High School Principal at Chippewa Hills Consolidated School System in the Mount Pleasant, Michigan area. His wife, Jan, is the Community Education Director there. But being educational administrators is only one interest they share. The other is scuba diving.

"About 13 years ago, when Ron was a teacher, one of his students was taking a scuba diving course," recalls Jan. It was not long afterward that Ron caught "diving fever" for soon be went out and purchased two complete sets of diving gear. Jan got the picture. Theirs would be a scuba diving relationship. And so it has been ever since for the Goodings and eventually their four children.

In 1979, Ron received diving certification at Northern Michigan University in Marquette. Since then, the Goodings have become increasingly active in the sport.

Ron offers two types of courses in scuba diving: The Intensive Course, which meets

Ron and Jan Gooding

Shown above are two flags that signify to boaters the presence of divers under water; on the left is the traditional, flourescent orange flag and on the right is the new flag which is colored blue and white.

Two of the divers gear up for a Lake Charlevoix expedition.

twice a week for four hours each session for three weeks, and the Non-Intensive, which is a 6-weeks course meeting once a week. Each session involves 2 hours in the classroom and 2 hours in the pool. And each course, be it the Intensive or the Non-intensive includes a field trip to the Charlevoix area for diving experience.

"This area has so much to offer for divers," Jan explained. First, divers practice skills and techniques "beach diving" off Depot Beach. Next, they are introduced to the "shallow (40' max.) dive. For this one they explore the wreakage of the Kukla (Al Capone's legendary craft) out in Lake Charlevoix. Finally, the "Great Lakes dive" takes the students to a 60' max. dive to take in the underwater shrine off the Petoskey harbor. The Gooding family and their diving students camp in various campground and State Parks as part of the excursion.

The maximum number of diving groups trained in the course of a year is six. Ron usually has 6 students and one helper with him on the dives. Students equipment is top of the line and is equipped with a secondary air supply. Divers also use the buddy system for additional safety.

Who signs up for scuba diving these days?

According to Jan "there's an increasing number of women, father and son teams and divorcees. Youngsters may become junior divers at age 12 and may be certified at age 15. Just about all students of scuba diving are the adventuresome type.

The only real fear in diving is not "will I run out of air?" but "will boaters come too near?".

Recreational boaters must observe the 100 foot from the diving flag safety rule. The Goodings explained that they fly both the old flourescent orange flag and the new blue and white on their inner tube markers when they dive.

Scuba diving as a sport is becoming increasingly popular according to Jan Gooding. Be on the look out for strange creatures from the deep surfacing as you sun a Depot Beach. It may be the Goodings with the Scuba-do's.

Committee to study recreation

by ANNE KELLY

The newly appointed Recreation Advisory Committee, of which Michael Davis of the Charlevoix County Youth Activities Program has been named chairman (see Courier, August 24), will be committed to the goal of spotlighting recreation around the state.

At a recent interview, Davis spoke philisophically about the need for emphasis on providing the facilities, means and maintenance for leisure time activities in Parks and Recreation Programs.

Recreation programs deal with "life beyond the basics", the "quality of life" which everyone refers to today, Davis explained. They provide monetary assistance for local communities to have the nature trails, softball diamonds, soccer fields and tennis courts they want for their residents. But the monies are a State concern. This is where the Recreation Advisory Committee (R.A.C.) comes in.

The Land and Water Conservation Fund was established in order to provide this assistance for outdoor recreation. But in 1981-82 the fund was taken out of effect. Although it has been reinstated, it provides only limited funding for park development and aquisition at the present. The R.A.C. has been formed to fight for the cause, so to speak, and to provide a sounding board for local communities as regards recreation.

Officially the R.A.C.'s purposes are:

--"to Act as a representative advisory committee to advise the Natural Resources Commission and the Director of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources on all matters relating to recreation, particularly on local aspects."

—and to "Share its views on recreation with the Governor, the Legislature and the public in general."

The 15-member committee of which Davis is chairman and David Laidlaw of Milford, Michigan is vice-chairman, will meet monthly in Committee seeks to pinpoint state's needs

Lansing to promote recreation, to implement local programs and to keep the public informed about the committee's work and progress. It is charged with the reviewing and possible rewriting of criteria for the new Land and Water Conservation Fund. Working with the Department of Natural Resources, it will be responsive to community recreation needs, the building involved and the maintenance of facilities.

"A lot of laws written for recreation were written at the turn of the century," Davis pointed out. The Recreation Advisory Committee hopes to review and revise State recreation laws. Other objective will be:

–to host public hearings on recreation

–sponsor Board and Commission workshops

--disseminate information about the R.A.C.

–establish new Park districts for Michigan

–host a fall conference - seminar

–Get the "Bottle Bill" (which could bring in as much as $20,000,000 for recreation) back as an item of consideration for possible funding

–work on the State Comprehensive Outdoor Recreation Plan (SCORP)

–promote "Michigan For The Fun Of It" as a theme which may take up where "Say Yes To Michigan" leaves off.

A considerable undertaking, the committee's work is an endeavor which Davis finds challanging and is anxious to commence.

The up-coming agenda for the Sept. 13 R.A.C. meeting will include: reviewing criteria for the Land and Water Conservation Fund and sponsoring the October conference on recreation to which every private agency in the state that deals with recreation will be invited.

"The Recreation Advisory Committee wants to find out what the State of Michigan can do for local recreational needs and will send the results to the governor," Davis concluded. "Working with the Recreation Services Division of the Dept. of Natural Resources, we feel that we can be responsive to community needs."

The C&O swing bridge slated for removal.

Efforts under way to try and save it

Swing bridge coming down

by FRAN MARTIN

A Charlevoix landmark since the early 1890s, the C&O railroad bridge over the channel from Round Lake to lake Charlevoix, is scheduled for removal this week.

The decision to remove the bridge followed the earlier abandonment of the rail line by the company.

The Don Meghar Company of Saginaw has been contracted by the C&O to remove the span. the salvage company is scheduled to move equipment to the Belvedere Club property Tuesday in preparation for the removal of the bridge which has spanned the channel since before the first train came into Charlevoix on June 26, 1892.

The announcement made Friday by the U.S. Coast Guard that traffic into and out of Lake Charlevoix would be halted from midnight, September 7 until noon September 9 while the salvage operation was in progress triggered a move by city fathers, the Keep Charlevoix Beautiful membership, Charlevoix Area Historical Society and interested residents to seek a court injunction until more information regarding the action on the part of the rail company is forthcoming.

Mayor Kenneth A. Staley said Monday, "There are a lot of questions regarding this that we'd like answered before the dismantling of the structure begins. There are just things we'd like to know before the bridge is gone."

He added that he would be in touch with the city attorney and city manager Tuesday before taking any action.

It was, in fact, the foresight of the city fathers more than a century ago

Varnum drops charges against Reibel, Parsons

Charges of tax evasion against Castle Farms Music Theatre owner Arthor R. Reibel of Charlevoix and concert promoter Bradley Parsons of Okemos were dismissed August 29 by 90th District Court Jodge Harvey Varnum at a preliminary hearing.

Varnum cited a state law that does not allow tax agents to first gather evidence from an individual and then use it to prosecute him in dismissing the charge against Reibel that he failed to file state income tax and single business tax returns for the years 1976 through 1979.

The charges date back to a search three years ago by state officials, with assistance by local law enforcement personnel, of Reibel's home and office at the Castle. Hauled away from the search were a safe and several cartons of financial records.

Said Reibel following the dismissal, "There are certain rules to abide with and the state did not abide with those rules."

Charges against Parsons were dropped following dismissal of the charges against Reibel on grounds, said Varnum, that the two cases were so closely associated.

The state attorney general's office has not yet announced whether it plans to appeal the rulings.

Scott Beatty

County Prosecutor Scott Beatty to resign

Charlevoix County Prosecuting Attorney Scott T. Beatty has announced his resignation to be effective September 19.

Beatty said this week he plans to remain Charlevoix, however, and enter private pratice of law.

Beatty was named county prosecutor in 1978. One highlight of his term in Charlevoix County was the largest drug investigation in the county's history last year which resulted in 86 arrests.

A 1969 Michigan State University graduate and a graduate of the Wayne State University Law School, he served as assistant prosecuting attorney in Berrien County prior to coming to Charlevoix.

He resides in Charlevoix with his wife Kathleen, a registred nurse, and two children.

Said Beatty, "It is with some sadness that I leave the office of prosecuting attorney. My years as prosecutor have been both productive and personally satisfying. However, now it is time for a professional change.

"I would like to take this opportunity to thank all those involved with my office: my staff, the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners, and the citizens of Charlevoix County for making my years as prosecutor enjoyable and productive."

Mark Beaudoin awaits his chance at MSU

by DAVE KNIGHT

For Charlevoix's Mark Beaudoin, just the opportunity to think, talk and play football for about 14 hours a day is enjoyable enough.

But even more exciting to the Michigan State University sophomore linebacker is the thought of being on hand for the beginning of a new era in Spartan gridiron history.

The new era, the Perles Era, begins officially this Saturday when new coach George Perles leads Spartans into battle against non-conference foe Colorado for the 1983 MSU season opener in East Lansing.

Beaudoin is currently nursing a hamstring tear sustained in spring practice and will probably not see action in Saturday's game. But that fact has not appeared to diminish his enthusiasm one iota.

"I feel real good about this season. I think everyone connected with Michigan State should feel good about it. To be a winner, you've got to start out believing you're a winner and Coach Perles has us believing," said Beaudoin in an interview last week, "Psychologically, the team is really up."

Considering the depths to which morale had sunk following the team's 2-9 season under Coach Muddy Waters last year, there was really only one direction to go. And Perles, says Beaudoin, has team the team heading right in that direction.

"He is a very good leader," said Beaudoin, "I really like his philosophy. He doesn't put up with any crybabies or any flashiness. No garbage, just good, simple football."

Beaudoin is coming off an impressive freshman year in which he saw sufficient action on specialty teams – and made the most of the opportunity – to raise more than a few eyebrows.

Following an outstanding career at Charlevoix High School during which he played both ways but excelled as a power running back (1305 yards his senior year), Beaudoin became the first Charlevoix grad to be offered a full four-year scholarship to MSU. Coach Waters recruited Beaudoin to play defense, more specifically linebacker.

Making it this year in that position is not going to be any cakewalk. Linebacking happens to be one of MSU's more well-stocked areas and at inside linebacker, Beaudoin's position, the competition is the hottest. Starter Carl Banks, for instance, has been predicted to be one of the few MSU players capable of attracting post-sesason honors this year.

As of last week, Beaudoin said he was 4th or 5th on the depth chart behind such other capable candidates as Jim Morrissey and Tony Bell. Highly touted freshmen such as Pal Shurmur from Divine Child and Shane Bullough will also make things interesting.

Beaudoin's mission was not made any easier last spring when, in a scrimmage one week before the traditional Green and White Game in which he was to start, he went into the splits as he made a lateral move toward a runner and was hit at that vulnerable instant by a 280-pound lineman. The result was a hamstring tear, a painful injury that takes a long time to mend.

"I am at about 85 percent right now," said Beaudoin last week, "But I'm keeping my head in there and plan on playing some football this year."

The Spartans are in the two-a-day practice mode right now with the intensity climbing toward a hoped-for peak at Saturday's opener.

Beaudoin and his teammates are out of bed at 6:45 a.m. every day. Every player then reports to the

Oral history workshop brought back life-like memories

by PEG OHLE

Oral history came alive at the recent workshop of the Michigan Oral History Council, held at the Harsha House in Charlevoix.

Robert Morgridge of the Charlevoix Historical Society opened the meeting by playing a tape of one of his oral interviews, an interview with Ross and Hilda Alexander of Ironton. As some 30 oral history "students" listened, the Rosses told about the early days of Ironton, about the Ironton Ferry, the Pine Lake Iron Company, the local churches, a local resort, and many local resorters.

(For Ironton Ferry buffs: In 1886, Charlevoix County bought the ferry, which was man-powered, from a private operator; in 1887, the County sold the ferry to another private operator, Joe Tuthill; in 1891, the ferry was equipped with a gasoline engine; in 1900, Sam Alexander took over operation of the ferry and continued until 1948; in 1926, the Charlevoix County Road Commission began operating the ferry; in 1927, a steel ferry, costing $92,000 replaced the old wooden one; in 1927, Ripley featured Sam Alexander in his "Believe It Or Not" cartoon, making him and the ferry famous.)

The most often expressed comment by listeners of the tape was that it was nice to actually hear the voices of the speakers. Hearing their inflections, tones of speech, pauses in speech, and other speech peculiarities made what they said more real, several listeners volunteered.

After playing the oral tape, Morgridge showed a slide film picturing early Ironton and using the information obtained in the Alexander interview. He is enthusiastic about this type of recorded history.

To illustrate his interviewing techniques for Workshop participants, Morgridge interviewed Bob Miles another Charlevoix Historical Society member, who has donated hundreds of his photographs of early Charlevoix to the Society. As they looked at pictures of the several bridges that have spanned the Pine River Channel since the City's founding, Miles dated their years of service and explained their characteristics.

Marj Brazer of Ann Arbor was another speaker at the Workshop. She has taped many interviews and told her listeners how to get started. She said that oral histories were useful for family records and geneology purposes, for topical research, and for building archives.

In interviewing for family records, Ms. Brazer cautioned that young people as well as older people be heard. "Sometimes young people have a greater knowledge of family history than their grandparents," she said.

Topical research may be on any subject – folklore, local history, organization history, political history, industry, even games. In doing this kind of research, Ms. Brazer stressed the importance of focusing on the subject and not being bogged down in extraneous material. She also warned not to change any of the information gleaned in the interviews except in cases of error.

In using tapes to build archives, Ms. Brazer noted that it is important to select the right people for interviews so the whole story is told. She also cautioned about storing tapes in places with proper temperature and humidity. They are so new that their life expectancy has not yet been determined.

Glen Ruggles, a native of Elk Rapids, showed the film "The River's the Same", showing the early days of that town, which he produced. He used 300 slides from early pictures of Elk Rapids and information obtained by tape-recording interviews with several early residents and others. Like Morgridge, Ruggles is enthusiastic about the value of such films not only in teaching early history, but in showing the development of a community. He believes they could be profitably used by chambers of commerce, service clubs, business organizations, and others.

Geneva Wiskeman, another oral history enthusiast, told Workshop participants how she conducts an interview, how she puts people at ease, how she might communicate with interviewees by previously arranged hand signals, and suggested that sometimes silence by the interviewer is a good technique (to give the other person a chance to gather his wits).

The Charlevoix Historical Sociedty has been a pioneer in the field of oral history. There are now about 50 tapes of inerviews with senior citizens, recordings of talks made at Society meetings, and other events of historical interest on file at Society headquarters. Most of the recordings were made by Morgridge, but several other Society members have also participated in the project.

These tapes provide a background for area history, although, as pointed out by Mrs. Wiskeman, oral history is not necessarily the most accurate history. As noted above, it is the "feeling" derived from oral history that is its greatest asset.

KHQ, WVOY up for sale

Charlevoix-based radio stations KHQ and WVOY are being offered for sale according to an announcement made last week by Tim Moore, president and chief executive officer of New Broadcasting Corporation, owner of the stations.

Moore said that an asking price of $2.25 million for the two stations "is based on the stations' financial success, their ratings dominance and the high quality technical facilities and coverage area."

He cited the growth of the company along with potential conflicts of interest on the part of a partner in New Broadcasting as major factors in the decision to sell.

Said Moore, "This represents a logical time for a partial or complete ownership change. Since my partner and 33 percent stockholder Tim Ives is also an owner and president of the Bloomington (Illinois) Broadcasting Corporation, he has a potential conflict of interest approaching. The FCC allows ownership in only seven FM stations at any time. With his involvement here and with WGLQ, our Escanaba-Marquette station, he will soon be locked out of further purchase, thus stalling the growth of the Bloomington Group. His first obligation is to his company."

Bloomington Broadcasting owns stations in Bloomington, Chatanooga, Tenn., the Tri-Cities of Kingsport, Johnson City and Bristol, Tenn. and Holland-Grand Rapids, Michigan.

Moore said that, regardless of a full or partial sale of the stations, he plans to remain as either a pat owner or manager.

According to Moore, the FM station KHQ was the leader in total audience, weekly reach, all day-parts and almost every demographic category in the most recent Arbitron Market Study conducted for Northern Michigan this spring.

New law eases Probate Court burden on state taxpayers

by PEG OHLE

Every once in a while, taxpayers seem to get a break as a result of legislation.

It happened last year when the legislature amended, by P.A. 398, an earlier law pertaining to costs of the State caring for children either in or out of their homes.

The new law, effective in April of this year, requires Probate Court to "include in any order of dispostion placing a child out of the child's home and under the supervision of the State or Court, a provision for reimbursement by the child, parent, guardian, or custrodian for the cost of care or services."

It also gives Probate Court the right to enter an order of disposition for the care of a child in the child's own home and include a provision for reimbursement by the child, parent, or others for the costs of service.

Under guidelines prepared by the State Court Administrative Officer, the Probate Court will determine the ability of a child, parent or others to pay for care ordered under the Act, taking into account the income and resources of the child, parent, guardian, or custodian.

This would include collections received from social security benefits, veterans benefits, or other governmental benefits, whether received direct from the government or through the parent, guardian, or others.

Probate Court is permitted to retain 25 percent of the amounts collected as a result of court ordered reimbursement for the care of the child committed to the State. This 25 percent is credited to the County general fund. (However, the 25 percent collection fee does not apply to collections received from social security and similar governmental benefits as noted above).

The 25 percent collection fee will benefit taxpayers because it will go toward the public cost of operating Probate Court, thereby cutting down the County's funding of the Court.

According to Charlevoix County Juvenile Officer D. Brad Campbell, prior to implementation of the new law, Probate Court was recovering about $600 a month in reimbursements. The new program has increased recovery to more than $2,500 a month, with a potential for recovering over $30,000 a year.

In a recent report to the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners, Campbell noted that the monies recovered would more than pay the costs of a financial officer in Probate Court or an in-home case worker for children being cared for by the State in their own homes.

For Saints and Sinners

by Pastor Jim Plackner
Bethany Lutheran Church

There is an old legend about an old devil sitting down one day with three apprentice devils. The subject under discussion was: How To Ruin Man.

The first learner devil said: "Let's convince man that there is no God" to which the old devil replied, "But in their hearts of hearts they know there is a God or life makes no sense."

The second apprentice devil: "Let's convince man that there is no hell, no place like this." The old devil responded, "But in their heart of hearts they know there has to be a place like this or life makes no sense."

The third little devil: "Let's convince man that there is no hurry." And the old devil said with great glee: "That's it! Convince them of that and you will ruin them by the thousands!"

The little devil had learned his lesson well - too bad so many people haven't. That is a legend, yes, but the point of that story is just as real as all the heat and humidity of this summer.

The most dangerous word in Sapnish is manana - in English - "tomorrow". I have something important to do - which has to be done - absolutely - but I'll do it tomorrow. And, of course, tomorrow never comes. Only today.

What is it that God has given you the feeling that you must do? What nagging thought just won't let you go?

Jesus Christ, His death for you and His Resurrection for you, all His blessings, are yours today. Today. A sure promise from God to you today. Today!

Today ask Christ to be with you. Today ask for His forgiveness. Today ask for His love. Today ask for His gift of living forever. Today do that thing for Him which you have been putting off. Today. And - today start enjoying life as God meant it to be lived. With Christ. Today.

Opinion

Knight on the Town

Empty prize

by Dave Knight

Word comes now from the office of Congressman Bob Davis that the grand scheme by the Federal Aviation Administration to consolidate the country's 317 flight service stations into 61 "hub" stations has been iced for the present time.

You will recall that the FAA stirred up a flurry of activity in these parts when it announced the plan. Several Northern Michigan localities thought they actually had a chance to land this high-tech plum of an operation with its 60 or so high paying jobs.

In Charlevoix County, the movement got as far as a bond proposal that would have set a millage to pay for the $700,000 facility which would then have been leased to the feds for a token fee.

Charlevoix was surely not the only community to go after the flight station; Petoskey, Gaylord, Antrim County and about a dozen other cities desparate for industrial rebirth approved bonds, secured pledges and tried in many other creative ways to get the edge in the sealed bidding.

Lansing was the anticlimactic choice for the hub station which was to serve the Lower Peninsula and part of the U.P., thus allowing the closure of seven existing flight stations in Michigan including those at Pellston and Traverse City.

However, in its 1984 transportation appropriations bill, Congress has included language that prevents the closing of any flight service stations before December 1 of this year. Plus, the FAA will now have to submit a detailed plan to Congress showing which stations are to be closed and when. Further, no station would be closed before April 15 of next year if a Congressional committee requests hearings on the FAA proposal.

The concern delaying the implementation of the hub station concept is safety. Flight stations provide soch crucial information as weather conditions, preflight briefings and emergency assistance to small commercial planes.

For his part, Davis would just as soon hold up on things.

"They (the FAA) haven't convinced me that some computer in Lansing is going to be able to help a pilot trying to land on a strip in, say, Manistique, during a rain storm, " he says, "I welcome the opportunity to study the FAA's plan very carefully and am pleased that the agency now has to take a thorough look at its proposal."

Okay.

But in view of all the time, money and efforts spent by the communities that bid for the hub station months ago in good faith, it should come as rather disturbing that the whole process may have been an esercise in futility all along.

While I still believe the agressive attitude taken by the county in seeking the flight station was appropriate at the time, it is hard not to find fault with a process that allows struggling localities to engage in such a costly bidding war, only to renege on the prize.

Almost like bidding five thousand bucks for a grand champion bull and finding out it's gay.

Clockwise

Tragic event

by Bob Clock

THURSDAY WAS one of the longest and hardest days on record for residents of the civilized world.

Could Russia possibly have had the gall to fire a missile at an unarmed civilian airliner flying at 31,000 feet through air space claimed by the Soviet Union?

Of course not. Such things simply do not happen in this day and age. Not with 269 lives at stake.

But as the day progressed, it began to appear that this is precisely what did happen, to the dismay of thinking, sensitive people the world over.

Pictures connected with the tragedy were particularly poignant — including snapshots of entire families aboard the Korean airliner and news photos of relatives awaiting loved ones at Kimpo International Airport at Seoul and at Tokyo International Airport.

Grief doesn't recognize national boundaries.

AS OF FRIDAY afternoon, Moscow had admitted only to firing "warning shots" at the aircraft and has not admitted any guilt whatsoever in either the deaths or the heartbreak it has brought around the world.

Meanwhile, the West is debating how to handle the most obnosious bully on the block.

Sen. Robert Byrd of Virginia thinks we should cancel our recent grain deal with Russia. Sen. Ted Kennedy of Massachusetts says we should prohibit flights behind the Iron Curtain. Others would eliminate all trade with the Soviet Union.

The options are endless. But none of them seems to do justice to the victims of the tragedy and members of their families.

The United Nations, which was organized during World War II to handle just such situations, was to meet Friday night to discuss possible sanctions against Russia. But it is unlikely that august body will be able to do much, given the veto power of the Soviet Union itself.

IN TIME, of course, the pain of the tragedy will ease for those of us who sorvive.

For some, like Sen. Henry 'Scoop' Jackson of Washington, it is too late.

After a day of rage, Jackson went to bed early Thursday evening and died of a massive heart attack.

It is also too late for Rep. Larry McDonald of Georgia, national chairman of the anti-communist John Birch Society. McDonald was aboard the ill-starred planeand his death already is beginning to emerge as a vindication of his beliefs.

Tommy Toles, McDonald's press aide, claims Russia downed the plane because Moscow knew that McDonald was aboard.

Far-fetched? I really don't know. But I don't like to think any government would snuff out 269 lives to seek revenge on only one. But apparently in dealing with Russia, anything is possible.

Dear Courier:

Auxiliary, Charlevoix Rod and Gun Club, Christ Episcopal Church, M.E.S.P.A. (Charlevoix Public School Custodians, Cooks, Aides and Bus Drivers), St. Mary's Catholic Church Parish Clubs, Charlevoix County Big Brothers-Big Sisters, Charlevoix Reformed Church, Charlevoix Woman's Club and a host of private and corporate donors who wish to remain anonymous.

Further we wish to recognize the support of Ace Hardware, Windmill Farm, Oleson's Market and the Courier for their individual contributions to our program.

As we look forward to 1984 and our ninth year of operation, we do so with much ansiety for these organiztions have unselfishly given of their time and effort to make Charlevoix's Camp McSauba an integral part of the summer time activities in our County.

Recently, the Courier carried an article concerning a reunion of Camp Charlevoix persons. While we do not aspire, nor pretend, to be all that this beautiful Camp was in the past, we feel that, with the continued backing of the aforementioned organizations and persons, Camp McSauba will reapidly become a unique "Charlevoix's own" type of program which hopefully will benefit many children in the years to come.

As the summer camping season at McSauba ends, the fundraising efforts for 1984 begin! Our hats are off to Father Pierre Charlevoix Knights of Columbus who will be sponsoring two days of Las Vegas Nites, Friday, October 21st and Saturday, October 22nd with the proceeds going to the 1984 Camp McSauba program. Anyone wishing to become either a dealer or seller can contact me at 547-5233. Again, thanks Charlevois for your continued support.

Cancelled trip

To the Editor:

As a visitor and fellow resort resident, I feel both reluctant and compelled to write this letter. On Friday, August 19, 1983, my finace and I were anticipating a romantic and throughly justified evening aboard the Star of Charlevoix, the famous "midnight cruise". We were so excited about the cruise that we both took naps earlier in the day.

We arrived an hour early to buy tickets and anticipate the upcoming cruise. Inquiring about tickets, we were informed as to the concern about severe weather, and whether or not the Star would sail. Waiting an hour or so for weather confirmation did not bother us, as we are quite used to waiting for the passage of mid-winter storms that affect the ski area where we live. We simply retreated to the opposite side of the shore to await our fate.

From across the street we could clearly see the crowd assembling at both the ticket office and around the Star herself. By this time we were convinced the cruise was on. Clear sky, puff clouds, and a Michigan Moon.

Upon arriving again at the ticket office, we were told by the uncomfortably nice young girl, that the cruise was cancelled. She was especially uncomfortable because she saw the clearing sky. She was especially nice because she really wanted the cruise for all of us. But the captain said no and that was that.

It was hard for anyone there that night at the dock to understand the cancellation of the cruise due to bad weather. Expressions ranged from disbelief to betrayal. We saw it in the faces of friendly midwesterners, jaded easterners, and espectant westerners; all of whom had traveled a great distance to enjoy the cruise of the Charlevoix love boat. Most would have to leave without a second chance. We heard pleas of "more friends coming", and reminders of the great tradition of ships of the Lakes. I felt history deteriorating before me like a sad imitation of a Monet. We tried to convince ourselves that it was the weather and not "the lack of a crowd" that made up the captain's mind. We were not convinced, and neither was anyone else. Respect for Mother Nature is one thing, deception is another.

Do not sacrifice the quality of esperience for a margin of profit. This is a foolish man's game for a newly prospering resort. Do not let a change in economic base change you. We love Charlevoix the Beautiful.

Thinking yellow

Dear Editor:

Anne Kelly's back to school article, "Yellow Slickers, Bananas and The Big Yellow Bus" in the "Best of the Bay" section of the Courier was marvelous.

As a kindergarten teacher, my first day colored by Anne might be like this:

Yellow is: yet another terrific idea for an "I'm Glad That Your Are Here" bulletin board.

A new dress that is shortened, has pockets and is washable.

One of the colors in the rainbow of butterflies in your stomach, when the school door opens to the older children's chorus, "Let the Kindergarteners in first".

No one crying - yet.

EVERYONE with the tote bag you asked that they carry at spring registration.

At least 5 children being able to hang their jackets on hooks.

The clotched flower "for teacher". Only a little wilted as it's passed from a small, hot hand to a larger one.

A hello and a hug from some of last year's class.

Their first smile across the play-doh table at a new friend.

An aide walking in just when you feel the number of children has doubled.

Recess - 3 new gray hairs in the mirror, 2 runs in the nylons, a laugh with another teacher, and a splash of coffee.

A change of children's clothes - that doesn't have to be used.

10 (or more) of the children liking the snack that you remembered to fix last night at midnight.

And yellow is the school bus at the end of the morning.

History behind the railroad bridge...

that resulted in the necessity to build the bridge in the first place.

Charlevoix, known as Pine River in those days, was settled because it was accessible to Lake Michigan. Inland from the big lake were rolling hills covered by acres of virgin timber. As early settlers availed themselves of the land for homesteads, much of the timber was burned to make way for homes and farms.

In the 1860s a sawmill was constructed in Charlevoix. However the only way to bring the timber harvested inland to the mill was by the small stream that flowed between Lake Charlevois into Round Lake along a route knwon today as Old River. This proved to be a slow and costly operation.

In 1870, the residents of the area conceived the idea of opening a man-made channel between the two lakes that would open up the large inland lake to navigation and offer a means of floating the harvested logs to the mill site.

According to an early history of the village by surveyor D.C. Nettleton, a work bee was organized with the idea of digging a ditch.

According to accounts of the action, trees on the little peninsula that was bordered on the north by the river were cut and the stumps removed before the project was to begin, the idea being to dig a straight passage between the two bodies of water. Men from thoughout the county with their teams of horses and equipment joined in digging the ditch.

Earlier, a dam had been built at the point where the water flowed from Lake Charlevoix for, at the time, the lake was four feet higher than Round Lake.

The workmen and their teams, using scrapers, then began the task of digging the ditch. When it was completed, the dam was opened and water allowed to flow through it making it even deeper. To enlarge it even more, the tug Minnie Warren backed its way through the ditch with its propeller digging even deeper as the craft made its way to Lake Charlevoix.

This action by the people of the community attracted the attention of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners which appropriated $1000 and the State of Michigan which donated 16 sections of state-owned swamp land which was sold and the proceeds applied to the cost of the project. The Corps of Engineers, which at first had said the project was not feasible because the area was solid rock, later recommended financial support for the project.

With the opening of the channel between the two lakes, it became possible to harvest the timber along the shores of Lake Charlevoix during the winter, haul it onto the ice and, when the ice broke up in the spring, float the logs to the mill at Charlevoix where it was turned into lumber and shipped to ports along the Great Lakes.

Meanwhile, people from the metropolitan areas discovered Charlevoix as a summer resort which resulted in the establishment of the Belvedere and Chicago Clubs as they are known today.

Again, the city fathers, with the thought of promoting the community as a summer resort which, until then, was reached only by steamboat, began thinking of a railroad. There was already one into Petoskey via Boyne Falls and another as far north as Traverse City. So why not Charlevoix, they asked.

The answer to their question came in still another question: How do you build a railroad over a body of water without a bridge?

Bent on carrying out their promotional idea, they answered that by raising $25,000, either by solicitstion or bonding the city (no one ever seemed to know which) with which to build the bridge.

With the assurance that the Chicago and Northern Michigan Railroad would extend its line north from Traverse City to Bay View, the bridge was constructed with the money supplied by the Charlevoix Improvement Co. which was organized for this purpose.

There is no known account of how the steel for the bridge was brought to Charlevoix but according to local historian Bob Miles, it is assumed that the steel was brought in by boat.

While the bridge was being constructed the railroad bed was being built and the rails laid from both north and south in readiness for the arrival of the first train on Sunday, July 26, 1892.

The advent of rail transportation, as the city fathers had anticipated, opened up the community as a sommer resort and, with the disappearance of the timber, to other industries. In the late 1890s and early part of the century, resort hotels and seasonal homes sprung op as Charlevoix became a summer haven for the wealthy.

However, as life styles and modes of travel changed, rail traffic declined to a point where the last passenger train passed through Charlevoix September 1, 1962 and freight aervice was halted February 16, 1982.

The history of the rail line through Charlevoix shows the Chicago and Northern Michigan line merged with the Chicago and Western Michigan line in 1899. In 1900 this line merged with the Pere Marquette Railroad which operated the line through its best years until it was sold to the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad in 1947. It was at this time that locomotives changed from steam to diesel.

Though no one has ever questioned the ownership of the bridge through the years, an annual financial report made by the Pere Marquette Company to its stockholders in 1914 shows the bridge excluded from the company's holdings at that time. This is among the questions city fathers and others interested in saving the bridge are seeking answers to at this time.

Following the ceremony, a buffet reception was held in the church fellowship hall, given by the bride's parents and hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kerner, uncle and aunt of the bride.

The wedding cake was baked by the bride's aunt, Leanne Southwood, and cut by Marti Kerner and Tammy Southwood, cousins of the bride. Other cousins, Susan Kolinske and Kathy Sandomierski, served coffee and punch. Vickie Lewis, sister of the bridegroom, was in charge of the guest book.

Beaudoin hanging in there

trainer's office for a required daily weigh-in before heading to the breakfast table

The menu at the Michigan State training table suits Beaudoin just fine, he says.

"Coach Perles believes that if you put in first class work, you should get first class treatment," he said. "We have steak almost every night."

Following breakfast, the players report for taping and by 9 a.m., the kickers and other specialty players start appearing on the practice field. Almost all players are out by 9:30 getting loosened up for the beginning of regular practice at 10 a.m. The morning practicew lasts until noon when the team breaks for lunch. At 1 p.m., the taping routine starts all over and the players have a few minutes to take care of any pressing business before team meetings at 2:30

Practice convenes again at 3:45 p.m. lasting until the 6 p.m. supper hour. After supper there are more meetings, more responsibilities to attend to and by 10 or 11, there's no need for curfew check; everyone's sound asleep.

According to Beaudoin, George Perles does not ascribe to the field general school of coaching during practice. No watching drills from a tower and shouting down orders ala Bear Bryant for Perles.

"He (Perles) is down on the field working with the players all the time," says Beaudoin. "He is always coaching. If he sees something he doesn't like, he's right there, working with the individual one-on-one."

Competition and intensity being at the level they are on a Big Ten football team, there are the inevitable flare-ups between players with which to contend. Perles deals with such situations in a no-nonsense way: when a heated exchange develops between two players, practice is halted, the two combatants take off their helmets, are issued 12-ounce boxing gloves and, with the entire team gathered 'round, flail away until the matter is settled, most often by pure exhaustion.

"Some people might think that's barbaric," said Beaudoin. "But it's actually the most logical way of handling things."

Perles' pro football coaching background has contributed to a more complex offensive system for the Spartans. And since Perles believes that good defense starts with being able to read the offense well, Beaudoin and other defensive squad members have been spending almost as much time poring over the playbook as the offense.

One might think that the intense commitment a student makes to football when he plays for an NCAA Division I team might tend to become more like a job than a game. With a full schedule of drills, meetings, tapings, films and workouts day in and day out, is it possible to still have fun playing ball?

"Oh yeah, it's still a lot of fun for me," Beaudoin says enthusiastically. "Sure there are times out on the practice field when it seems more like work. But in the end, after all the work, you look back and see that it's well worth it. Especially if you win."

To be sure, there are plenty of MSU fans who, like Beaudoin, will be ready for the "fun" part this Saturday.

Local group wants everyone in area to be able to read

by PEG OHLE

This is World Literacy Week and a good time to report that a group of Charlevoix people are trying to start a local Literacy Council.

The Literacy Council would offer reading instruction to teenagers and adults in every segment of society – the general public, high school students, court probationers, and jail inmates.

Volunteers in the Literacy Council could devote as little as two hours a week to their assignment, and many of the jobs could be done at home.

Those behind the Literacy Council movement explain that they are seeking volunteers in many fields: someone to coordinate the whole program; someone to train tutors; someone to recruit both tutors and students; someone to act as public information officer; someone to coordinate tutors with students; someone to keep records; soeone to order materials; and someone to handle finances. But most of all, they want totors qualified to teach reading and students who want to learn to read.

Tutors would be given a 10-hour course in teaching techniques. They would be responsible for one student, following the Literacy Council concept of "Each one teach one".

Teaching would be done through word identification in adult stories. Instead of reading about Dick and Jane playing ball with their dog Spot, the story might be about Butch and Dotty going fishing in their rowboat.

The whole Literacy Council concept is based on Laubach Literacy Action, a national program specializing in mobilizing volunteer resources to combat adult literacy. They point out that 26 million Americans are functionally illiterate but less than 10 percent are enrolled in an educational program.

A local woman who has been teaching jail inmates how to read describes the handicap of not being able to rexd as heart-rendering.

"They get into trouble because they can't read simple words like 'No admittance', 'No loitering', 'Wait for signal', and many other warnings," she says.

She also confesses that there is real joy in watching a student's eyes light up when he realizes he has learned to read even a few words.

It is hoped that a tutor training program can be started this fall. Forther information may be obtained from Betty Potter, phone 547-2129, or Nancy Ritsema, phone 547-9188.

Hosp. Guild sets annual tea

New opportunities for volunteers in the Charlevoix Area Hospital Guild will be discussed at the organization's annual Membership Tea Wednesday, September 14 at 2 p.m. in the hospital's lower conference room.

The Guild has recently added several new areas for volunteers, both in and out of the hospital. The opportunities for volunteers to use their skills and become involved with the hospital cover a wide range.

New volunteer opportunities include conducting hospital tours and acting as hospital hosts or hostesses. There are also openings for volunteers to help on the hospital's switchboard during peak hours, to assist with clerical work and to participate in special hospital projects.

Many volunteers work directly with the staff and patients every day, delivering meal trays and mail, often visiting with patients, reading and writing letters or performing other services. These volunteers are appreciated by both patients and staff for the assistance they offer and the cheer they bring.

Other volunteers in the Chaplain Service visit every patient to make sure aoyone who wishes to see a member of the clergy may do so. Guild members also provide inter-hospital transportation for patients who need such help. Training programs for all Guild members are conducted by members of the hospital's professional staff.

Last year the Guild instituted a "Telephone Reassurance Service" for people living alone. Volunteers daily telephone people recommemded by the hospital social worker, checking on their welfare and letting them know that there are people who care about them.

Volunteers also serve on Guild committees for decorating the hospital on holidays and creating tray favors for patients' meals on special occasions.

In addition, the Guild sponsors childbirth classes for expectant parents, helps the hospital purchase needed equipment and maintains a scholarship fund for young people entering the health care profession.

Funds for these Guild projects come largely from the Showcase Gift Shop at the front lobby of the hospital. The gift shop, which features small gift items, games and some edibles, is entirely staffed by Guild volunteers. Highly successful, the Showcase profits, along with funds from Guild sponsored TV rentals, have enabled the Guild to make significant contributions to hospital building projects and equipment purchases as well as maintain the scholarship.

Anyone interested in learning more about the work of the Charlevoix Area Hospital Guild is encouraged to come to the Tea between 2 and 4 p.m. Wednesday, September 14.

The Detroit String Quartet will appear in concert at Virginia M. McCune Community Arts Center, Sunday September 11, at 7 p.m.

Members of the Quartet include James Waring and Inez Redman, violins, David Ireland, viola, and John Thurman, cello.

The program will present compositions by Arriago, Pachelbel, Mozart, Borodine, and Laudenslager, which will be followed by musical Vignettes from the pens of Mancini-Waring, Joplin, Gershwin and Copland.

A receiving line will enable concert goers to meet the four musicians at the close of the program.

Admission for adults is $5.00, children and senior citizens, $3.00, and may be purchased at the Virginia M. McCune Community Arts Center. Children twelve years of age or younger must be accompanied by adults. Reservations will be taken by telephone and will be held until 6:45 concert evening.

The event is a musical debut for the Quartet in this area, and especially for violinist James Waring who has owned a house on Rose Street in Petoskey since 1979. He and Cathy, his wife of thirty one years, their three sons and daughter and her family spend as much time as will allow at their Petoskey retreat.

The Detroit String Quartet was formed in the summer of 1971 to be the resident Quartet at the Schoolcraft College Music Festival. It is of interest that the four musicians had all known each other previously and had worked together in a variety of musical situations yet never before as a String Quartet. The immediate success of the group was so encouraging and gratifying that the four musicians decided to remain together and to expand their activities. Since that time only one new member has come into the quartet. The name "Detroit String Quartet" was fitting since all of the members played with the Detroit Symphony and were long standing permanent residents of the Detroit area.

The Quartet enjoys the reputation of a "versatile" group, not limited to only the most formal performances. Over the past twelve years the D.S.Q. has demonstrated this versatility through performances at Ford Auditorium for the Detroit Symphony, at Orchestra Hall, Meadowbrook Festival, Brunch with Bach at the D.I.A., the Michigan Governors Innauguration in Lansing, opening of a new bank in Renaissance Center, private social events, exclusive showing of the 1983 Thunderbird car, countless dinner and fashion parties, weddings, churches, radio and television.

Although the D.S.Q. concentrates most of its work in the metropolitan area of Detroit it is also interested in traveling thoughout Michigan, presenting concerts wherever there is an audience. Through high quality of performance and a personal approach to our music the D.S.Q. hopes to realize the following goals: to help create and build upon an enlightened audience, to make a lasting contribution to the cultural life of Detroit and Michigan, and to give continued life to the great music of composers who have made the very existence of String Quartets a necessity.

Waldner still pushing for tax cut

by PEG OHLE

Organized Voters of America (OVA), for which Karl Waldner of Boyne City is local spokesman, has filed an Amendment of Petition for Redress of Grievances against the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners and County Prosecutor Scott Beatty.

The petition deals with the failure of the County Board of Commissioners to call for a County-wide vote on the proposition to reduce the County property tax limitation from 15 miles to 13 mills. Organized Voters of America last spring presented the County Board with initiative petitions containing 790 signatures asking for such a vote and suggesting means by which the millage could be cut.

The petitions were judged sufficient so far as signatures were concerned but were rejected on the basis that the County could not allocate two-tenths of a mill to libraries (as OVA suggested) because the County does not run libraries. Waldner insists that even though the County does not run libraries, it has the authority to fund a County library.

According to Waldner, the amended petition is a compromise: the OVA has deleted some of its requests and now expects the County Board and Prosecutor to be more coopertive.

The Amendment of Petition was accompanied by a Writ of Mandamus with a request that the writ be signed by Judge John W. Unger of Antrim County, who was appointed to hear the case after Circuit Judge Martin B. Breighner disqualified himself.

The Writ asks that the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners and Scott Beatty be "commended to immediately set in motion the machinery for holding a special election as per the April 13th, 1983 initiative petition presented by the Plaintiff, and stated by the County Clerk as complying with the law in the sufficiency of their signatures."

The Amendment of Petition and Writ of Mandamus are now in the hands of Judge Unger and it is expected the matter will be brought before his court in the near future.

Outdoor Report

from the DNR Gaylord Office

Many limit catches of lake trout and chinook salmon continue to be taken from Lake Michigan near Petoskey and Charlevoix in water depths of 90-110 feet over 120! Most of the salmon taken are in the 20 lb. class while the lake trout are 6-8 lb. fish.

Normal pressure having good to excellent catches of brook, brown and rainbow on most all trout streams. Grasshopper flies as well as natural bait producing good results.

Pressure and success remains normal on the inland lakes with fair catches of bluegills, bass, walleye and northern pike taken. Best catches are made early morning and late evening during the cooler times of the day. Pressure will become generally slow on these waters after the Labor Day weekend.

Hunters wishing to apply for a hunters choice deer permit have until October 1 to do so. Application cards are available at D.N.R. Offices and license dealers. For the special bear season, dog permits are available at D.N.R. Offices only. The bear season in the Northern Counties runs from September 16-26.

Young grouse broods being reported at present are about two-thirds grown.

Blackberry picking is outstanding at the present time with the picking being the best in many years. These conditions should be very good for 10 days or until a heavy killing frost takes place.

The first few maple leaves are beginning to turn color which would indicate that fall is not far away.

The auction is scheduled to begin at 11 a.m. and continue until all the items are sold. Frank Potter is volunteering his services as auctioneer.

The grange has enlarged its hall located on the Barnard Road and made a number of improvements. Proceeds from the auction will be applied to the cost of the project.

The grange is accepting all types of re-saleable items. Persons having items they would like to contribute to the project may call 547-9153 or 547-2966 for pick-ups.

At the time there will also be a produce and house plant sale at the site manned by Clayton Smith.

Food including sloppy joes, baked beans, hot dogs, homemade pies and a choice of beverage will also be available at the sale.

Hospice plans training sessions for volunteers

Training sessions for people who would like to be volunteers in Charlevoix County's Hospice program will begin September 12.

There are openings in the program for potential Hospice volunteers, according to Charlevoix County Hospice Director Kathleen Smith. The training sessions beginning September 12 will run for 5 weeks, with twice weekly sessions, each Monday and Wednesday, for two hours from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.

According to Mrs. Smith, the training sessions are required for all Hospice volunteers.

"Hospice volunteers will act as 'good neighbors', assisting patients and their families. Hospice enables terminally ill people who choose to live out their lives at home with their families. Hospice volunteers help these patients and their families in myriad ways - reading, shopping, running errands, writing letters, or acting as a companion when family members need to go out", the director explained.

Hospice volunteers are an important part of the team which serves the patients admitted to the Hospice program. While the volunteers do not become involved in the medical treatment of the patients, they help the medical professionals keep records and stay in close touch with the needs and desires of the patients.

Hospice volunteers will work with an interdisciplinary team of professionals, under the direction of the Hospice Medical Director and the patient's personal physician. All care offered by Hospice is carefully coordinated between the professionals and the volunteers. Patients who ask for Hospice assistance are charged no fees.

Training for Hospice Volunteers will begin at 9:30 a.m. September 12 at the East Jordan Family Health Center, at which time Mrs. Smith will explain the specifics of the role of volunteers in Hospice and give a brief history of Hospice. Subsequent sessions will be held at the East Jordan Family Health Center, with a few sessions to be held in Boyne City and Charlevoix. Training topics will include understanding death and dying, understanding the family, empathy training, the grief and bereavement process, basic patient care and pain control, and nutrition. Each session will be led by people experienced in the field, including psychologists, lawyers, funeral home directors, registered nurses, physical therapists, physicians and a dietitian.

To register for training call 536-2842 before September 12.

Charlevoix the Gull-ible

by DAVE KNIGHT

Seagulls are to Charlevoix what orioles are to Baltimore and what swallows are to Capistrano.

They grace our stationery and signs. They have been sketched, painted, photographed and sculpted. They are found, in their ceramic form, on our front lawns and fences. There is even a downtown store named after them - Shop of the Gulls.

In art classes, our school children learn to draw gulls (just make the letter "v" with a little flair to it) instead of the doggies and kitties young artists struggle with in other places.

Seagulls enjoy somewhat the same respect in Charlevoix as do the sacred cows in India. Gulls are allowed to wander along our sidewalks, congregate in our parks, join our picnics, perch on our yachts, relieve themselves just about anywhere they please...in short, they are a privileged lot.

This lofty social status has its drawbacks. Many gulls have lost whatever fear of humans their forebears might have harbored. Far from shy, gulls have no qualms about approaching people for handouts and lose all timidity whatsoever when they succeed in coaxing a handful of popcorn or bread crumbs from a bemused benefactor.

What usually results when an unsuspecting tourist throws some crumbs to the gulls is a competitive feeding frenzy that can get almost frightening.

It is one of the Creator's peculiar little ironies that a bird so classy in appearance has such decidedly grubby habits. The favorite hangout of the seagull is garbage dumps. In fact, an overflowing dumpster serves as a perfect fast-food outlet for the bolder ones.

Gulls are a migratory species with good taste in warm weather hangouts; its winter quarters as distant as the Azores and Southern California. Most of the gulls of Charlevoix, however, have long since foregone their annual trip south since there is plenty of garbage available all year. Also, most winters there is enough open water in the area for those gulls still into natural food.

The species of gull to which we have become accustomed is the herring gull, Larus argentatus, a member of the order Charadriiformes (shore birds, gulls and auks) and the family Laridae (gulls and terns). It is the most commonly found gull of American coastal areas with a range that exteods across the entire Northern Hemisphere.

Its breeding areas are found in Maine, Northern New York and the Upper Great Lakes. Don't look for many herring gull nests in the immediate Charlevoix area, however. They prefer isolated locations, typically islands remote from the mainland.

The herring gull nest is constructed on the ground out of rough grasses, weeds and twigs and often lined with soft mosses. Eggs are laid in clutches of three or four, are about 2½ to 3 inches long and are heavily spotted. The eggs are usually laid in early June but because the nests are frequently raided by predators, fresh eggs can be found as late in the summer as July.

As late as the early 1900s, herring gull eggs were collected en masse by Indians and fishermen in Northern Lake Michigan and sold as delicasies in such large markets as Escanaba. Before such practices were banned, it was not uncommon for a commercial fisherman to bring in loads of 2,000 to 3,000 herring gulls eggs at a time.

The herring gull young leave the nest for brief exploratory trips within days after hatching, returning at night. They can swim beautifully long before they can fly. It is believed that, within five days after hatching, the adult herring gull is able to recognize its own young and distinguish them from other clutches which is especially amazing in large breeding areas where there are literally thousands of hatchlings running around. A parent gull will feed only its own young and entertain no guests from other nests. How a young gull establishes its individuality (they all look alike to me) is not clear but most researchers cite subtle nuances in appearance and voice as probable factors.

While the adult plummage of the herring gull is white with a soft gray mantle and black wing tips, the immature birds are a mottled brown.

Larus argentatus, probably because it is so common, has been the subject of numerous ornithological studies. Some of them are regarded as classic studies in bird behavior. Until August Tinbergen published the results of his extensive research on herring gull social life in 1960, for instance, little was known about a behavioral adaption called biological releasers.

Tinbergen found that a small red spot on the lower jaw of the adult herring gull, and only that spot, triggered food begging by the gull chicks. They would peck at the spot and the adult would reguritate the food it had gathered for the family. Other researchers went on to find several other examples of certain colors or movements in various species that "released" a specific activity.

"Displacement" is another behavior that can be observed in herring gulls. When two gulls engage in a territorial dispute, for example, they will often stomp around and pull up grass instead of attacking each other.

Physically, herring gulls grow to be 22 to 26 inches long and have a wing span of up to 17 inches. Though it is difficult to determine the average life span of a gull, banding studies have documented herring gulls of over 35 years old.

Perhaps the most distinctive physical characteristic of the gull is its wing structure. Long, narrow and swept-back, the gull wing has inspired artists and aviators over the ages. It represents the quintessential adaption for wind-borne flight.

Gull wings are built for gliding

The "wing aspect ratio" of a gull, the ratio of length to width, is much different than that of, say, a pigeon whose wings are short and wide. A pigeon is adapted for a lot of flapping – it beats its wings an average of three times a second in flight – while a gull is built for gliding – it beats its wings an average of slightly over twice a second.

Thus the gulls of Charlevoix are often seen riding up on the thermal air currents, lazily wheeling upwards until they reach cruising altitude. With a brisk wind, the herring gull can attain flight speeds of up to 50 miles per hour.

It's name, by the way, comes from its natural feeding technique of swooping down to grab small fish such as herring from the water. In some tidal areas, herring gulls have even been observed picking up clams and other mollusks from sea bed at low tide, flying over rocks or cement highways, and dropping them from a high altitude, thus nicely breaking open the shell for a leisurely meal.

At different times, the gull is resourceful, it's comical, it's overbearing, it's graceful, it's pesty, it's romantic.

It's also Charlevoix.

City bows out in bid to save RR bridge

by DAVE KNIGHT

Days appear numbered for the 91-year old swinging railroad bridge that spans the east end of the Pine River channel as the Charlevoix City Council voted 5-0 Monday night to rescind any claim of ownership of the bridge by the city.

Barring further legal complications, demolition crews could be back on the job this week, according to Attorney John Michael who represents the Meagher Contracting firm of Bay City, hired by the C&O Railroad to dismantle the bridge.

The demolition was to have begun Wednesday, September 7 but the council voted 5-1 at its Tuesday, September 6 meeting, with Council Member Robert Timms dissenting, to seek a restraining order to halt the work until the question of whether the city owns the bridge was answered.

A contingent of local residents, led by Charlevoix Historical Society member Dale Boss, sought the council's help in halting demolition of the bridge saying that it was a local landmark and could be put to good use as a fishing platform and observation deck.

Mayor Kenneth Staley and City Attorney Jeffrey VanTreese flew to Sault Ste. Marie Wednesday where they were successful in obtaining the restraining order from Judge Nicholas Lambros. Lambros was substituting for vacationing Circuit Court Judge Martin Breighner.

Said Staley in a news release issued that day, "The City feels that the decision of the court is proper and serves to maintain an important part of the history of Charlevoix."

The order was served on the Meagher crews Wednesday afternoon and no work has been done on the bridge since.

Staley called Monday night's special meeting to gather public input on whether the city should pursue its ownership claim and seek to save the bridge. An audience of about 35 turned out for the session, most of whom appeared to be against the city's intervention in the matter.

Dale Boss led off the discussion saying that the issue before council was not whether to save the bridge but whether local residents should be given more time to explore alternatives to removing it. He also questioned possible erosion effects on nearby shorelines that might be caused by removal of the bridge and its pilings.

City resident and council candidate Paul Burlew suggested that the city turn the bridge over to the Historical Society saying, "I see no reason why the total population of the city should have to pay for the bridge...If the Historical Society wants it, let them have it."

Attorney Michael addressed council both as a city resident and as the representative of contractor Peter Meagher. Michael pointed out that the C&O Railroad would like nothing better than to see the city assume ownership of, and thus liability for, the abandoned bridge.

Said Michael, "I've never seen a defendant so happy to be sued. You may have saved them the $144,000 cost of tearing the bridge down."

He warned that even if council voted to relinquish ownership Monday night, the C&O may still react to the lawsuit filed by the city by saying, in effect, "It's yours". He explained further that no property deed is involved since the bridge is not a piece of real estate.

Listing three major reasons why neither the city nor any other local group should seek title of the bridge, Michael said that the bridge is landlocked by private property with no adequate public access to it or parking area available; that the Coast Guard has affirmed its policy that any bridge over navigational waters that is no longer used must

Two firms get EDC okays

by PEG OHLE

Two local manufacturing companies are in the process of securing funds by bonding through the Charlevoix County Economic Development Corporation (EDC) to enlarge and modernize their facilities.

When completed, the enlarged facilities will add about 30 new jobs to the economy of Charlevoix.

The EDC has passed Resolutions of Intent and Memoranda of Agreement for both Hoskins Manufacturing Company and Wojan Aluminum Products Corporation. These resolutions establish the public purposes for the eventual issuance of bonds.

Hoskins is asking the EDC to issue limited obligation revenue bonds in an amount not to exceed $850,000. The Marion Township manufacturer intends to use the money derived from the sale of the bonds to acquire more land and to construct, furnish, and equip an addition to its present plant. The addition will be approximately 14,600 square feet and will bring the size of the whole plant up to 35,600 square feet.

Hoskins is one of the world's leading producers of specialty metal alloys for use in various electrical and heat resistant applications. The company was founded in 1908 in Detroit and now has six plants in addition to the one in Charlevoix. They are located in Mio and Hamburg, Mich.; New Paris, Ind.;

School starts with surprising increase in enrollment

by FRAN MARTIN

First day enrollment figures at the Charlevoix Public Schools resulted in a slight increase instead of the projected loss of 30 students as anticipated at the close of the 1982-83 school year.

In commenting on the enrollment, Supt. Gordon W. VanWieren warned that the figures could change drastically before the official fourth Friday count on Sept. 30. He added that several new families moved into the school district during the summer and several others, who had left earlier, have returned to account for the enrollment remaining about the same.

The first day enrollment this year was 1395 as compared to the 1392 on the fourth Friday of the school year in 1982.

The decrease in the enrollment came in the middle school where it dropped by 25 students from 370 last year on the official count day to 345 on the opening day of school this year.

The enrollment at the K-5 (from 519 to 535) and at the high school (from 500 to 515) were the areas where the increase occurred.

The enrollment at St. Mary's parochial school showed a decrease. The fact that the school is not having a sixth grade this year accounts for part of the decrease Sister Jean Karen Woloszyk, school principal, said. The grade will be re-instated in 1984 she added.

The Bible Baptist Christian School, in its second year, has three students, one each in the first, eighth and eleventh grades, according to pastor of the church, James Lugibihl, who operates the school.

EPA sets TCE briefing

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency will conduct a public briefing on September 21 to explain its remedial investigation and feasibility study of the trichloroethylene (TCE) contamination of the Charlevoix water supply to begin in October.

The briefing will be held at 7 p.m. in City Hall and is open to all interested citizens. On-scene project coordinator Joel Balmont will attend the briefing to explain the EPA's planned search for the source of TCE contamination.

Charlevoix Yesterday

This picture postcard of the Charlevoix railroad bridge with the Belvedere Hotel in the background was mailed from Charlevoix to Seattle, Washington in 1911. The bridge was built in 1891 and 1892. It has not been crossed by a train for over a year and a half and is now the subject of controversy concerning its demolition.

Outdoor Report

from the DNR Gaylord Office

Most all trout streams are in good condition at this time and are producing fair to good catches of brook, brown, and rainbow. Both dry flies as well as live bait producing good results. Pressure will be much less on streams until the close of the regular season on September 30, 1983. Streams that remain open are listed in the 1983 Michigan fishing guide.

Some fair to good catches of salmon and lake trout were taken from Lake Michigan and Lake Huron over the week end, but windy weather reduced pressure on both lakes. Large schools of chinook salmon are reported near the mouth of the Thunder Bay River at Alpena.

Cooler weather is expected to increase success on the inland lakes for bluegill, bass, northern pike, and walleyes. Fish will move about and become more active as water temperatures begin to cool.

Heavy foliage will greet hunters as the season will open for Ruffed Grouse and Woodcock on Thursday, September 15.

At the present time elk are bugling in the Pigeon River Forest and this activity will continue until the later part of October and mostly during the night time hours.

Some areas will have outstanding fall color up to the latter part of September, but the peak color period is expected about October 10th.

Forest fire conditions can become very serious in September and October as leaves and foliage become dead. Remember when traveling in the woods be very careful with fire, whether camping, hiking or hunting. So far this year 83 fires have burned 225 acres.

Small Business Association's "503 Program" makes loans available to local businesses

by PEG OHLE

Small businesses in northwest Michigan now have a loan source through the federal Small Business Administration (SBA).

The program, called the "503 program", provides for loans of 40 percent from the SBA, 50 percent from a banking institution, and a 10 percent input from the borrower or others.

The SBA maximum loan is $500,000, which means that the total cost of a project for which money is loaned could be as much as $1.25 million.

According to Dan Hannigan, executive director of the Northwest Region corporation handling the 503 loans out of Traverse City, all businesses with net assets of $6 million or less and net profits of $2 million or less are eligible under the program.

Since the program was announced, Hannigan says he has received "quite a few inquiries and several applications" from people wanting to start new businesses or expand their present businesses.

The main advantage of the program, according to Hannigan, are the low down payment required of the borrower and the interest rate charged by SBA, which is tied to the treasury bond rate and usually a percentage or two below prime rate.

The 503 program is administered in northwest Michigan by a corporation of 30 persons, three each from the 10 counties in the region. One of the three persons represents a banking institution, one represents private industry, and one represents the County Board of Commissioners.

Charlevoix County's corporation members are John Kurtz of the First State Bank of Charlevoix, Walt Hufford of Hufford Industries, and County Commissioner Don Smith.

Jordan River zoning board votes against weir site

by PEG OHLE

If the Fisheries Division of the Department of Natural Resources constructs a fish trapping weir on the Jordan River this fall, it will probably be at Rogers Bridge, not upstream in the Natural Rivers portion as previously planned.

Last week, the Jordan River Natural River Zoning Board denied the DNR a permit to place the weir at the upstream site.

The DNR had sought the Zoning Board's permission to place a temporary structure in the Natural Rivers portion of the Jordan to trap coho salmon this year and next year, with the idea that by that time a permanent weir would be built there.

Construction of a permanent weir in the Jordan River has been the subject of much conversation and many meetings during the last few months. The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners last month passed a resolution permitting the DNR to proceed with plans for the weir according to state statute. This requires a formal application to the County Board for the weir, a public hearing on the matter, and publication of the DNR's intent. To date, none of these steps has been taken.

The Jordan River Natural River Zoning Board voted 5 to 1 to deny the permit. The dissenting vote was cast by John McGregor, regional director of the DNR. Other members of the Board, who voted to deny the permit, were Helen Cherry, South Arm Township Clerk, Gail Murphy of Antrim County, and Sherman Thomas and Dr. D. C. Pray of East Jordan.

Knight on the Town

New wells explored

by Dave Knight

The Charlevoix municipal golf course on the north side of town and the airport on the south side look like the two most promising sites for new city wells, according to geologist Art Gosling who has been evaluating all potential sites in the city as part of a summer-long study on alternative well locations.

The city has been ordered by the State Department of Health to replace its present system because of the TCE contamination. Council did, however, follow the recommendation of City Attorney Jeffery VanTreese and authorized the appeal of the non-compliance order which set some fast-approaching deadlines for big decisions and restricted the addition of any new water customers to the city system.

Gosling told the council Monday night that plans are now to start drilling six-inch test wells at ten potential locations he has ranked according to well selection criteria. The ten sites, in order, are the golf course (just north of the new water tower), the airport, Depot Beach, the cemetery, Mt. McSauba, Belvedere Golf Course, M-66 at the city's southeast side, Loeb School Rd., Ferry Beach and Lake Michigan Beach.

Each well site will be tested for capacity and when enough have been found to provide the 1,500 gallons per minute the Health Department requires of the city, testing will cease.

In his study of the geological character of the city, Gosling found that the most promising source of water for the city was in the limestone bedrock strata 200 feet beneath the surface or deeper. The sandy clay layers deposited by the glaciers atop the bedrock just don't have the capacity needed, said Gosling, for a municipal well.

Will the city be sacrificing quality if and when it replaces its present well with new ones?

Gosling thinks not saying that water from the limestone deposits that will be tapped should taste just as good and not have any more hardness.

Testing on these potential new well sites is to be completed by early October when results will be reported to the council.

Clockwise

Maximum news

by Bob Clock

THE LATE JIM Doherty, former editor of the Petoskey News-Review, often used to say that he would never run out of news as long as he had Charlevoix in his circulation area.

Although Jim died last summer, Charlevoix continues to make news.

A case in point is the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad bridge across Upper Pine River Channel which was due for demolition last week.

Suffice it to say that the bridge is no longer needed. The rail line south of the city has been abandoned and the right-of-way is about to revert to the Belvedere Club. The line north of the bridge has been purchased by the state and probably will find limited use in the years ahead, if only for excursion purposes.

However, the swing bridge, which rests upon a stone piling in the middle of the channel is no longer needed. The C&O has contracted to have the offending structure torn down, since it not only is in a bad state of repair but also is a hazard to navigation since is is located in a rather busy shipping lane.

Most communities would have taken the demolition in stride. But not Charlevoix. Although the bridge is scarcely an object of great beauty, it does have rather pleasing spidery lines, as seen from the opposite end of Round Lake. Probably more important, Charlevoixans have become accustomed to seeing it right where it is, and it difficult to imagine the Charlevoix skyline without it.

THAT IS WHY city fathers, spurred on by the Charlevoix Historical Society, have taken steps to see if it can be preserved — and hang the cost.

Dale Boss, a spokesman for the society, sees the bridge becoming something of a picnic area and fishing platform, possibly with two stories. He says if the city doesn't want to claim title to the bridge after the legal dust has cleared, the society will accept it as a historical relic. He claims all kinds of grants are available for restoration, maintenance and liability insurance.

And Boss usually knows whereof he speaks. He believes "positive thinkers" will be able to save the bridge for future generations to enjoy.

The U.S. Coast Guard, however, has other ideas. Robert Bloom, in charge of the Coast Guard's Bridge Branch in Cleveland, says it is a matter of policy to remove bridges that are no longer needed for transportation. Period. He claims the bridge will have to come out, no matter who owns it.

Furthermore, Bloom wonders how the society plans to get picnickers to the bridge, since the present access is via a rickety walkway located on Coast Guard property. Apparently the Guard has no intention of refurbishing the existing walkway or allowing another to be built.

The city has secured a restraining order against demolition of the bridge until a show cause hearing is held at 11 a.m. Monday, Sept. 26, at the Charlevoix County courthouse.

At this point, battle lines are tightly drawn and the fate of the bridge is anybody's guess. I wouldn't want to make book on either side.

Wouldn't it be dull to live in a town where people didn't get involved? Jim Doherty surely knew what he was talking about when it came to Charlevoix.

Let's face it; I'm just unenriched

by PEG OHLE

It is a blow to my ego. That's all that can be said about it.

I just discovered that of the 24 "adult enrichment" subjects taught in the Charlevoix Public Schools evening program, there is only one in which I have any proficiency at all.

After more years of schooling than I care to admit, after decades of being a wife and mother, and even after being an interested observer and reporter of events around me, I am decidedly unenriched.

I am not the genteel lady who makes quilts for her daughters' hopechests, who covers her furniture with needlepoint and her walls with cross stitch, who designs and sews her own housecoats, who relaxes in front of an easel doing a little drawing or painting, or who, just for the fun of it, tosses out a word or two of French in the course of an ordinary conversation.

I do not have any craft hobbies such as forming art objects from metal, creating stained glass pieces, weaving baskets, stenciling on glass, making lace lampshades, taking pictures, or pottering pottery.

I cannot do any of the many useful things for which some people are paid. I cannot weld, I know nothing about woodworking, I am a dummy when it comes to home repairs, computer programming is a foreign language to me, and no pilot would want me in his ground crew.

I have been thinking about learning microwave cooking, but nothing will come of that thought. Once upon a time we had fly tying equipment at home but I never used it.

Because of my utter incompetence in all of these things, I have never had to be concerned with financial investments or tax preparations.

It is really too bad. As I look back on it now, I have not taken advantage of all the opportunities offered me, such as all the enrichment classes mentioned above. As I look further back, though, I realize that such opportunities were not available when I had the time, energy, and inclination to study.

Since writing all this, my ego has improved. Long ago, I became enriched by a typing class (now offered in the Charlevoix evening program), which enables me to suggest to you that taking an enrichment course might be good for your ego.

Let me know how it works out. Maybe we could do a story on "how I became enriched and improved my ego".

Letters: Jordan's not natural

To the Editor:

When considering the merits of a salmon weir on the Jordan River, it is more or less a joke to consider the river natural' and wild. The weir would keep out salmon (not native), brown trout (not native) and steelhead that have been around long enough to belong. I've fished the Jordan for more than 30 years, and was taught fly fishing by a gentleman who had to get the train to make a special stop so he could walk in to camp by the river. In those days, the river was populated almost entirely by brook trout, and plenty of them. Thirty years ago, the catch was still mostly brook trout, with a few browns, but grass still grew in between the ruts of the access roads.

Since the hatchery was put in and lamprey eel poison added, brook trout have almost vanished, sub-legal rainbows are plentiful, and your best chance for a good catch is to be out on one of the rare days when the German Browns are committing suicide. Access roads, by the way, are now regularly graded, and in most cases have room to pass an oncoming car.

Environmentalists would do far better to quit worrying about the salmon weir and to start worrying about the nutrients dumped into the river by the U.S. fish hatchery that claims not to be regulated by Michigan environmental laws. They might also worry about the ecological effects of eel poison that does not kill fish, but reduces their food supply with similar long-term results. They might also consider limiting the endless chain of canoes full of people who claim to be communing with nature while involved in traffic almost as bad as if they were commuting through Charlevoix.

Mt. Carmel, Penn.; Brookfield, Mass.; and Rexdale, Ont. Headquarters are located in Detroit.

Hoskins has been in Charlevoix since 1961. It presently employs 48 production workers and four office people. The addition will mean at least 10 more production jobs, according to company sources. Barbara Skeel is plant manager.

The capital stock of the Hoskins Manufacturing Company is owned by the Armada Corporation, a Detroit-based holding company whose common stock is listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Wojan Aluminum Products Corporation is a younger and smaller company than Hoskins, but it is home-based in Charlevoix.

Wojan is asking the EDC to issue limited obligation revenue bonds in the amount of $600,000. This money will be used to expand and renovate Wojan's existing facility and to acquire new equipment. An addition of approximately 31,000 square feet will bring the total size of the plant up to 43,000 square feet.

Wojan fabricates aluminum windows, doors, and related products. The business has grown considerably during the past few years because of the increased demand for energy-efficient building products.

Walter Wojan founded the company in 1952. Today it is a family-owned corporation operated by Dennis Wojan as president; Kenneth Wojan as vice-president and treasurer; and Rose Wojan as secretary.

All of Wojan's manufacturing is done at its Charlevoix plant, but the corporation also maintains a sales and distribution office in Marquette.

Wojan presently employs 32 people, most of them semi-skilled. It is anticipated that the plant addition will add 20 new jobs.

Both Hoskins and Wojan must now await completion of several steps by County and local governmental units before their revenue bonds can be sold:

The County Board of Commissioners must adopt a resolution approving the project area for both projects. In the case of Hoskins, the Marion Township Board must adopt a resolution approving the project area, and in the case of Wojan, the Charlevoix City Council must adopt a similar resolution.

The EDC must adopt a resolution recommending the project plan and certifying that the project will not have the effect of transferring employment.

The County Planning Commission must consider the project plan and submit its findings and recommendations to the County Board.

The County Board must adopt a resolution setting the date for a hearing on the project plan.

The Township Board or City Council must adopt a resolution setting the date for a hearing on the project plan.

The County Board must adopt a resolution approving the project plan.

The Township Board or City Council must adopt a resolution approving the project plan.

The EDC must adopt the bond resolution which authorizes its officers to execute the documents for the issuance of bonds.

After all this, bond documents are prepared, along with a purchase agreement, and the bonds are delivered.

Although there are several steps in the procedure, the process usually runs smoothly and can be completed within two to three months, according to County Planner Larry Sullivan.

The advantage of this type of financing to both Hoskins and Wojan is that they can sell (in the name of Charlevoix County) tax-free bonds. Because the bonds are tax-free, the interest rates Hoskins and Wojan will have to pay will be lower than they would be through regular financing.

Council votes to rescind ownership be taken down; and that, even if the Coast Guard allows it to remain, it will cost at least $100,000 to repair it.

City resident John Gaskin spoke in favor of delaying demolition saying, "The bridge is a symbol of our past. We've torn everything down except the bridge."

He also voiced concern over the lack of notice given before the demolition was to have started.

"This all seemed to mushroom up overnight," said Gaskin, "Why weren't the council and city manager aware of these things so that the people could be notified? We're entitled to that consideration."

Mayor Staley said that one of his concerns involving the railroad bridge was that it provided the only alternative link across the Pine River channel should the U.S. 31 drawbridge downtown be put out of service for some reason.

City resident Joan Hoffman called the efforts to save the bridge "a foolhardy waste of time" since Charlevoix already has sufficient access to fishing areas and scenic views.

Following an unsuccessful attempt by Staley to poll the audience on the question, the council adjourned to an executive session for the purpose of discussing the litigational aspects of the matter.

Upon their return to the special meeting, council members voted 5-0 on a motion by Clement Olach to rescind any city ownership claim on the bridge. Council member Jeffery Porter was absent.

Following the vote, Michael said that he would be meeting with VanTreese Tuesday to seek formal dismissal of the city's lawsuit so that his client, Meagher Contracting, could resume the demolition work.

Mr. and Mrs. Randall Magnus

Batdorff-Magnus

Deborah Batdorff and Randall Magnus exchanged marriage vows on Saturday afternoon, September 3, at the Good Shepard United Brethren Church in Huntington, Indiana.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Batdorff of Charlevoix, and the bridegroom is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Martin Magnus of Ft. Erie, Ontario.

The Rev. Magnus officiated at the double-ring rites which were witnessed by approximately 150 guests. Potted ivy in calico print and bow covered pots decorated the sides of the sanctuary, while ivy and pink and white silk roses graced the altar along with candelabra and a unity candle.

Mr. Batdorff gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of white cotton voile embroidered with shiffli lace. The gown was fashioned with a high lace collar, lace yoke, and three-quarter length sleeves of point d'esprit. The A-line silhouette skirt was accented at the waist line with pink and white satin ribbons and streamers. A chapel-length train completed the ensemble.

Barbara Haneline of Flint served the bride as maid of honor. Joan Cook of Charlevoix, Cindy Magnus of Ft. Erie, and Rose Callahan of Huntington were the bridesmaids. They wore three-quarters length gowns of calico print with white eyelet trim and carried baskets of baby's breath and silk champagne pink roses made by the bride's mother.

Dave Burkholder of Lansing served as best man. The bridegroom's three brothers, Brian, Craig, and Tim Magnus, were groomsmen. David Betterly and Tim Beck of Huntington were ushers.

Instrumental music for the ceremony was provided by Mary Esther Batdorff, an aunt of the bride. Mary Moore provided vocal music.

A reception in the church parlors, hosted by the bride's parents, followed the ceremony. Brian Magnus acted as master of ceremonies, and Jennifer Bonar, cousin of the bride, Joy Lang, and Sharon Baton helped serve refreshments.

The rehearsal dinner was held at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Sticker, hosted by the bridegroom's parents.

Following a wedding trip through the Smoky Mountains, the newlyweds will be at home in Ft. Erie, where the bridegroom will be assistant pastor of the United Brethren in Christ Church. The bride is a secondary school science teacher.

Rayders look good in season opener

The Charlevoix Red Rayders opened their 1983 varsity football season impressively Friday night with a solid performance against the Petoskey Northmen. In an unusual Michigan-Huron Shores Conference matchup for the Rayders' season opener, Charlevoix defense held the Northmen at bay - and accounted for two points on a safety - while a nicely balanced offensive attack of running power and passing skill put 19 more points on the board for a 21-0 win.

Coupled with a surprising defeat of perennial football power Cheboygan by St. Ignace, the Rayders' victory establishes them early as potential championship timber.

First quarter action on the Northmen's home field Friday night was tentative as neither team managed to mount a serious scoring threat.

By early in the second quarter, however, the Charlevoix offense had shifted into gear. The Rayders marched 56 yards to the Petoskey seven which was close enough for flanker Jim Martin to scurry into the endzone for the six-point lead. Big plays in the drive included a 16-yard pass play from quarterback Tim LaBlance to running back Thad Morgan and a 12-yard run by Morgan on his own.

Morgan also added the extra point conversion.

Etienne's return to coaching will be against former team

by FRAN MARTIN

"I'm excited about it. My kids are just as excited. We're all looking forward to the meeting" Head Football Coach Joe Etienne said of the forthcoming Charlevoix-East Jordan football game to be played at Kipke Field Friday night.

For Coach Etienne it will mean a return to his old stomping grounds for the game will be played on the same turf where he gained all-state recognition as a lineman and linebacker under Coach Don Carey whose team he will meet in Friday's game.

"After returning to Charlevoix in 1979, I'd go to the games and, at times, would wonder if I'd ever return to Kipke Field as a coach. And here I am, returning as a coach but for the opposition. Now you can understand why I'm so excited about it."

He mentioned, particularly, the renewal of the games between the two schools. "It's a series that never should have been discontinued because there was a good healthy rivalry that went back for years. Just like the Charlevoix-Boyne City rivalry. I'm glad to see it renewed. The people in East Jordan seem to be happy about it and everyone in Charlevoix seems to feel the same way. I count myself lucky to be coaching the team that will meet Charlevoix for the first time in quite some time."

He went on to say that he had a fine group of players. "They're very coachable. They're anxious to play. They're proud. We think we're a strong contender for the title in our league (Ski Valley Conference). We respect Charlevoix. They have a big edge on us, especially the backfield. We've got our work cut out for us this week in preparing for the game. We're hoping we can show an exciting brand of football," he commented.

As for Etienne's return to coaching after an absence of three years, he said it all worked out just right for him. His business (Kentucky Fried Chicken) slows up enough after Labor Day that he now feels he can spend time with something he's missed...coaching. "When the offer came along, I couldn't believe my good fortune" he said of the coaching position, adding that this would be his nineteenth year as a coach.

A big concern for Etienne this week will be finding someone to replace Mike Graham who injured his ankle in last week's game with Elk Rapids. Though there were no broken bones, Grsham is on crutches this week with orders from the doctor to stay off the ankle for the time being. With less than 25 candidates for the team, this can become a major problem, Etienne said.

"But we'll be at Kipke Field, come Friday. You can bet on that" he added.

Etienne comes to East Jordan with a 53-28 record compiled over a period of 18 years as head coach. Following his graduation from Northern Michigan University, he was head coach at Marlette (Class C) for four years. During the ensuing years he was assistant varsity coach at Saginaw High School (Class A) for seven years, head coach at Saginaw St. Stephen (Class C) one year, assistant coach and defensive coordinator at Bay City Central (Class A) 1973-74 and head coach at Saginaw Carrolton (Class C) 1975-79 before leaving coaching and teaching to enter the business world as owner of the Kentucky Fried Chicken franchise in Charlevoix in February 1979.

Etienne has a Master's Degree from Central Michigan University.

JV team knocked by Northmen

The Charlevoix Rayder Junior Varsity team launched the football season at Kipke Field Thursday with a game with an old adversary, Petoskey.

The Rayders dropped the game 18-0 as the visitors scored all three touchdowns on short yardage.

The first came on a six-yard run in the first period, the second early in the second half on an eight-yard run and the third late in the game on a one-yard plunge.

Coach Bruce Certa said the defensive squad performed well. He named Tim Salmonson, Scott Crandell, Tim Melke and Matt Lignell for their outstanding performances. The timing of the defense was off and will need a lot of work before the team travels to East Jordan this week, he said. Barry Anderson is assistant coach.

Rugby team in action against TC

On Saturday, September 10, the newly formed Charlevoix Marauders rugby team played their first scrimmage against the Traverse City Blues in Traverse City.

Although Charlevoix lost the scrimmage, many Charlevoix players got their first formal game experience, according to organizer Mike Kaiser.

Kaiser said that more players are needed on the team and that anyone who would like to find out more about rugby is invited to the team's practices on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 6 p.m.

Kaiser can also be reached at 547-6025.

This Saturday the club will be traveling to Midland to play four area clubs.

Etienne is city golf champ

Joe Etienne, Jr. of Charlevoix was the recent winner in the Championship Flight of the Charlevoix City Golf Tournament. Quinton Walker was runner-up in the Championship Flight.

Other winners included, in the First Flight, Skip Young, winner and Lou Orlowski, runner up; in the Second Flight, Nell Houseworth, winner, and Fritz Allard, runner-up; Third Flight, Mike Reinhart, winner, Ray Browe, runner-up.

The Ladies' Championship Flight was won by Pauline Young with Holly Russell runner-up.

Yachting Notes

by A. Nony Mouse

Well, all you lucky people.. the old original (?) A. Nony Mouse is back with you! Our replacement for this year kinda got caught in a mouse trap so we're back in action...Bring On The !X&?' Cats!

Sailboat racing hasn't changed much from last year...the spectator last Wednesday was finally spotted in Nanny's in the good company of the entire crew of one yacht that decided a Lull in the breeze was an opportunity, not a problem. Oh well, it gets cool out there on these beautiful September eevenings.

Since this particular A. Nony last put pen to paper (poetic, no?), there has been a very full season: new boats, new crews, one shipboard marriage, new sails, an infinite number of shipboard romances (not counting affairs!), heavy breezes and total calms, three shipboard divorces. Let's cover it all in three chapters; Rembersnces, Hats Off and The Spotlight:

REMBERANCES...

...The old, rainy days of the early spring, inhaling the toxic sanding dust of Agent Orange Super Fast, Never Foul bottom slick paint (before cleaning up to go to the joint protest meeting against Cement Dust, Nuclear Storage and South Side Fertilizer).

...Getting prices on a new main, mylar genoa, see-through neglige spinnaker and plaid bags for all but buying one sail needle and lots of thread.

...The perfect summer, the sun burned bald head, the beautiful views, mostly of the transoms ("rear ends" for any landlubbers) of "Camouflage", "Indooroophilly" and "Too Marvelous" - "Pygmalion" was out of sight! The one time thrill of first-to-finish with three fourteen year old girls crewing for this old man and crossing the line just ahead of "Coal Pile Express"...haven't been in front of him since!

...The exultation of spinnaker surfing by "Piggy" at 11 knots on that wild Wednesday and then feeling so guilty about being so happy when we realized another yacht has two injured people.

...The good company, the tall tales and the pure comfort of fine friends at CYC after the races.

HATS OFF...

..To "Pygmalion", "Too Marvelous" and "Indooroophilly" as 1, 2, 3 Division "A" of the big Summer Series.

...To "Blasen III", "Foxy Lady" and "Tireless" in Division "B", same series.

...To "Seascape" and "Te-Gi", 1 and 2 after breaking the tie (both with equal 1st places, Seascape with the extra 2nd place) and the perennial "Cheemaun" number 3 in the "Jib and Main" Portsmouth Division.

...To Mike Miller, "Best Damn Skipper" with Gary Gleason and John Osterberg as "Next..." and "Almost Nest...", respectively. For those who forgot, that's for real one design, swap boat, match racing known as the "Hot Dog" Series.

...To "Mint Julep" with Jack Begrow, "Obsession" with Mike Miller and "Camouflage" with John Bauer as 1, 2, and 3 in Single-Handed competition for the fantastic Copper and Bronze Lighthouse Trophy.

...To "Charlie Brown", "Peregrine" and "Flying Machine", 1, 2, and 3 in last Wednesday's Division "A", "Traveler" sailing as a guest boat, otherwise corrected out to third.

...To "Sepcter", "Blasen III", and "Tireless" in Division "B" of the same race, the first of the Fall Series.

...To "Te-Gi", "Seascape" and "Cheemaun" in Portsmouth, same night.

...To Brian Jurries, etal. for a great job of running the races all spring and summer.

...To Warren Todter, etal. for the same during the Red Fox Regatta (we'll recap those results next week).

...To our two guests who did the same in such a fine manner last week despite repeated cannon failures.

...To all the rest of the skippers, crews, protest committees, bartenders and the others; without YOU it wouldn't have been nearly as great a season.

IN THE SPOTLIGHT...

...Gary Gleason with the swift and pretty "Charlie Brown"; the new yacht with the neat brown and white 'chute.

...Bob Haveman, pilot of the mean and lean "Flying Machine"; another new beauty.

...Dale Troppman and Roger Nesburg, this year's proud new owners of "Express" (that's "Cement Dust..." not "Coal Pile...") formerly the "Razzmatazz".

...Mike Keem, who introduced the S-2 "Canusa" early in the year and now has it moving.

Okay folks, come out this Wednesday night; skipper, crew or watch. The Yacht Club and Ferry Beach are still the best places and a sailboat race is as beautiful to watch as a rose blooming; except sometimes a rose blooming is more exciting!

Notice To All Skippers...the race courses for the remaining races are all changed by the elimination of the second weather leg and the next following leeward run. Sail the first weather leg, both reach legs and then only the last leg(s); either directly to "A" if so shown on that course, or to the weather mark and then "A".

Charlevoix wins season debut

The Rayders wasted no time in the third quarter as LaBlance hit Martin in the corner of the endzone from 17 yards out with a scoring pass to put Charlevoix further ahead 13-0. The TD pass capped a patient drive kept alive by the steady rushing attack anchored by Pat Mitchell and Morgan. Morgan missed the extra point try.

On the series following the kick-off, however, the Rayder defense pushed the Northmen back to their own five-yard line and then caught quarterback Tim Nelson in the endzone. The quick touchdown and the two-point safety changed the complexion of the game dramatically, helping the team go from a 7-0 to a 15-0 advantage in less than six minutes.

The Rayders then proceeded to take the free kick on the 20 yard line and bull themselves right back into paydirt on short gainers with Mitchell finally bursting into the endzone from the one. The extra point attempt was again no good leaving the score at 21-0. In the fourth quarter, the Rayder defense continued to frustrate Petoskey's offense in preserving the shutout.

Mitchell, the leading scorer in the conference last year, got his first six points of the year with the TD in the third quarter and racked up a total of 80 yards rushing in 19 carries to lead the Rayders in that category. Morgan carried the ball ten times for 51 yards and accounted for one extra point conversion.

Martin came away with a pair of touchdowns for Charlevoix, one running and one on a pass reception, and totaled ten yards rushing on two carries.

Quarterback Tim LaBlance hit four of ten passes for 57 yards and a TD.

Charlevoix's defensive squad divided up the chores pretty evenly: five players recorded five tackles apiece in the victory. They were Morgan, Shawn Hartnett, Dan Buday, Chris Havens and Bill Tillen. Morgan also helped the cause with a blocked punt.

Surprisingly for a season opener, penalties were not a factor in the game. The Rayders were caught only nine times for 65 yards and Northmen were penalized eight times for 50 yards.

Team totals had Charlevoix on top with 11 first downs (nine running, two passing) in the game to Petoskey's five. The Rayders' total offense of 214 yards came on 157 yards running and 57 passing while Petoskey's 126 total yards came from 86 yards on the ground and Nelson's 40 yards from a 3 for 12 passing performance.

The Rayders get a break from conference action this week when they host county rival East Jordan at Kipke Field for the 1983 home opener.

St. Mary's new principal sees every child as special

by ANNE KELLY

Sister Jean Karen Woloczyk

"Every child has something valuable to offer. It's the challenge of the teacher to help him find it."

Sister Jean Karen Woloczyk is the new teacher-principal at St. Mary's School. She believes in children - their openess to learn, their capacity for growth, the necessity for their spiritual as well as intellectual development.

"I have a strong love for kids," she admitted. "We learn from them as well as they from us. Respect is a two-way street for children and teachers. I really believe that. It's the teachers job to help them come to their fullest potential by giving them avenues to follow so that they may develop into their best."

Sister Jean Karen was philosophizing based on 16 years of educational experience in the classroom as well as in administration. She has taught in Detroit, New Mexico, inner city Saginaw, Grand Rapids and East Tawas. In Saginaw and East Tawas Sister served as principal as well as teacher. She received her B.A. and M.A. in religious education from Acquinas College, and her M.A. in Educational Administration from Central Michigan University.

"I enjoy the small school situation at St. Mary's. It's possible to have a spirit of community where there is brotherly and sisterly concern among the students and where they're really able to develop educationally and spiritually."

The future of Catholic education looks financially in peril, but Sister feels confident that where there's a will for this Christian education there will be a way to provide it for children. "This is the challenge for Catholic education today."

She feels that they at St. Mary's provide a well-rounded program for their students and hopes to make the community aware of what they have to offer.

"It's good to have dual systems of education in the community," Sister concluded. "It offers the challenge of accountability to both."

THE FIRST DAY OF SCHOOL last week appears to have been a bit much for Charlevoix Elementary School third grader Laurel Sutherland who took a breather from the hectic pace for a bit of meditation.

Four new teachers

Four new teachers have joined the faculty at the Charlevoix Public Schools. Though they are new as regular members of the faculty, only one is new to the classroom. She is Cynthia Haynes of Harbor Springs who will be a part-time French teacher. She will have three sections at the high school and one in exploratory French at the seventh and eighth grade levels at the middle school. Miss Haynes is a graduate of Alma College.

The others, Pauline Austin, will be teaching second grade, Cathy Silberhorn, third grade and Erik Lundteigen, fourth grade. Mrs. Austin, a Northern Michigan University graduate, had taught in the school system before leaving to raise a family; Mrs. Silberhorn, a Central Michigan Graduate, did her pre-active teaching here and Mr. Lundteigen, a Michigan State graduate, like the others, has been substitute teaching here.

CITY OF CHARLEVOIX COUNCIL MINUTES

September 6, 1983
8:00 P.M.

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date and time in a regular meeting held in Council Chambers, 210 State Street, Charlevoix, Michigan, with Mayor Staley, presiding.

Present: Councilmembers Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Olach. Absent: Councilman Porter.

The Minutes of the August 15, 1983 regular meeting were approved as presented in writing and as recorded in the Council Minutes Book.

Enter Councilman Porter.

Councilman Block gave an overall review of a meeting he attended along with the City Manager, the Mayor and Ross Kittleman of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers on August 30, 1983, regarding the restoration of the North Bank of the Pine River Channel, east of the U.S. 31 drawbridge.

Moved by Councilman Block and supported by Councilwoman Roloff, that $1,000.00 be set aside each year for maintenance on the project, if needed, and to accept the following recommendations as offered by the City Manager.

1. Request the Corps District Engineer to take all necessary steps to ensure the "emergency project" is completed this Fall. Mount whatever campaign is required to ensure this takes place.

2. Inform the Corps of the City's intend to grant use of the City property and remove the vault.

3. Take no position on the maintenance agreement at this time.

4. Inform the Corps and Highway Department of the City's continued desire to accomplish construction of an under-bridge walkway along the Channel, and direct the City Manager to obtain the necessary engineering sketches of this improvement for the agencies' consideration.

5. Add the South Channel walkway to the list of City projects to be prioritized later this year. Consider, at that time, undertaking an effort to obtain the necessary pedestrian easements on behalf of the Corps.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Councilmembers Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, Olach, and Porter. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Council generally agreed to an arrangement as set up by Bruce MacArthur of Keep Charlevoix Beautiful Organization to plant a Christmas tree in East Park and seven more around the lodge at Mt. McSauba. The trees being planted are being donated by Walt Hoffman and Clayton Scott, along with Frank Rothschild donating a portion of the expenses for planting the tree in East Park.

Council generally agreed that Oscar Stroud, Charlevoix Township Supervisor, should be informed in writing that the City will not service any new private customers with the 3" water service that is installed from Carson Avenue, to Mt. McSauba.

No action was taken at this time regarding compensation for the Deputy City Clerk who has been performing additional duties during the absence of the City Clerk. Council generally agreed to discuss this matter at the next regular meeting with new recommendations from the City Manager and to prepare a policy regarding compensation for assistants during the absences of the Clerk, Treasurer, and Manager.

Council generally agreed to appoint Frank Cook and Paul Burlew to the Charlevoix County Economic Development Corporation (EDC), to serve on the Wojan Aluminum Company Expansion Project.

The following Resolution was offered and moved for its adoption by Councilman Wood and supported by Councilman Olach.

RESOLUTION NO. 83-9-1

WHEREAS, the Employer maintains a deferred compensation plan for its employees which is administered by the ICMA Retirement Corporation (the "Administrator"); and

WHEREAS, the Administrator has recommended changes in the plan document to comply with recent federal legislation and Internal Revenue Service Regulations governing said plans; and

WHEREAS, the Internal Revenue Service has issued a private letter ruling approving said plan document as complying with Section 457 of the Internal Revenue Code; and

WHEREAS, other public employers have joined together to establish the ICMA Retirement Trust for the purpose of representing the interests of the participating employers with respect to the collective investment of funds held under their deferred compensation plans; and

WHEREAS, said Trust is a salutary development which further advances the quality of administration for plans administered by the ICMA Retirement Corporation:

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the Employer hereby adopts the deferred compensation plan attached hereto as Appendix A, as an amendment and restatement of its present deferred compensation plan administered by the ICMA Retirement Corporation, which shall continue to act as Administrator of said plan; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Employer hereby executes the ICMA Retirement Trust, attached hereto as Appendix B; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Employer hereby adopts the trust agreement with the ICMA Retirement Corporation, as appears in Appendix C hereto, as an amendment and restatement of its existing trust agreement with the ICMA Retirement Corporation, as Administrator, and shall cast, on behalf of the Employer, any required votes under the program. Administrative duties to carry out the plan may be assigned to the appropriate departments.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the City Manager shall be the coordinator for this program and shall receive necessary reports, notices, etc., from the ICMA Retirement Corporation as Administrator, and shall cast, on behalf of the Employer, any required votes under the program. Administrative duties to carry out the plan may be assigned to the appropriate departments.

Resolution was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, Olach, and Porter. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Moved by Councilman Block and supported by Councilman Olach to direct the City Manager to prepare a resolution and to schedule a Public Hearing for the purpose of vacating an alley between West Hurlbut and West Upright as requested in writing by Perry Smith.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, Olach, and Porter. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Moved by Councilman Olach and supported by Councilman Wood to accept a letter from the City Attorney, and the certified petition from the City Clerk's office regarding the proposed project by Jack Uhrick, stating the disposition of the project.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, Olach, and Porter. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Council generally agreed to allow the Chamber of Commerce the use of East Park for the "2nd Annual Charlevoix Restaurant Employees Olympics" to be held September 17, 1983.

The City Attorney informed the Council that the C&O Railroad has contracted a firm to remove the Railroad Bridge located between Round Lake and Lake Charlevoix, adjacent to the Coast Guard Station. He indicated that the Register of Deeds Office has no record of the C&O, or the City owning it. The City issued $25,000 Bonds in 1891 for the construction of the Bridge.

Several members of the Charlevoix Historical Society were present and expressed their objection to the removal of the Bridge.

Dale Bosa, member of the Keep Charlevoix Beautiful Organization and Charlevoix Historical Society present, stated that these two organizations have decided to team up to improve the bridge by putting safety rails up and other necessary improvements if needed.

Moved by Councilman Porter and supported by Councilwoman Roloff authorizing the City Attorney to attempt the issuance of a restraining order against C&O Railroad regarding the removal of the Bridge.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Councilmembers Roloff, Wood, Block, Olach, and Porter. Nays: Councilman Timms. Absent: None. Council authorized the payment of bills totaling $103,094.26.

"Stop Smoking" clinic to be held at hospital

Stop Smoking next week.

A chance to Stop Smoking and make it last is being offered through Charlevoix Area Hospital, September 19-23, this coming Monday through Friday.

Held on five consecutive evenings from 7 to 9 p.m., in the hospital classrooms, the Stop Smoking sessions will convincingly guide participants through the harrowing first week of quitting smoking.

Gary Russell, who will lead the five day program, has worked with many such programs around the area. He is Pastor at East Jordan's Seventh Day Adventist Church and holds a Masters Degree in Public Health.

Everyone who joins the Stop Smoking session will receive direct information that will help them avoid the desire to light up.

The Stop Smoking Clinic will use material that has proven its effectiveness in past sessions throughout the United States and around the world. The techniques were developed in the early 1960's by Reverend Elmon Folkenberg of the Seventh Day Adventists and Dr. Wayne McFarland. It is estimated that 90 percent of the people who attend these Stop Smoking Clinics are successful.

Each participant will receive a booklet containing daily specific suggestions for dealing with the desire for a cigarette. The booklets detail what foods tend to stimulate a desire for nicotine, what foods help the body rid itself of nicotine, and what kind of activities will curb the urge to smoke.

Each evening's class will build upon the previous evening's. It is important for serious participants to attend all the sessions. The program will begin with information on smoking and its effects on the heart and lungs, as well as the psychological aspects of smoking. There will be time for questions and answers, group sharing of problems and successes, and tips on how to strengthen will power and control weight.

Persons who wish to join this effective Stop Smoking Clinic should register by calling Charlevoix Area Hospital, 547-4024. A $15 donation is requested to cover materials and other costs.

City seeks to postpone erosion repairs

Work on reconstructing the north bank of the Pine River channel near the U.S. 31 drawbridge will start in April if the City of Charlevoix gets its way with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

City Council approved Monday night a set of recommendations by City Manager Robert Hunt that will postpone the erosion repairs until spring. Hunt told the council that the winter construction planned by the Corps would risk exorbitant expenses over the $250,000 limit on emergency repairs by the contactor which, under a required "Local Cooperation Agreement", the city would have to absorb.

·Hunt also suggested that the work make minimum use of the Finn Lumber property so as not to interupt construction on the Altman hotel project scheduled to begin in the spring, that special legal counsel with expertise in maritime law be retained by the city to see that the city is protected from an unfair maintenance responsibility, that the unused utility vault remain on the bank over the winter to help stabilize the bank and that the bridge attendants constantly monitor the erosion of the bank over the winter and inform the Corps immediately when and if emergency action is neccessary.

Council went along with all Hunt's recommendations.

At its September 6 meeting, council authorized a "cantilever" type of repair work for the bank which slid into the channel during the harsh winter snow storms of early 1982. Also planned is a walkway under the north side of the drawbridge linking the Round Lake shoreline with the north pier.

In other action Monday night, council:

-Denied a proposed site plan by the Ski & Shore real estate firm to construct a second-floor deck over the sidewalk at its office on Bridge St.

·Approved, with several conditions, a site plan for a fiberglass boat repair shop at 209 Ferry Avenue.

·Passed a resolution vacating the alley that parallels Grant St. between Upright and Hurlbut.

Bus system goes back to Comm. on Aging

by PEG OHLE

The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners could not agree last week about what to do with the ailing County Transit System, so the County Commission on Aging was asked to keep the System under its wings and manage its affairs for at least another six months.

During that time, the Commission on Aging is charged with finding ways and means of implementing the 22 recommendations on improving Transit operations contained in the County Board's Ad Hoc Committee report accepted by the County Board last June.

The number one recommendation (and the most controversial) is that the Transit System be separated from the Commission on Aging to permit employment of a full-time Transit manager who would have time to properly promote and manage the System.

The number two recommendation (which is really part of the first) is that a new committee be formed to operate the Transit system.

Toward this end, County Commissioner Lee Moerland said last week that he believed putting the Transit System under a new committee would not only improve the service rendered by the System but would improve the System's credibility. He suggested that such a new committee be made up of representatives from the County Board, the Commission on Aging, and the general public.

Moerland did not receive support for this idea, so Commissioner Larry Matthew presented the resolution charging the Commission on Aging to find some answers.

Matthew's resolution passed by a four to two vote, with Moerland and Commissioner Don Smith voting against it. Smith chaired the Ad Hoc Committee which wrote the Transit report.

Commissioner Oral Sutliff, who is the County Board's representative on the Commission on Aging, reported that the Commission is in the process of implementing four moves to improve the Transit System:

Keep all buses at Transit System headquarters in Boyne City instead of spreading them around the three cities in the County, move Commission on Aging offices (now housed in the Sheriff's building) to Transit offices in Boyne City, revise the fare schedule to bring in more revenue, and purchase a time clock for use by both Transit and Commission on Aging employees.

The move to keep all buses in Boyne City brought criticism from the bus drivers who attended the meeting. They pointed out that twice a day, three and maybe four, buses would run to and from Charlevoix or East Jordan to Boyne City without passengers, at an operating cost of at least $300 a week, and probably more.

When asked why he thought the bus consolidation was a good idea, Transit System Director Art Saworski said it would eliminate improper use of the buses by drivers, notably in Charlevoix.

He said one driver had been transporting "old tires and even tomatoes".

A spectator replied, "Then why not fire him?"

Besides the two recommendations made by the Ad Hoc Committee mentioned above, five others had to do with record-keeping and accounting procedures, and the rest with general operating and business methods.

The report called for "Audit of transit accounts, standard accounting procedures, monthly trial balance sheets, voucher system for payroll and bills, a calendar year

The 91-year old C&O railroad swing bridge across the Pine River channel is scheduled for demolition this week. See page 10 for a photographic remembrance of the Charlevoix landmark.

Demolition of railroad bridge back on track for this week

The Chesapeake and Ohio railroad bridge across the upper Pine River Channel will be closed one more time this week as demolition of the bridge appears set to begin Wednesday.

Coast Guard officials have announced that navigation through the channel between Round Lake and Lake Charleovix will be closed from 2:20 p.m. Wednesday, September 21 to noon Friday, September 23.

Contractor Peter M. Meagher plans to dismantle much of the bridge itself while the swing structure is in the closed position and supported at both ends, according to Meagher's attorney John Michael. Scrap materials will then be placed on a railroad car to be transported just south of the Belvedere Club for loading onto trucks.

Though the bridge is scheduled to be down by Friday, the demolition contract also calls for removal of the south trestle, many protective pile clusters and the stone base of the bridge. That part of the work should extend into the fall, said Michael.

Of the restraining order sought successfully last week by the City of Charlevoix, City Attorney Jeffrey VanTreese said Monday night that "the issue appears to have been settled" though he would not go as far as to say whether the city will reimburse Meagher for time lost while efforts to save the bridge were being deliberated.

Bids occupy School Board

by FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Board of Education voted to request bids on the high school parking lot, addtional insulation on the recent addition to the high school and the resurfacing of the floor of the high school study hall at its meeting Monday night.

This was in addition to accepting bids for propane gas and gasoline and hearing several reports.

Doris Pearl said that the Building and Site Committee had decided to ask for bids for the work at the high school. She said all three requests are important. However, before making a decision, bids must be checked to see if there were funds to underwrite the cost. Deadline for the bids is October 3.

Two bids were received for both the propane gas and gasoline. The Petrolane Company bid of .64 cents, the lower of the two received, was

City again offers to plant shade trees

The City of Charlevoix is now planning its annual program of planting shade trees along city rights-of-way.

Under the program, the city will plant a tree in the right-of-way adjacent to almost any property, without charge, upon request of the resident or property owner.

Persons requesting the tree must agree to water it. The type of tree is determined by the Street Tree Plan which specifies different species for different streets. The exact locations will be determined and staked a few days before planting by city crews.

Anyone interested in requesting a tree is asked to call Linda at the City Manager's office at 547-4161 by Friday, September 23.

Building permits down from August

by PEG OHLE

The Charlevoix County Department of Building Inspection issued 44 permits in August, down from the July total of 48. This brings to 312 the number of permits for all types of construction issued since January 1.

Seven permits were issued for construction in Melrose Township, followed by five in the City of Charlevoix, four in Boyne Valley Township, four in Wilson Township, four in Boyne City, three in Evangeline Township, three in East Jordan, two in Bay Township, two in Charlevoix Township, two in Marion Township, two in Peaine Township, two in St. James Township, one in Eveline Township, one in Hodson Township, one in Hayes Township, and one in Boyne Falls.

Among the permits issued were eight for new houses, 18 for additions to and remodeling of houses, seven for residential garages, two for decks and porches, three for other residential outbuildings, and one for on addition to a mobile home.

Also, two permits were issued for new commercial buildings, one for a commercial addition, and one for a commercial sign. One permit was also issued for a building demolition.

The 312 projects for which permits have been issued this year represent an estimated $5,100,000 in construction costs.

Register of Deeds cites backlog

by PEG OHLE

Problems in the office of the Charlevoix County Register of Deeds were brought before the County Board of Commissioners last week.

Register Stephen K. Pond, his Chief Deputy Charlene Gaskin, and Jan Babb, who make up the complete office staff, appeared unexpectedly at the Board's regular meeting to tell about their over-load of work.

Ms. Gaskin, spokesman for the group, stated that they are 1,400 documents behind in processing and that some documents dating back to July 27 still await final treatment. This backlog of work exists despite the fact that she and Ms. Babb have each been working an extra five hours a week since August 25, Ms. Gaskin said.

She expressed concern that the Register's office was not able to give financial institutions, real estate brokers, and others the kind of service they need to carry on their businesses, and the Register's staff is being cricitized because of that inability.

Among the operating difficulties in the office, according to Ms. Gaskin, is an unreliable duplicating machine and a shortage of trained professional help.

The Board of Commissioners passed a resolution declaring an emergency exists in the office of the Register of Deeds and permitting Ms. Gaskin and Ms. Babb to work from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. and on Saturdays for the next two weeks. At the end of that time, Pond is to report to the County Board on his progress in "catching up".

Bike-A-Thon to benefit St. Jude Hospital

Saturday, October 15, has been selected as the date for the 1983 "Wheels for Life" Bike-A-Thon in Charlevoix according to local chairman of the event Dwight Boss, Director of the Recreation Department for the City of Charlevoix.

The Bike-A-Thon will benefit the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital in Memphis, Tennessee which was founded in 1962 by entertainer Danny Thomas to combat diseases that afflict children.

Boss's appointment as chairman of the Bike-A-Thon was announced recently by the Central Regional office of the St. Jude Hospital.

He immediately issued a call for volunteers and participants saying that this year's ride is being dedicated to "Terry", a leukemia patient at St. Jude.

"By riding for Terry, we'll really be helping all stricken children since research is the only way these illnesses can be conquered," said Boss. "We're looking for people who will contribute some of their time and energy to help children live. We really need bike riders since they are the ones who can make this Bike-A-Thon successful."

The October 15 event is scheduled to be held from 9:30 a.m. to noon starting at the Charlevoix Elementary School.

In the Bike-A-Thon, riders enlist sponsors who donate a sum for each mile completed. According to Boss, riders who raise $25 will receive a St. Jude t-shirt and those raising $75 will receive a barrel tote bag.

Sponsor forms will be available Sept. 26 at the Elementary and Middle Schools and St. Mary's Elementary School in Charlevoix.

Interested persons can contact Boss at 300 Pleasant St., Charlevoix, 547-9098 for more information.

Audit details county financial picture

by PEG OHLE

At the end of last year, Charlevoix County had $2,492,292 invested in fixed assets in the form of property and equipment.

During 1982, the County had revenues amounting to $7,293,790 and expenditures amounting to $7,163,329.

These and many more figures are included in the recently-completed audit report presented to the County Board of Commissioners last week by Don Breadon and Gregg Wolf of Breadon & Company, certified public accountants of Traverse City.

The County's fixed assets consist of $244,695 in land and improvements, $2,723,228 in buildings and improvements, $2,425,277 in machinery and equipment, and $27,660 in depletable assets. Subtracting accumulated depreciation of $2,928,568, leaves the present investment in fixed assets at $2,492,292.

These assets are divided among four divisions of County government as follows: County Road Commission, $464,919; Grandvue Medical Care Facility, $1,116,621; District Health Department No. 3, $14,196, and "general", $896,556.

In a combined statement of revenues and expenditures, the audit report indicates that of total revenues of $7,293,790, only $2,202,794 came from general sources, including property tases of $1,458,863.

By far the largest amount, ($5,014,868) came from special revenue government funds requiring special accounting. These indlude such accounts as County Road, Social Welfare, Child Care, Veterans Trust, Juvenile-Criminal Justice, Public Transit, Economic Development, Ironton Ferry, and Commission on Aging.

The County's general fund budget for 1982 amounted to $2,231,764, but with actual revenues of $2,202,794, there was an unfavorable variance of $28,970.

However, special revenue funds exceeded budget by $1,819,313 and debt service revenue funds exceeded budget by $76,128, so total County revenues from all sources exceeded budget by $1,866,471.

On the expenditure side of the ledger, general fund expenditures were $6,151 under budget, special revenue fund expenditures were $73,879 over budget, and debt service espenditures were $39,300 over budget, so total expenditures exceeded budget by $107,028.

Subtracting this over-expenditure of $107,028 from the revenoe receipts of $1,866,471 shows an excess of $1,759,443 in revenues over expenditures as budgeted. As noted above, this is due to the County receiving $1,819,313 in special revenue funds that it had not expected and had not budgeted. (Although this figure may indicate to some that with this much money left over, the County could reduce its taxes, it should be noted that the excess in revenues came from special revenue funds which can be expended only for certain purposes.

To show how well County departments stay within their budgets, the audit report lists budgetary funds which were in escess of the amounts appropriated. (However, some of the excesses were caused by a department not establishing a budget and some appropriations being added to a department budget during the course of the year.)

Significant instances of over-spending the budget are:

Half-Way Home, $4,654; Friend of the Court Wages, $2,124; Probate Court Wages, $4,275; Sheriff's Department Legal Fees, $4,032; Building Code Department Wages, $1,640; Sheriff's Snowmobile Department Wages, $1,745; Medical Examiner Autopsies, $2,502; Platt Board Mapping Project, $1,472; County Advertising, $2,032; Data Processing, $11,329; County Treasurer Wages, $1,934; Building and Grounds Wages, $1,192.

To prevent such ovewr-runs from occurring in the future, the auditors suggested that, once a budget is adopted, the Board of Commissioners should periodically review actual expenditures and revenues. If measurable deviations are noted, procedures to correct the situation should be taken in the form of an amendment to the budget so as to comply with State law.

Besides the budget over-runs, the auditors found little fault with the County's methods of doing business. However, they did suggest some procedural changes that should make the process easier.

There comes a time in your life when you have to go out on your own. That's what Michigan Bell will be doing in January of next year, when we separate from AT&T and become a part of Ameritech, a new holding company for five midwest communications companies which include Illinois Bell, Indiana Bell, Michigan Bell, Ohio Bell and Wisconsin Telephone.

Frankly, a change like that could be unsettling, but we welcome the challenges it presents and the opportunities it provides to serve you even better. We've had time to think about it, to plan for it, to make sure that when you pick up your phone on January 1, 1984, you'll make those calls just as you always have. And you'll get the same reliable Michigan Bell service you've come to expect over the years.

Sure, there'll be some changes, but nothing we can't easily handle together. For instance, AT&T will be leasing you the phones Michigan Bell now provides you for a monthly fee. You may continue to lease them if you wish, or you may buy your own. The choice is yours.

There could be some changes in how your telephone repair needs are met... depending upon whether the problem is with the service or the equipment. Not a big thing for the most part, except for the possibility of new phone numbers to call if you need help.

You may notice one change right off... extra pages in your phone bill. That would be the result of your getting more billing information than you're used to seeing.

As we said, changes and choices... some now, some later... but nothing you can't take in stride with a little assistance. That's where we come in.

In the weeks ahead we'll be keeping you up to date with more detailed information on the changes as they take place.

We mean to make this transition as easy for you as possible because we want to be on the best of terms with you for a long, long time. After all...

IT'S AT&T WE'RE SEPARATING FROM... NOT YOU.

Facts down the line.
Because your telephone business office is busily engaged in normal day to day telephone service matters we are providing this toll free number as a source for answers to the questions you may have about your changing telephone company. We also suggest that you watch for our informational messages in your newspapers and in your monthly telephone bills. 1 800 555-5000

Opinion

Knight on the Town
Little store, big memory

by Dave Knight

Reading that the Staley Grocery Store on Antrim Street was closing last week gave one pause to reflect upon an era in which "Mom & Pop" businesses played so much more a part of our lives.

Not that the era is over, necessarily. There are still many small, family-run grocery stores alive and well, but certainly not as many as there were before high volume and high tech got involved in the food marketing business.

With the lower prices, longer hours, wider aisles and huge selections offered by the modern grocery outlet, who could expect the corner stores to be able to compete on the same basis?

When I was a kid, there was a little grocery store up the block. It was run by Phil and his wife Delores who lived in a house right next to the store. They had two daughters, Mary Ann and Portia. Grandma lived in the upstairs apartment.

Phil called his store "The Little Store". That was to distinguish it from the department store downtown called "The Big Store". (My hometown had some medium sized stores, too, in between.)

Our family would be seated at the supper table, just having finished saying grace, and someone would ask to pass the ketchup. Upon finding no ketchup on the table, however, nor any in the refrigerator, one of us seven children would simply be dispatched to the Little Store and be back while the meat loaf was still being sliced.

It was almost as if we could open the window and holler up the block, "Hey Phil, pass the ketchup!"

The Little Store was like an extension of our pantry. We knew where every canned good was and where to put the empty bottles in the back. Phil didn't rearrange things very often but when he did, even if it was just putting the cereals one shelf higher, we would notice the change immediately.

The Little Store was where the young children first learned about money; how many pennies in a quarter, how many dimes, nickels? And how many pieces of red licorice would those pennies buy? It was easy to learn these things because Delores would carefully count out change in your hand.

In basements and play rooms all over the neighborhood there were home versions of the Little Store. Five-year old grocers stacked empty cans and macaroni boxes neatly and cheerfully rang up sales to their playmates on their toy cash registers just as they had seen Phil and Delores do.

What was once the Little Store is now a saddle shop. The aromas of ground coffee and fresh meats have been replaced by the smell of tanned hides. Phil and Delores got out of the grocery business many years ago - just about the time Ted's IGA merged with Fred's Super Value forming Ted and Fred's Super Foods, a modernized, full-service market.

The fate of the Little Store was obvious...when people have a Super Foods, why settle for a Little Store? Super Foods gave away dinnerware sets, had its own bakery, featured weekly specials and was always cheaper.

Convenience was the only thing the Little Store could offer.

Or was it?

Clockwise
Fund nearing goal

by Bob Cloch

THE CAMPAIGN for funds to purchase a new pumper for the Charlevoix Volunteer Fire Department has passed the $100,000 mark, according to Jim Elliott, vice president of the CVFD who is spearheading the drive. But more money is still needed.

The next fundraiser will be a cruise Sunday evening aboard the Star of Charlevoix. Tickets cost $25 a couple and may be purchased from your favorite fireman.

The vessel will load at the Star's berth north of the bridge at 6 p.m., with sailing time set for 6:30. Of course, there will be refreshments aboard, with a band for dancing. Sounds as though a good time will be had by all — as was the case at the two previous social fundraisers ashore.

Elliott says the response to the appeal has been overwhelming, and at times heart-warming. He forwarded a letter accompanying one contribution:

"Enclosed please find check of $10. Wish it could be more, but am on Social Security and just can't make it more. But I did greatly apreciate it when Fire Department came to our place when we had a chimney fire. So I hope this small amount will help some."

Elliott says all contributions — large and small — will be gratefully received.

Next winter when the fire siren wails at 2 a.m., with the thermometer standing at 10 degrees below zero and a full gale blowing out of the northwest, you'll be glad you did your part to make the job of the CVFD a little easier.

It's hard to imagine a more worthwhile investment in your future as a fulltime or parttime Charlevoix area resident.

SURPRISE VISITORS in Charlevoix over the weekend were Harold and Thelma Bliss, former residents who spent many hours each week as volunteer workers at Charlevoix Area Hospital. The Blisses, who moved to Charlevoix several years ago as retirees, pulled up stakes in the late 1970s in an effort to make their retirement dollars go further in sunny Florida.

The big savings, Bliss reports, is not in the cost of groceries or utilities, which are about the same as they are in Charlevoix. The major difference is — you guessed it — taxes.

Bliss says he expects to pay between $60 and $80 in property taxes this year, depending on which budget the state adopts. In Charlevoix, he says, his property tax would be upwards of $1,500 — a considerable savings for a couple living on a fixed income.

The Blisses say they would rather live in Charlevoix, but the economic deck is stacked against them.

I imagine the big difference in government spending between Michigan and Florida is that Florida — a retirement haven — has fewer children per capita to educate than we do in Michigan where the average age is considerably lower.

Letters: A plea for help

Just hanging on

To the Editor:

You and I know of people who are "hanging on" or barely "making it" in life. I want to tell you of one such person in our area. Her name, Mrs. - —. Her name many of you know but I'm withholding it so not to bring shame or unwanted publicity on her.

She is a hard working mother and wife. Her financial situation is the "pits". Most of all she is tired. She has had to care for a son who has a terminal illness and another who is searching for himself. Please, don't try to play a "guessing game" it's not important to know who she is. However, it is important to know and be sensitive to her situation. Oh, I realize that you too may feel that either a friend or even yourself has some very legitimate reasons for needing help or assistance. Times are hard! I understand that. Mrs. — has expressed to me and other clergy and to other people out of desperation–I'm hanging on, but not for long–help me, please!

The Charlevoix Ministerial Association is asking for $1,300 to pay four over-due bills so Mrs. — can do more than "hang on". You may send your donation to Rev. Roger Ames, Christ Episcopal Church, State Street, Charlevoix, 49720 - please make your donation out to the Charlevoix Ministerial Association. You will receive a receipt upon request. Also, every dollar donated will be reported to the public through the newspaper.

If you feel your heart warmed and maybe have been there yourself, let us hear from you. Thank You!

Grace and Peace,
David W. Yingling, President
Charlevoix Ministerial Association

Shall miss Beatty

Dear Editor:

I am informed that Scott Beatty is resigning from his position as Charlevoix County Prosecuting Attorney. I have had the opportunity to work with Scott on a number of joint investigations and also during our sevice as members of the Prosecuting Attorneys Association of Michigan. There can be no question that Scott has been an extremely competent Prosecuting Attorney who has firmly and fairly protected the interests of the law abiding public of Charlevoix County.

I shall miss working with Scott as he enters private practice with another outstanding former Prosecutor, Roy C. Hayes. I am confident that Scott will bring to his private clients the same degree of dedication and integrity that he brought to his duties as prosecutor.

Don't knack involvement

Dear Editor:

How charitable or suitable is it for speakers at public meetings (soch as last week's city council meeting) to ridicule or make personal attacks on people with whom they disagree?

I hope that members of Charlevoix's Historical Society will not be discouraged by their treatment last week over the issue of preserving the railroad swing bridge. It is a proper function of the group to raise questions when a landmark or historical building is to be destroyed. Let's be grateful that there are those who care enough about Charlevoix to put time, effort and money into making it a better place to live.

Community participation is essential to our vitality - let's not knock it.

Sincerely
Barbara MacArthur

An apalogy

To Mr. and Mrs. Dale Boss:

Please accept my apology fro trying to lighten the tight atmosphere regarding the bridge at the council meeting. We Charlevoix residents appreciate the good work done by the Boss family for Charlevoix the Beautiful. Keep up the good work.

budget, and publicized financial reports." The calendar year recommendation has also been called for by the County's auditors.

In the line of improving business procedures, the report called for "Long term lease on a building, better promotion for the system, annual report, inventory of transit tools and equipment, published dispatch hours, review procedure for transit contracts, advertising for extra revenue, and increased fares."

As far as operating procedures are concerned, the report suggested "A full-time mechanic, written work rules, driver-pasaenger responsibilities, improved driver logs, and reductions in total bus mileage".

The Charlevoix County Transit System has been in business for just over three years. During the first two years, it was fully funded by Federal and State funds and passenger fares. During the third year, Federal and State funding was cut to 75 percent, and now that funding is 50 percent. Last November, a quarter-mill County levy was voted to supplement Federal and State funds and fares.

Commissioner Moerland reminded the County Board last week that they had the responsibility of seeing that Federal and State tax money, as well as local tax money is judiciously used. (The County Board is the contracting agency for the Transit System.)

Members of the Commission on Aging who will undertake the job of following through on the Ad Hoc Committee's recommendations are A. D. "Hap" Cunningham, chairman; Oscar Stroud, Thora Kotowich, Tony Kullik, Marvin Loding, Oral Sutliff, and the writer.

accepted. The second bid of .8425 cents was submitted by Pyrofax. Both bidders are located in Petoskey.

The Woodland Oil Company of Traverse City submitted a bid of .9245 cents per gallon for regular and .9685 for unleaded gasoline while the Way Oil Company's bid was .959 cents for regular and .999 for unleaded. The Woodland Oil Co. bid was accepted.

A delegation of parents was on hand regarding bus stops for small children. Mrs. Karen Slattery, Charles Meier, Jr. and Vance Wood asked that bus routes be arranged so their children could be picked up within sight of their homes. They all reside in the Murray-Stolt Rd. area of Hayes Township.

Also voicing concern was Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Balch, Jr. whose freshman daughter must walk to the highway from their home near Medusa. The parents were all advised that the routes would be checked to see what could be done to honor their requests.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. LaVern Cole

Himebauch - Cole

Margaret Jean Himebauch became the bride of LaVern William Cole on Saturday afternoon, September 10, at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Charlevoix.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Archie Himebauch of Charlevoix and Mrs. Bonnie Cole of Bay Shore.

Father R. Dale Magoon officiated at the double-ring rites before 100 guests.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore an old-fashioned gown with a high neckline and trimmed with lace. Her should-length veil was also trimmed with lace, and her bouquet was composed of rosebuds, baby's breath, and a single lily.

Lilly Kujat served the bride as maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Mary Ann Reeser and Sherie Denny. They each carried one silk red rose with baby's breath.

Dan Kojat served as best man, with Mike and Kerry Cole serving as groomsmen. Dale Rhea and Jeff Himebauch assisted in seating the guests.

Terry VanderStik played the wedding march and other traditional wedding music.

A reception at the V.F.W. Hall, hosted by the bride's parents and David and Carol Himebauch and Ron and Myra Himebauch, followed the ceremony. Sandra Rhea also assisted by cutting the cake. The rehearsal dinner was given by the bridegroom's mother at her home.

Following a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, the newlyweds are at home in Charlevoix.

Hebert - Pederson

Mrs. Martin (Sharon) Stefani of Lakeworth, Florida, Ward Harriman of Dearborn, Mrs. Mark (Karen) Reid of Frederick, Maryland and Eric Pederson of New York, NY announce the marriage of their parents, Delores Hebert and Wallace H. Pederson.

The wedding was held September 17 at St. Thomas More Catholic Church, Boynton Beach, Florida.

Mr. Harriman gave his mother in marriage. Mrs. Stefani was her mother's matron of honor. Eric Pederson was his father's best man. Courtney Reid was flower girl for her grandfather and Jason Harriman was ring bearer for his grandmother.

A reception was held following the wedding at the groom's home in Boynton Beach. The couple will be at home in Boynton Beach following a trip to Mexico.

Mrs. Pederson has made her home in Charlevoix for the past several years. Mr. Pederson is a retired U.S. Government official with the Department of Commerce. He has served as a Commerce attache in the U.S. Embassy in Helsinki, Finland and as a director of the U.S. Trade Center for Scandinavia in Stockholm, Sweden.

Officers installed at Garden Club

Keith Morris was installed as president of the Charlevoix Area Garden Club at the annual meeting held recently at Duffy's of Charlevoix. Mrs. Connie Raymer was the installing officer.

Other officers are: Julia Leedy, first vice president; Derith Lane, second vice president; June Couse, recording secretary; Lucille Ingram, corresponding secretary and Bonnie Staffel, treasurer. Each new officer was presented with an herb plant befitting her position in the club.

At the interesting and informative program which followed, Mrs. Lane presented Justin Rashid of the American Spoon Store in Petoskey. Mr. Rashid had gathered weeds at the roadside and demonstrated how one could eat and drink from nature's bounty. "The more we learn of nature, the more we recognize that each of us is one part of the ever-widening circle that is nature's plan on this planet" Mr. Rashid said. He then presented a jar of his coveted thimbleberry jam which attested to the sweetness of nature's wayside plants and Mr. Rashid's skill in preserving without use of commercial pectin, a skill he utilized in making the products he sells in his Petoskey store.

The next meeting of the club is scheduled for Oct. 11. Mrs. Mildred Campbell will host the meeting. Co-hostesses will be Marion Beattie and Carol Dutcher. The program, entitled "Honoring Our Quilters", will be presented by Mrs. E.A. Thurston of Boyne City.

THE CHARLEVOIX HIGH SCHOOL MARCHING BAND, shown above during its 1983 debut Friday night at the Charlevoix-East Jordan game, will be the beneficiaries of a "Country Chicken Soup Dinner" to be held by the Charlevoix Band Boosters Club on Friday, September 30. The dinner will be served by the Boosters between 5 and 7 p.m. that evening immediately preceding the varsity football game with Boyne City. Advanced sale tickets, available from the Band Boosters, are $2.50 each. At the door, they will be $3 each or $10 for a family. Children under eight are free. Last year, the soup benefit raised $700 for new sweaters for the Middle School band. This year's proceeds may be devoted to new equipment for the music department.

Program set on emergency burn care

The National Institute for Burn Medicine, a national non-profit health care organization, in cooperation with the University of Michigan Burn Center is sponsoring an inservice on Emergency Burn Care at Charlevoix Area Hospital on October 18, 1983 at 1:00 p.m.

Girls win a laugher and a squeeker

The Charlevoix girls basketball team posted wins over two non-loop rivals, a 60-22 win over Central Lake and a 39-37 victory over Elk Rapids in an overtime game, to open the 1983 season.

In their game with Central Lake, Charlevoix headed the visitors 20-6; 30-8 and 42-12 by quarters before taking the lopsided win.

Ann Wagner paced the team with 20 points with Rhonda Buchanan adding 14. Carrie Carlton had eight for the visitors.

The Charlevoix JV squad won by a 46-12 margin.

Charlevoix had to go to the free throw line to defeat Elk Rapids Thursday night with Mary Lenhart scoring two free throws in the overtime.

Charlevoix had jumped to a 10-6 first period and 18-8 halftime lead before Elk Rapids outscored the local team 15-7 to trim the lead to 25-23 at the three quarter mark before knotting the score 33-all at the buzzer. In the overtime Charlevoix outscored the opposition 6-4 for the victory.

Wagner led the Rayder scoring with 13 points. Jill Rhoades had 18 for Elk Rapids.

The Charlevoix JV's won 26-18.

Charlevoix will travel to Northport Tuesday and host Rogers City Thursday in the first league game of the season.

East Jordan tops local JVs

The Charlevoix Junior Varsity football team dropped its game with East Jordan by a score of 22-18 on the Red Devils field Thursday night.

After a slow first half, the young Rayders tightened their defense and held the Jordanites to one touchdown.

East Jordan did its major scoring in the first half on a one yard plunge by Bill Kraemer with Greg Kitson running the conversion in the first period and Mark Snowden traveling 15 yards for a second TD with Kitson passing to Bill Lytle for the P.A.T. Late in the period, Jody Putman passed 12 yards to Sean Ferguson for the score. Matt Lignell made the score 16-8 at the half.

East Jordan was limited to six plays as the second half got underway. The team's third TD came late in the period after Charlevoix fumbled following a punt and John Pixby recovered the fumble and ran 25 yards to score.

The Rayders added their final TD in the last period on a 15 yard pass from Putman to Scott Crandell. Lignell ran the conversion.

East Jordan had 200 yards rushing in the first half and when the Rayder defense tightened up, they were limited to 50 yards in the second half.

Coach Brian Certa said the team has improved. The offensive line threw up an excellent passing defense; Putman's passing was very good and Ferguson and Crandell's pass receiving was also good, he added.

Charlevoix will be at Rogers City Thursday.

Flag football season starts

The six-game flag football season sponsored by the Charlevoix Recreation Department will be launched Wednesday when the Chargers meet the Packers at 6 p.m. and the Falcons take on the Panthers at 7:30 p.m.

Beano Archey coaches the Chargers; Brent Cole, the Packers; Jiggs Whitley and Paul Parrish, the Falcons and Don Potter and Dick Putman the Panthers.

The games are played at the Carpenter Ave. Field Dwight Boss, recreation department director, said.

Yachting Notes

by A. Nony Mouse

It's now the final count down to our start after watching the Portsmouth Fleet get off smoothly over a long starting line with only six to eight yachts starting. As the twenty some odd in our start close on the line in the final minute, the line suddenly seems very short! Three large yachts just to windward of us as the clock winds down so we harden up in an attempt to push them over early, but we're in their bad air and don't have enough speed to do it well. As the cannon fires we're still slopping around, maybe pushed one or two over but still; in an awful position! Our worst start of a season in which starting has been one of our few strong points...ah well...next week!

What's this? A pretty little code flag is being waved—by the Race Committee! General Recall...an Oasis in the desert could be no more beautiful to a thirsty wanderer than that flag was to us lousy starters. So many boats over early that the Race Committee couldn't identify all and therefore called for a restart.

The attention of at least two skippers (who shall remain nameless as they caused no interference through their transgression) is called to a peculiarity of the Rules governing restarting after a General Recall. "Thou shall not be over the line in the final minute before that restart...but if thou do stray beyond, by even a wee mite, THOU MUST RETURN TO THE PROPER SIDE OF THE LINE AROUND THE END OF SAID LINE!

On the Restart, we were off and away in reasonably good shape; but, for once, it didn't matter too much as the Lord looked down on us and said, "And the first shall be last and the last shall be first". So saying He parted the winds right at the first mark and invited the leaders to try His new parking lot, while the followers were permitted to sail around said lot in a most delightful manner.

When it was all over the honors went to "Traveller" (not a "guest boat" as erroneously reported last week; sorry, Dave!), "Bandit" and "Peregrine" in the "A" Fleet. Condolences to "Charlie Brown" and "Pygmalion" who missed third by only 8 and 10 seconds, respectively.

In the "B" Fleet "Blasen III" just ahead of "Foxy Lady" who had a solid 3 minutes on "Specter"; "Blasen III" had a corrected time exactly equal to No. 3 "Peregrine" of the "A" Fleet; that's a moving "lead sled"! Also in the "B" Fleet was a most unusual display of ingenuity..."Tireless", deciding the wind was too light, actually flew their chute under the boat in an attempt to catch the the Pine River current. After catching two salmon, one brown and numerous perch in that giant gill net, they retired...totally content.

The Portsmouth Fleet really flew; from back where I was it looked like a first across the line for "Cheemaun", and that's how it corrected. "Te-Gi" second by only two seconds over "Seascape"! It isn't often that a Portsmouth Yacht crosses the line first, and sure that restart helped a bit; but still a thrill for "Cheemaun", right?

Don't yet have the formal Red Fox results, so hold a bit. We'll use the opportunity to remember the women's race for the "Queen's Cup". (Are we sure we want to call it that? Some Yacht Clubs may get the wrong impression and send other competitors, next year.) Their start was just 10 minutes behind we hot shots in the 525-J-24 Challenge Series. We were petrified when their leaders started passing us, one by one! We made it, but close behind were "Canusa" by 20 seconds over "Tireless". That wasn't quite enough to save her time, and the Female Finals were "Tireless", "Canusa", "Ellusive" and "Night Moves". How come "Tireless" is only tireless when skippered by the "better-half", Mr. Commodore?

Final Note....Hats off to the Committee for the shorter courses for the fall series. Long enough to be a real test and short enough to be great fun. See you all next week!

East Jordan no match for strong Rayders

Former Charlevoix High School star Joe Etienne may have some fond memories of action on Kipke Field but last Friday night's game is probably not one of them.

Etienne, new coach of the East Jordan Red Devils, got a rude welcome back to his high school alma mater as the Red Rayders of Charlevoix easily bumped their cross-county rivals 35-14.

The Charlevoix offense, appearing to gain more confidence and momentum with each game of the 1983 season, exploded for 436 yards in total offense. Quarterback Tim LaBlance accumulated 98 yards and two touchdowns passing plus another TD running while running back Pat Mitchell's 184 yards on 28 carries and two touchdowns keyed the Rayder offense.

Wide receiver A.J. Witthoeft made an impressive debut for the Rayders snagging two LaBlance long passes for scores.

Charlevoix's defense was equally successful keeping East Jordan from making a single first down until the fourth quarter.

LaBlance set the tone for the evening early in the first quarter when he rolled out on the option from the EJ 30 and managed to seamper all the way for the TD. Thad Morgan converted for a 7-0 lead.

It was LaBlance again, with about nine minutes to play in the first half, who put the Rayders into scoring position with a run down to the Red Devil 7 yard line. From that point it was easy game for Mitchell who bulled his way into the endzone for a 14-0 lead after another Morgan kick.

The LaBlance-Witthoeft connection struck for the first time with 45 seconds left in the second quarter as the Rayder senior QB hit his 6'1" receiver with a perfect strike on a slant pattern across the middle good for 36 yards and a touchdown. Morgan's toe gave Charlevoix a commanding 21-0 advantage going into the locker room.

The third quarter saw the Rayder offense concentrate mainly on a steady ground game. Neild LaCroix, 5'5", brought the home crowd to its feet, however, with a 24-yard pass reception from LaBlance to the EJ 13. Mitchell scored his second touchdown shortly thereafter on a run from two yards out making the score 28-0 following a Morgan extra point.

At the 4:43 mark of the fourth quarter, LaBlance found Witthoeft again, without an East Jordan defender within shouting distance, and tossed a perfect spiral for 30 yards and another TD. Morgan capped the evening with his fifth extra point conversion in five tries, making the score 35-0.

East Jordan, playing with three starters out of action with injuries, finally made it onto the board seconds later when freshman quarterback Ted Snowden, playing in the place of senior Joe Buick who underwent an emergency appendectomy last week, hit Darryl Spence on a 42 yard pass play to the Rayder 4. Chris Anderson then took it in for the score. Snowden then passed eight yards, following a penalty, to Rich Raymond for a two-point conversion.

Anderson broke away one more time before the game ended, sprinting 35 yards in the closing moments and setting up a 35-yard pass play from Snowden to Spence for the TD with about 20 seconds to play. Snowden's kick missed leaving the final score 35-0.

Charlevoix dominated the game statistically as well as on the scoreboard. Its 436 yards of offense compared to 181 by East Jordan, 165 of which were accumulated in the fourth quarter - the Rayder defense held the Red Devils to 16 yards in the entire first three quarters.

In addition to Mitchell's 184 yards on the ground, LaBlance carried six times for 64 yards, Morgan six for 45, Jim Kenney eight for 36, Brent Cole six for 11 yards, LaCroix once for seven and Brian Hoffman once for six yards.

Paul Arnold and Chris Havens both came up with fumble recoveries for Charlevoix.

Charlevoix, sporting a 2-0 record for the young season, are at home again this week hosting the Rogers City Hurons.

Cathy Silberhorn has a positive attitude toward teaching

by ANNE KELLY

At a time when teaching positions are not easy to come by, Cathy Silberhorn says that she "never got discouraged about her choice of teaching" as a profession.

Cathy, a first year teacher at Charlevoix Elementary, attributes her positive attitude toward teaching to the support she received last year as a student teacher here.

"I got a lot of help from the teachers... they let me do a lot on my own and what I wanted to do for bulletin boards. They also gave me a lot of constructive criticism."

Her enthusiasm for working with children who call her a variety of names including "Mrs. Silverware", manifests itself as she tells about her classes current social studies project which happens to be polishing Petoskey stones.

"I guess I get off on a tangent," Cathy apologizes, "but if I see their interest leading somewhere, I let them go with it."

Cathy is convinced that every child needs consistency. That would be her ultimate goal as a teacher: to be consistent. She also admits to being a stickler on spelling, a teacher who believes in giving hugs and one who does not believe in dittos as a method of teaching.

As extra work for students who finish their regular assignments in math and reading, Cathy provides a choice of reinforcement games. Creative writing is another emphasis area.

Cathy is happy to be a part of the Charlevoix Elementary teaching staff. She is anxious to put into practice, the methods she learned in her training at Central Michigan University and the experience gained as a student teacher last year. She and her husband, an employee of Puff's, reside in Charlevoix.

Cathy Silberhorn

Test dates set

The Michigan Assessment Tests administered annually during the month of September throughout the state will be given the week of Sept. 19-23 in the Charlevoix Schools, Condit Drury, middle school counselor who oversees the tests, has announced.

The tests in reading and mathematics will be given to students in the fourth, seventh and tenth grades.

For the first time, schools have been given an option to administer tests in Social Studies. On the recommendation of the Curriculum Committee of the Charlevoix Education Association, the Charlevoix schools have opted to administer the Social Studies test in all three grades. "Our students do well on the national test in Social Studies that is administered in the spring. Giving the test in this subject at this time will give us an opportunity to compare our Social Studies Curriculum on a statewide basis," Drury said. The test in this subject was given by the state on a random basis. Charlevoix was not among the schools selected for the pilot program but chose to administer the test for the purpose of comparing the program in the Charlevoix schools with those taught elsewhere, Drury explained.

The results of the tests administered this week should be available early in November, Drury said.

In the past, Charlevoix students have done well on State Assessment Tests, scoring well above average.

Mini-sessions to be held at high school

Parents of Charlevoix High School students will have a chance to experience the daily schedules of their children during the annual "Mini-Sessions" to be held Monday, September 26 from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the high school.

Parents will also have the opportunity to meet their children's teachers although individual parent-teacher conferences are scheduled for later in the fall.

The "Mini-Sessions" will begin with a coffee hour in the cafeteria from 6:30 to 6:55. Parents will then have six mini-sessions to attend corresponding to the six class periods in the students' daily routine. The six sessions are as follows, 1st Period, 7 to 7:15; 2nd Period, 7:20 to 7:35; 3rd Period, 7:40 to 7:55; 4th Period, 8 to 8:15; 5th Period, 8:20 to 8:35 and 6th Period, 8:40 to 8:55.

Teachers will be available for brief individual conferences from 9 to 9:30 p.m.

Mime program scheduled

Ron Grow of Petoskey will present a program, "A Time for Mime", at the McCune Arts Center, Mitchell at Division Streets, Petoskey, on Saturday, September 24 at 1 p.m.

Mime is the art of expressing a story or emotion without verbal language. Gestures and facial expression are used. Ron has studied pantomine with Marcel Marceaux, and acting in New York under Stella Adler.

He received a M.A. from Michigan State University in Non Verbal Communications, and also studied Communications at Stanford University. His acting credits include Playhouse 90, Studio One, Kraft TV Playhouse, Hallmark Hall of Fame and Omnibus. He worked for Jackie Gleason in production, and was a producer-director with CBS, affiliate status, for ten years.

Grow is the author of fourteen plays and a book of poems. In 1976, he toured the nation with a one-man show, "Past Performances", where he stepped back in time into the characters of such men as Thomas Jefferson, John Adams and John Wilkes Booth.

Ron and his wife, Jeanne and their four children have been living in Petoskey since last February. He is presently marketing and sales director for Energy Marketing Group and in his spare time writing a play about James and Dolly Madison. He continues his interest in acting, producing and directing.

"A Time for Mime" will be enjoyable for all ages, and the proceeds from the $2 admission will go to the Crooked Tree Arts Council to assist with the operation of the McCune Arts Center.

Tickets can be purchased at the Center or at the door the day of the performance.

Township water is clean

Charlevoix Township's water system got a clean bill of health following recent testing that revealed no contamination by industrial chemicals such as trichloroethylene (TCE), the degreasing agent that has been found in the City of Charlevoix's water.

The results of organic monitoring done by the Michigan Department of Public Health on Charlevoix Township wells No. 2 and 3 were reported at the September 12 regular meeting of the Township Board.

The analyses sought the presence of volatile halogenated and volatile nonhalogenated organic compounds including industrial and commercial degreasing agents, gasoline and fuel oil derivatives and other industrial solvents.

Based on their analysis, the Health Department confirmed that the township water meets applicable maximum contaminant levels set by the Safe Drinking Water Act.

In other action, the board:

-Discussed the availability of the Zoning Inspector and decided to make zoning permits, the first step in the process, available from township treasurer Rose Elzinga, township clerk Linda Balch and supervisor Oscar Stroud.

-Adopted resolutions imposing a late penalty charge for property tax payments and a property tax administration fee.

-Heard a request by senior citizens for use of the old township hall for their meal program. A check is to be made on insurance coverage before a decision on the request is made.

The Railroad Bridge

For 91 years the C&O railroad bridge, left, has provided a rail span across the upper Pine River channel, swinging on its stone pedestal by means of a massive, electric powered gear arrangement, above. Now it is literally a bridge to nowhere, right, as abandonment of the railroad to Charlevoix has rendered the steel-girdered landmark useless.

Fall classes begin this week at McCune Arts Center

Fall classes at the McCune Arts Center in Petoskey in art, music, drama and dance will get underway the week of September 19.

There are offerings for preschoolers on up to senior citizens. No special talent or experience is required for most classes, just a desire to have fun and perhaps develop a latent talent or interest.

The teachers in all of the courses are chosen by director, Sean Ley, from among the many talented artisans, dancers and musicians in the area. Most have many years of training and experience in their field, as well as a desire to share the knowledge and talent with others.

Among the new offerings are children's choir for kindergarten through grade three on Tuesdays from 4:00 till 4:45, and for grades 4-6 from 4:45 till 5:30, directed by Erika Strass of Indian River. Erika is new to nur area, bringing with her extensive experience as an organist and choir director. She received her Bachelor's in Music, vocal and keyboard, from Valparaiso University, and in addition to directing youth choirs, she has also taught folk guitar.

Drama for children will be another new offering this term, for grades 4-8, on Thursday afternoons from 4 till 5. Local watercolor artist Jan Vandenbrink, who recently had her first one man show (as well as having two pictures chosen for the current juried show at the Arts Center), will be teaching children's drawing. Kindergarten through grade 3 will come on Saturdays from 10 till 11, with the older students (grade 4-6) from 11 till noon.

In these basic drawing classes, Ms. Vandenbrink will teach shapes & persepive, and encourage the young students "to use all their senses and really learn to see". "I'll encourage them to incorporate subject matter from their own world things tht are important to them". She believes that basic drawing is important for children to learn, and that it is definitely necessary to learn to draw before learning to paint.

Normally, drawing is not offered in the public schools until the middle school level, and this class will cater to students who have the interest at an earlier age. This and many nf the courses offered at the Arts Center are designed to supplement and assist the public and parochial school programs.

Watercolor for adults will be given by Vandenbrink on Tuesdays from 9 till noon. Drawing for high school through adult will be offered on Thursdays from 8:00 till 7:30 p.m.

Suzuki violin will again be offered by Charlevoixan Julie Zinn, for ages four on up to adult. Suzuki method teaches children to play the violin the way they learn to speak, i.e., by imitation. They learn by positive reinforcement-by ear, by singing, clapping and motion. A parent is directly involved in the lesson and practice sessions, and in fact Julie says the parents will learn to play at least a couple of the songs themselves. Julie says that the children also enjoy getting together in a group with the other students and playing together.

Ms. Zinn started playing the violin in the fourth grade, and in high school played the viola, attending Interlochen for four summers and serving as assistant director of the All Girls State Orchestra. She received her degree from Michigan State University in Fine Arts, and studied for four years under violist Lyman Bolman. She has taught Suzuki method of violin in the City of Grand Rapids as well as at the McCune Arts Center. This course will be offered on Thursday and Friday afternoons, in a private lesson for the student and parent.

Other courses being offered in this first six week fall term are pottery by Carla Deloria for preschool to grade three on either Monday from 4 till 5 or Wednesday from 3-4. Grades 3-7 can take the popular pottery course on Tuesdays from 4 till 5:30 or Saturdays from 1 till 4.

Art Appreciation will be offered this term on Wednesdays from 7 till 8. A course in "Making Things" will be given to preschool through grade 3 on Tuesdays from 3 till 4. Other courses this term in art are oil painting by well known artist Glen McCune of Boyne Falls on Wednesdays from 7 till 9.

Framing and matting by Indian River artist, Louse Fuller on Tuesdays from 7 till 8:30; Introductory Interior Design by Haviland on Tuesdays from 7 till 9: Designing In-fiber by Dining on Mondays from 7 till 8:30; Paper-Making by Bonnie Staffel on Thursday mornings from 9:30 till 11, and Weaving by Cathy Siterlet of Harbor Springs on Thursday evenings from 7:30 till 9 o'clock.

Music classes include music appreciation for high school and adult on Monday evenings from 7 till 8 by Charlotte Ross-Lee, Theory for Grades 9 to adult by Fran Tollas; on Thursdays from 7-8; Beginning Fiddle by Scott on Thursdays from 7 till 8; Beginning Clawhammer Banjo on Thursdays from 8 till 9 by Martha Lancaster, and Solos for Church by Fran Tollas, on Thursdays from 8 till 9.

Drama for children in grades four through 8 will be offered by Hall on Thursdays from 4 till 5, and Music Theatre for high school and adult on Tuesdays from 5 till 6.

The dance offerings this term are as follows: Movement and Dance for preschool and grade 1 by Weltich on Tuesdays from 9:30 till 10:30 or from 4 till 5. Beginning ballet, also by Weltich, for grades one to three on Thursdays from 9:30 till 10:30 or 4 till 5. Beginning tap by Bain will be held for grades one till four on Mondays from 4-5, and for grades 5-8 on Mondays from 5-6. Grades 9 to adult will have tap offered also on Mondays, from 6:30 till 8. Beginning ballet will be given by Wendy Timmer of Harbor Springs on Wednesdays from 5:30 till 6:30, and for students with some experience, from 6:30 till 7:30. Jazz I will be on Tuesdays from 7 till 8, and Jazz II from 8 till 9. Clogging is on Thursdays from 7 till 8, and Old-Time Dancing on Thursdays from 8 till 9.

In addition, private music lesson will be offered in piano violin, voice, flute, trumpet, horn, clarinet/sax, guitar and percussion, all by well-qualified teachers.

McCune Arts Center Director Sean Ley is most enthusiastic about the class offerings at the Center, and believes that the classes are the most important function of the Crooked Tree Art Council. With the shorter six week term, it is hoped that even more persons will take advantage of the opportunity to enrich their lives through participation in one of the arts. Last year, approximately two hundred persons enrolled each term at the Arts Center, and Ley is hopeful to have even more students this year.

For Saints and Sinners

by Rev. David W. Yingling
United Methodist Church

Why pray? We (the Body of Faith) pray because we need God. We pray because we must. We pray because God is gracious and urges us to pray. We pray because we find smoldering within us the embers of love that are warmed and respond to God's love for us. We pray because Jesus told us and taught us to pray. And when our yearnings, our agony, or our ecstasy is too great for expression, even then God's grace accepts and understands.

As the Apostle Paul said, "we do not know how to pray as we ought, but the Spirit intercedes for us with sighs too deep for words." Finally, we pray because of God, and life without God is No life at all. (from "A Journey Toward Solitude and Community" by Rueben P. Job)

Prayer: "O God, you who are the truth, make us one with you in love everlasting. We are often wearied by the many things we hear and read, but in you is all that we long for. Let the learned be still, let all creatures be silent before you; do speak to us! Amen

EPA details upcoming Superfund search for TCE contamination

by DAVE KNIGHT

The U.S. Environmental Protection (EPA) joins the efforts of state and local agencies next month to clean up the City of Charlevoix's water supply.

Preliminary work on a new series of tests to find out how the industrial chemical and suspected health hazard trichloroethylene (TCE) is entering the water system is slated to begin October 1.

The federal government's involvement, through its $1.6 billion Superfund program, comes almost exactly two years after the announcement in October, 1981, that TCE had been detected in city water.

Details of a "remedial investigation and feasibility study", first steps in the Superfund process, were explained at a public briefing Wednesday, September 21 at the Charlevoix City Hall. A small audience of about 20 attended the briefing.

On hand were representatives of the EPA project team, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) and the firms that have been contracted for the engineering and actual drilling.

Charlevoix is one of over 530 sites across the country to be included on the Superfund list for potential clean-up funding . Of the 46 contamination sites listed in Michigan, the city is one of five municipalities with water contamination problems and is the first of those to embark on the remedial investigation phase of Superfund activities.

Concerns voiced at the briefing included those of Charlevoix City Manager Robert Hunt who pointed out that the Michigan Department of Public Health has cited the city as being in noncompliance of the Safe Drinking Water Act and has set a deadline of January 1, 1984 for the city to decide on a course of action. Since the EPA's planned activities, as described at the briefing, may take up to 14 months, Hunt had questions as to how the city is to respond to the state-imposed deadline.

Joel Balmat, coordinator of the EPA project team, said, "I'd like to think we can work something out with the state Health Department."

Explaining the lengthy timetable for the EPA investigation, Balmat said, "The schedule we have set is one that we think is reasonable to develop the information we think is neccessary."

He also pointed out that there are certain criteria that all Superfund projects must meet.

"If the city wants Superfund to pay for it (the TCE cleanup), the city has to let Superfund take its course," said Balmat.

The schedule for the remedial investigation-feasibility study as outlined last week is as follows:

October 1 to November 1, 1983:

Big Rock undergoes 'technical inquisition' at T.C. evaluation

by TOM DAMMANN

For the better part of last Tuesday and Wednesday, engineers from the Big Rock Nuclear Power Plant fielded such questions as "What will you do if a tornado hits the area? What plans have you in case of an earthquake? or How will you prevent mud caused by decaying insulation from clogging the nozzle through which cold water is forced into the reactor to prevent a meltdown?"

The questions were asked by the group of prestigious engineers who compose the subcommittee of the Advisory Committee for Reactor Safeguards, a part time group which advises the federal Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

"These guys are the ultimate experts for the licensing process of the nuclear industry," explained one key Big Rock engineer. "They are conducting what is really a highly technical inquisition."

Principal receiver of the questions was 33 year old David Blanchard, an engineer, who, though he works at Big Rock, is directly responsible to corporate headquarters of the Jackson based Consumer Power Co., owner of Big Rock, a small 75 megawatt boiling water plant, the second oldest nuclear power plant still on line in the nation.

At the Tuesday morning session in Traverse City, Blanchard described the plant, then summarized the results of Probablistic Risk Assessments pointing out the weak spots of the plant, particularly in the containment area, including the reactor. He also explained what has been done or is planned to eliminate these weaknesses.

That afternoon the subcommittee accompanied by two consultants and two staff members were driven to Charlevoix for a tour and onsite study of the plant.

Most of the internal problems concerning the complicated measures that must be taken to prevent accidents in the reactor itself as well as preventing an accident from spreading beyond the confines of the plant have been resolved, according to utility spokesmen.

However, the problems that could be created by such external forces as earthquakes, high winds and tornadoes are still being studied.

NRC hearing to be held in Petoskey

The Nuclear Regulatory Commission has announced that its hearing on the request by Consumers Power Company to expand spent fuel storage capacity at the Big Rock nuclear plant will be reconvened late next month at the Petoskey Holiday Inn. The hearing is scheduled to be held from October 25 to November 5 and is a continuation of proceedings initiated in the summer of 1982 at the Boyne Mountain resort.

KCB to tour Mt. McSauba facility Saturday

The nearly completed erosion control and trail network project at the city's Mt. McSauba Recreation Area will be featured this Saturday, October 1, at a meeting of Keep Charlevoix Beautiful, Inc. The 9 a.m. meeting will convene at the Mt. McSauba ski lodge where free coffee and doughnuts will be available. First on the agenda will be a tour of the area which was the site of an extensive improvement project over the summer, most of the work having been done by Michigan Youth Corps workers.

Sheriff George Lasater models the British bobby's hat he brought back from his recent trip to England.

British trip gives Lasater some new ideas on law enforcement

by FRAN MARTIN

Charlevoix County Sheriff George T. Lasater has returned from a Sheriff's Exchange program with the Norfolk Constabulary on the east coast of England.

The purpose of the trip, Lasater said, was to obtain ideas in law enforcement and, hopefully, incorporate some of those ideas into the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department.

After correspondence with the law enforcement agency of the United Kingdom, he chose to visit a county comparable to Charlevoix County located along the coastline outside London.

On August 29, Lasater, accompanied by his daughter, Amy, 17, arrived in Norfolk as guests of Chief Inspector John Mansfield and his wife, Valerie. Because the Mansfields have no children, they arranged for Amy to visit a nearby family with a daughter her age.

Lasater soon found that law enforcement in England has an entirely different format from that in this country. Here each city, county and state has its own law enforcement agency. In England he found that law enforcement is nationalized creating a Semi-National Police Organization.

England, it must be remembered, is a country no larger than the state of Michigan which extends 350 miles north to the Scottish border and 400 miles wide at its widest point. The nationalized law enforcement agency has been broken down into 43 divisions. In the U.S. each state has its own laws relating to crimes. In England, the same laws apply in all the constabularies.

The line of command in each constabulary or division includes a Chief Constable, Chief Inspector, Inspector, Sergeant and Police Constables, know as PCs. The latter includes the foot, bicycle and motor patrols.

Lasater listed as some of the major differences in law enforcement as he saw them were that law enforcement officers in this country carry weapons while those in England are not armed with any type of weapon except a wooden "billy club". The exception to this is officers in the high crime rate area of London and when royalty is present.

Funding of the nationalized law enforcement system is on a scale of 80 percent by the national government and 20 percent by local government.

He went on to say that he found the UK system deals with prisoners in a more realistic manner than in the States. Lasater said "we have state and federal mandates handed down by judges and commissions that, in some areas, literally have the inmates dictating how the jails and prisons should be operated. This does not happen in England.

High emphasis, he said, is placed on the "Victims Rights Program". This is contrary to the system here where most of the rights are accorded the accused and the victims and the police have few by comparison. The victims have many more rights under the British system, he said.

There is not a great deal of concentration placed on enforcement of traffic laws as in the U.S. This, he said may be because England does not have the turnpikes, the straight highways, and expressways that this country has. Its roads are very narrow and very crooked compared to highways in this country thus there is not the speeding that one sees here.

The law enforcement system also utilizes personnel untrained in law enforcement in such areas as communications, desk assignments and traffic wardens. He went on to say that Police Constables or PCs as they are called work very closely with the public and are highly visible at all times. He told of the PC who could not be found by his superior. When located the PC was coming out the front door of the home of an elderly lady on his beat with a broom and dust pan in his hand and apron around his waist. He'd been "tidying up" for the woman who had difficulty doing her housework.

'To Your Health' covers everything

"To Your Health" is the theme set for Saturday, October 29th, when a day of classes, opportunities to quiz the experts, and chances to learn more about everything from sex to cancer, diet and exercise to stress, are presented at Petoskey High School from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. for the general public.

Believing that knowledge is the best prevention, organizers of To Your Health have set aside the day for presentations on a range of health issues of concern to the whole family. Even a door prize will be given.

Topics include: "Nutrition on a Tight Budget", "Sex is Not a Four Letter Word", "Cancer Screening for Men and Women", "Stress and Relaxation", "First Aid in the Woods", "Dieting and Exercise", "Family Communication", "How to Educate Children About Drug Abuse", "Preventive Dentistry", "Knowing About Health Insurance", "Single Parenting: Male and Female Viewpoints", "Birth Control: What's New", "Consequences of Nuclear War", and "How to Avoid and Cope With Back Pain."

Nancy Gaye Frye, a noted speaker and educator with the extension service, will kick off the day of activities at 9 a.m. in the Petoskey High School Auditorium, with a speech entitled "Focus on Fear". Ms. Frye's theme is that fear can cause illness and hinder healing, that a successful release from fear promotes wellness.

A door prize of a Questor one-step child car seat has been donated to the event by Michigan State University Extension Service through District Health Department No. 3.

Blood Pressure, Hearing and Diabetes Screening tests will also be available during the day. People wishing to participate in the Diabetes Screening should not be already diagnosed as diabetic and should eat a high carbohydrate meal 2 hours prior to taking the test.

To Your Health - A Community Health Day - is the fourth annual jointly sponsored effort of The Women's Resource Center, District Health Department No. 3, Michigan State University Cooperation Extension Service, North Central Michigan College of Nursing, the Burns Clinic, Northern Michigan Hospitals and Charlevoix Area Hospital, to make the knowledge of area health care professionals available to the public.

Brochures with complete details on the day's activities, including information about day care at the high school for young children and lunch arrangements will be distributed this week. Brochures and pre-registration forms will be available through all the sponsors or more information may be obtained by calling Northern Michigan Hospitals Office of Public Relations.

Registration fees, which cover the full day of classes and activities are $2.00 by mail and $2.75 at the door. The Petoskey High School cafeteria will offer a nutritious lunch.

Solid waste plan okayed

by PEG OHLE

The Charlevoix County Solid Waste Plan, which was under preparation and review for almost five years, has finally received the approval of the State Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

The plan calls for the closing of all landfills in the County with the exception of the Charlevoix Garbage Service landfill in Eveline Township and replacing them greenbox transfer stations to facilitate trucking of waste to the Charlevoix landfill or to the Antrim-Kalkaska or Crawford-Otsego landfills.

The Charlevoix landfill is the only landfill in the County licensed by the DNR. The unlicensed Boyne City landfill is the only other general use landfill now operating, and the DNR is threatening to close it.

The question of how to dispose of waste on Beaver Island is still being studied. A small incinerator or shipping the material to the mainland are possibilities.

The Solid Waste disposal plan was approved by 14 of the 19 governmental units in the County as well as by the County Board before it was sent to Lansing for the DNR's approval. The cities of Charlevoix and Boyne City and the townships of Wilson, Evangeline, and Peaine voted against adopting the plan.

Ager charged in Durkee death

Richad Lee Ager, 25, of Charlevoix, has been charged with negligent homicide in the death of Gerald Durkee, 37, of Horton Bay, who was a passenger in the Ager car when it was involved in a one-car accident Aug. 12.

The accident occurred at 11:30 p.m. on Aug. 12 on M-66 a quarter of a mile south of Sequanota Road when the Ager vehicle, traveling north at a high rate of speed left the road, went out of control, crossed the southbound lane and rolled over. Durkee was thrown from the car according to Sheriff's deputies.

Ager has been released on personal recognizance bond. He is scheduled to appear in 90th District Court for arraignment Oct. 4.

Free groceries go to 1,210 families in county

by PEG OHLE

Approximately 1,210 low income families in Charlevoix County received bags of free food last week.

Of these, 188 were Charlevoix area residents, 732 Boyne City area residents, and 290 East Jordan area residents.

Included in the food distribution was a large block of cheese, two pounds of butter, peanut butter, macaroni, oatmeal, kidney beans, string beans, canned potatoes, canned tomatoes, spaghetti sauce, apple sauce, peaches, canned milk, dry milk, and canned corn beef. Total value of the food given each family is estimated at approximately $30.50

Except for the cheese and butter, which were government surplus, the food was purchased in Charlevoix County with $15,000 in federal Emergency Food and Shelter National Board Program funds alloted to the County.

A sheet of recipes using food items included in the distribution was passed out with each bag of groceries. The recipes were prepared by Sheri Rhoads, County Extension Services home economist, and included such main dishes as cheese rarebit, corned beef hash, chili con carne with macaroni, and peanut butter French toast.

While cheese has been distributed to low income familes for some time, this is the first distribution of assorted grocery items.

A committee of County agencies and social service organizations coordinated the food distribution. County Commissioner Don Smith was chairman of the committee and was assisted by the County Department of Social Services, County Extension Services, the Red Cross, United Way, Human Services, and the Community Services Center of the Seventh Day Adventist Church.

Many individuals also assisted in the food distribution, according to committee members. In Charlevoix, members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, its auxiliary, and the Kiwanis Club were most helpful, they said. Helen Phillips was the chief record keeper.

The few staple food items that were left over will be stockpiled for distribution during the winter.

Business, labor say n-plant vital to Michigan

The Midland Nuclear Plant in the home stretch of construction.

Business and labor leaders, in unusual harmony, say the electricity that will be produced by the Midland Nuclear Plant is essential to Michigan's economy.

Resolutions urging quick completion and licensing of the plant have been passed by both the Michigan State Building and Construction Trades Council and the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce. Both organizations worry that without Consumers Power Company's Midland plant future supplies of electricity will not be large enough to meet the needs of business and industry.

They fear that even the current recovery could be scuttled, sentencing Michigan to continued recession and high unemployment.

Without the Midland plant, Michigan will be short of electric power "at the very time it is needed most to satisfy the requirements of increased business activity and to create the jobs so desperately desired," says the Building and Construction Trades Council.

The Chamber agrees, adding that the absence of the Midland plant "could cripple the recovery and place a roadblock to commercial expansion." The organization notes that "Michigan's citizens, for too long, have been required to live in an environment in which unemployment concerns have dominated their thoughts. Economic recovery, fueled by the timely construction and completion of the state's electric generating plants, is vital in changing this condition."

Both groups point out that Michigan's current electric supply is deceiving. It is adequate in part because Michigan's recession has greatly reduced commercial and industrial use of power. But as the recovery that is now underway grows stronger, increased demand will quickly eat up existing reserves of electricity.

And as Consumers Power recently discovered, demand can jump unpredictably. On a steamy July 15, the Company's customers set a new record for peak demand—a level of use the Company hadn't expected to occur until 1986.

The Chamber points out that energy plays a critical role in maintaining a healthy economy. A prosperous business demands a plentiful, reliable supply of energy to fulfill its growing needs. That supply becomes an attractive incentive for existing businesses to stay in Michigan, and helps convince others to relocate in the state.

All of that translates into jobs.

Knight on the Town

Premature obituary

by Dave Knight

And still it stands.

Twice now the Courier has heralded the demolition of the 90 year old C&O railroad bridge that spans the upper Pine River channel. Over the past weeks we've taken a pasel of nostalgic photos and wased eloquently about the loss of this historic landmark.

'Cept it ain't gone nowhere.

You might say, as somebody did once, that news of the bridge's death has been greatly exagerated.

The most recent stay of esecution came last week. Arrangements appeared to have been worked out to have the bridge closed and demolition started last Wednesday afternoon. The Coast Guard issued a new order closing navigation through the channel from 2:30 p.m. Wednesday to noon on Friday.

The most complicated aspect of the arrangements was coordinating the channel closing with the Star of Charlevoix's lunch cruise operation. The Star is currently accomodating regular tour groups arriving by rail from the north. The Forlow Tours fall rail color tours originate downstate, travel to Mancelona and Schuss Mountain for lodging and then go up to the Petoskey and down to Charlevoix for the lunch cruise on Lake Charlevoix.

It was hard enough finding an agreeable channel-closing time the first time the bridge was to go. As you recall, it was the eleventh hour effort to save the bridge that cancelled the first scheduled work.

Last week, however, the ostensible reason for calling off the demolition work on the bridge was the weather. The crane to be used on the project was reportedly on a barge at the Medusa plant but high seas on Lake Michigan prevented the top-heavy rig from being towed to the bridge site. Demolition contractor Peter Meagher, foiled again, headed back to Bay City Wednesday morning.

Now we bear reports that weather may not have been the only factor in the second delay. Indeed, some say it was not a factor at all.

Apparently there are still alternatives being esplored to the demolition of the bridge.

One story that we were unable to confirm had the same interests involved with restoring the cruise liner South American buying the bridge and turning it into a restaurant. The hardest nuts to crack there, regardless of the incredible renovation cost, would be parking and public access, neither of which are currently available.

We also caught wind of a scheme to dismantle the bridge and move it to Castle Farms where it could provide a pedestrian overpass from the parking area west of the highway to the concert grounds.

Somehow that plan doesn't wash either. Taking the bridge down and transporting the pieces would be simple enough. But putting the thing back together is another story.

While the rumors flew furiously, however, Wallstrom Marine quietly towed the barge with the 40-foot crane into the harbor Sunday afternoon and the Coast Guard has indeed set a third channel closing for Wednesday, September 28 from 2:30 p.m. to noon on Friday, September 30.

Meagher's attorney John Michael affirmed early Tuesday morning that his client is indeed planning to start the job again this week.

Take all this for what it is worth.

As for us, we shan't sing that the Railroad Bridge Is Falling Down until we see it with our own eyes.

Clockwise

Selling our best product

by Bob Clock

I DON'T KNOW whether you've sensed it yet, but there seems to be a new interest in these parts in reasserting Northern Michigan's traditional role as a tourist mecca rather than as a step-sister of downstate manufacturing empires.

When I moved to Charlevoix almost 20 years ago, the sentiment hereabouts was that our future lay with with industry. Medusa Cement Co. was eyeing the vast limestone deposits at South Point and LexaLite Corp., enchanted by our contaminant-free atmosphere, was ready to set up shop on the Lake Michigan shore.

Other small industries like Freedman Artcraft, Hoskins Manufacturing and American Mold already were well established. Throughout the North, small shops were turning out components for the auto industry — aided and abetted by wage schedules that, in many instances, were highly favorable to the manufacturer.

Charlevoix area residents accustomed to the feast-or-famine cycles of the tourist industry suddenly had found themselves with year-round jobs and year-round paychecks. The old days of having to work night and day all summer to pay off last winter's debts apparently were over.

Two things have happened over the years, however, that have whittled away at our small economic edge in the manufacturing world.

First, the spread of the union movement has removed a large chunk of the benefits manufacturers once realized by operating "op North."

Second, the energy crunch has quadrupled the cost of moving raw materials into the area and shipping out finished products.

Some downstate manufacturers reportedly have adopted a policy of locating their supplier plants no more than 60 miles from assembly facilities, because of ever-increasing transportation costs.

I HAVN'T HEARD of any further plant closings. But many citizens — including some with venture capital — are taking a long look at once was our bread and butter: the tourist industry. Some of them feel we are missing a bet by not making the most of the natural attractiveness of our area.

Some of us, I am afraid, have become so accustomed to the beauty of our woodlands, the cleanliness of our water, the relative purity of our air that we tend to overlook the fact that these very things are our stock in trade. Few places in the state or nation can offer what we take for granted.

Not all of us, of course, are so disposed. The new addition to the Weathervane Terrace on West Dixon opened this summer and has enjoyed a fine first season. Plans are on the drawing board for a hotel-convention complex just north of Pine River Channel. Dave Philips, former owner of Grey Gables, is making plans for one of Michigan's most unusual restaurants on the Boyne City Road.

The tourist industry in the area appears verge of explosion of monumental proportions.

Of course, small industry still plays — and will contince to play — an important role in our economy. But tourism, both summer and winter, promises to be the wave of the foture, just as it was the mainstay of the past.

Big Rock evaluation...

These were the subject of a crowded session back at the Park Place Hotel in Traverse City Wednesday morning, when such basic questions as the ability of the staff to shut down the plant in the event of an earthquake were examined.

In general, the topica under examination during the day and a half hearings, both at the hotel and at Big Rock, itself, arose from questions raised in 1977 by both the utility and the NRC concerning the construction of some of the nation's older plants. They also included questions raised by the Three Mile Island Accident. They are part of a so called "systematic evaluation program" designed to bring the older plants up to date as far as public safety is concerned.

"This subcommittee has been studying the nine oldest plants now operating, plants which were constructed before the modern criteria were established," Dr. Chester P. Siess, chairman of the subcommittee said in an interview. Dr. Siess, Professor Emeritus of Civil Engineering at the University of Illinois at Urban-Champaign, emphasized that he is a structural engineer.

He explained that the full 15 member committee is comprised of professors of nuclear engineering, researchers, experts on nuclear power plant planning, professors of metallurgy and public health drawn from the nation's universities and research laboratories.

Established by Congress in 1957, the committee is charged with the responsibility of reviewing license applications and safety studies and making reports and advising the NRC "with regard to the hazards of proposed or existing reactor facilities and the adequacy of proposed reactor safety standards."

Dr. Siess said the subcommittee would meet again with Big Rock engineers in Washington and plans to present a report of its findings to the full committee in November.

"We hold most of our meetings in Washington," he told the interviewer. "But we wanted to visit Big Rock. It is samll and because it is small the consequences of accidents are small."

"The plant has 20 years of successful record and its people are experienced," Dr. Siess said. "Big Ropck is unique. Small is good. The size of its containment building is large in comparison with its reactor which amellorates any hypothetical accident."

After the November meeting, Dr. Siess said, "I will then report to the Commission (NRC) on what the staff is doing and comment on it. Eventually we will look at the final report written by the staff which will be devoted more to how our findings have been implemented."

Letters: Auction trip was great

Got the V.I.P. Suite

To the Editor:

We wish to extend a special thank-you and a report of our trip to the Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island.

After our arrival on the island, we were whisked by carriage to the lusurious hotel. Upon registering were amazed to find our accomodations were the V.I.P. Thomas Jefferson Suite (circa 1890), re: the movie "Somewhere in Time."

We attended the afternoon High Tea with piano and violin music on the inner porch area. Later we dressed according to the required code (after 6 p.m.) and had a sumptuous champagne dinner then retired to the perch for entertainment and cordials. Around 9 p.m. we went to the night club for dancing and superb entertainment.

The following morning after an excellent breakfast (and service) we were conducted on a special tour of the Governor's Mansion.

In the afternoon we walked the lovely back street areas of the island. We eventually had to pick up our luggage and depart this idyllic island and end our adventure.

We are gratefully indebted to the following people:

1. Jim Wineman, who donated the suite to be auctioned at the K.C.B. auction.
2. Pat McKeown of Erber-McKeown Ford who bought the overnight trip at the K.C.B. auction.
3. And to those members of the K.C.B. organization who were responsible directly and indirectly for the gift to us on behalf of the auction.

Again, many thanks to all who helped make our 39th anniversary an extremely wonderful and memorable occasion.

Stop the MX

Dear Mr. Knight:

The final and most critical vote on the MX missile will be coming up in the House of Representatives in the next few days. This is the vote to appropriate funds for its production. Congressman Joseph Addabbo is sponsoring an amendment to the Defense Department Appropriations bill which would delete the $2.5 billion for MX production.

People are underatandably confused about the present status of Congressional approval for the MX because its progress through Congress has had several ups and downs. In December 1982 Congress denied funds for the MX because of objections to the then current "Dense Pack" basing plan. In May 1983 Congress reversed tbat rejection and approved $625 million for development of a basing mode and for MX flight testing. This passed in the House by a margin of 53 votes and by a 20 vote margin in the Senate. In July 1983 Congress authorized production of the MX but the margin of approval had eroded considerably. Approval was by a margin of only 13 votes in the House and 18 votes in the Senate. Only 7 House votes need to be changed in the up-coming appropriation vote, in order to stop MX production.

In the campaign to get MX authorization through Congress last July, President Reagan claimed that Congressional approval for MX was needed as a negotiating tool in arms control talks with the Soviets. Some Congressmen who voted for the MX in July said that if there was so significant progress in arms control talks by fall they would awitch and vote against funds for the MX. There appears to be little prospect for significant progress in arms control negotiations in the near future. The amendment to delete funds for the MX from the Defense Appropriations bill could reach the floor of the House as early as this week. Many people are skeptical about the usefulness of the MX as a "bargaining chip". It merely adds to the overkill capacity which both sides already have. Is this a wise use of 2½ billion dollars of our tax money? People are also aware that no major weapon, first introduced as a "bargaining chip" has failed to be deployed, once the funds for it were approved. If MX funding is approved, the first 27 missilea will be produced in 1984 even though no safe basing mode has yet been found.

The immediate reaction to the shooting down of the Korean airliner was "We need to get tougher with the Soviets". But sober reflection should show that no amount of MX missiles in hardened silos would have prevented that tragic event. On the contrary, deployment of MX missiles is bound to increase Soviet apprehensions and make such irresponsible actions more likely. In the light of what has already happened to 269 passengers on a commercial airliner that strayed into Soviet airspace, can we afford to further increase Soviet apprehensions by producting a weapon that serves no purpose except to escalate the arms race another notch?

If you believe that we must reduce the tensions by slowing the arms race, make your views known where it will count. Write to Congressman Bob Davis, House of Representatives, Washington D.C., 20515 (or call his Michigan office, toll-free 1-800-682-8982). Urge him to switch, this time, and vote against funds to produce the MX. The House vote is expected in late September or early October so it's now or never to stop the MX!

Prof. to speak

To the Editor:

The continuing political fallout from our early above-ground atomic testing in the Marshall Islands will be the subject of a talk by Walter Johnson at 3 p.m. Oct. 1 at the lower level of the Petoskey Public Library.

Now retired and a resident of Pentwater, MI, Johnson was Professor of American History at the University of Chicago from 1940 to 1966 and at the University of Hawaii from 1966 to 1982 where he was in a position to gather much information about the islanders who were displaced or esposed to radiation during our testing on Eniwetok and Bikini Atolls. He was also a guest professor at Oxford University in the late 1950s. He is the author-editor of 15 books, including an eight-volume series on the papers of Adlai Stevenson.

A key issue in the recent plebiscite on the Marshall Islands was the amount of compensation to be paid by our government to nuclear test victims. After World War II the United Nations entrusted the U.S. with the administration of the islands. The inhabitants have now voted for complete independence, with the U.S. retaining the use of its missile testing range for up to 30 years.

The program is sponsored by the Little Traverse International League for Peace and Freedom and the public is cordially invited.

EPA details TCE search

Preliminary activites will get under way such as surveying and marking potential new monitoring well sites. Readings will be taken from existing monitoring wells and new drilling may start toward the end of the month.

November 1 to December 31, 1983: Most of the drilling will be done during this period. Planned is an initial series of 12 monitoring wells at locations fanning out from the municipal well. Drilling fluids and well cuttings will be collected and stored, hydraulic conductivity tests will be conducted, water samples collected and water level measurements taken at each site. If the first 12 wells do not provide conclusive information to the source of TCE contamination, drilling will continue, said Balmat.

"We'll drill as many wells as we have to," he said.

January 1 to Mid April, 1984: Water samples will be taken from monitoring wells monthly during this period with the results determining the direction of the rest of the atudy.

Mid-April to Mid-May, 1984: Drill rigs will return to take soil borings and geophysical crews will continue the search for buried metal tanks or drums.

Following the remedial investigation phase of the project, the feasibility study will focus on the most practical solutions based on the data from the TCE search. Some of the possible avenues mentioned by Balmat at the briefing included the complete removal of the source of contamination, blocking the flow of TCE into the groundwater, treatment of the contaminated water TCE after it comes out of the ground and the development of a completely new water supply.

The City of Charlevoix is already moving toward development of a new well system. The engineering firm of McNamee, Porter and Seeley is currently working with geologist Art Goslin to analyze potential new well sites at the municipal golf course on the north side and the airport on the south side.

"Our (EPA's) goal is to provide an ultimate solution to the TCE problem in Charlevoix," said Balmat, "And if the solution is a new water supply, we'll pay up to 90 percent of the cost."

Balmat also gave assurance that the budget for the Superfund work in Charlevoix has been appropriated and does not face the possibility of cuts before its completion. Costs outlined in the master plan for the first phases of the project ranged from a low estimate of $433,000 to a high estimate of over $700,000.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. Craig A. Whitley

Veldkamp-Whitley

Arrangements of white carnations and cream fuji mums, yellow and white potted mums and a lighted candelabra graced the altar for the wedding of Marla Jo Veldkamp of Ellsworth and Craig Anthony Whitley of Petoskey at the Ellsworth Christian Reformed Church Saturday, Sept. 17.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Versile Valdkamp of Ellsworth and Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Whitley of Midland.

The Rev. Bruce Persenaire officiated at the double ring service in the presence of 200 guests. Mrs. Martin Rubingh, at the organ, played a program of traditional music and the procesaional, Wagner's "Bridal Chorus" accompanied by flutist, Mrs. Persenaire. Mrs. Rubingh and flutist, Sandy Petersen of Detroit, cousin of the bridegroom, accompanied the soloist, Norman Veldkamp of Central Lake, uncle of the bride.

Escorted to the altar by her father past pews marked with white satin bows, the bride chose a gown of white silk organza and Venise lace for her wedding. Fashioned with a fitted lace bodice over taffeta, the gown featured a Victorian neckline, long sleeves and a bouffant skirt of wide tiers edged with Venise lace and chapel length train. Her short veil fell from a derby-type hat covered with Venise lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses, carnations and greens.

Marcia Howes of Ellsworth was her sister's matron of honor and bridesmaids were Nancy Whitley of Charlevoix, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, Dawn Cross of Petoskey, Andrea Whitley of Midland, sister of the bridegroom, and Manda Veldkamp of Ellsworth, sister of the bride. They wore gowns of yellow and blue lace styled with high necklines, sheer yokes outlined with ruffles of crystal pleats which also edged the elbow length sleeves and the hemline of the gowns. Each carried a single long-stemmed white rose tied with white ribbon.

C.T. Martin of Charlevoix attended the bridegroom as best man. Groomsmen were Ken Donakowski of Petoskey, Chris Whitley, brother of the bridegroom, and Steve Martin, both of Charlevoix, and Mark Veldkamp of Ellsworth, brother of the bride. Seating the guests were the bridegroom's brothers, Jerome Whitley, Jr., of Charlevoix and Paul Whitley and Randy Whitley of Midland.

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents hosted a reception at the V.F.W. post home in Charlevoix. Mrs. Norman Veldkamp fo Central Lake, aunt of the bride, served the wedding cake. Jessica Whitley of Charlevoix, niece of the bridegroom, tended the guest book. Music was by the "Summer Recess" group of Charlevoix. After a wedding trip to the East Coast from New York to Virginia, the couple will be at home 1219 Lears Road, Petoskey. While in the East, the bridegroom will participate in the Chrysler Corporation race in Manhattan sponsored by the American Power Boat Association.

The bridegroom is employed as assistant production manager at Petoskey Plastics, Inc., in Petoskey. The bride is employed at Trademark Clothiers in Charlevoix.

A rehearsal dinner at the Argonne Friday evening was hosted by the bridegroom's parents.

Juvenile officer asks for in-home care worker

In a report to the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners, Juvenile Officer D. Brad Campbell has estimated that hiring an in-home care worker could save the court as much as $36,654.51 a year.

These savings would be brought about by cutting the costs of keeping juveniles in foster homes and institutions, which last year amounted to $88,649.72.

An in-home care worker would relieve the juvenile officer of some of his present caseload and allow him more time to pursue the collection of re-imbursements for child care outside the family from those financially able to pay.

The County is considering hiring an in-home care worker who would spend time with court wards in their homes, making it unnecessary to take them away from their families.

One family's version of 'This Old House'

by ANNE KELLY

There are two types of antique home owners as I see it: 1) those who like to buy old houses and restore them and 2) those who have to buy old houses because they can't afford to buy new ones.

When we bought our old house, we fit into both categories. We had a limited income, two small kids and romantic ideas about the Williamsburg era. We dreamed in slate blue, white trim, black shutters and white picket fences. The house itself was in need of love and attention when we came upon the scene. It was a neglected centennial that stood pale and peeling, without shutters like a lady who needs mascara and a better complexion.

But as any realtor will tell you, "First you buy the town, they you buy the neighborhood, THEN you buy the house." You know realtors. They're the ones who tell you how easy it's going to be to knock out walls and add on bedrooms. In retrospect we think that: first you buy the town, then you but the neighborhood, then you call in the construction worker and the exterminator, before you buy the house. Then, you see, you can go back to the realtor and say, "Let's be reasonable. We'll have to rewire, replumb, insulate, pour a new foundation, reroof, gut the interior, paint the exterior, dry wall, strip the woodwork, put in a fireplace, repair the chimney and rid the place of varmits that have lived here for 100 years. You will come down on the price, won't you?"

We entered into the purchase of our first home, the way most of us enter marriage. If we saw flaws we assumed that love and a little work would help them over the years. In all fairness, I don't think we ever looked at all the disrepair through rose colored glasses. There was too much cleaning, scrubbing, stripping, papering and painting to contend with. And of course we wanted to put in a garden. However we checked the plumbing by turning on the spickets to see if water came out and flushed to make sure the toilets worked. We once-overed the wiring that had been recently redone and were grateful for a new furnace. It was before the age of energy conservation, so we never gave insulation or pipe-wrapping a thought. Next came the face-lift: shutters and a paint job. We were already broke so the fance had to wait.

At first there were only subtle signs: fault lines in the ceiling running down the hallway. Then "Do you notice how the front porch seems to be breaking away from the body of the house, dear?" "Settling" everyone said. "Old houses settle."

Our first call to the exterminator was for bees. While he was looking around I remember his saying, "Lady, (These guys are full of finesse) you

For Saints and Sinners

by Pastor Jim Plackner
Bethany Lutheran Church

Gerhard Frost tells this story.

Imagine you are walking through your neighborhood one bright summer morning, and you pass a certain house. The family is going on vacation. The father is closing the garage door; the mother is closing the front door. The station wagon is standing in the driveway, fully loaded and read to go. In it are three children, all under the age of five.

You walk up to the children and ask "Where are you going?"

They don't know.

"What highway are you taking?" They again reply that they have no idea.

You ask again "Where are you going to have supper tonight?"

Again, no idea.

"Where are you going to stay?" They don't know.

Then you ask them "With whom are you going?" Their eyes brighten. "With Mommy and Daddy, of course!"

They didn't know where they were going or many other details of the trip. But they did know with whom they were going.

God doesn't answer every question we have. But God does give us the Answerer. Christians are people who know whom they're traveling with in life: with God's Son Jesus, Who proves to us that God is, that God loves us, that God forgives us, that God gives us life with Him now and forever, that God is with us and we are with Him. The Answerer, Who went thru all the events of those three days, Good Friday thru Easter, for us.

That Still leaves alot of questions unanswered. But that's OK. The One Who has done all that for us says to us: "Come along with Me and live."

What more could we ask for?

Rayders outlast Hurons in 3-overtime thriller

The score, 14-6, does not tell the story of Friday night's victory by Charlevoix over Rogers City.

It tells the story of the three overtimes it took to squeeze 20 points out of the two teams to decide a winner.

But let the record show that, in the four quarters that comprise regulation time, the Rayders' and Hurons' defensive squads ruled the Kipke Field turf, allowing nary a point to be put on the scoreboard.

Not that the offensive units didn't mount some serious threats. Rogers City, for instance, drove within the Rayder five-yard line on three occasions but came away scoreless each time. At one point in the second quarter, the Hurons had a second-and-goal opportunity from the three but were thwarted by a sack by the Rayders' Jeff Lemerand Charlevoix also threatened a couple times, driving twice for field goal attempts, but could not manage to convert.

The Rayders' final bid for three points and a regulation-time victory came with five seconds remaining on the clock in the fourth quarter. A Tim LaBlance to A.J. Witthoeft pass at the 1:22 mark had given the Rayders one last gasp of a chance by transforming a fourth-and-19 situation to a first-and-goal at the Huron seven yard line.

Penalties hampered the ensuing touchdown attempts setting the stage for Charlevoix kicker Thad Morgan's field goal attempt with five seconds left. The kick sailed off to the left of the uprights, however, and sent the scoreless game into its first overtime.

In high school play, overtime consists of each team getting the ball for four plays from the ten yard line. The first overtime series saw Charlevoix win the toss and choose to take the ball. Neither Charlevoix, however, nor Rogers City on their possession, could score.

In the second overtime, the Rayders again took the ball first and on second down of their series, saw LaBlance get shaken up on a head tackle. Second string quarterback Brent Cole, a 6', 165-pound junior who had not played since the previous week's game against East Jordan, stepped in to toss a nifty scoring pass to 5'5" receiver Neild LaCroix in the near right corner for the first six points of the game. Charlevoix had to settle for six when a two-point conversion failed.

Rogers City quieted the crowd momenta later, though, when, on the third play of its series, Dan Snow hit Mike Hoffman in the endzone to knot the score. Then Thad Morgan sent the game into the third overtime by blocking the extra point attempt.

In the third overtime, Rogers City won the toss but elected to give the ball to Charlevoix for the first set of downs. That maneuver backfired immediatley as LaBlance returned to the game impressively by finding Bill Tillen in the endzone on the first play. Tillen added the two conversion points on another reception from LaBlance.

The Hurons last chance to tie ended in futility as the Rayder defense drove them backwards to the 20 where quarterback Snow was sacked on fourth down to end the game.

The Rayder offense, paced in earlier games by the running of Pat Mitchell, relied more on the passing of LaBlance this week. He threw 21 times and completed 10 passes for 129 yards and the winning TD. Mitchell managed to total 89 yards in 29 tries to lead the Rayders in the rushing category.

The game had particular importance as Rogers City had been ranked 7th and Charlevoix 9th in UPI statewide listings last week. The Rayders are now 3-0 for the season, 2-0 in , Michigan-Huron Shores action.

Boyne City comes to town next Friday night with the kick-off set for 7:30 p.m. at Kipke Field.

The pair of goose eggs on the scoreboard behind him tells the story of Charlevoix quarterback Tim LaBlance's frustration as the Rayders went scoreless in their first overtime possession.

Junior varsity squad shut out by Rogers City

The Charlevoix Rayder JV football team lost to a strong Rogers City team by a score of 13-0 in a game played at Rogers City Thursday night.

The Hurons scored on runs of 10 and 50 yards in the first half before the Rayder defense tightened up as the second half got underway. The kick for the conversion following the second touchdown was good as the half ended 13-0.

Coach Brian Certa said Ken Carson, Scott Crandell and Jeff Engler were outstanding on defense.

Charlevoix will travel to Boyne City Thursday to take on the Ramblers.

Freshman fall in typical first game

The Charlevoix Rayder freshmen football team lost to Gaylord Wednesday in a game that Coach Dave Smith termed "a typical freshmen first game."

The Gaylord eleven scored on the third play of the game on a 35 yard pass play for the only score of the game. The conversion was good as the score remained at 7-0.

From that point neither team was able to score.

Coach Smith said he was happy with the defense which performed well in the rain, cold and wind. The offense, he said, was typical of a team's first appearance on the gridiron.

Yachting Notes by A. Nony Mouse

It looked like the first day of Fall had not read its Job Assingment properly. Maybe even had a copy of Winter's script, by mistake. Winds that shifted around the compass, howling at times and carrying a mixed bag of tricks, from sleet and driving rain to brief periods of sunshine and rainbows. A day for long johns and sweaters, Line 7 and s'westers, heavy gloves and ginger brandy!

Still twenty some yachts and close to one hundred village idiots ventured forth for a normal Wednesday evening of serenity and warmth on that 43 degree September evening. The start of the Portsmouth Fleet gave no indication of the problems to comes as "Te-Gi" led the way in fine style with all yachts heeled over and driving hard to windward.

Something bothered me, I'm not sure whether it was the wind on the water, hard out of the northwest; the smoke from Medusa, driven from the stack from the south only to then drift straight up; or the Windex on the top of our spar, slowly imitating a roulette wheel! At any rate, with 4 minutes to go to start, "Quick Please, get the number one up and that toy down., NOW, if you please". (Skippers always say "please"!) Changed the planned starting tactic to lie right on the line in case we were seconds slow in setting the new headsail; looked back with awe at the bunch of starboard tacks yachts, led by "Traveller", trucking down on us but, forthwith, still a good distance away.

THEN IT HAPPENED....have you ever heard a "sudden silence"? (Can you hear a silence?) No wind noise in the rigging, no sails flapping,.only the rapidly diminishing gurgle of remaining bow waves as their insigators lose momentum. So quiet you can hear the Race Committee count down.

By now the crew has the number one up and eagerly responds to the plantive query, "May we please have the pole up, the ½ ounce (spinnaker) on deck and flying and the No. 1 down; at your earliest convenience!" The look on one individual's face plainly says, "Well he finally went "bonkers", a chute on the windward leg!" But he decided to humor the ol' man and we got off in great shape. Three hundred and twenty seven windshifts later we crossed the finish line behind the big boys led by "Traveller" (and who did you expect?).

As we changed the liquid from outer surface application to more pleasing interior consumption in the after race lying session down at the Club, the finals were announced as: "Traveller", No. 1 in Class A, followed in turn by "Pygmalion" and just one second later by "Bandit" (with "Charlie Brown" only seconds behind.)

In Class B, "Foxy Lady" by 14 seconds over "Specter", who had a comfortable lead over "Clockwork" in third. "Obsession" was back a bit behind the rest of the Fleet but her time was saved by the Race Committee who had earlier briefly departed their appointed station.

In Portsmouth: "Te-Gi" with a big margin over "Seascape" and for the first time in the money..."Apothecory" as number 3.

It was wild, wet and wonderful...you should have been there!

Golfers take pair of wins

The Charlevoix Rayder golfers posted dual victories last week, winning over St. Ignace by a score of 180 to 192 and over Rogers City by a score of 175 to 185.

The Rayder JVs won over Rogers City 205 to 230 on Thursday.

In the meet at St. Ignace, the Saints' Rob Flinn was the medalist with a score of 40. Clyde O'Rourke had a 46; Jeff Carmean a 47 and Trey Law a 59.

Dan Batdorff carded a 41, Denny Curtis, 45, Bill Joy 46 and Scott Keller a 48 for Charlevoix.

In Thursday's meet Joy was medalist with a 41. Curtis and Keller had scores of 44 each and Batdorff a 46.

Jon Hampton topped the Hurons with a 43, Lee Karsten and Steve Redes had scores of 46 each and Scott Bannasch a 50.

Charlevoix's JVs played without opposition in Monday's meet with Dave Clark and Scott Wise posting scores of 48 each, Pat Zundel a 49 and Mike Chew a 51.

At Rogers City Thursday, Zundel was medalist with a 49. Dave Clark had a 50, Andy Stewart a 51 and Denny Clark a 55.

For the Rogers City JVs Steve White had a 55, Robert Miller a 56, John Budnik a 58 and Robert Blake a 61.

Lasater brings back British ideas in law enforcement

Bicycles, he said, are used extensively in patrol work. Motorcycles are also used. He said, for example, if an area has eight officers, two would be assigned to cruising in motor vehicles and the remainder to bicycle and foot patrols.

The U K constabularies are very professional in their organization with positive community relations and its PCs are highly responsive to the needs of the community, he observed.

He also said that the English have a very poor image of lawmen in the United States. "American films are very popular in England and countless times I had people tell me their idea of law enforcement in this country was similar to that seen on "Dukes of Hazard" and "Starsky and Hutch". The television and movie industries have done a great disservice to American law enforcement" he commented.

Sheriff Lasater was asked to bring his uniform to England with him and was asked to wear it to several events to which his host invited him.

One was a Constabulatory Field Day attended by 8,000 people including many school children whose only association with the word "sheriff" was in American films. Youngsters, he said, would ask if he was a real sheriff and then would reach out and touch his uniform. Mothers, especially, would ask him to have his picture taken with their children. He had plastic replicas of Michigan Sheriffs' Department badges with him which he handed out to the young people. "I had several hundred. I could have used another thousand," he said.

The Norfolk Constabulary, he said, was interested in several of the programs utilized in Charlevoix county. Among these are the Neighborhood Watch, Child Identification Program (finger printing of children), the Junior Deputy Program which introduces young people to law enforcement and the Juvenile Parental Advisement Program where parents are made aware that their young people have been involved in an alcohol-related incident.

The highlights of the exchange, Sheriff Lasater said, was being able to represent the department in a different society, and hopefully, to change the image that the people in England have of law enforcement officers in this country and attending the field day where he spoke with many people, most of them young people.

He said taking his daughter and introducing her to life in another country was also very rewarding.

Patrol cars in England, he said are known as Pandas probably because they are black and white, the coloring of the panda bear.

Another highlight was attending a soccer game. "In this country most contests, football, basketball, baseball, are games attended by families."

Soccer, by comparison, is definitely a man's game attended by a noisy, beer-drinking crowd. However, even those people were very courteous to him and spoke to him only when he indicated that he would like to speak to them. "I found all the people very courteous," he said.

He observed a magistrate and the Crown courts in session. There are two types of judges, the black robe judge who is appointed by the Lord Chancellor comparable to the Attorney General in this country and the red robe Circuit Judge appointed by the Queen.

The courts have no prosecuting attorney as here. Instead, the law enforcement officer appoints an attorney from among local attorneys known to the court to represent the Crown. Attornys who specialize in various areas of the law are appointed to serve in each case.

Attorneys are either solicitors or barristers. Solicitors are those in general practice. Barristers might be considered specialists in a given field such as a corporate lawyer or an attorney specializing in criminal work.

Sheriff Lasater said the two ideas he would like to emphasize in the operation of the sheriff's department is the attention given the victims of crimes and more citizens' imput. "I'd like to make law enforcement more responsive to the people," he said in mentioning these two ideas that impressed him most.

In relating something of his trip, Sheriff Lasater said the experience was exciting, educational and most gratifying. He added that the exchange had been made at no cost to the poeple of Charlevoix County." An outside source underwrote the cost of the trip and I picked up the tab for any extra expenses including those of my daughter," he said.

His host, Chief Inspector Mansfield and Mrs. Mansfield, will be coming to this country as guests of Charlevoix County in July 1984.

really have a dirty basement. There's quite a variety of spiders down there." The basement, to me, was an off-limits entity. There was dirt behind the furnace. The nice name for this is "a Michigan basement." I was from Ohio and couldn't see any merit in the concept. Either could the exterminator, obviously.

The pipes froze under the kitchen, where there is no basement, the first winter. There weren't enough storm windows so we resorted to plastic and learned the art of thumbtacking little cardboard strips over the plastic onto the woodwork.

By spring we learned that Charlevoix was the skunk capital of the north. The backyard was gouged up as they rooted for something called grubs. Somewhere nearby some spraying went on to the point that we couldn't wear our corduroy blazers for weeks.

We started "down deep" with storm windows because I couldn't stand the sight of plastic. It reminded me of Skovai Road, which if you're familiar with Cleveland, isn't one of your nicer neighborhoods.

Then came the age of Energy Conservation. Our audit cried out in infra-red: "Insulate, insulate!" But the house needed painting again. By this time our 125-year-old Ash tree had fallen during a storm on the rear (luckily) of the house, the sewer line running from the house to the street had to be dug up and replaced, we had gutted and dry-walled a hallway and two rooms, put down a new kitchen floor, laid carpet, stripped woodwork, put in a fireplace, created a patio, put up window boxes, harvested a garden, had three more children and were ready to put up the brass numbers "203" on our cottage red door.

This is an open letter to the folly of romance when it comes to an old house. I still hadn't got my fence and lamppost when the exterminator came again. I knew right away that this one was going to be even rougher on me than the first. Maybe it was the way he added up the cost of ridding us of rats and squirrels and skunks on the palm of his hand with a ball point pen.

"Lady", (they must have gone to the same school) he said bluntly, "your foundation was built over 85 years ago. 85 years ago when people went downtown they went out and jumped into their horse and buggy. Now we go out and turn on the key." This guy spoke in parables. Luckily Theology 404 prepared me. Our foundation must not be doing its job. His next comment really got me to the quick. "All I can say is that a cobbler's children go to school with holes in their shoes."

What did this mean? Were our children going to school with foundation crumbs still on their mouths?

Whenever anyone tries to get to me through the children, they've got me. By fall we reinsulate. By fall we screen in and repair the foundation. Instead of a fence and lamppost, I'll probably get cement blocks. I can see it coming.

Someday, when he have lived in this ole house for 50 years, we'll say: "An old house is like a good old marriage. You make a committment and you don't sell out when the going gets rough."

We've gone too far to ever turn back.

CITY OF CHARLEVOIX COUNCIL MINUTES

September 19, 1983
8:00 P.M.

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date and time in a regular meeting held in Council Chambers, 210 State Street, Charlevoix, Michigan, with Mayor Staley presiding.

Present: Councilmembers Wood, Block, Olach, Porter, Timms, and Roloff. Absent: None

The Minutes of the September 12, 1983 special meeting, and September 6, 1983 regular meeting were approved as presented in writing and as recorded in the Council Minutes Book.

Warren Shepton, President of the Charlevoix Marine Band, appeared before Council, requesting an increase of the City's monthly payment to the band from $133.33 per month to $175.00 per month, effective in the 1984-85 fiscal year.

Moved by Councilmen Olach and supported by Councilman Wood to accept the Planning Commission's recommendations and approve the proposed site plan as requested by Michigan Fiberglass, Inc., for a boat repair shop located at 209 Ferry Avenue, with the following conditions:

1. The ventilation system shall be filtered, and the shop shall be operated in such a fashion to ensure that fumes and flammable vapors do not enter upon adjoining properties.

2. No external storage of boats, vehicles, or other repair items, or any materials or supplies, shall be permitted.

3. No external operations of any kind shall be permitted.

4. The operation shall be limited to repair and sales. No manufacturing of any product or product component shall be conducted at the site.

5. Access to the parking area shall become restricted to a single access drive, in lieu of head-in parking, if deemed feasible by the City Manager.

6. Sanitary code conditions be complied with.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yees: Councilmenbers Wood, Block, Olach, Porter, Timms, and Roloff. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Moved by Councilwoman Roloff and supported by Councilmen Timms to deny the proposed site plan as requested by Ski & Shore, to erect a deck over the first floor of their offices on Bridge Street.

The City Manager requested reasons for the denial of the site plan, which would benefit the Planning Commission. Councilwoman Roloff replied that she felt it was encroaching on property that does not belong to them, its a public right-of-way, and that the deck requested to be installed, is different in terms from the mansard roof.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Wood, Block, Olach, Porter, Timms, and Roloff. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Moved by Councilman Block and supported by Councilman Wood to accept the City Manager's recommendations regarding the Corps of Engineers Bank Protection Project.

1. Request that the project be scheduled to get underway in early April.

2. Request that the project be planned to minimize use of the Finn Lumber property for operations, access, or storage.

3. Insist that the Local Cooperation Agreement provide adequate protection to ensure that the City is not struck with a cost overrun. Acquire special legal counsel, if necessary, to ensure that the City is properly represented in Local Cooperation Agreement negotiations.

4. Leave the vault on the bank over the winter, to help stabilize it. Make arrangements for the bridge attendants to monitor the bank during storms.

5. Inform the Corps that the Bridge attendants will call them directly, at any time of the day or night, if additional erosion occurs, and that the City will insist that the Corps undertake true emergency operations, if necessary, to protect City utilities.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Wood, Block, Olach, Porter, Timms, and Roloff. Nays: None. Absent: None.

The following Resolution was offered and moved for its adoption by Councilmen Block and supported by Councilman Olach.

Outdoor Report

from the DNR Gaylord District Office

The 1983 Bear Season opened Sept. 16 under cloudy, rainy skies but success appears to be generally good with a total of about 30 bear taken the first three days. The largest bear reported taken was a 440 pound animal that was taken in Cheboygan County.

The Grouse Season and Woodcock Season that got underway Sept. 15 was hampered by heavy foliage with grouse being rather difficult to locate and hard to see. Woodcock population appears to be good with local birds and success to be best in Charlevoix County. No northern flight birds in the area as yet.

The acorn crop is vey good this year which would indicate an excellent area to hunt squirrel and deer this fall.

Many flocks of geese were observed passing over the area last Saturday and Sunday. Many of these geese will stop in farm fields to rest and feed on the trip south. These birds are off limits until the seasons opens, October 1st.

The Waterfowl Season, as well as the Archery Deer Season will open on Oct. 1. The population of whitetails is very good in most areas. October 1st is the last day to apply for an anterless deer permit.

Normal pressure and success reported from trout streams and inland lakes on Pike, Bass and Bluegill.

Salmon success contines rather slow in the Charlevoix area with only a few Chinook Salmon taken. A few Lake Trout and Steelhead taken in the Petoskey are in water depths of 140-150 feet.

Elk continue to bugle in the Pigeon River State Forest. This activity taking place from dark until daylight.

New services for seniors

Senior citizens in Northwest Michigan will receive increased attention during the next three years from the Area Agency on Aging.

The Agency is planning on offering additional services to the 7,000-plus persons over 65 who live alone in the 10-County area.

In-home services such as meals and homemaker and home health aid are designed to provide the "extra help" many home-bound seniors need to live in their own homes, a spokesman for the Area Agency on Aging points out.

No temporary weir this year, says DNR

by PEG OHLE

Approximately 9,000 Chinook salmon are expected to return to the Jordan River this fall, unimpeded by a harvesting weir.

The Department of Natural Resources (DNR) recently scrapped its plans to construct a temporary weir in the Jordan this year after being denied a permit to do so by the Jordan River Natural River Zoning Board.

The site the DNR had selected for the weir was in the upstream portion of the Jordan River designated a Natural River. This part of the river is governed by a special zoning ordinance which requires a permit for any kind of construction in the river.

The DNR has insisted that its selected site is the most practical one for the weir, although opponents to it say another site downstream out of the Natural River portion would serve the purpose as well.

Jerry Manz, regional fisheries biologist for the DNR, said the Department would be back next year in an attempt to get permission for a permanent weir on the Jordan.

More than 300,00 Chinook salmon fingerlings were planted in the Jordan River last spring, which means a run of 30,000 to 40,000 in Lake Charlevoix by 1985, experts say.

Busy weekend schedule planned for Apple Festival

by FRAN MARTIN

It looks like great fun - the fourth annual Apple Festival to be held in downtown Charlevoix Saturday and Sunday under the sponsorship of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce.

Receiving top billing during the two-day festival wil be APPLES, some 30 varieties, which will be offered for sale in East Park by area orchardists. Joining the apples in supporting roles will be baked goods featuring apples to be sold at booths along with a host of other edibles and a farmer's market of garden produce.

In addition to this there will be a Christmas Bazaar in the Market Mall exhibiting the work of the Charlevoix Crafters, 15 in all; a strolling magician who will be around for both Saturday and Sunday; the Windmill Cross Country run and fun run at Windmill Farm Saturday afternoon; a matinee at Cinema III; a dance for all the family at the Charlevoix Elementary School Saturday evening and an art contest with awards with the judging to be done Saturday morning.

Among the orchardists who will be in the park are Rosenthal Orchards, Aaron and Rita Williams, Friske Orchards, King Orchards, Sunnyview Orchards, Rocky Top Farm and the Elzinga Farm Market. Some of the orchards will also offer products made from the fruits and berries they raise.

In addition, area farmers will bring their fall produce that will include potatoes, squash, carrots, cabbages and other vegetables harvested at this time of the year.

The remainder of East Park will be occupied by booths offering such goodies as apple pies, apple turnovers, and other foods.

Candied apples will be offered by the Kids Corner Nursery School; apple turnovers by the Gym Bag, and homemade apple pies by the Charlevoix Merchants Association, originators of the Apple Festival.

Other non-profit organizations such as the Beta Sigma Chi sorority will offer homemade chili; brats on a roll by the Charlevoix Lions Club; footlong hot dogs by the Big Brothers and Big Sisters of Charlevoix County, kielbasa by Charlevoix County Lodge No. 379, Loyal Order of Moose; pasties and tacos by the Chruch of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

A booth offering handmade toys and Christmas ornaments will be sponsored by the Order of the Eastern Star.

While all this is going on in East Park, the Charlevoix Crafters will be holding their Christmas Bazaar

Carr won't give up plan to buy half a bridge for restaurant

by DAVE KNIGHT

Robert Carr of Petoskey, who has been linked with the refurbishing of the Great Lakes cruise ship South American, told City Council Monday night that he still held out hope for use of the half-gone C&O railroad bridge as a restaurant site.

Carr said that he had continued "quietly working" to buy the bridge, even after half of it was demolished last week by a crew contracted by the C&O. (See photo on page 3.)

Carr's plan is to pot railroad dining cars on the bridge and operate it as a unique restaurant facility. Long range plans, he said, might also involve a glass dome over the top and steam train service from Petoskey.

The fact that the half-bridge is now in the closed position and supported at both ends is actually more advantageous to his plans, said Carr. Had it remained intact in the open position, costly supports would have had to be installed on both ends, he said. Carr also mentioned that diners would now be able to look out over either Lake Charlevoix or Round Lake instead of a view of just the channel in the open position.

"There are times when you can take something historic and make a profit out of it," said Carr.

Carr is presently attempting to persuade demolition contractor Peter Meagher to delay work on the bridge and was scheduled to meet with Meagher again Tuesday. According to City Attorney Jeffery VanTreese, however, one condition set by the C&O on a purchase by Carr of the bridge is that the city take ownership, first, before it is transferred to Carr. That, said VanTreese, would not be in the city's interest.

Council voted unanimously two weeks ago to relinquish any claim of ownership on the bridge.

Mayor Kenneth Staley reported Monday night that he had talked recently with a Patrick Calahan of Torch Lake who, according to Staley, had offered to arrange bonding to cover the city's liability should the city assume ownership of the bridge. Staley said he had also received communication from State Representative Ralph Ostling to "proceed with caution" in removing the bridge.

By informal consensus, the council backed Carr's concept of commercial development of the bridge but made it clear that the city would play no active role in such a development.

'Unusual event' is false alarm at Big Rock

Smoke detected around a generator turbine at the Big Rock Point nuclear plant last Wednesday resulted in the mobilization of the plant's fire brigade and the declaration of an "unusual event" by Consumers Power Company.

Further investigation revealed, however, that the cause was only a small oil leak from a bearing seal dripping onto hot pipes. The situation was remedied by placing a pan under the dripping oil until permanent repairs can be made during a future shut-down, according to Big Rock public affairs director Robert Grupp.

A lightning strike was also experienced by the plant Wednesday, September 21, resulting in some minor electrical damage. Lightning struck a post on the security fence around the plant at about 8:15 p.m., tripping some electrical circuits in the control room, said Grupp.

Grupp said that none of the damage affected plant operation, however, and the incident was not classified as an emergency Repairs were made by 6 a.m. the next day, he added.

Schools to collect summer taxes

The Charlevoix Board of Education, at its regular meeting Monday night, adopted a motion that will result in the summer collection of 50 percent of the school taxes beginning in 1984.

The board gave its unanimous support to the summer tax collection proposal which will allow the school district to operate without borrowing funds against tax anticipation notes as it has had to do annually to meet expenses until tax monies were collected.

The decision to make summer collection of school taxes was made at this time in order to put the mechanics of such a move into operation and possibly schedule the school election at an earlier date than the second Monday of June as in the past.

Is depot next on endangered railroad property list?

by DAVE KNIGHT

Vestiges of the railroad era in Charlevoix are disappearing at a fast rate these days.

Since the recent abandonment by the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad of its service to the area, several rail crossings have been paved over, tracks are being removed at many other locations and, in a development that attracted much public attention over the past weeks, the 90-year old railroad swing bridge over the Pine River channel is in the process of being demolished.

All this leads to speculation on the future of Charlevoix's most visible symbol of the railroad's glory days, the C&O depot on Lake Charlevoix at the base of Chicago Ave.

Although the railroad has discussed the possible sale of the property with at least one potential buyer, the Charlevoix Yacht Club, for over a year, last Wednesday a Ski & Shore "For Sale" sign appeared on the building for the first time. Local Ski & Shore associate Robert Murray confirmed that the railroad is now "anxious" to dispose of the property.

The railroad's anxiousness is not readily apparent, however, in their asking price. The C&O is asking $200,000 for the depot, the adjacent freight building and about 9.5 acres of land in an odd shaped lot that is 86 feet deep for 700 feet of length and then narrows down to about 25 feet deep for another 700 feet along the right-of-way northward.

The property does not include the trackage or right-of-way which is owned by the state or the beach which is owned by the city.

The depot has not really been a depot since 1962 when passenger service to Charlevoix was discontinued. After 13 years of disuse, it was leased in 1975 to the Charlevoix Yacht Club (CYC) which did extensive renovation work on the building and has used it since then for club functions and as a general headquarters.

CYC Commodore Michael Carland said last week that the club has been in frequent contact with the C&O over the past year about the club's future involvement with the depot, including possible ownership. However outright purchase of the property by the club is all but impossible, said Carland, if the C&O sticks to its current asking price.

"Basically we have three options," said Carland, "We can continue leasing the building until we are kicked out, we can make the railroad a final offer and move out if they refuse it or we can simply move out right now and go to a new location."

The yacht club has been contemplating a move to the south side of the channel on Lake Charlevoix near Ferry Beach. Carland points out that the growing boating activities and marina facilities in that area make it an attractive alternative for a new CYC clubhouse.

The CYC Board of Directors was scheduled to meet Monday night and, according to Carland, a decision on the club's future involvement with the depot might be reached.

One question raised by the yacht club is whether the C&O can guarantee title of the property should a purchase agreement be reached. The question becomes more relevant in light of the legal maneuvering that took place just weeks ago over ownership of the railroad bridge.

In that case, the City of Charlevoix successfully sought a court order to delay demolition of the bridge until it could be determined whether the city might be involved in ownership of the structure. The city's contention was that a local civic development group subsidized the construction of the bridge in 1893 so the city should retain some ownership. That position was quickly dropped, however, when the issue of liability was raised.

Realtor Robert Shorter of the Petoskey Ski & Shore office is now handling the listing on behalf of the railroad. Shorter said that he does not foresee any problem in transferring the property should a buyer be found. He said that he has handled the sales of several railroad parcels recently and that he has had no problem in ownership transfers.

Murray said that the railroad was prepared to offer a quit claim deed to the property. Another source familiar with sales of railroad-owned property said that "99 percent" of such transactions were through quit claim deeds since records of railroad land purchases often date back too far to trace with complete accuracy.

Crafters prepare annual bazaar for Apple Festival Saturday

The Charlevoix Crafters will present their fifth annual Christmas Basaar during the Annual Apple Festival Saturday, October 8, Andrea Mathews, spokesperson for the group, has announced.

The Crafters are a group of area residents who offer a wide variety of hand-crafted items that range from doll clothes, tole painting, weaving, flower arrangements and iconage plaques to clocks, toys and Christmas ornaments.

"We call it a Christmas Basaar because everything we offer are items suitable for Christmas giving. However, they are also articles that you might like in your own home or as gifts any time of the year," Mrs. Mathews said.

Among some of the new items to be seen this year will be fabric painted tote bags and door stops in addition to tole painting, ring holders and other wooden items being offered by Peggy Spang; chair pads in addition to goose and mouse door stops, book covers and felt Christmas ornaments made by Sandy Puhl; doll clothes, stenciled Bermuda bags, quilted jackets and reverse glass painting being offered by a new exhibitor, Linda Behringer; wooded toys and dolls being offered by Bob and Mary Cook who are also newcomers to the show as is Alice Jackson of Petoskey who will be exhibiting plaques in a new media known as iconage, ecology boxes and Christmas ornaments.

Others will include Sue Miller who will be offering procelain Christmas ornaments done in pastel shades, jewelry and country painting on wood items; Res Supernaw who has added clocks to his list of offerings including shelves, cup racks, napkin holders and other woodworking items; Delora Richardson with a wide selection of crocheted items and baked goods; Gayle Vedder of Petoskey who will be displaying hand-sewn items including aprons, pillows and place mats; Jenny Bellairs whose entries will include adorable quilted pillows, sachet bags and other small items.

Other craft persons entered are Mary Bataran with her unusual stained glass sun catchers, and pictures; Judy Crook whose items include Pysanky eggs, band boxes and straw weaving; Joan Wagner whose speciality is woodborning; Shirley Lusk who will feature natural flower arrangements and baby shower centerpieces; and Mrs. Mathews who, in addition to her pottery items will be offering fabric items including jewelry cases, bed friends, closet organizers, soft music boxes and gift bags.

The bazaar will be held in the open area of the Market Mall as well as in a section of the building previously occupied by an office, Mrs. Mathews said, adding that the exhibits will be spread out over a larger area than in the past, making it easier to browse and shop.

The Christmas Bazaar offered by the Charlevoix Crafters will be held on Saturday, Oct. 8, as part of the fourth annual Apple Festival.

Chip Counseling Center is awarded JCAH accreditation

Chip Counseling Center has received a three-year accreditation from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals (JCAH). Accreditation means that efforts to provide high-quality health care have received professional and national recognition.

Chip voluntarily sought consultation by inviting JCAH surveyors to visit and review its performance and services against standards developed by leaders in the health care field.

The report of that visit was reviewed and analized by trained experts and recommendations were submitted for final consideration to the Accreditation Committee of JCAH's governing body. This committee of active, practicing health care professionals granted the accreditation.

A great deal of educational and consultative support was received from Northern Michigan Substance Abuse Services, Inc. and financial assistance was received through a grant offered by the state Office of Substance Abuse Services.

This accreditation is particularly significant to Chip as it pursues providership with Blue Cross-Blue Shield in order to be eligible for reimbursement for cost of client services.

Chip is beginning its eighth year of service in Charlevoix County and its fourth year in Antrim and Emmet Counties. A variety of counseling and educational services is offered in all three locations with specialized services for treating people whose lives are complicated by substance abuse.

You can count on the same highly skilled people to watch over your service, as always. And when you pick up your phone on New Year's Day, you'll hear the same reliable dial tone you've heard for years.

But we'll be bringing you a lot more than a dial tone. For one thing, we will continue to exercise our almost unlimited options for selecting and implementing the very latest technology from a wide variety of communications suppliers.

What that means to you, as we go down the line, is faster, more efficient and more flexible service with many interesting choices for you. One of the innovations we'll continue to adopt for the future is electronic switching service. This will give almost everyone in Michigan the chance to opt for Touch-Tone® Service, Custom Calling Services and other communication conveniences.

Lightwave cable is a recent transmission development that can carry as many as 96,000 simultaneous conversations. And soon it will send your voice and messages with the speed of light.

Before long, your telephone will be capable of performing surprising electronic tricks, such as ringing a certain way to let you know exactly who's calling. You'll have a new way to shop by phone in stores all over the country...to handle financial transactions by talking directly to your bank's computer. To receive electronic mail. To play bridge. And even to call your oven and tell it to start dinner.

These are just a sampling of the technological advancements you can expect to enjoy through Michigan Bell. The point is very simple: Next year we'll be bringing you the same good old dial tone, but we won't be the same old phone company. We'll be pulling out all the stops to bring you the last word in phone service. After all...

IT'S AT&T
WE'RE SEPARATING FROM...
NOT YOU.

WITH THE C&O RAILROAD BRIDGE HALF GONE, below, navigation was reopened through the Pine River Channel last Friday at noon. After the 90-year old swing bridge closed for one last time at 2:33 p.m. Wednesday, above, demolition operations commenced with a 40 foot crane swinging dismantled sections of the bridge onto a flatbed rail car on the south trestle. Efforts by Petoskey enterpreneur Robert Carr to postpone demolition were reportedly still being pursued Wednesday but the work went ahead on schedule with the south half of the bridge completely gone by the Friday deadline.

Fourth Friday count confirms enrollment increase

It's official following the fourth Friday "count day" in the Charlevoix School District. The Charlevoix Public Schools showed an increase of eight students over the 1392 enrolled on this date in 1982 instead of the loss of 30 students as projected.

The enrollment figures on the opening day of school indicated that the decline that started in the mid-1970 might level off. Friday's figures have assured the decline has for this year.

Why the unanticipated leveling off and slight increase? Supt. Gordon W. VanWieren said a few new families have moved into the area and several who left earlier have returned. Perhaps not as many moved away as anticipated at the close of the school year was the only way he said he could account for what happened.

The increases showed up in the elementary school and in the high school while the decline in enrollment appeared in the middle school figures reveal.

The following shows the enrollment at the various grade levels for the past two years.

Enrollemnt at St. Mary's School declined but the fact there is no sixth grade at the school this year accounts in part for this.

Area unemployment average in August

The unemployment rate in Charlevoix County during August was about the same as the average unemployment rate for the metropolitan areas in the state, according to figures released by the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

With a rate of 12.2 percent, Charlevoix County's unemployment was above: Lansing, 10.1 percent; Kalamazoo-Portage, 10.3 percent; Ann Arbor, 10.7 percent; Grand Rapids, 10.8 percent; and Battle Creek, 12 percent.

However, it was below: Saginaw, 12.7 percent; the Upper Peninsula, 13.1 percent; Benton Harbor, 13.8 percent; Detroit, 14.3 percent; Jackson, 14.7 percednt; Bay City, 14.8 percent; Muskegon, 15.1 percent; and Flint, 15.5 percent.

Locally, Charlevoix County's unemployment rate was above that of Emmett County (10.2 percent) and Otsego County (10.5 percent).

Choirs launch sale

The Charlevoix High School and Middle School choirs will launch their fourth annual cheese and sausage sale Tuesday, Oct. 4, Steve Stargardt, choir director, has announced.

The sale will continue through Oct. 11.

Choir members from both the high school and the middle school will be contacting residents of the community on a door-to-door basis during the sale of Century Pride cheese and sausage.

Proceeds from the event will be used to underwrite the purchase of a portable electric piano, Stargardt said.

Judge hears OVA request for vote

A petition by the Organized Voters of America (OVA) asking that the Board of Commissioners of Charlevoix County call a special election to lower the property tax limitation from 15 to 13 mills was considered by visiting Circuit Judge John W. Unger last week.

As a result, both the OVA and the County were instructed to file briefs in the case within the week, after which Judge Unger will set a new hearing date.

The petition deals with the failure of the County Board of Commissioners to call for a County-wide vote on the proposition after the OVA presented them with initiative petitions asking for such a vote.

The initiative petitions were judged as having enough signatures but were rejected on the basis that they called for the County to collect two-tenths of a mill for libraries. Former County Prosecutor Scott Beatty decided that, since the County does not run libraries, such an allocation would be illegal. OVA spokesman Karl Waldner, on the other hand, insists that even though the County does not run libraries, it has the authority to fund a County library.

Beatty, who resigned last month, was included in the original petition but his name has been removed from the new petition.

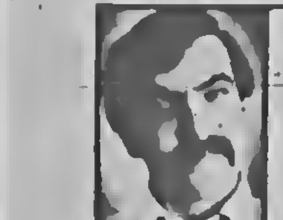
Opinion



Knight on the Town
Who's in charge here?

by Dave Knight

Our readers will be forgiven if they are confused about what is happening in the ongoing city water saga.

That's because I am confused as well.

From the time of the very first announcement that the industrial chemical trichloroethylene (TCE) is contaminating city water, we have been more or less at the mercy of various state and federal agencies. They (State Department of Public Health) told us we had TCE in our water, they (Environmental Protection Agency) told us it wasn't good for us, they (Department of Natural Resources) kept looking for the source and now they (all of the above) are pulling for a final solution.

They, however, are not all pulling in the same direction.

At the behest of the state Health Department, the City of Charlevoix has moved, with some fits and starts, toward development of a whole new water system. The contract was awarded Monday night to a well driller for the series of wells expected to produce a totally new source water, probably from two well sites, for the city. A resolution was also approved Monday to borrow up to $100,000 for the work from the electric fund with taxpayers paying the interest.

Meanwhile, the EPA came to town two weeks ago to announce that it is determined - to the tune of hundreds of thousands of Superfund dollars - to find what is polluting the present water source.

But hasn't the Health Department said that the present source is to be abandoned by 1987 at the latest? Isn't that why the city is spending its taxpayers' money to drill new wells?

Also, the Health Department has given the city three months to decide on a final plan of action. The EPA, however, says it won't have any concrete results from its work for about 14 months. Based on these timetables, by the time the EPA comes up with its "final solution", the city will have had a "final solution" either on line or in final stages of development.

One detects a lack of communication here.

Asked about the Health Department mandates at its public briefing two weeks ago, Joel Balmat of EPA said that he "liked to think we (EPA) can work something out with them (Health Department)."

Reached last week, however, Tim Benton of the state Health Department said he had received no communication from EPA on its plans and was somewhat miffed that no one from the state Health Department had even been notified of the September 21 informational briefing.

When informed by a reporter of the proposed EPA Superfund timetable extending 14 months or longer, Benton said that his department still expects the city to detail its final solution by this coming January 1.

"We (state Health Department) have been trying to get the city to act for two years now," said Benton, "We could not wait any longer. What the EPA is doing will have to be a totally seperate matter."

While he was disappointed with the lack of coordination between the Health Department and EPA, Benton was not surprised.

"Being able to factor for their timetable has been a problem with Superfund in other cases," he said.

To summarize briefly, the city is drilling new wells because the state says we have to. But the feds are cleaning up the old well anyway. Of course, the feds might decide on a better final solution than cleaning up the old well...like drilling new wells, which the city will have already have done by the time the feds get around to it.

Is that clear?

I won't mind if you say no.

Clockwise
Me stage a story? Never!

by Bob Clock

OVER THE WEEKEND a good friend accused me of doing off-beat things just so I can write about them.

Which is not true, of course. I get into lots of hot water without even trying. And most of the outlandish things that happen to me never see print.

Several years ago, for example, I made a night trip to Beaver Island in a pea soup fog in a 17-foot outboard and I haven't written one word about it until this very minute. The journey was fraught with hair-raising adventures, but the wife of one of my companions threatened me with bodily harm if I ever put the details on paper.

So I have held my tongue.

Nor did I write one word about a month ago when a raccoon discovered our rear door unlatched, forced his way into the back porch and was half way across the kitchen floor — heading for the cats' supper — when my daughters Jennifer and Allison saw him.

I didn't have to write anything about that incident, because the girls' terrified screams alerted the whole town. (The raccoon was just as surprised to see the girls, because when I arrived on the scene seconds later from the front porch the raccoon had fled.)

The incident my friend referred to took place Sunday afternoon and I really wasn't going to mention it, but now I feel I have an obligation to say something.

Hot and tired from digging potatoes, I went swimming in Lake Michigan Sunday afternoon.

There you have the sum total of it.

Not much of a story is it — until you remember that Sunday was Oct. 2 — the first time I have ever gone swimming outdoors so late in the season.

The temperature, you'll remember, was nudging 80 degrees. It seemed like a good idea at the time — and it was. The water has lost a few degrees since Labor Day, but was not exactly uncomfortable. In fact, it has been far colder in July and August of other years.

Furthermore, I was not alone. I could see other swimmers up and down the Lake Michigan shore and no one was making a big deal about it being October.

Unless there is a radical change in the weather, I'll probably take another dip next weekend. After all, there's no percentage in bidding summer farewell until you absolutely have to. The beautiful weather Charlevoix has enjoyed the past few days will make winter that much shorter.

THE CONCENSUS among city garden potato growers is that this year's crop will never set production records. The potatoes not only are running smaller than other years, but they are not as plentiful.

I'm no horticulturist, but I imagine our hot, dry summer had something to do with the meager crop. What's more, potato bugs seemed particularly ravenous this summer.

If we had had Monday's rain in mid-July, things might have been different. Some growers say they'll have enough potatoes to see them through the winter, but few to give away.

LAST MONDAY'S city council meeting at the Mt. McSauba Lodge was one of the most encouraging developments in city government in many years.

Mayor Ken Staley, members of the council and city manager Bob Hunt met informally after a pot-luck supper to discuss what they can do individually and collectively to improve city government.

Although I was invited expressly not to attend on grounds that the presence of the press would discourage complete candor, I did put in an appearance — on grounds that the session was a public meeting.

If anything, I thought members of the council were unduly critical of themselves. They have had some real tough questions to deal with the past 12 months. I think they are meeting their responsibilities in a totally responsible manner.

For the entertainment of all festival-goers will be a strolling magician prepared to prove to everyone that the hand is quicker than the eye. He will be present both Saturday and Sunday.

KHQ Remote will be in East Park all Saturday morning with Mark Kage at the mike.

For those looking for something different there will be a 10 kilometer Cross Country run and a One Mile Fun Run at Windmill Farm five miles east of Charlevoix on the Boyne City Road. Registrations will be accepted from 12 noon until 2 p.m. when the race, featuring 17 categories for men, women and youngsters will get underway. T-shirts will be awarded to the first 100 entries. Awards will be given to the top three winners in each of the 17 categories. Post-race refreshments will be available to all participants in the 10 K. race. First aid stations will be available to all runners.

An entry fee of $7.00 will be charged for those entering the race prior to Oct. 6. Those who register after Oct. 6 will pay $8.00.

The event will benefit the Charlevoix High School Cross Country team. Entries will be accepted at the Chamber of Commerce office prior to Oct. 6.

During Saturday afternoon, Cinema III will offer a matinee. The featured movie will be the comedy "Easy Money".

For those who have a yen for dancing, a family dance will be held at the Charlevoix Elementary School on Division under the sponsorship of the Charlevoix County Chapter of the American Cancer Society. Joanne Curtis, general chairman, said the dance, known as "The Apple of My Eye" dance is for everyone, adults and youngsters alike. Music will be by a disc jockey from Station KHQ. The admission charge will be $1.00 per person, adults and kids alike, with all the proceeds going to the Cancer Crusade.

The festival will open at 9 a.m. Saturday and continue all day according to Kitty Chase, general chairperson. Betsy King has arranged the exhibits by the orchardists. Donna Moore has been in charge of publicity.

There's a standing invitation to everyone in the north and visitors to the area to visit Charlevoix this weekend and enjoy the Apple Festival!

Council meeting...

In other action, the council:

-Awarded the bid for development of new city wells to Luttrell Well Drilling, Inc. of Harbor Springs after assurances from owner James Luttrell that his drilling equipment would be onsite by October 17 and that the series of ten potential wells be completed by Thanksgiving.

-Approved a proposed site plan for the addtion of a second story to the Villa de Moderne Motel.

-Agreed to support the Charlevoix County Emergency Plan.

-Authorized the publication of the minutes of City Council meetings in condensed form.

Railroad depot...

City manager Robert Hunt said that, to date, the City of Charlevoix has conducted no extensive research into the possibility that the city might have shared ownership of the depot at one time. He did say, however, that there have been discussions about the city assuming ownership of the roadway parallel to the right-of-way between the bases of Chicago Ave. and Cherry St.

That road, plus the parking lot next to the depot, have been maintained by the city for many years since they provide important parking and access to the city's Depot Beach, the only swimming area manned by lifeguards on the north side.

Before it obtained the Harsha House as a headquarters and museum, the Charlevoix Area Historical Society once talked about the possibility of using the depot but there has been no interest in the property shown lately by the group according to member Dale Boss.

As the depot building ages, restoration becomes a more and more costly proposition. The depot was built at approximately the same time as the railroad bridge - 90 years ago - and is in need of some major repairs. The columns supporting the north wing are showing signs of weakness, according to Carland, and if they give way, one entire half of the structure would be threatened. "It (the depot) is a stout building with big, strong beams," said Carland, "But it needs some tender loving care and the yacht club doesn't really want to sink any more money into it unless we buy it."

If the depot building itself is of dubious value to a prospective buyer, the property certainly has attractive development potential. Though there is no actual lake frontage included with the depot property, the railroad does own parcels on the lake just a few hundred feet north that could possibly be used for access to the lake. Even without frontage, the depot property would afford any sort of development a panoramic view of Lake Charlevoix.

On the city's master plan approved last year, the recommended land use for most of the depot property is "low density residential" which means four units per acre or less. The piece of the property extending north reaches an area planned for "medium density residential", or, eight units or less per acre.

For local natives and visitors alike, the Charlevoix depot has been one of the city's most recognizable landmarks for almost a century. For many generations it was a major hub of activity in the city with people and freight arriving and departing daily.

In more recent years, it's classic Victorian design has attracted the fancy of many artists and photographers. The depot was even used as a setting not long ago for a glamorous automobile print advertising campaign.

For those who have watched with sadness as the last relics of the railroad years in Charlevoix are removed for good, loss of the venerable depot would be painful indeed.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. Steven D. Roberts

Lesser-Roberts

Meg Lesser became the bride of Steven David Roberts on Sunday afternoon, September 11, in Greenwich, Connecticut.

The bride, who has been living in New York, is the daughter of Mrs. Harry Lesser, Jr. of Charlevoix and the late Mr. Lesser. The family formerly resided in St. Louis, Missouri.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Paul M. Roberts of New York and the late Mr. Roberts.

Rabbi Stephen Pearce officiated at the double-ring ceremony in an outdoor garden setting before 200 guests.

The bride's brother-in-law, William G. Murray, gave her in marriage. Her gown was a Laura Ashley creation in white cotton plisse, and she carried a bouquet of bush orchids, freesia, champagne roses, and alstroemeria.

Amy Lesser, the bride's twin sister, was her maid of honor. Another sister, Laurie Lesser Murray, and Lynn T. Roberts, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. They wore gowns fashioned with linen and lace blouses and pin-stripped pastel skirts with lace panels.

Emily Alyce Murray, niece of the bride, served as flower girl. She wore a Laura Ashley liberty print dress with white organdy collar.

George Barrett served as best man, with Dr. Jamie Caillouette and Jon Spector assisting as groomsmen.

Music for the ceremony was provided by George Barrett, who sang "With You", and by members of the Steven Scott orchestra.

Following the wedding ceremony, guests gathered indoors for a dinner reception and dancing, hosted by the bride's mother. The rehearsal dinner was held on Saturday evening at Cinquante-Cinq, hosted by the bridegroom's mother.

After a wedding trip to Paris and the south of France, the newlyweds are at home in New York City, where both are employed by Echo Scarfs, she as a designer and he is marketing and sales.

Joining them at the surprise party were relatives from Utica and Gaylord and friends from Grand Rapids, Sparta, Ada and Charlevoix.

1. Contestants are invited to enter as many categories as they wish but may submit only one recipe per category.
2. Recipes should be typed or printed on a sheet of paper with the category indicated.
3. To each recipe there should be a separate sheet of paper attached with the contestant's name, address and phone number. The contestant's name should not appear on the actual recipe. As each recipe is received, it will be assigned a number which will be logged with the contestant's name. The names will be removed from the recipes so the judges will not know whose recipes they are judging.
4. Ingredients should be listed in accurate, easily understood amounts and in the order that they are used.
5. Recipes do not have to be completely original. They may be old standards or new variations on familiar recipes. The more original the recipe is, however, the better its chance of winning.
6. If duplicate recipes are received, the one submitted first will be accepted. We will ing date and time recipes are received.
7. All contestants must agree to permit their recipes to be published in a special cookbook section of the Charlevoix Courier.
8. Employees of the Charlevoix Courier and Petoskey News-Review and members of their families are not eligible to win the contest.
9. A panel of judges will evaluate the recipes submitted and name three finalists in each of the five categories. The 15 finalists will be notified and asked to prepare their recipes for a final judging session. Judges will then sample the entries, name a winner in each category and a grand prize winner of the five winners.
10. The deadline for entries is 12 Noon, Friday, October 28. Recipes should be submitted to the Charlevoix Courier, 405 Bridge St., Charlevoix, Michigan 49720.

Several local artists to highlight concert at McCune Center Sunday

The Crooked Tree Arts Council will present a concert featuring local musicians on Sunday, October 9 at 4:30 p.m. at the McCune Arts Center, Mitchell at Division Streets, in Petoskey.

June Zoerhof, soprano, will perform a group of contemporary Italian pieces by Donaudy, a selection of German lieder by Mozart, a French waltz by Poulenc, and two contemporary American songs by John Duke and Argento.

Mrs. Zoerhof received her degree in applied music from Michigan State University, and has studied at Bayview Conservatory. She is soloist for the Petoskey Christian Science Church, director of the King's children's choir at the Petoskey United Methodist Church, and has had leading roles with the Little Traverse Civic Theatre and the Young Americans. She is certified as a teacher of voice by the Michigan Music Teachers Association, a member of the National Association for the Teachers of Singing, and teaches privately in Petoskey.

Carol Geis of Charlevoix will accompany June Zoerhof. She is a graduate of Miami University in Ohio, and studies presently under Flavio Varani of Bayview and Oakland University. She has performed and accompanied in our area, and will also accompany Krista Knight of East Jordan in the recital.

Krista is a graduate in violin from the Lawrence Conservatory of Music in Appleton Wisconsin. She is certified in music education, and has taught orchestra in the Philadelphia and Reedsburg, Wisconsin Public Schools. She presently teaches privately in this area. Krista, accompanied by Mrs. Geis, will perform Beethoven's Spring Sonata for violin and piano.

A woodwind quintet composed of David Boehm, clarinet, Diane Kelly, bassoon, Katy Greer, flute, Poppy Cordeiro, oboe and Janis Ley, french horn, will perform the first Movement of the Beethoven Woodwind Quintet, Opus 71, and Three Shanties for Woodwind Quintet by Malcolm Arnold.

David Boehm is a graduate of the Lawrence Conservatory in Wisconsin, and was a band director for six years before going into private industry. He is presently the manager of employee relations for Bendix-Courter in Boyne City. He has played with the Rockford Illinois Symphony, various chamber groups, and is a popular church soloist. He and his wife, Dolly, live in Petoskey and are active in supporting musical programs through the Crooked Tree Arts Council.

Janis Ley, wife of McCune Arts Center director, Sean Ley, is a graduate in music from Central Michigan University. She has taught in the schools in Port Austin, Durand, and Gladwin and is presently a substitute music teacher in area public and parochial schools. She was a member of the Northwestern Michigan Symphony in Traverse City this past year, and has also played in the Midland Symphony Orchestra. She is active in the Community Concert Association division of the Arts Council, and a strong supporter of musical events in our area.

Flutist Katy Greer is a graduate in music education from Northern Michigan University in Marquette. She has taught music in the public schools in Marquette, Alanson and Ann Arbor and currently teaches private flute students at the McCune Art Center.

The bassoonist of the quintet, Diane Kelly of Boyne City, graduated from the University of Akron with a music major, and is presently band director in Boyne Falls. The oboeist, Poppy Cordeiro, is from Eastport.

Admission to this fine musical program is $2.00. The Nature Show will be on exhibit in the Gallery at the McCune Arts Center also on this day.

Girls BB squad topples Boyne City but falls to Petoskey 2nd half rally

The Charlevoix girls basketball team split last week, winning over Boyne City 39-21 Tuesday and losing to a strong Petoskey team 49-32 on Thursday.

The team will host Gaylord Tuesday, travel to Cheboygan Thursday and entertain Grayling the following Tuesday.

In the game with Boyne City, Charlevoix outscored the visitors 14-10 from the floor and connected on 22 of 21 free throws while Boyne City had one of two from the charity line. Taking an early lead Charlevoix headed Boyne 5-4, 14-11, and 25-19 by quarters.

Ann Wagner had 11 points and Mary Lenhart nine and 19 rebounds. For Boyne City Liz Sturm had 12 points.

Charlevoix won the JV game 50-5.

In the game with Petoskey, Charlevoix got off to a 16-12 first period lead and held on by a slim 22-21 margin at halftime before being outscored 15-4 as the second half got underway. A 13-6 final period gave Petoskey the game.

Petoskey had 20 field goals and nine of 15 free throws while committing 13 personal fouls. Charlevoix scored 15 from the floor and connected on only two of 10 from the charity line while committing 15 personal fouls.

Sue Damschroeder had 16 and Laura Grow 12 for the winners. Rhonda Buchanan had 12 for Charlevoix. Wagner ran into foul trouble and was benched for most of the game before fouling out.

Charlevoix won the JV game 46-18.

Gridders sneak past B.C.

Anything can happen when Charlevoix and Boyne City mix it up on the gridiron.

Rankings, records and previous meetings mean nothing when the Rayders meet the Ramblers and Friday night's game was the perfect example. Going into the contest, Charlevoix found itself undeafeated and ranked on a statewide top ten poll while Boyne City was struggling with a 1-2 season record.

The Ramblers were anything but awed, however, and came close to pulling a nifty upset. Only a touchdown pass with two minutes to play in the game preserved the Rayders' unmarred record with a 14-10 win.

After a listless first quarter that ended with both teams scoreless, Rayder quarterback Tim LaBlance hit paydirt on the first play of the second quarter. He scrambled into the endzon from the two-yard line capping a long drive highlighted by a pass reception for a long gainer by wide receiver Bill Tillen. The extra point attempt was no good.

Late in the first half, two 15-yard penalties drove Charlevoix back deep into its own territory. With 20 seconds showing on the clock and the Rayders working from their own four, the Boyne City defense headed by Dave Wandrie swarmed into the Rayder backfield and nailed the ballcarrier for a safety making the halftime score 6-2.

The Ramblers' offense started to click in the third quarter after a recovered fumble on a punt return. Rob Musser put Boyne City in front with a four-yard run that capped a 55-yard drive. Boyne City put another two points on the board with a pass play from Mitch Kruzel to Mike Gabos.

With the chips down late in the fourth quarter, Charlevoix finally got a drive going from its own 35 yard line. The drive was on the verge of stalling, however, by the 2:44 mark when Charlevoix found itself facing a fourth down and nine situation at the Boyne City 10-yard line. Salvation came on the next play in the form of an interference call on the Ramblers which gave Charlevoix a first-and-goal from the five.

Shortly thereafter LaBlance found Tillen in the endzone for the winning touchdown and added two more points with another toss to Tillen making the final 14-10.

Boyne City came even closer to an upset if one looks at only the statistics; in first downs it was Boyne 11, Charlevoix 9; in total yardage both teams were even at 272. LaBlance went 9 for 19 in passing for 160 yards and Mitchell led in rushing with 81 yards on 19 carries.

Next week the Rayders travel to Cheboygan for a M-HSC match with the 3-1 Chiefs.

Runners are first at Ferris Inv.

The Charlevoix Rayder harriers finished first among 10 Class C schools entered in the Ferris Invitational Cross Country meet Saturday.

The Charlevoix girls team, participating in its first invitational meet as a team, finished sixth. The Junior Varsity runners did well, Coach Pete Spieles said. They were entered in an all-class meet.

In winning top honors in the meet, Charlevoix had a total of 57 points with Rogers City coming in second with 79 points. They were followed by Orchard Lake St. Mary's with 93; Benzie Central, 98; Muskegon Oakridge, 123; Mason County Central, 136; Mattawan, 144; Kalkaska, 224; Kalamazoo Hackett, 224; Kent City, 249.

In winning the meet, the Rayders' Bill Taylor finished first and John Tunison, second.

Taylor set the pace for the meet in a time of 15:59. Tunison's time was 18:02.3.

The Rayders' Lee Allard finished in ninth place in 18:53.9; Matt Landon, 12th in 17:02.9; Rick Gallant, 33rd, 17:55.3; Mike Dohm, 42nd, 18:13.8; Dave Hendrickson, 46th, 18:19.2.

Rogers City's Mas Hogan came in fourth in the meet in a time of 18:17.3.

Medals were awarded to the top 25 runners in each of the three events in which Charlevoix runners were entered.

Benzie Central won the girls' meet with 31 points. Charlevoix was sixth among the eight teams entered.

Marlo Hough finished twelfth; Michell North, 20th; Molly Boiduck, 23rd; Leslie Miller, 38th, and Laurie Finck, 42nd. Their times were not made available to Coach Spieles.

In the JV event, runners in all four classes were entered in the race. The winning time was 17:41.

The times of Charlevoix runners in the meet follow: Jason Brindel, 18:34; Harold Herriman, 18:40; Carl Dhaseleer, 18:45; Ed Knight, 19:11; Jon Eakes, 19:17; Leo Chase, 19:24; Kevin McLenon, 19:37; Dave Eakes, 20:19; Dan Staublin, 20:39; Dave Coolman, 20:45; Jim Smith, 23:00; Rick Thayer, 23:26.

Charlevoix will be at Gaylord against the Blue Devils and Rogers City Tuesday.

The competition in the Ferris meet was good Coach Spieles said. "It gave us an idea where the strength in the state is. It was a good experience for all our runners. They did a good job."

Basketball, volleyball meetings set

The organizational meetings for the Charlevoix Independent Volleyball and Basbetball Leagues will be held at the Charlevoix City Hall Community Room on Wednesday, Oct. 5 Dwight Boss, Charlevoix Recreation Director, has announced.

Representatives of prospective volleyball teams will meet at the community room at 7 p.m. Three leagues, men's, women's and mixed leagues will be organized.

Basketball players will meet at 8 p.m. The men's league will feature two organizations, the A and B leagues. Interest in a women's league has also been expressed. Persons interested in organizing a women's basketball league are urged to attend.

It is important that representatives of prospective teams including players as well as managers attend these important meetings Boss said.

Golf team wins pair

The Charlevoix Rayder golf team posted dual victories during the past week, defeating Sault Ste. Marie 188-202 on Tuesday and Boyne City 178-218 on Thursday.

Charlevoix will host Elk Rapids Wednesday and travel to Gaylord for the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference meet Monday.

The regional meet will be held Friday Oct. 14.

In the meet with the Soo, Denny Curtis, with a score of 45 was medalist. Scott Keller carded a 48; Chris Gibbons a 48 and Bill Joy a 49.

Sam Bailey had a 48, Dennis Meikle and Rich Delimonte, 51 each, and Jay Tanner, a 54.

The Rayders posted their best scores in recent meets against Boyne City. Dan Batdorff won medalist honors with a socre of 43. Team-mates Curtis and Keller had 44's and Joy a 45.

Joe Schlink had a 48; Merle Carson and Bill Casper 54 each and Paul Zinck, 82 for Boyne City.

JV golfers post win

The Charlevoix Junior Varsity golf team posted a victory on its own Friday when the young Rayders defeated Mackinac Island 193 to 215.

Scott Wise was medalist with a score of 47. Dave Umlor and Andy Stewart had scores of 48 each and Sam Supernaw carded a 50.

For the Islanders, Jim Musick had a 52, James Horn and Mike Stoyne had 53's and Frank Bloswick had a 57.

Charlevoix's next outing will be with Elk Rapids at the Belvedere course Wednesday.

Yachting Notes

by A. Nony Mouse

Strange, but true...every sailor I talked to that sailed in the last two Wednesday Races, preferred the first over the most recent (I didn't talk to the crew of "Indooroophilly"). What's strange about that? Well, the first was on a wet, wooly, wild, windy, winter like night; the latter on a smooth, serene, silky summer like night. Perhaps it was the hours taken to sail only from the start at Oyster Bay to the Belvedere Club mark via the CYC bouy. Or the little shafts of air that lifed you for a few minutes only to give you a different kind of shaft a bit later. At any rate, last week's race was certainly not a test of the respective hull speeds of the various yachts.

It was a good week for the Aussies - on Monday, off Newport for the final race of the preliminary event, they smothered "Liberty"; in the finals, Wednesday here in Charlevoix, it was "Indooroophilly" by a country mile. "Indooroophilly"....aborigine for "swift on-over water". An Australian Frog had the same kind of lead in the Portsmouth Fleet and was heard to sound off with a real dinky-di "Ribil" at the line. The "B" PHRF was also swamped by a down under yacht, "Counterclockwise".

And so we had...

"A" Fleet: "Indooroophilly", "Traveller", "Charlie Brown", "Bandit" and "Pygmalion". The latter three are presently in a neck and neck race for second and third in the series, "Traveller" having a comfortable lead for top honors. With only two races left to go, "Indooroophilly", "Peregrine", "Camouflage" and some others have a real op hill battle to get in the money.

"B" Fleet: "Clockwork", "Blazen" and "Foxy Lady" which leaves the top spots very much still wide open, with only three or four really out of the running.

Portsmouth Fleet: "Ribil", "Te-Gi" and "Seascape" which also opens up that series to such an extent that almost any yacht in the fleet could get top honors with the right combination of two firsts in the remaining events and poor positions by a couple of the others.

The last two races of this Fall Series, therefore, should be interesting and aggressive. I suspect that, given a further tightening of the standings by next week's results, we could see some fun match racing during the October 12th final event.
